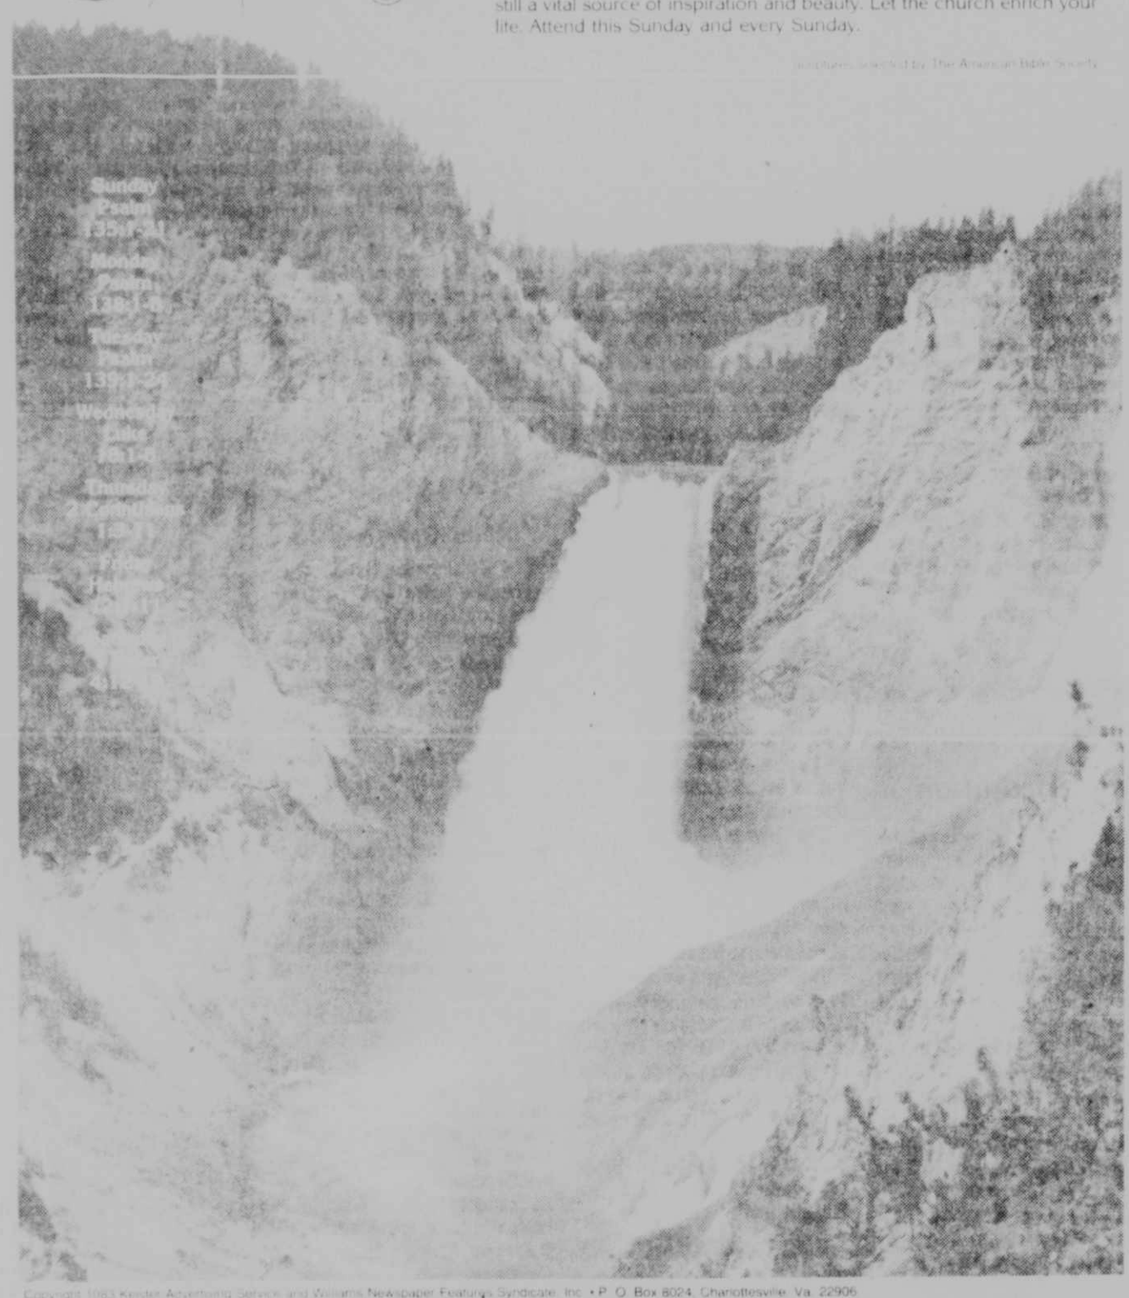
SOURCE OF BEAUTY



When we look upon the grandeur of nature—when we gaze with awe at a masterpiece of art—when we are thrilled with the sounds of great music—then we often wonder about the source of all this beauty.

Undoubtedly, our energy and ability is God. It is He who is the real source of beauty in our culture. Human spirits, touched with divine inspiration have given the world treasures untold.

Consider Da Vinci's The Last Supper. Consider Handel's Messiah. Consider the marvelous literature of the Holy Bible. Truly some of the very finest of man's creations have come as the result of an awareness of God.

Indeed today our culture continues to be enriched by the expression of man's faith in the Eternal. Our churches bring us faith in God which is still a vital source of inspiration and beauty. Let the church enrich your life. Attend this Sunday and every Sunday.

SOME DOCTORS & DENTISTS ARE USING HYPNOSIS

Once hypnosis was only an entertainment medium. But today it is being used medically more and more in the treatment of many conditions. There are actually physicians who are just specializing in the use of hypnosis. It have proven effective in such situations as stopping thumbsucking, nail-biting, and excessive drinking. And, recently it was proved to be a valuable aid in treating musculo-skeletal disorders such as bursitis.

Hypnosis for medical conditions should always be in the hands of trained experts. The amateur hypnotist could potentially cause harm, for there is still a great deal to learn about how it actually works and its possible side effects. Do not expose yourself to hypnosis unless your physician advises it.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

A BAD BARGAIN

October 2, 1983

Background Scripture: Jeremiah 2:9-13; Romans 1:18 through 2:29.
Devotional Reading: Romans 2:5-11.

I've made my share of bad bargains over the years. Right now a tow car is towing away one of them.

The only reason my bad bargains haven't completely wrecked my outlook on life is that I know that all human beings have a tendency to make them. There was Esau, for example, trading away his valuable birthright for a bowl of pottage. And Judas, selling his soul for 30 pieces of silver. History is a chronicle of one bad bargain after another.

BROKEN CISTERNS

Bible history in particular records a lot of bad bargains. One of God's continuing complaints against the people of Israel was their habit of trading away their faith in the Lord for something else that was quite worthless. This is the very complaint which God made against them through the prophet Jeremiah:

For my people have committed two evils: they have forsaken me, the fountain of living waters, and hewed out cisterns for themselves, broken cisterns that can hold no water. (2:13).

God is not really talking about water in this passage, but about the worship of other gods. Israel has looked elsewhere for the help and security which only the Lord can give. They have made idols and then worshipped the work of their own hands.

Paul, writing to the church at Rome, warns them against making the same kind of bad bargain:

Claiming to be wise, they became fools, and exchanged the glory of the immortal God for images resembling mortal man or birds or animals or reptiles. Therefore God gave them up in the lusts of their hearts to impurity...because they exchanged the truth about God for a lie and worshipped and served the creature rather than the Creator, who is blessed forever! Amen. (1:22-25).

LIES INSTEAD OF TRUTH

Actually, the compiaint sounds quite similar to the one God made through the prophet Jeremiah, except that Paul carries it one step further and clarifies the meaning so no one can mistake it: "they...worshipped and served the creature rather than the Creator..." Up to this point, you and I might feel justified in maintaining that idolatry is no longer a problem in our contemporary world. We no longer worship idols.

Yet, though we may no longer fashion gods with our own hands, we are not free of idolatry, for the real meaning of idolatry, as Paul makes clear, is that we end up worshipping and serving the creature rather than the Creator. And that is still a problem with us today, isn't it? We still worship and serve the creations of our own hands: our technology, our material possessions, our own licentiousness. We are still giving to dumb, dead things the veneration and loyalty that belongs to the Creator alone. That is a bad bargain that can never be a good one.

PBS debuts 'Vietnam'; a 'TV History' lesson

By Peter Meade

Watching PBS' 13-part series "Vietnam: A Television History" is a lot like going to the dentist. It's going to hurt a little and it's not something you may want to do, but, by all means, do it.

Some may question bringing back the story of his terrible war just when many people are finally forgetting about it. But those who participated in it during America's 15-year involvement will never forget it, and after watching part one of "Vietnam," to air Tuesday, Oct. 4, you may never forget it either.

The idea for the series began in 1977. ABC News contributed $4.5 million and complete access to their archives at no cost. Sixty different archives were used to produce the 13 one-hour shows. The first, "Roots of a War," explains how the people of Vietnam have endured war in their country for more than 2,000 years.

America's involvement began with a handful of advisers and built up to half a million troops fighting an undefined full-scale war. More than 58,000 U.S. troops died during the conflict, and although the series has no overall opinion, conclusion or slanted viewpoint, it focuses clearly on the individuals present and their conflicting philosophies.

Ho Chi Minh

At the "Roots of a War" is the seemingly cordial relationship between American intelligence officers stationed in Vietnam and Ho Chi Minh, the country's communist leader. As World War II comes to a close, the French and British hostility toward the Vietnam revolution sets the stage for another war to begin.

Vietnam, the series explains, was our first television war. Many of the battles were brought into America's living room with you-are-there urgency.

Episode No. 2, "The First Vietnam War (1946-1954")" will air on Wednesday, Oct. 5, with the subsequent 11 episodes being aired on Tuesday nights through Dec. 20.

Greta maintains her high work standards

By Elaina Thompson

Greta Scacchi (pronounced SKAH-kee) isn't the first thespian only a couple of years out of drama school to say things like, "No use in becoming a big celebrity if success isn't on your own terms, so I am not being tempted by offers of stardom and big money if the material doesn't first interest me."

Ordinarily at the outset of a career, you write off such talk as impossibly idealistic delusions of grandeur. Well, don't pin any of that on this stunning, but unaffected, young woman who was born in Milan of an Italian father and an English mother, and schooled in England until 15, then Australia.

She was given four days' leave from rehearsing with Laurence Olivier with whom she is — get this! — co-starring in a Granada Television production of "The Ebony Tower," now filming in France, to fly to New York for the opening of the film "Heat and Dust." The movie stars Julie Christie as a contemporary English women trying to solve the mysterious disappearance of a young aunt (played by Miss Scacchi), who in the 1920's married a handsome Englishman (Christopher Casanove of "The Duchess of Duke Street"), but was attracted to an Indian prince (played by India's "Valentino," Shashi Kapoor).

None of her seniors held it against her, but it is clear that Miss Scacchi projects the cool look and anachronistic self-will of a major star.

So, remember the name.

Greta Scacchi

Two years from now it could be as familiar as that of Meryl Streep.

Miss Scacchi's first television role, as a French gun moll in a BBC series, got her a role in a German movie. She had two weeks of shooting left when her agent asked her to fly to England for a day to talk with director James Ivory about "Heat and Dust."

Although the movie is new in the United States, it landed big in London last February. The critics loved it, as did the audiences, and it was Britain's nomination at the Cannes Film Festival.

The offers poured in for Miss Scacchi, but right after "Heat and Dust" she flew to Australia to visit her mom and stepdad before doing a feature film.

She does get to Italy occasionally to see her father. "I just wish the right work would come along so I could stay longer," she says. "They do a few good films, but a lot of it is rubbish."

And we know who doesn't do rubbish.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

Recently you said Kate Jackson was not on "Dark Shadows," but was the name of a character on the show and the character was played by Daphne Herridge. I'd be willing to bet a steak dinner you are wrong. — A.P., Cincinnati

And you would have won the steak dinner. You are one of several people who caught the mistake. The book I used was wrong; it had Kate's name listed as a character instead of the other way around. Sorry.

Kate Jackson

I have been wondering if "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" is going to be renewed? Also, is "Little House: A New Beginning" coming back? — R.B., Great Falls, Mont.

"Seven Brides" didn't have seven lives. It was canceled. The new beginning of "Little House" didn't work out well either. It was canceled by NBC, but after Victor French (who plays Isaiah Edwards on the series) made a fuss along with a lot of viewers, the network agreed to three "Little House" movies for the new season.

Is there any relationship between John Travolta of "Saturday Night Fever" and Ellen Travolta of "Joanie Loves Chachi"? — D.E., Hanover Park, Ill.

Yes, Ellen is John's older sister. They also have a brother named Joey, who pops up occasionally.

John Travolta

Could you tell me about the doctor on "St. Elsewhere" who always wears the Boston Red Sox hat? — J.E., Williamsburg, Va.

His name is Howie Mandel and he plays the funny and fun-loving Dr. Wayne Fiscus. If you think he's funny on camera, he's even funnier off. He is a native of Toronto and was "discovered" during amateur night at a Hollywood night club. He was so well received that he sold his carpet store in Canada and it's been show business ever since.

(Do you have a question about TV? Write Val Carew at 200 Park Avenue, Room 602, New York, NY 10166.)

SATURDAY

Jim Metzler and Shelley Hack portray a couple of doctors in a small Texas hospital on "Cutter to Houston." The new CBS drama premieres Saturday, Oct. 1.

Computer aids 'Kids' solving crime capers

By Peter Meade

Philip DeGuere isn't worried that his new show "Whiz Kids" may get off to a slow start in the ratings. The producer's previous CBS series, "Simon & Simon," did also, but it managed to rally after a time slot change and jumped from 58th in the ratings to seventh after its second season.

However, after seeing the premiere of his new Wednesday night series, maybe "Whiz Kids" should immediately be moved to a new time — how about two in the morning? — when no impressionable pre-pubescents could be watching.

Philip DeGuere

The "Whiz Kids" are four first-year high schoolers. They come on like "Nancy Drew and the Hardy Boys Get Computerized." Each week the three boys (played by Matthew Laborteaux, formerly of "Little House", Todd Porter and Jeffrey Jacquet) and one girl (Andrea Elson) ride their "E.T."-style bicycles around the neighborhood solving crimes and mysteries.

The foursome is led by Richie Adler (Laborteaux), who is a varsity computer jock. He wears glasses, so we know he's the smartest. Of course, he also has an annoying tag-along little sister (played by Melanie Gaffin), an obligatory dog, and his parents are portrayed as being as dumb as he is smart. Richie is popular because he just happens to have a few thousand dollars worth of computerized gadgets in his room a la "WarGames."

During the course of the one hour-long debut, the kids steal a car, drive it without a license, illegally access several government and school computer files, dig up a grave from a suitably foggy and scary graveyard, and generally make a disaster of a building while solving a crime.

Are these kids the types of role models that should be flaunted on TV? Whatever happened to the TV types that were only interested in having some innocent fun with their horses or dogs? When questioned about any changes that may be necessary for the show, DeGuere defended his product saying there would be no changes because all of the aforementioned acts are "important to the integrity of the show."

What integrity?

"Whiz Kids" is a fantasy, according to DeGuere, and we certainly hope it is. However, the show fails to achieve a fantasy's No. 1 priority — to have viewers immediately recognize it as not real. As with most new shows, the first episodes are the weakest because the show's focus is still blurry. Let's hope that is the case with "Whiz Kids."

SOAP OPERA WEEK

Genie back on 'GH'?; 'Y&R' star on 'Dynasty'

By Kimberly Redmond

All the details have not been finalized yet, but "General Hospital" fans should know that Genie Francis is slated for a guest-starring stint on "GH" in November. When all the facts are released, we'll pass them on to you.

Also from the West Coast comes the news that Deborah Adair (Jill Abbott) has abdicated from "The Young and The Restless" for a new role on the evening soap "Dynasty." Brenda Dickson, who created the role of Jill before leaving "Y&R" for marriage and greener acting pastures, will be taking over once again as Jill.

Beginning Wednesday, October 12, Donna Pescow (of "Saturday Night Fever" fame) will be seen for two months on "All My Children" as a character known simply as Lynn.

Incidentally, Miss Pescow is the real-life steady girlfriend of "AMC's" Jason Kincaid, who is seen intermittently as Opal's ex-boyfriend, Sam Brady.

Over at "As The World Turns," Elaine Princi has received a reprieve and her character, Miranda Hughes, will not be shipped out of town as soon as expected.

The powers-that-be have extended her stay through this month, and there's even talk that Miranda might not walk off into the sunset with her French lover Antoine (played by Jean LeClerc, who was last seen as Jean Marc Gauthier on "The Doctors") after all.

"Often it feels like someone has a stake on every single moment of my day," says Marie Cheatham (Stephanie Wyatt on "Search For Tomorrow"), who is busy with her production company and other acting commitments besides her role on "SFT." But to help organize her life, Cheatham has "staked" several would-be actors in past years.

"I have made it a practice to hire a young performer who has just arrived in town to be my secretary," says Miss Cheatham. "The newcomer learns about New York City and what it takes to be an actor here — and they get paid for it."

Stephen Joyce is currently doing double duty and both roles have naval connections. During the day he's seen on "Guiding Light" as former Navy Commander Eli Sims, while at night he has been appearing in the limited-run production of Herman Wouk's play, "The Caine Mutiny Court-Martial," off-Broadway at the Circle in the Square Theatre.

CINDY SAYS

A deal for 'A-Team'; Lear's new sitcom

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — Angie Dickinson will play three women with different backgrounds in the TV-movie "Jealousy." The interconnecting stories all deal with females suffering from the green-eyed monstress... George Peppard and "The A-Team" nailed a triple-A deal. Dell will publish an "A-Team" novel every month beginning January... Norman Lear's newest sitcom will be about a Cuban family in Miami, and Hector Elizondo is being considered for the lead.

George Peppard

Andy Williams is trying to sell his nine-acre estate in Aiken, S. C. for $1.1 million... If you prefer something more modest, like a hut on Cabrillo Drive in L.A., once rattled around in by Laurence Harvey and by Totie Fields, it's yours for a song plus $2.5 million... Then there's Gloria Vanderbilt who doesn't exactly need the money. She sold her E. 54th studio apartment for a lousy $350,000.

Barbara Bain and Martin Landau, stars of "Mission: Impossible" in the '60s, decided that the mission IS impossible in the '80s. Married 20 years, they just broke up the His 'n Hers towels... Yves Piaget gifted pal Sammy Davis with a watch that doesn't get marketed until '84. The new style features pin-striped diamonds across the face. Sammy wears it for daytime... Fred Travalena, who's Dreamy Smurf on "The Smurfs" and Ronald Reagan's voice on a syndicated TV kiddie thing, "The Kingdom of Og," will play the master of ceremonies in the "Cotton Club" film.

Pia Zadora
is aloof

Roscoe Lee Browne's antique silver inlaid dress studs were stolen by a fan who helped herself to them while Roscoe was inside them... Meshulam Riklis, the millionaire, paid respects to ex-Gov. Hugh Carey the other night in a favorite hashery the two patronize, while Riklis's wife, Pia Zadora, the star, did not.

Lynda Carter

Blonde & brown

Lynda Carter and Loni Anderson will star in an NBC mystery series that will debut as either a mid-season replacement this year or in the fall of 1984.

The one-hour shows will be filmed in San Francisco. The two women will portray the ex-wives of a famous private detective who was murdered. The first show will be a two-hour special depicting how the women decided to take over their late husband's agency and their first case involves finding his killer.

Leonard Stern, executive producer of "McMillan & Wife," "Get Smart" and "The Governor and J.J." will produce the series.

'Tonight' is 21

For the fifth consecutive year Johnny Carson and the "Tonight Show" will celebrate another year on the air with a live two-hour prime-time special.

The show's 21st anniversary celebration, which will air from NBC in Burbank, Calif., on Monday, Oct. 3, will feature many of the memorable scenes that have appeared before the program's cameras since Carson took over the show's reign on Oct. 1, 1962.

Also on hand will be Ed McMahon, Doc Severinsen and Tommy Newsom, along with the Mighty Carson Art Players, including Carnac.

New Participants In WIC Program Noted By State

Over 6,000 new Maryland mothers and children are receiving food packages under the Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) Program since a special campaign began August 1 to increase enrollment in the federal supplemental feeding program. The announcement was made Thursday by Adele Wilzack, Secretary of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, which administers the WIC Program in Maryland.

"When we began our campaign to improve the WIC Program this summer and to use the new federal funds made available through the Jobs Bill, our first priority was to make sure that eligible mothers and children receive proper nutrition," Secretary Wilzack said. "I am pleased that the local WIC agencies, with the support of the WIC Task Force appointed in July, have been able to increase participation so rapidly, especially in the four target counties."

These four counties—Baltimore, Anne Arundel, Montgomery and Prince George's—were the jurisdictions in the state with the highest potential for new enrollees. Each county added several hundred new participants during August, with more being added daily. Prince George's County enrolled the most new participants in August, 888 new mothers and children.

"We have added staff, both part-time and full-time, and have had regular staff working overtime so that we can take advantage of the one-time federal funds," Wilzack stated. Additional funds have been committed to pay the extra staff as necessary. To date, more than $270,000 have been allocated to provide for about 45 extra staff statewide.

"Each individual pregnant woman, breast-feeding mother, other post-partum woman, or child up to age five, must be certified by the WIC Program in the local jurisdiction, according to federal income eligibility standards," Wilzack explained. For a family of four, the approximate maximum income is $18,000. Those persons found eligible are certified for a period of six months.

Persons who believe they may be eligible to receive WIC benefits should contact their local health department, or call the toll-free WIC Hot Line at 1-800-492-0618. The special campaign to enroll new participants will continue through October 1.

Body Language Workshop Slated

A free workshop entitled "Body Language, The Unspoken Language" will be sponsored by the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College on Wednesday, October 5, from 10 a.m. to noon at the Oakland Center of GCC in Room 306. The workshop will be conducted by Rev. David Rockwood, pastor of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish, and Jean Sweitzer, administrative assistant of the HCO Program.

This workshop will explore the non-verbal ways in which persons communicate, focusing on the effect such non-verbal messages have on interpersonal relationships with others as well as on job interviews and employment situations. The workshop is open to the public. To register persons may call 334-9184.

Symposium On Alcohol, Drug Abuse Slated

Community prevention programs will be the focus of a day-long interdisciplinary symposium on Alcohol and Other Drugs Wednesday, October 5, at the Sheraton Inn, Hagerstown. Presenters include Lt. Charles Codd and Lt. Sidney Hyatt, Baltimore City Police Department; Robert Kramer, vice president, National Federation of Parents for Drug-Free Youth; Stanley Platman, M.D.; Maureen Sullivan, coordinator, Prevention Branch of the National Institute on Drug Abuse; Doris Terry, Maryland State Department of Education; and David Else, consultant to the Coalition of Addictive Diseases of Southwest Pennsylvania.

According to a nine-year study conducted by the National Institute on Drug Abuse, "roughly two-thirds of all Americans try an illicit drug before they finish high school, and 34% of high school seniors regularly abuse drugs."

The symposium is designed for health professionals, school personnel and youth services directors in Allegany, Garrett, Frederick, and Washington counties. Financial support has been made possible by a Regional Prevention Grant from the Maryland State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene Alcoholism Control and Drug Abuse Administration to the Washington County Health Department, and with the assistance of the Cumberland Area Health Education Center.

Topics include prevention programs currently in operation and evaluation of alternatives, as well as the role law enforcement, media, parents, school, health providers and other community components play in an effective prevention program.

A $3.50 registration fee will include luncheon, breaks and symposium resource materials. Participation will be limited to the first 100 registrants.

Persons may contact Don Spencer, Executive Director, Cumberland Area Health Education Center, (301) 777-9150, for registration or further information.

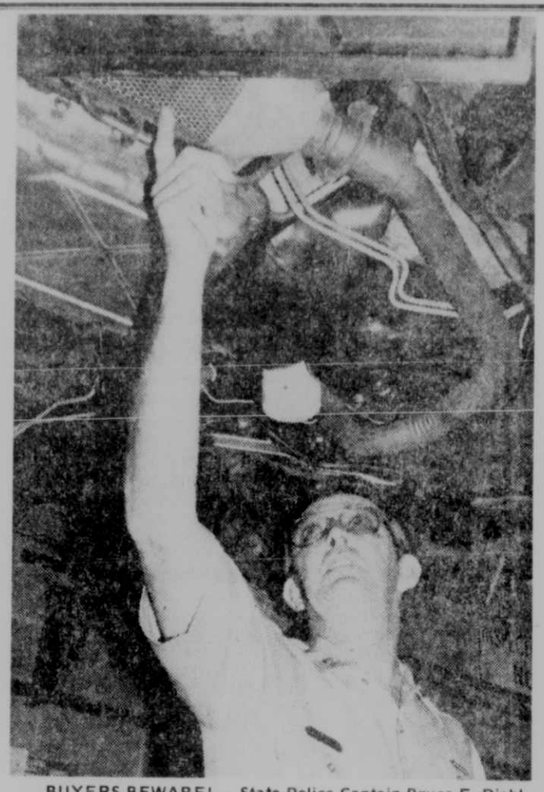
Police Note New Requirements For Auto Inspections



Effective October 1, the Maryland State Police, Automotive Safety Enforcement Division, has directed all of its authorized inspection stations that vehicles will not pass a safety inspection and will not be issued an inspection certificate if the filler inlet on vehicles requiring unleaded fuel has been modified to accept leaded fuel or the catalytic converter, if originally equipped, has been removed, altered, or damaged.

The Maryland State Police, in cooperation with the Maryland Department of Transportation, has issued strict guidelines in connection with the safety inspections as a prelude to the implementation of the Vehicle Emission Inspection Program which is to begin in January 1984.

According to State Police Captain Bruce E. Diehl, Commander of the Automotive Safety Enforcement Division, "One of our aims will be to avoid unnecessary burdens and expenses of buyers of automobiles that do not meet the standard requirements of the new law." Diehl added, "The seller of an automobile is required by law to have that vehicle inspected prior to sale and once the inspection certificate is issued, then it is up to the purchaser to make sure that the vehicle continues to meet the guidelines of the safety inspection program."

Generally, by federal requirements, 1975 and new model gasoline powered vehicles must be equipped with a catalytic converter. However, there are some exceptions to this requirement. The Maryland State Police has sent a general listing of vehicles by model year, 1972 and newer, which are not equipped with catalytic converters to the new and used car trade. If there is a question concerning a particular vehicle, the emissions label under the hood or on the left or right doors or door posts will indicate whether the vehicle is catalyist or non-catalyist equipped. All diesel powered vehicles do not require a catalytic convertor.

The Maryland State Police is asking prospective buyers of used automobiles to be aware of "as is" purchases which may, in fact, require the new owner to be responsible for as much as $300 worth of repairs if the catalytic converter has been removed or altered.

BUYERS BEWARE! — State Police Captain Bruce E. Diehl, Commander of the Automotive Safety Enforcement Division, points to a catalytic converter which, if originally equipped on a vehicle, will be required to be in working condition when the vehicle is inspected for resale or required for the Vehicle Emission Inspection Program which is to begin in January 1984. Prospective buyers should be aware of "as is" purchases which may require the new owner to be responsible for as much as $300 worth of repairs if the catalytic converter has been removed, altered, or damaged. Southern GOP Women Convene

The Southern Garrett County Republican Women met at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren on Tuesday evening, September 20, with 19 members present. The meeting was called to order by President Verna Harvey. The invocation was given by Helen Friend.

Garrett County commissioners Ernest Gregg, Elwood Groves and John Braskey were present, and, after a brief address by each, the meeting was opened for questions and discussion.

After the business meeting, refreshments were served. The group will meet again on November 15.

Resume Writing Workshops Slated

The Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College will hold free Resume Writing workshops during the month of October on Thursday afternoons from 1 to 2 p.m. in Room 306 of the Oakland Center of GCC.

Jean Sweitzer, administrative assistant of the HCO Program, will be conducting these workshops which will assist job seekers to successfully present themselves on paper. She will be presenting the general rules for writing a resume and assisting participants in the preparation of letters of application as well.

Participants are asked to bring to the session a complete list of previous employment and volunteer experiences as well as education to be used in compiling a correct resume.

The scheduled dates for workshops are October 6, 13, 20, and 27. Interested persons are asked to contact the HCO Program's main office at 334-9184 to register in advance.

Miss Rumer Becomes Bride Of Mr. Davis In September 24 Event

Tammy Sue Rumer and Gyle Wesley Davis exchanged wedding vows in a double-ring ceremony performed on September 24, at the Worthington, W. Va. Assembly of God Church, by Rev. Joseph Moscufo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold K. Rumer, Sr., of IdaMay W. Va. Parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Johanna Davis, Brooksville, Fla. and the late Charles E. Davis.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, wore a white, floor-length, Victorian gown of dacron organza designed with a fitted bodice, sheer V-neck yoke, Victorian collar and sleeves, all accented with Chantilly lace and seed pearls. From a fitted waistline fell a ruffle-trimmed, bouffant skirt enhanced with a beruffled attached chapel train. Complementing her gown, she wore a matching lace and pearl accented cap that secured a chapel-length illusion veil outlined with Chantilly lace. She also carried a cascade of white carnations.

Vivian Keener, of Monongah, W. Va., cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Sylvia Piccalo, Charlotte, N.C., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Ava Morris, Carolina, W. Va., cousin of the bride, Cynthia Glance, Farmington, W. Va., and Carolyn (Josie) Plachta, of Morgantown, W. Va.

The attendants wore identical blue, floor-length gowns of dacron organza designed with a drop-shoulder ruffled bodice, puff sleeves, fitted waistline, and an apron-effect skirt enhanced with organza ruffles. Complementing their gowns, they also wore ruffle-trimmed Chantilly lace gloves and baby's breath in their hair. They carried bouquets of white carnations, yellow daisies, and blue baby's breath with white streamers.

The flower girls were Wendy Rae Rumer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold K. Rumer, Jr., of IdaMay, and Jennifer Gale Leonard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Rumer, Richlandtown, Pa. Both are nieces of the bride. They wore matching white floor-length gowns of dacron organza and Chantilly lace designed with a lace yoke and collar, puff sleeves, and a soft flowing gathered skirt trimmed with a triple-ruffled lace flounce. They each carried white wicker baskets of flowers and flower petals with white streamers.

Herbert Triplett, Oakland, served as the best man. Ushers were Robert Davis, Oakland, brother of the groom, David Kahl, Oakland, Timothy Rush, Oakland, and Harold K. Rumer, Jr., IdaMay, brother of the bride.

The ringbearer was Jarod Michael Rumer, nephew of the bride, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Rumer, Richlandtown, Pa.

The mother of the bride was attired in a pink matte taffeta dress designed with a draped bodice and long sleeves trimmed with ruffles and a removable long skirt, accented with a side drape and self-fabric flower and bow adorning the waistline. The bridegroom's mother wore a burgundy polyester, midcalf dress with a pleated skirt, spaghetti straps and a matching lace jacket. Each mother wore a corsage of white carnations and baby's breath with white ribbon.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Paulette Morris. Soloist was Vicky Dodd. Vicky Jo Morris, cousin of the bride, registered the guests.

A reception was held at the Elks Lodge, in Fairmont, W. Va., where music was provided by "Subway".

The cake was made by Mary Hamilton, Barrackville, W. Va.

The rehearsal dinner was held at Caesar's Supper Club in Fairmont.

The bride is employed by the Department of Pathology at West Virginia University Medical Center, Morgantown. The bridegroom is employed as a sales- merchandiser for Fox Industries, of Butler, Pa.

Following a wedding trip to Daytona Beach, Fla., the couple will reside at 406 N Street No.3, Mountain Lake Park.

Swauger, Louie To Exchange Vows On October 1

Mr. and Mrs. James Swauger, Friendsville, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Louie, Oakland, announce the engagement and forthcomng marriage of their children, Tammy Lynn Swauger and Kevin Joseph Louie.

The double-ring ceremony will be held Saturday, October 1, at 2 p.m. in St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, with Rev. Allen Ridenour officiating.

A reception will immediately follow in the downstairs area of the church.

Although no invitations have been sent, all relatives and friends are invited to attend.

DeWitt-Dillsworth Wedding Slated

Carlton DeWitt, Kingwood, W. Va., and Leona DeWitt, Tunnelton, W. Va., announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Kathleen Ann, to Steven Darrell Dillsworth, son of Harold Dillsworth, Terra Alta, and Wilda Dillsworth, Oakland.

The couple will be married in a double-ring ceremony Sunday, October 9, performed by the Rev. Stephen Wilson at the Mt. Top Christian Assembly of God Church along Route 135. The wedding is scheduled for 2 o'clock, and all friends and relatives are invited.

A reception will follow the ceremony, at a site to be announced later.

Lisa Roderick, Harry Devlin United In Marriage July 23

A double-ring ceremony performed July 23 at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Midland, united Lisa Lynne Roderick and Harry Joseph Devlin, Jr., in matrimony. Rev. William Dalton officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is a daughter of Paul Roderick, Westernport, and Betty Roderick, Alpine Lake and Bradenton, Fla. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Devlin, Broad Street, Midland.

Organist Susie Young accompanied vocalist Vicky Symons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of knit chiffon featuring a Queen Anne neckline and semi-empire fitted bodice of Venise lace with high cap-fitted sleeves. The floor-length skirt was trimmed in re-embroidered lace, with the back of the skirt and chapel train adorned with rows of Chantilly lace ruffles.

Her picture hat of Alencon lace and seed pearls was accented with white silk flowers and a mantilla-length veil with pouf.

Her bouquet was of white and pink roses of silk, accented with baby's breath. The bride also wore a pearl necklace and earrings, a gift of the bridegroom.

Matron of honor was Marsha Smith, Westernport. Bridesmaids were Bridget Devlin, sister of the groom, Midland; Mary Ann Moore, sister of the groom, Annapolis; Janet Roderick, sister-in-law of the bride, Swanton; Chris Clark, Barton; Mandy Walls, South Carolina; Misty Morningstar, Waynesboro, Va., and Donna Davis, Westernport. Flower girl was Betsy Devlin, niece of the bridegroom.

Best man for Devlin was Steve Fazenbaker, Barton. Ushers included John Devlin, Bill Devlin, brothers of the groom, Midland; Dan Devlin, brother of the groom, Cresaptown; Paul Roderick, brother of the bride, Swanton; John Shockey, Kevin Green and Robert Buckholtz, Lonaconing. Ringbearer was Brian Roderick, nephew of the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Westernport American Legion. Dance music was provided by "Windfall." Attending the guest book were Jim Devens and Val Zimmerman. Rice packets were distributed by Kristi and Jill Devlin. Caterer was Jean Bugaj, manager of Oakland Country Club.

For a wedding trip to Florida, the bride chose a white street-length dress. After the honeymoon trip the couple established residence on Wood Street, Westernport.

The bride is employed part-time at Roderick Furniture Outlet and is a parttime student at Allegany Community College.

The groom is employed at Grantsville Ford as a diesel mechanic.

The bride was the guest of honor of two miscellaneous surprise showers, one given by Marsha Smith and the other given by the bridegroom's sisters-in-law, Jeanette Devlin and Judy Devlin.

Thomas, Bernard Exchange Vows In Double-Ring Event June 25

Tammy Sue Thomas and Leroy Wade Bernard, Jr., exchanged marriage vows in a double-ring ceremony on Saturday, June 25, at the Mt. Top Christian Assembly.

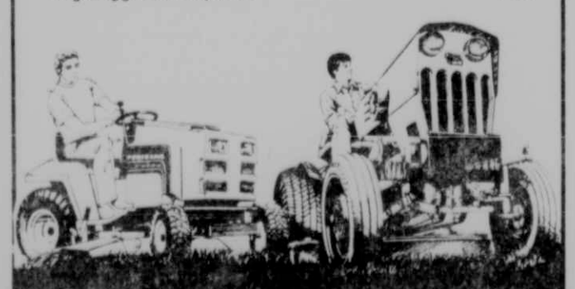
Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Thomas, McHenry, and parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Leroy W. Bernard, Sr., Oakland.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Stephen Wilson.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents. She wore a floor-length gown with a flowing train of white silk with a sheer neckline and sleeves trimmed with white daisies and pearls. Her veil was fingertip length and the headpiece was accented with daisies and pearls. The bouquet was a silk cascade of peach roses, blue carnations, yellow azaleas, white star flowers and peach and yellow rosebuds accented with baby's breath and greenery and peach ribbon streamers.

Connie Thomas, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a peach floor-length gown. Bridesmaids were Donna Bernard and Susan Bernard, sisters of the groom. They wore blue floor-length gowns. Each carried a silk bouquet. The flower girl was Darla Friend. She wore a white dress and carried a basket of flower petals.

Best man was Doug Bernard, cousin of the groom. Ushers were Gary Bernard, brother of the groom, and Rick Thomas, brother of the bride. The groomsmen wore white tuxedoes accented with silk rosebuds. Ringbearer was Bobby Schmidt, cousin of the groom. He was attired in white and blue.



Attending the guest register was Mrs. Maureen Peterson. Organist was Mrs. Carolyn Wilson, who accompanied soloist, Mrs. Connie Meyers, who sang "Truly" and "The Wedding Song".

A reception was held at the Deer Park fire hall immediately following the ceremony.

For a honeymoon trip, the couple went to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania. They will establish residence in their home in Nest Lick Acres, Oakland.

Farming in Maryland

Maryland's Farms Set At 18,000

Maryland's farm numbers were unchanged this year. The Maryland Crop Reporting Service placed the total at 18,000 for 1983, the same as the 18,000 operating last year. In 1981, Maryland farms totaled 18,200.

Land in farms for 1983 is estimated at 2,700,000 acres, compared with 2,750,000 acres in 1982 and 2,800,000 acres in 1981.

William B. Crum, chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said 3,908 or 22 percent of the farms in the State are enrolled in the 1983 acreage reduction, land diversion and payment-in-kind programs. The programs are designed to bring supply more in line with demand and strengthen farm prices. "PIK has turned out to be the largest acreage diversion program in history," said Crum. Over 187.5 million acres, or 81 percent, of the 231 eligible base acres were enrolled in the program by U.S. farmers.

He said PIK has already helped bring a turnaround in farm prices. "Since the program was implemented, prices farmer receive have increased; some as much as 20 to 30 percent. Farmer production expenses are lower because of reduced planted acreage, raising their net income prospects for the year.

U.S. farms are estimated at 2.37 million, 1 percent down from the 2.4 million in 1982. Except for 1981, the number of farms has declined every year since 1936, according to the report. The number of large farms—those with annual sales of $100,000 or more—continued to increase and now accounts for over 47 percent of all land in farms. In contrast, over half of the farms have annual sales less than $10,000, but only account for about 11 percent of the total farmland.

U.S. land in farms declined 3.37 million acres. The average size of farms moved up from 433 acres last year to 437 acres this year.

Holloway Calls For Confirmation Of Inspections

The president of the largest farm organization in Maryland has urged Maryland's secretary of agriculture to confirm the thoroughness and effectiveness of meat inspection in the state.

Responding to charges made on a recent nationwide television program, Henry Holloway, president of Maryland Farm Bureau, has urged Secretary Wayne Cawley, Jr., to substantiate that all meat from slaughter facilities in Maryland is wholesome and safe.

"Farmers work hard to produce high quality livestock, but the reaction to that show could reflect on the integrity of producers," Holloway said, adding "I consider this a grave and unfortunate development for livestock producers, especially in light of the economic plight of those producers brought on by this summers' drought and the current upward advances of feed prices."

Holloway stated that he had confidence in the inspection service in Maryland, but suggested that the public needs assurance from the Department of Agriculture that the meat from inspected plants is wholesome and safe.

"The daily news informs us of unscrupulous operators in all types of business, but farmers are very concerned when it involves a product they have produced," Holloway said.

He suggested that some television programs present news stories in the form of shock treatment, but in this case, consumers should remember that they are protected by careful and conscientious inspections.

Garrett, Allegany, Bureaus Convene

A joint policy development meeting of the Garrett County and Allegany County farm bureaus was held at the Bittinger Fire Hall on September 22, Nevin Umbel, Garrett County president, presided.

John C. Miller, public affairs director of the Maryland Farm Bureau, was introduced, who in turn introduced State Senator John Bambacus. The senator asked that the members keep in touch with legislators, calling it the only way they know what constituents are thinking and need.

Representatives of the Department of Natural Resources were introduced, whose main topic and discussion was crop damage from the deer population. They noted that three times as many antlerless deer permits are being issued this year (3,000) for Garrett County.

Charlie Miller spoke of a number of things which may affect Garrett County farmers, such as the Chesapeake Bay pollution problem. He said that various groups are working together to find a solution and four things being proposed are: upgrading the present conservation program with more personnel and money; upgrading the water quality program; providing funds for education; and developing a modernization program on the farm for water quality.

A question and answer period concluded the meeting.

GARRETT COUNTY Cooperative Extension Service FARM-O-GRAM

by Jim Simms, Extension Agent, Agriculture

Western Md. Grain & Hay Prices Paid to Farmers as of Sept. 15th

#2 Red Winter Wheat - $3.65 per bu.; #2 Yellow Shelled Corn - $3.91 per bu.; #2 Yellow Corn on Cob - $3.85 per bu.; #3 Barley - $2.39 per bu.; #2 White Oats - $1.64 per bu.; #1 Yellow Soybeans - $8.64 per bu.; Soybean Oil Meal - $319.50 per ton; Ear Corn - $134.00 per ton; Alfalfa Hay - $119.00 per ton; Timothy Hay - $102.00 per ton; Mixed Hay - $98.00 per ton; Straw - $78.00 per ton.

Caution - Late Cutting of Alfalfa

It's a very dangerous business in trying to out maneuver mother nature. As I write this article we have the possibility of frost. The alfalfa plants that have been recently harvested are much more susceptible to frost damage because of the growth and buds are very tender and have not had the opportunity to "harden-off" and adjust to the abrupt change. My advice would be to leave the alfalfa stand until after you have had a killing frost on the field. You then can safely remove the tops for feed because the plant is going into dormancy.

The Ideal Steer

Texas A&M conducted a study comparing feedlot and show steers. When the results were in, it was concluded there are only minor differences in feedlot and show steers. For example, steers fed in the usual feedlot manner gained an average of 2.25 lbs. per day over 158 days; show steers haltered and fed individually gained 2.19 lbs. per day. Show steers grew faster in height than feelot steers (5.25 in. vs. 4.69 in. at the hips). The study gave participants a better perspective of what the ideal steer should be. Harlin Ritchie, noted cattle judge from Michigan State, stated "basically the ideal steer is one that will produce a 675-750 lb. carcass (1,125 to 1,250 liveweight), with 0.3 to 0.6 inch of fat and cover and good muscling. The carcass should have a 50-50 chance of making the Choice Grade." This information may be useful to 4-H'ers and FFA members in selecting next year's steer projects.

Blossom End Rot on Tomatoes

If you find that a lot of your tomatoes have a rotten place at the end of the tomato, chances are your tomatoes have a disease called Blossom End Rot. This disease started way back when your plant was in blossom, so there is nothing you can do about the problem now; however, you can take steps next year to help prevent the disease. When the tomato plant is in blossom a fungi gets on the blossom, embedding itself on the small fruit set. As the tomato grows the fungi grows with the end results being the rotten place in the fruit. Prevention is the answer. Start spraying the plants early with one of the following fungicides: Captan, Maneb or Zineb. Continued spraying after the fruit has developed will also help prevent the common blight of tomatoes.

The Maryland Cooperative Extension Service offers its programs to persons regardless of race, color, national origin, sex or handicap and is an equal opportunity employer.

Southern Speaks

by Criss Kepple

The 1983 Homecoming Game will be played against Keyser on September 30. After the game, a Homecoming Dance will be held in Southern's cafeteria from 9 p.m. until midnight. The dance, which is sponsored by the Girls' Activities Association, is open to all students and former students of Southern High School. Tickets are on sale this week and must be bought in advance. Prices are $3.00 single and $5.00 per couple. Slow Poke is the featured band.

Fred Ridder, Verne Leininger, John Leininger, Lori Cooley, Susan Wright, and Criss Kepple are acting as counselors at Camp Hickory September 26-28. Seventh grade Southern Middle School science students will be resident campers on these dates.

Southern High School ninth graders are kicking off their annual Magazine Campaign. George Hanna, representative, will organize the students by homerooms and help them choose room captains for this activity. A wide range of prizes is being offered to the high-selling students. The money raised in this event will go into the class treasury to be used for the Junior and Senior Prom. Mrs. Wilhelm's accounting class will help the students with record-keeping and monies taken in.

Teachers and staff from the English and Guidance Departments will be participating in an inservice activity at the Board of Education September 27. The topic will be "Developing Career Passports."

The Special Education teachers will be participating in a similar program September 28. Computers will be the topic discussed.

Recently Southern had its first fire drill of the year. Students should expect many more in the months ahead. Some of the drills will be announced while others will not. These drills are required by law and are for the students protection and safety. Students were warned that those who set off fire alarms or who call in false alarms are subject to a fine of $2,000 and six months in jail.

The first Activity Day is slated for September 30, which gives students the opportunity to participate in a club or class of their choice.

The Girls' Volleyball team was victorious over Northern September 21. Southern is now in possession of the county trophy.

The golf team will travel to Tucker County to compete at Canaan Valley September 29.

The Southern High School Band will participate in the Buckwheat Festival October 1.

Latarski-Sisler Vows Exchanged

The First Baptist Church in Ruidoso, N.M., was the setting for the July 2 wedding of Rosemary Latarski and Paul Edward Sisler.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore T. Latarski of El Paso, Tex. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore E. Sisler, of Aurora, W. Va.

The 8 p.m. double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Kenneth Dunsworth, uncle of the bride, of Portales, N.M. at the altar of lighted candelabras and double floral arrangements on pillers.

The entire wedding was done in silk flowers and all flower arrangements, including all bouquets, boutonnieres, corsages and hair pieces, were handmade by Debbie Shaffer, sister of the groom, as a gift to the couple.

Helen Olson, Ruidoso, was the pianist, and Paul Tapp, also of Ruidoso, was the vocalist who sang "Just You and I".

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white organza gown with wide off-shoulder ruffles which framed the neckline. The bodice and skirt were trimmed with scalloped re-embroidered, rose Chantilly lace and mock seed pearls. The billowing skirt had a full ruffled hemline that swept to the floor to a cathedral train, and the back was set off with pearl buttons from the neckline down to the waist.

She wore a Victorian style hat trimmed on top with white rose lace and seed pearl beads. The brim was trimmed with pleated ruffled lace. One side of the brim was folded up with attaching silk roses with a large pouf bow. In back was a full-length veil.

The ensemble was set off by slip-on sleevettes of Chantilly rose lace and seed pearl beads to match. To set off the neckline, the bride wore a family heirloom, a large engraved gold locket, which carried in it a photo of her parents, and had a diamond mounted on the front.

The bride carried a large white lace fan with a silk cascading arrangement of large pink open roses, with burgundy petite rosebuds and petite azaleas, baby's breath and gyposophila. Her bouquet had white lace ribbon, light pink and burgundy silk ribbon streaming to the floor. Her bouquet also had a detachable piece for her to throw.

The maid of honor was Sydney Barrett, friend of the bride, of Lubbock, Tex. She wore a burgundy organza gown with double layers of soft ruffles that circled the bodice, worn off the shoulders and cascaded down the front to the slightly raised waistline, which had layers of organza tapering apron-like along the sides flowing to the floor. The back was set off with a large organza lace bow with a rose center. She carried a silk bouquet just like that of the bride's, but smaller and with the ivory lace fan.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Debbie Shaffer, sister of the groom, of Aurora, W. Va., and Susan Martin, cousin of the bride, of Tulia, Tex. They wore gowns just like the maid of honor's, but were pink in color, and each carried a bouquet on an ivory lace fan. The bouquets were of burgundy open roses, light pink petite rosebuds and petite azaleas, with baby's breath and gypsophila.

The flower-girl was Asia Pena, of Portales, N.M., daughter of Chris Pena and Maxine Silva. She wore an ivory organza gown with a square neckline and puffy short sleeves with the waistline set off by a wide burgundy bow and a large ruffled hemline. She carried a white basket trimmed with burgundy and pink rosebuds and petite azaleas, with streaming silk ribbon.

Each member of the bridal party, with the exception of the bride, wore a hair-piece of petite rosebuds, baby's breath and silk ribbon to match the colors of their bouquets.

Joye Latarski, mother of the bride, wore a rose colored gown of both flowing knit and printed chiffon blouson lace. The camisole bodice, attached to a full flowing skirt covered with a V-necked notch collar, was set off with sheer sleeves with elasticized cuffs.

Delores Sisler, mother of the groom, wore a burgundy crepe gown, with a high stand-up collar, V-shaped front and back yokes of ivory lace, with a ruffled bodice and bishop sleeves of lace. A slightly raised waistline that was set off with a wide bow in back.

Each mother wore a large corsage of burgundy open roses, with pink rosebuds and petite azaleas, with matching silk ribbon and trim.

The groom wore a white long-tailed tuxedo with a ruffled white shirt. The groom's boutonniere was a burgundy and pink rosebud with a petite pink azalea and baby's breath.

The best man was John Shaffer, brother-in-law of the groom, of Aurora.

The ushers were Vernon Wiles, of Columbus, Ohio, and Jim "Smiley" Sidebottom, Aurora.

The best man and ushers wore ivory long-tailed tuxedos with white ruffled shirts with burgundy tipped ends.

The ringbearer was Chad Dunsworth of Texico, N.M., son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Dunsworth. He wore an ivory long-tailed tuxedo with an ivory ruffled shirt.

The bride's father wore a blend of burgundy tweed, western style three-piece suit.

The groom's father wore a white jacket and vest with a satin lapel, a pink ruffled shirt with black trousers and a matching bow tie.

A reception followed the wedding at the Ruidoso Inn's Dinner Hall. The highlights of the reception were the three-tier heart-shaped wedding cake with large burgundy and pink rosebuds. The cake top was a cupid trimmed with burgundy lace. Another attraction was the Andre champagne flowing fountain.

Attending the guest book was Mrs. Rita Dunsworth, of Texico, N.M.

Serving the cake were Tonya Dunsworth, Texico, and Leann Yarbrough, Whiteface, Tex.

The groom is a graduate of East Preston High School, Terra Alta, W. Va., and is presently employed with Petty-Ray Geophysical Geosource, Inc.

The bride is a graduate of Burges High School in El Paso, Tex., and is also employed by Petty-Ray Geophysical Geosource, Inc., as a secretary.

Cynthia Hahn Becomes Bride Of Michael Carr In August Ceremony

Cynthia Katherine Hahn and Michael Wade Carr were united in marriage August 6 in an evening candlelight ceremony at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Allen Ridenour.

Organist was Christine Sisler. Soloist was Joseph DiSimone who sang, "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cline Hahn, Mt. Lake Park. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Wade Carr, Cumberland, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Carr, McHenry, and Mr. and Mrs. Loyde Bowser, Swanton.

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in a gown of sheer organza. The bodice featured an off-the-shoulder neckline accented with Chantilly lace and seed pearls. The short puffy sleeves had lace trim. Lace encircled the waistline holding the Cathedral length train beneath tiers of lace ruffles. A derby hat of matching Chantilly lace and seed pearls held a chapel length mantilla. The bride wore a pearl necklace, belonging to her mother, and matching pearl earrings. She carried a bouquet of white cascading carnations.

Maid of honor was Cathleen Lipscomb, Kitzmiller. She wore a lavender floor-length gown, accented with eyelet lace and a white satin sash around the waistline.

Bridesmaids were Renee Shaffer, Oakland, cousin of the bride, and Melynda Carr, Cumberland, sister of the groom. They wore gowns identical to the maid of honor. All the bridesmaids' gowns were made by Bernice Idleman, aunt of the bride.

They carried bouquets of mixed flowers and wore combs of mixed flowers in their hair.

Flower girl was Annie Ashby, Oakland,. She wore a pink floor-length gown accented with eyelet lace and a white satin sash around the waistline. Her gown was made by her mother, Pam Ashby. She carried a white basket of flower petals and wore a headband of mixed flowers in her hair.

Best man for his brother was Malcolm Carr, Cumberland. Ushers were Steve Klier, Mt. Lake Park, and Dana Rush, Accident. Ring bearer was Todd Howard, cousin of the bride. They all wore gray tuxedos and the groom wore a gray tuxedo with tails.

Wendy Shaffer, Oakland, cousin of the bride, registered guests and distributed birdseed packets. Acolytes were Brian Howard and Joel Howard, cousins of the bride.

A reception immediately followed the ceremony in the church basement. The three-tier cake was made by Becky Glotfelty, cousin of the bride. Serving the cake and ice cream were Karen Howard and Becky Glotfelty, both cousins of the bride. Rhonda Idleman and Jean Idleman, aunt of the bride, served the punch.

After a honeymoon trip to Atlantic City, N.J., the couple now resides in Mt. Lake Park.

The bride is a 1978 graduate of Southern High School and a 1982 graduate of Frostburg State College with a bachelor of science degree in elementary education.

The groom is a 1977 graduate of Fort Hill High School and employed at Beachy Lumber Co., Oakland.

The bride was guest of honor at a kitchen shower given by Cathleen Lipscomb, maid of honor.

Bowman, Lewis Wedding Planned

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence (Ted) Bowman, Red House, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Tamala, to Andrew (Allen) Lewis Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew A. Lewis, Sr., Swallow Falls.

The couple will exchange vows during a double-ring ceremony on Saturday, October 8, at 2 p.m. at Fairview Church of the Brethren, Red House. A reception will follow in the church basement.

Although some invitations are being sent, the families invite all friends and relatives to attend.

State Register Of Wills Group Visits County

Garrett County Register of Wills Joe DiSimone hosted the fall seminar of the Maryland Register of Wills Association held last week at the Village Inn at McHenry.

All 23 counties and Baltimore city were represented at the seminar which ran Sept. 20-22.

On Tuesday, the group took a scenic bus tour of the county, including stops at Garrett Community College, Deep Creek State Park and the Casselman River Bridge.

They had dinner at the Casselman Inn, Grantsville, before returning to the Villge Inn for an evening workshop. The workshop involved discussion on will caveat and procedures and other matters of controversy within the Maryland probate system.

The group spent all day Wednesday in meetings, beginning the day with a welcome address by Garrett County Commissioner Elwood Groves. Groves described to the group the natural beauty, history and recreational opportunities in the county.

Special guests in attendance were James Klair, assistant attorney general, and Basil Wisner, chief deputy comptroller of the treasury.

Discussions on Wednesday involved cost of appriasals in small estates, legislative needs in certain areas of estate probate and upcoming legislation to be introduced at the next legislative session in Annapolis in January.

A banquet dinner was held Wednesday evening, highlighted by a musical program involving those attending the conference.

Former Garrett County Register of Wills Joe Welch and his wife, Hazel, were among special guests in attendance. Welch took part in the after dinner program by playing several selections on his harmonica. Also attending the dinner from Garrett County were Rita Kimble and Bonnie Evans, both employees in the Garrett County Register of Wills office, and their respective guests Robert Watson and Donald Tucker; Joe DiSimone and his wife, Peggy, and Wilmer Margroff chief judge of the orphans' court.

The seminar ended with a morning session on Thursday. Association president Margaret Phipps, Calvert County, expressed her appreciation for the Garrett County hospitality and stated that the seminar was beneficial to all in attendance.

Transportation Secretary To Visit County

Maryland Transportation Secretary Lowell K. Bridwell will visit officials in each of the state's 23 counties and Baltimore City over the next seven weeks to discuss transportation plans and programs. As required by Maryland law, Secretary Bridwell will present the transportation department's proposed construction program for fiscal years 1984-1989.

Bridwell is slated to meet with Garrett County officials on October 20 at 7 p.m. in the county commissioners' meeting room.

"These meetings provide an opportunity for us to receive valuable input to our proposed program," said Secretary Bridwell.

"I'm looking forward to the meetings this year," said Secretary Bridwell, "because we will be reporting on the tremendous expansion of highway and bridge work that has occurred during the past year."

This work, primarily highway and bridge maintenance and repairs, was made possible by the increase in state fuel taxes and fees paid by large trucks in Maryland.

"We promised that certain projects would be made possible if the gas tax were raised and now we can report on how well we've kept that promise. I think everyone will be pleased to learn how much we've accomplished and how much more we're about to undertake in this area."

While the meetings are not "public forums," interested members of the public are encouraged to attend to hear details of transportation activities planned in their area.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Richard W. Selders, son of Raymond and Barbara Selders, Oakland, enlisted in the U.S. Air Force on July 25. He will be leaving on April 17, 1984, to Lackland Airforce Base, San Antonio, Tex., for basic training.

Selders is a 1983 graduate of Southern High School, where he was a member of the basketball team all four years and received various awards.

He will be serving four years of active duty and two years of reserve.

Spec. 4 Douglas J. McKenzie, son of Bryan and Ruth L. McKenzie, Grantsville, has arrived for duty at Fort Hood, Tex.

McKenzie, a vehicle mechanic with the 2nd Armored Division, was previously assigned in Gelnhausen, West Germany.

He is a 1981 graduate of Northern High School.

Airman Allen D. Dillsworth, son of Charlotte D. Dillsworth of Rural Route 1, Aurora, W. Va., and Larry A. Dillsworth of Star Route 1, Burlington, W. Va., has been assigned to Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the missile maintenance field.

He is a 1983 graduate of East Preston Senior High School, Terra Alta, W. Va.

Michael T. Browning, son of Thomas D. and Juanita G. Browning, Oakland, has completed training in fundamental military skills at the Army ROTC basic camp at Fort Knox, Kent.

The basic camp is designed to give junior college graduates and college sophomores who have not taken ROTC courses the chance to enter the program. The camp also qualifies high school graduates for the ROTC program at any of the nation's six military junior colleges.

During the encampment, cadets received training in basic rifle markmanship, military drill and ceremonies, communications and individual and small unit tactics.

Browning plans to enter the ROTC program at West Virginia University, Morgantown.

His wife, Bethany, is the daughter of George Harris of Merritt Island, Fla.

Group To Perform At Local Church

A musical group "The Loving Temples" from Everett, Pa., will be singing at the Rocky Drean Assembly of God on Bray School Road this Sunday, Oct. 2, at the 10 a.m. service.

Rev. Robert Mayfield is pastor. The public is invited.

Rotarians Assist In Nursing Home Picnic Venture

A group of approximately 20 to 25 residents of both the Cuppett-Weeks and Dennett Road Manor Nursing Homes recently had a day-long picnic at Deep Creek Lake State Park because of the efforts of Sheila Hauser and The Oakland Rotary Club.

Ms. Hauser, an employee of Cuppett-Weeks, coordinated the trip which provided the opportunity for the patients, who were mostly unable to enjoy such excursions due to their physical limitations and immobility. The Oakland Rotary Club participated by providing transportation through the Garrett Bus System.

The residents enjoyed a barbecue, singalong, accompanied by an organist, and favorable weather. This was the third of similar outings the Rotary Club has sponsored for the local nursing home during the past two years.

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our son and brother, John Magar, Jr., who passed away 1 year ago, October 2, 1983 at Deep Creek Lake:

Beside your grave we often stand, and try so hard to understand, forgive us Lord, in tears we pray, we loved and wanted you to stay. You bid no one a last farewell, and said good-bye to none. The heavenly gates were open and a lovely voice said, "Come."

They say time heals all sorrow and helps one to forget, but time has only proven, how much we miss you yet. God gave us strength to face it, and courage to face the blow, but what it meant to lose you, no one will ever know. So it's no wonder dear, that you're cared about so much, not only by your family, but by all those lives you've touched.

Sadly missed but lovingly remembered by dad, mom, sisters, brother-in-laws, nephews and niece.

Magar Family

—Adv. 31-1t.

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of John Magar, Jr., who passed away 1 year ago October 2, 1982 at Deep Creek Lake.

Out in a lonely cemetery, where breezes gently blow, there lies a dear and precious one, I loved and treasured so. Precious is the one who's gone, a voice I loved is still, a place is vacant in our home, that never can be filled. I think of him in silence and often say his name, but all that's left to answer is a picture in a frame. To hear his voice, to see his smile, to sit and talk with him awhile, would be my dearest wish today. Dear God, please take this message, to my loved one up above, tell John how much I miss him, and give him all my love. It broke my heart to lose him, but he didn't go alone, for a part of me went with him, the day God called him home.

Sadly missed by sister, Lori

—Adv. 31-1t.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our thanks and appreciation to our friends, neighbors and relatives for the beautiful flowers, food, memorials and expressions of sympathy following the hospitilization and loss of our mother. A special thanks to all the nurses and doctors, the Durst Funeral Home and Pastor David Rockwood.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on October 6, 1983, at 7:30 p.m. in the old Grand Jury Room (Third Floor, Courthouse, Oakland).

PUBLIC NOTICES

The Board will review applications on the following cases:

1-Docket VR-72: an application made by Mr. Adolph Waitekunas for a variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the side yard set-back requirements for a single-family residence. AMENDMENT TO TOWN CHARTER

WHEREAS, Section 21 of the Public Local Laws of Garrett County, Maryland, sets forth the charter of the Town of Kitzmillerville, and, whereas by resolution of the Mayor and Council of said Town at its regular meeting of September 7, 1983, it resolved to replace the existing charter.

AND, WHEREAS in such situations the law provides for publication of a fair summary of the variations from the Model Charter set forth in Article 23B of the Annotated Code of Maryland, as amended, the following is published as such:

Variations from model charter as set forth in Article 23B, Annotated Code of Maryland, as amended.

The Council, Section 5 - Number of councilmen: selection; term.

All legislative powers of the town are vested in a council consisting of four councilmen who shall be elected as here-in-after provided and who shall hold office for a term of four years or until the succeeding council takes office. The regular term of councilmen shall expire on the fourth Monday following the election of their successors. Councilmen holding office at the time this charter becomes effective shall continue to hold office for the term for which they were elected and until the succeeding council takes office under the provisions of this charter.

Meetings of Council, Section 8.

The newly elected council shall meet at 7:00 p.m. on the fourth Monday of each month following its election for the purpose of organization, after which the council shall meet regularly at such times as may be prescribed by its rules but not less frequently than once each month. Special meetings shall be called by the clerk-treasurer upon the request of the mayor or a majority of the members of the council. All meetings of the council shall be open to the public, and the rules of the council shall provide that residents of the town shall have a reasonable opportunity to be heard at any meeting in regard to any municipal question.

Referendum, Section 16.

New charter provides for application of its Sections 91 and 92 to levying of special assessments instead of Section 92 and 93 as in the model charter.

The Mayor - Selection and term, Section 18.

The mayor shall be elected as here-in-after provided and shall hold office for a term of two years or until his successor is elected and qualified. The newly elected mayor shall take office on the fourth Monday following his election. The mayor holding office at the time this charter becomes effective shall continue to hold office for the term for which he was elected and until his successor takes office under the provisions of this charter.

Board of Supervisors of elections, Section 26.

There shall be a board of supervisors of elections, consisting of three members who shall be appointed by the mayor with approval of the council on or before the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January in every even-numbered year. The terms of members of the board of supervisors of elections being on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in March in the year in which they are appointed and run for four years. Members of the board of supervisors of elections shall be qualified voters of the town and shall not hold or be candidate for any elective office during their term of office. The board shall appoint one of its members as chairman. Vacancies on the board shall be filled by the mayor with the approval of the council for the remainder of the unexpired term. The compensation of the members of the board shall be determined by the council.

Filing certificate of nomination, Section 32.

Persons may be nominated for elective office in the town by filing a certificate of nomination at the office of the board of supervisors of elections on or before the second Tuesday after the first Monday in January next preceding the town election. No person shall file for nomination to more than one elective town public office or hold more than one elective town public office at one time.

Primary election; municipal meeting or convention, Section 33.

(a) Time of holding; conduct of primary election—A primary election or municipal meeting or convention shall be held in the town on the fourth Monday in January in every even-numbered year, in order to select candidates for the general election on the second Tuesday in February. The primary election shall be conducted generally as specified in this subtitle for the conduct of special and general elections. Candidates' names shall appear in alphabetical order for the office sought, on the ballots or voting machine labels, with no party designation of any kind. If not more than ten persons have filed as candidates for the office of councilman, or if not more than two persons have filed for the office of mayor, no primary election shall be held as to that office or those offices. In such instances those nominated for the mayor or the nominees for councilman shall be considered as nominees and their names shall be placed on the ballots or voting machines at the general election on the second Tuesday in May. Of the candidates participating in the primary election, the two persons receiving the highest number of votes cast for the office of mayor and the ten candidates receiving the highest number of votes cast for the office of councilman shall be named and considered as nominees at the general municipal election following.

(b) Town meeting or convention—Candidates for the general election may be chosen at a town meeting or convention, at the time specified herein. Such meeting or convention for the selection of candidates shall be conducted generally according to accepted parliamentary procedure. In other respects, nominations at town meetings or conventions wherever applicable, shall be conducted as specified herein for primary elections.

Election of mayor and councilmen, Section 34.

On the first Tuesday in February in every even-numbered year, the qualified voters of the town shall elect one person as mayor and two persons as councilmen. Council so elected shall serve for four years. Mayor elected shall serve for two years.

Conduct of elections generally, Section 35.

It is the duty of the board of supervisors of elections to provide for each special and general election a suitable place or places for voting and suitable ballot boxes and ballots and/or voting machines. The ballots and/or voting machines shall show the name of each candidate nominated for elective office in accordance with the provisions of this charter, arranged in alphabetical order by the office with no party designation of any kind. The board of supervisors of election shall keep the polls open from 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. on election days or for longer hours if the council requires it.

Authority to employ personnel, Section 67.

The proposed new charter has no specific provision authorizing employment of officers and employees as set forth in model charter.

Compensation of employees, Section 72.

The proposed new charter has no provision for fixing compensation of officers or employees by ordinance except as set forth in other provisions of the new charter.

In addition to publication of these variances, the entire proposed new charter shall be on deposit for inspection by interested citizens at the Town Hall on Tuesday from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., and at the Town Branch of Ruth Enlow Library on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from noon to 5:00 p.m., and on Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

Unless a petition for referendum is duly filed, this new charter shall take effect fifty days from September 7, 1983, and shall be filed with the appropriate State agencies at Annapolis, Maryland.

Passed September 7, 1983.

Lois S. Mosser, Mayor
Diane Paugh, Clerk
—Adv. 29-4t.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Mt. Lake Park Mayor and Town Council will conduct a public hearing on September 29, 1983, at 6:00 p.m. in the Mt. Lake Park Town Hall. The Council will review a petition submitted by Mr. Laurance W. Wolfe to amend the map of the Mt. Lake Park Zoning Ordinance. Specifically, Mr. Wolfe is petitioning to change the zoning classification of the property known as the El Lobo Restaurant from TR-Town Residential to C-Commercial. Interested citizens are urged to attend.

John E. Nelson
Zoning Administrator
—Adv. 29-3t.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT VACANCY

This is to give public notice that a vacancy exists in a Garrett County seat on the Governing Body of the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland.

The seat vacant is for a consumer of health services from Garrett County on the Governing Body of the HSA of Western Maryland. A consumer of health care is any person who does not have a financial interest in the health care industry, a person whose family income is not received from the various sectors of the health care industry, or who does not practice in the various health professions.

Governing Body members are appointed by the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett, Allegany, Washington or Frederick Counties. Members can expect to meet monthly, with approximately twelve meetings per year. Meetings are held on the third Wednesday of each month, with Committees meeting in the morning and the Governing Body in the afternoon of that same day.

The Western Maryland HSA is the designated local health planning agency for this four-county region and makes decisions and recommendations on the health care delivery system and its development.

Interested persons are encouraged to apply by contacting (in writing or by telephone):

Mr. James R. Stanton
Executive Director
Health Systems Agency
Of Western Maryland
Suite 301 - Algonquin
Cumberland, MD 21502
(301) 724-1616

no later than Friday, October 7, 1983.

Republican Central Committee Meets, Sets Benefit Dinner

The Garrett County Republican Central Committee met last week to discuss plans for Autumn Glory and to conduct other business.

Chairman Paul Frantz presided at the meeting. Other members present were Wayne Wilt, Frances Riley, Paul George and Bill Crawford.

The committee appointed Mrs. Frances Riley to represent Garrett County on the Voter Registration Committee, and submitted the name of Dr. Jean Shaw to be considered for appointment to the State Board for Community Colleges.

This Friday the Central Committee will hold a dinner and a 50/50 drawing for the benefit of the Brandon Frantz fund. The dinner is to be at the Towne Restaurant at 6 p.m. The public is invited.

Edwards Tours UM Hospital, Trauma Unit

Delegate George C. Edwards, along with other members of the Education & Human Resources Sub-Committee, recently toured the University of Maryland Hospital and the Maryland Institute of Emergency Medical Services Shock Trauma Unit. The group was first shown the University of Maryland Hospital, much of which is fifty years old or older. Delegate Edwards said much renovation is needed in the older parts of the facility.

The hospital ended this past year with a surplus, which is the first time this has happened in many years. The state must fund any deficits the hospital has. It was explained that the only operating money the hospital will ask for next year is for the retirement fund. The state will have to pick this up as it has in the past, because the hospital cannot encompass this cost into their rate structure. Edwards was quick to give credit to the hospital administration for the turn-around, saying they are running things as a business and there is a positive attitude about making things go and still be competitive without relying on the state.

The second part of the tour included visiting the Maryland Institute of Emergency Medical Services Shock Trauma Center and a briefing on this system. Included in the system is the EMS training which the local rescue squads receive, the Medevac helicopters, a unit of which is stationed at Cumberland, and the shock trauma unit and its branches, one of which is Memorial Hospital in Cumberland.

This year a ten-year study has been started to evaluate patients, particularly the head-injured starting from the time they enter the unit. This will give a much better view of the total cost and effect to the individual and society. The Maryland Institute of Emergency Medical Services is requesting state bonds to build a new facility on the University of Maryland Hospital campus in Baltimore.

Delegate Edwards said that Maryland has one of the best, if not the best, Emergency Medical Services Systems in the country, and that all of those involved in the system should be commended for the outstanding job that has been and is being done.

County Schools Report Outbreak Of Head Lice

From 30 to 35 suspected cases of head lice have broken out in the past four weeks in Garrett County schools, primarily at Broadford Elementary School, school officials have reported.

Broadford principal Wayne Johnson said this morning that he believes the problem, which began within a few days of the opening of school in September, is about over, but that there have been about 30 at that school alone.

Other schools reporting problems were Southern Middle, Dennett Road and Crellin.

Broadford had a similar outbreak two years ago, but had no cases last year, Johnson said. This year the problems were primarily focused in the first and fourth grades at the school.

Even though no cases have been found in the past two days at the school, officials warn that the problem may not be entirely over. A new case could appear in the next three weeks, because of hatching time of lice nits, eggs of a louse.

Officials emphasized the importance of parents' cooperation with the effort to stop the head lice from spreading, explaining head lice are contagious.

Johnson said letters to parents whose children were sent home with head lice instructed them how to treat lice. The papers were jointly pre-

A RIBBON CUTTING CEREMONY Monday morning concluded the dedication of the new quarters for the Garrett County Health Department at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Officiating at the ceremony were Dr. William Pope, Garrett County Health Officer; James R. Stanton, executive director of the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland; Robert Grooms, director of the Thomas B. Finan Center and assistant director for mental hygiene for the western Maryland region; Adele Wilzack, new Secretary of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene; and Commissioners Elwood Groves, II, and John Braskey. Following opening remarks by Dr. Pope, Commissioner Braskey spoke briefly of the "recycling" of former hospital areas for the health department, and how this will permit a closer working relationship with the hospital. The county's contribution was $60,000, from revenue sharing funds. Stanton pointed out that six years ago the health department was in five different locations and these have now been consolidated and upgraded in an unusual blending of hospital and health department through a $1.5 million Appalachian Regional Commission grant. An open house for the public to view the department's new quarters will be held November 5 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

County Woman Dies; Daughter still In Hospital

A Garrett County woman died three weeks ago from injuries suffered in an accident which occurred in August when she and her daughter were traveling on Route 50, one mile east of Aldie, Va.

Tram Liu, 56, died September 13 in the intensive care unit at Washington Hospital Center, Washington, D.C. No details of her funeral arrangements were available.

Her daughter, Jung Liu, 31, McHenry, was listed in fair condition at the hospital on Tuesday.

Jung Liu was driving a Garrett Community College vehicle on August 26 along Rt. 50 with

Trantham Resigns GCC Dean Post

Robert Trantham, dean of the college at Garrett Community College, announced to his staff Monday he has submitted his resignation and will leave his position on October 28.

Trantham, who could not be reached for comment, listed in his resignation, submitted to college president Randall Harman last week, that he was leaving the college for personal reasons.

Unofficial reports are that Trantham is returning to his home state of Tennessee, possibly to accept a position there.

Harman, who said the resignation came as a complete surprise, said he expects to present the resignation and a plan to restructure the administration to the college Board of Trustees at its October 18 meeting, probably during an executive session.

Harman said his re-structuring proposal would be "nothing major" but would merely be a streamlining of the administration.

The college underwent a reorganization of administrative personnel in December 1982 after Dr. Donald Ruhl resigned as college president in November 1982.

Dr. Jan Janssen, former dean of students, has filed a breach of contract suit against the college as a result of the reorganization when his position was eliminated.

Trantham came to the college to serve as dean of the college in

Musical Events To Highlight 16th Autumn Glory

Music to suit the musical tastes of everyone is scheduled for the 16th Annual Autumn Glory Festival, to be held Thursday, October 13, through Sunday, October 16, according to the Festival Committee. "There will be everything from a German "oom-pah" band to bagpipe music to rock n' roll," a committee spokesman said.

The Firemen's Parade will kick-off the festivities at 7 p.m., Thursday in downtown Oakland. This parade will include bands, drill teams, and fire and rescue apparatus from as far as 200 miles away. Immediately following the parade there will be the Annual Oktoberfest Celebration sponsored by the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department at the Oakland Fire Hall. This event will feature German-style dishes and beverages and a 16-piece German "oom-pah" band will provide the entertainment.

Friday evening's entertainment will include the Official Maryland State Five-String Banjo Championship beginning at 8 p.m., at the Southern High School gym. After the contest is over, "Carl Baer and the Sounds of Country" will be performing.

To continue the musical festivities on Saturday will be the Grand Feature Parade in downtown Oakland beginning at 2 p.m. This parade will feature bands, marching units, drum &

Thayer Issues Opinon, Order In Sanders vs. Kutchman Lawsuit

Garrett County Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer has handed down a ruling in the amended declaration filed by Brian R. Sanders, Oakland, against George Kutchman, formerly employed as the supervisor of the Mettiki Coal Company in Garrett County.

Sanders was injured in a belt-line accident in which his right hand and arm were caught in the moving parts and completely severed just below the shoulder. In his initial suit, Sanders's allegations were challenged by Kutchman in a demurrer, which Judge Thayer upheld, but left the option for an amended declaration to be filed.

In Thayer's opinion, Kutchman's demurrer to Sanders's amended declaration is sustained, but because of the unusual circumstances of this case, leave to amend is again granted, to be accomplished within 30 days of the September 30 ruling.

The opinion outlines the real issue as a question of whether or not the amended declarations set forth allegations of conduct by Kutchman upon which liability for Sanders's injuries may be imposed.

Assuming the allegations that Kutchman embarked upon a vendetta against employees whom he considered to be troublemakers is true, Sanders felt he fell from grace when he filed numerous safety violation complaints with his supervisors during the summer of 1981. The opinion further states that Kutchman implemented his feud with the troublemakers, now including Sanders, by devising a scheme to force the undesirable employees to quit by assigning them extra hazardous work under less than optimal conditions. Sanders felt

Young Cyclist Critically Injured In Sunday Mishap

Quick and competent action by surgeons and the emergency room and operating room staffs of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital on Sunday evening resulted in saving the life of a 23-year-old Mt. Lake Park man who was critically injured in a motorcycle accident on Memorial drive just East of Oakland.

Steve Callis was transported to the hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad following the 5:42 p.m. accident with severe chest injuries. According to surgeons, one of the young man's broken ribs pierced his lung, practically tearing it in half. Callis lost nearly his entire blood volume, bleeding an estimated four liters in the emergency room before he was rushed to the operating room.

The damage to the lung was irrepairable and it had to be removed. The surgeons used 24 units of packed red blood cells, nine units of fresh frozen plasma and 21 units of blood platelets during the surgery.

One surgeon said that the young man survived the usually fatal injury because of his good physical condition and the speed with which they got him from the scene of the accident to the emergency room and then to the operating room. "As with many such success stories, we also had some good luck," he said.

Surgeons said yesterday that Callis was "making rapid progress" and is expected to be taken off the respirator today. He was listed in guarded condition this morning by hospital officials.

According to police, Callis was injured when the 1975 Honda motorcycle he was operating went out of control and struck a fence post on the Oakland-Deer Park Road. Southern Rescue Squad transported Callis to the hospital following the mishap. Oakland Volunteer Fire Department personnel also responded to the scene.

Mettiki Mine Announces Layoff

Some 180 employees of Mettiki Coal Corporation were told last Friday that they are now among the unemployed, effective that day. The announcement was made at approximately 8 a.m. by company officials at Maryland's largest underground mine.

In making the announcement, Mettiki cited economic reasons for the layoff, made necessary by a long-term decline of coal sales. The workers were told that the move was "for an indefinite period of time" and "there is no reasonable likelihood of a recall to work in the near future."

Local company officials have declined any comment about the move or whether the remaining employees would resume full work schedules. Unofficial sources said that workers would be returning to five days a week of work after several months of working a week and drawing unemployment benefits for a week.

David Leslie, vice president of public affairs for Mettiki's parent company, Mapco, was out of the office this week and unavailable for comment about how the layoffs were based and how many of the men affected were underground miners and how many were engineers, etc.

James Gill acting vice president of operations for Mettiki, had no comments on the action taken Friday, but did say this week that he expects to continue as vice president and superintendent of the facility. Gill moved here in mid-September following the resignation of George Kutchman from that position.

Two-Story House, Mobile Home Damaged By Fire

Two fires in the northern section of Garrett County during the past week caused considerable damage to a two-story frame house near Finzel and a mobile home near Accident.

James Martin, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, estimated $40,000 in damages to a house owned and occupied by Van and Dorothy Malone and located one mile east of Finzel along Samson Rock Road. Firefighters from Eastern Garrett, Frostburg and Grantsville fire departments were dispatched to the residence by Allegany County Civil Defense at 10:25 a.m. on Thursday.

Martin said that when fire personnel arrived, flames were showing in the living room on the first floor and along the interior wall. A short time later the flames broke through the roof.

Martin determined that the blaze began in a partition on the first floor, travelled to the second floor and through the roof, causing extensive damage to the living room and dining room on the first floor and two bedrooms on the second floor. He stated, however, that quick and proper action by firefighters resulted in the confinement of the flames to the partition and saved the structure. There was also considerable smoke damage throughout the house.

According to Martin, the fire was caused by men sweating some pipes using a soldering torch. One of the men was reported to have discovered the fire.

Martin said Mrs. Malone was at home at the time, but was uninjured. He said there was some insurance on the house.

Also responding to the scene were the Frostburg Area ambulance and the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association air cascade vehicle presently being housed in Clarysville.

Firefighters from Accident and Friendsville were alerted at 5:50 p.m. on Sunday after fire broke out in a trailer at the CB Trailer Park on Fish Hatchery Road near Accident, causing an estimated $5,000 damage.

Martin reported that the blaze originated in the kitchen closet. Although firemen contained the fire at that point, the kitchen and dining area and a hallway of the 12 by 65 foot 1982 model structure sustained heat and smoke damage. The cause of the blaze is still under investigation.

Firemen remained on the scene for two hours. Also responding was unit of the Northern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Liquor Board Labels Braskey's Actions "Smoke Screen" For Facts

Saying that it is time to separate the facts from the "smoke screen" over Garrett County concerning the 10 percent tax collected on the purchase of alcoholic beverages, the Garrett County Liquor Control Board called its first press conference Tuesday afternoon.

Board members Brenda Butscher, William Naylor and George Meese are seekng public answers from Commissioner John Braskey, who had been asked to serve as chairman for a committee appointed by Del. George Edwards and Sen. John Bambacus to seek alternatives to the 10 percent surcharge.

The liquor board called a public statement made by Braskey after meeting with two groups of the committee "misleading to say the least," and asked just what alternatives had been suggested by the committee members who are liquor license holders, alleging these suggestions were being kept secret.

The board, in a written statement, accused Braskey of "completely ignoring" the little guy, or Mom and Pop operators who make up half the license holders in the county.

The board took exception to Braskey's statement that the legislators should look at the liquor control board salaries, pointing out that the salary was set by the Maryland legislature after the Garrett County Salary Review Commission made that recommendation.

The liquor board also said that the "real issues have to do with how and when and to whom alcoholic beverages will be sold . . who is to pay the ten percent tax that is now collected on the sale and use of alcoholic beverages bringing in $126,000 . . . what penalities shall be placed on those who violate the liquor laws, and finally should there be Sunday sales in the county."

The liquor control board concluded its statement with four questions directed at Braskey: Is he willing to saddle the taxpayers with another five to seven cent increase to satisfy a few greedy licensed beverage holders? Does Braskey, a former license holder, want to call a halt to the stiff penalties given to unscrupulous dealers who violate the laws?

They also query whether he wants to have Sunday liquor sales, and whether, if the 10 percent surcharge is removed, the next move would be to remove the county beer tax that brings in an additional $131,000 a year.

Commissioners Present

Although Commissioner Braskey did not attend the press conference, he received a copy of the statement following the meeting. Commissioner chairman Ernie Gregg and Commissioner Elwood Groves II were present for the conference, and had no statements concerning the matter, although Commissioner Gregg did note that Commissioner Braskey did not appoint the committee members and that the issue is now in the hands of the legislators.

Joseph Wolf, administrative officer for the liquor board, said that a comparison of prices in Garrett County liquor stores with prices in liquor stores in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia showed this county to

Rabid Raccoon Brings County Total To 15

Garrett County reported its 15th positive rabies diagnosis this past week, when a raccoon found off Route 560 was found to have the disease.

According to officials at the Garrett County Health Department, the animal was killed by a dog and the body brought to its owner, Mike Beck. The raccoon was found about one-half mile from the Steyer Mine Road.

The animal was sent to Baltimore for autopsy September 27 and a positive rabies report received here the next day. The Beck dog had been vaccinated against the disease, and has been revaccinated as a precaution. There was no human contact in this instance.

The number of rabid raccoons discovered in the county this year is now 14, and there has been one reported case of a cat with rabies.

Senator Paul Sarbanes Will Be Autumn Glory Parade Marshal

The Parade Marshal for the 16th Annual Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade will be Senator Paul Sarbanes, Cindy Kutchman, executive director of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, has announced.

The parade will wind its way through the streets of Oakland on Saturday, October 15, beginning at 2 p.m.

Senator Sarbanes served in the Maryland House of Delegates from 1966-1970. He was a three-term member of the United States House of Representatives from 1970-1976.

Senator Sarbanes was first elected to the United States Senate in November of 1976. He was re-elected in November of 1982.

Sarbanes is a graduate of Princeton University, is a Rhodes scholar from Oxford University, and received his LLB from Harvard Law School.

Sarbanes is currently a member of the United States Foreign Relations Committee, the Joint Economic Committee, and the Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee. He is also married and has three children.

The parade will feature floats and high school bands of the surrounding areas including Connellsville "Falcon" High School Band, Beall High School Band, Berkeley Springs High School Band, Keyser High School Band, Philip Barbour High School Band, and Peter's Township High School Band.

Among the many other musical groups and drill teams that will be marching will be the "Kiltie Kadets," "Aurora Twirlettes," the Tri-State Mountainmen, Accident Legionettes, Post 38 Honor Guard, and the 121st CCO National Guard. To return again this year will be the Ali Ghan Shriners.

For more information on the parade or any other event concerning Autumn Glory, persons should contact the Festival Headquarters, Courthouse Annex, Oakland, Maryland, 21550 or call 334-3888.

AN UNUSUAL, BUT FUN WAY, of making scrambled eggs was displayed at the second annual Appreciation Days this past weekend at Tableland Milk near Oakland. Two days of activities ranging from this egg toss to goat milking and hay bale throwing contests, to musical entertainment, to a pet show, to pony rides, to 4-H demonstrations, to good food were enjoyed by large numbers of area residents. Most of the events were organized by the Country Kids 4-H Club and the Oakland Chapter of the FFA, as well as the members of many other 4-H clubs.

Service Agencies Receive Federal FY 1984 Funds

Maryland Secretary of Human Resources Ruth Massinga has announced the state's plan for the distribution of $4.5 million in federal funds under the Community Services Block Grant for federal fiscal year 1984. The block grant funds, part of the Budget Reconciliation Act of 1981, will be distributed to local agencies to finance various programs for low-income persons.

According to Lawrence E. Hunt, acting assistant secretary for Community Programs of the Department of Human Resources, the funds will be distributed to local community action agencies throughout Maryland.

The Garrett Community Action Committee, Inc. will receive $125,172 for administrative support of the agency. A local spokesperson described the allocation as the annual administrative grant for the agency.

Originally part of the nation's "war on poverty," the community action agencies have used federal funds since 1964 to develop programs designed to ameliorate the causes and conditions of poverty in local areas. In Maryland, these community programs have included: Head Start educational centers for young children; health, housing and weatherization projects and other special programs for young persons and the elderly.

For 1984, 90 percent of the state's Community Services Block Grant funds will be distributed to existing community action agencies, according to Hunt.

Persons wishing to comment on the plan may write, before October 15, to: Lawrence E. Hunt, Community Programs Administration, Department of Human Resources, 1123 North Eutaw Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201.

Copies of the plan are available for review at the county Community Action office on West Liberty Street, Oakland.

Bank Shareholders Agree To Merger

At separate special meetings held Tuesday, October 4, the shareholders of The First National Bank of Oakland and Cumberland Savings Bank voted overwhelmingly to merge the two financial institutions. Final approval is required from the Comptroller of the Currency and the United States Department of Justice.

A joint statement issued by Courtney R. Tusing, Chairman of the Board and President of The First National Bank of Oakland, and John L. Conway, President of Cumberland Savings Bank, stated that 86% of First National's stock was represented at its meeting, while Cumberland Savings Bank had 89% of its stock represented at its meeting. Of First National's total shares outstanding 82% voted in favor of the merger, one percent voted against, while three abstained. Of Cumberland Savings Bank's total shares outstanding 87% voted in favor of the merger, one percent voted against, while one percent abstained.

Tusing and Conway further pointed out that their two banks are "... strong, compatible institutions whose management philosophies are similar. The merger will serve to enhance these qualities, while providing greater potential in an enlarged trading area—a merger for strength, a merger for growth, and a merger for success."

Subject to the approval by regulatory agencies, the merger is expected to be consumated by late November, at which time the two institutions will adopt a new name—First United National Bank & Trust.

Child's Family Files Lawsuit Against Physician

A Deep Creek Lake couple, Thomas and Helen Fowler, have filed a two-count, $10,000 lawsuit against a former Garrett County physician, Dr. Paul P. Williams. The Fowler suit follows an action by Williams asking the Garrett County Circuit Court to nullify a $152,500 award recently given the Fowlers by the Health Claims Arbitration Panel of Maryland as the result of negligence in the diagnosis and care of their son, who was 11 years old at the time of the incident in May of 1980.

The Fowlers claim that on May 4, 1980, their son was taken to the emergency room at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where Dr. Williams was the on-duty physician. According to the records, the child was suffering from cramps, vomiting, and diarrhea, which had been present for several days prior. Dr. Williams diagnosed the problem as gastroenteritis, relying almost exclusively on the preliminary, cursory examination of another physician, the Fowlers say. The report further alleges that he failed to employ the examination and diagnostic procedures and tests available, that he failed to seek surgical or specialized consultation while the child was a patient from May 4 through the 8th, and that he discharged the child when his condition did not warrant discharge, which included not responding to treatment. The fourth point in the first count claims that Williams failed to attend the child following discharge, even after being told of the worsening condition on May 10 and May 11, and failing to see him or treat him immediately upon learning of the deteriorating condition.

The Fowlers claim that as a direct result of this negligence, the child became critically ill and was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland, where he was required to undergo immediate radical surgery for the removal of a perforated appendix, a portion of his bowel, and prolonged treatment for massive peritonitis resulting from the perforated appendix. As a further result, the report states, the child was subjected to massive doses of highly potent drugs to combat the infection resulting from the ruptured appendix, and was required to undergo numerous surgical procedures over a period of approximately two months, endure extreme pain and suffering, and sustain permanent loss of a portion of the bowel, multiple surgical incisions, permanent abdominal scarring and adhesions. This count seeks $5000 in damages.

The second count states that because of the incident, the family was forced to expend large sums of money for medical care and treatment, lodging, travel, meals, and endure to the loss of the child's companionship from May 12 until July 19, the amount of time needed for care at Sacred Heart. This count also seeks $5000.

The Fowlers have elected to have a jury trial before Garrett County Circuit Court.

Oakland VFD Slates Annual Festival Events

The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department will begin the festivities for the Sixteenth Annual Autumn Glory Festival with several events scheduled for Thursday, October 13.

A day full of food, drink, firemen's parade and family fun will begin with an Oktoberfest meal to be served at the Oakland fire hall. Featuring German-style food and drink, the meal will be served from 4 until 7:30 p.m. Advance tickets sales for food and beverage will begin at noon at the fire hall on Third Street.

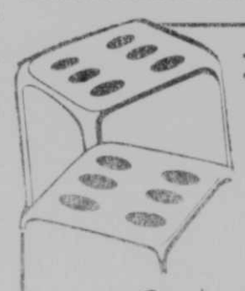
Everyone is then invited to watch a performance by local majorettes and twirling groups at 6 p.m. on Second Street in downtown Oakland. There will also be a performance by local bands at the reviewing on Second Street before the Firemen's Parade.

The Firemen's Parade will begin at 7 p.m. in downtown Oakland. The parade will feature bands, drill teams, fire equipment, antique fire apparatus and rescue apparatus from as far as 200 miles away. A new judging category that has attracted attention from fire departments as far away as Bladensburg, is the Antique Apparatus Category. Spectators are welcome to get a closer look by observing the apparatus judging at the Farmers' Market parking lot on Rt. 219 between 5:30 p.m. and parade time. For further information concerning the Firemen's Parade, persons may contact the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, Oakland, Md. 21550, 334-3888.

The annual Oktoberfest Celebration will be held at the Oakland fire hall at 7:30 p.m. Featured will be German food, drink and a live German-style "Ooompah" Band. Presentation of the Fireman of the Year Award and the Training Award will be made by the Garrett County Firemen's Association. Admission is free and this event is sponsored by the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department.

Bingo will be played on Friday and Saturday, October 14 and 15, beginning at 7 p.m. at the Oakland fire hall, also sponsored by the Oakland Fire Department and the Oakland Catholic Daughters. There will be an admission to play.

Employment Of Handicapped Topic Of Proclamation



"Employ the Handicapped Month" in Maryland was formally begun with the issuance of a proclamation by Governor Harry Hughes in a ceremony at the State House. Hughes stated in the proclamation that this year's observance is "of greater significance" as it is the kick-off year for the "Decade of Disabled Persons" as proclaimed by the United Nations. He further stated that it should be recognized that many barriers, both architectural and attitudinal, still exist, inhibiting accessibility to employment opportunities which exist in industry, business and government that can be performed by qualified disabled individuals, often with an increase in production, saftey and attendance.

The chairman of the Governor's Commitee on Employment of the Handicapped stated that October has been proclaimed as "Employ the Handicapped Month" to emphasize the need for more doors to open in the work place so that individuals with disabilities can find employment. The need for this month was pointed out by a recently published report of the U.S. Census Bureau. According to their latest figures, the 13.1 million handicapped workers in this country are paid less than other workers and face higher unemployment. Seventeen percent of male workers with disabilities were unemployed in 1982, compared with ten percent for non-disabled men; and 18.3% of disabled women were unemployed, compared with 8.8% for non-disabled women.

The census report went on to state the disabled worker earns two to three thousand dollars less than non-disabled workers.

For further information on how to take an active role in hiring qualified handicapped job applicants, persons may contact Faith S. Kirk, Executive Director, Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, 200 West Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201, Phone 301-659-2264.

The Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, founded in 1947, functions primarily as a public relations/public education instrument to promote employment of individuals with disabilities.

Kathryn Sincell To Give Recital Oct. 8 At FSC

Kathryn Sincell, mezzo-soprano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Sincell, Mt. Lake Park, will present an ensemble recital on Saturday, October 8, at 8:15 p.m. in Pullen Hall Auditorium on the Frostburg State College campus.

Selections will be by Caccini, Buxtehude, Head, Ravel, Rorem, Vaughn Williams, and Held. Miss Sincell will be assisted by Jim Roderick, guitar, Stephanie Kupchynsky, violin, Valerie Laus, violin, Keith Pierson, viola, Lee Ann O'Brien, cello, Lea Ann Glotfelty, harpsicord and piano, Susan Hawkins, flute, and faculty member, Dr. Robert Pusey, oboe.

This recital is the first of two programs Miss Sincell has chosen to give in her senior year to receive her Bachelor of Arts degree in vocal performance.

Her additional recital is planned for the spring semester.

Miss Sincell has been a member and soloist of concert choir, choral union, and opera workshop. She is also a member of St. Mark's Lutheran Church choir, Oakland, and the Garrett County Choral Society, and has performed with the Garrett County Playhouse. She has received honors in the National Association of Teachers of Singing student auditions Maryland-D.C. chapter. She is currently teaching voice at Family Music and Harmony Music, LaVale.

Miss Sincell is a student of Sara Pierce, a member of the Frostburg State College faculty.

Rank Of Eagle Conferred Upon Oakland Scout

The rank of Eagle, Scouting's highest award, was conferred upon Robert M. Flinn of Oakland in a ceremony Sunday afternoon at St. John's Lutheran Church in Red House. The Court of Honor ceremony followed a covered dish dinner at the church in honor of Robert and his parents, Eugene and Barbara Flinn, of 309 Oakland Drive.

In addition to members of Troop 31 BSA, family and friends, those attending included special guests Delegate George Edwards, Pastor Daniel Yeiser of St. John's and former Scoutmaster Thomas Butscher as featured speaker.

Also participating in the ceremony was Robert Goad who presented an American flag on behalf of the Elks Lodge #2481, the troop's sponsors. Father Martin Feild presented a letter of thanks from the House of Hope, for which Flinn had completed a major food collection drive as a service project. Offering best wishes via letter was Senator John Bambacus.

Flinn is currently an assistant Scoutmaster with Troop 31 and a member of the Order of the Arrow in Scouting. A freshman at Potomac State College, he is pursuing a career in electrical engineering.

Local Full Gospel Businessmen Welcome Speaker

A special guest speaker will be present for the Garrett County chapter of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship meeting, which will be held on Saturday, October 15, at 7 p.m. in the Aurora (W. Va.) Fire hall.

Nitz Scoggan retired graphic artist for the U.S. Air Force operations Center in the Pentagon, and author of Pillars of the Pentagon, a book about the women and the activities involved in day to day life in the main offices of the U.S. Department of Defense.

Mrs. Scoggan, a resident of Manassas, Virginia, and a summer resident of Garrett County, is a wife, mother, and grandmother, and teaches several ladies' Bible classes, including a lunchtime class of Pentagon women, which met in a chapel Mrs. Scoggan was instrumental in founding. Since her retirement, Mrs. Scoggan travels throughout the United States, speaking on God's work in her life. She appeared on the "700 Club", and has plans for future publications. Her book is available in Oakland at the Book Mark'et on Alder Street.

Members of the Full Gospel Businessmen's fellowship invite interested persons to the fellowship to hear Mrs. Scoggan. A dinner will be served at 6 p.m., with the business session at 7 p.m. Anyone interested should contact Paul Merrill at 334-9564. The organization is non-denominational, designed to bring Christian knowledge into the lives of businessmen through a monthly meeting and fellowship meal.

Quance To Visit Oakland Tuesday

Earl Quance, program administrator for construction grants for the state Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, will meet with Oakland's mayor and council Tuesday, October 11, in attempts to resolve an impasse between the town and Sterling Processing for purchase of Sterling's treatment plant for use by the town.

The town's sewer improvement project has been officially "on hold" by state and federal funding sources since early August, when the town refused to proceed with negotiations for the plant until questions were answered by the funding agencies. Quance first met with Oakland officials early in August and promised to obtain necessary answers and information from his department and from the Environmental Protection Agency by the end of that month, but had been unable to gain requested information to meet that deadline.

The news of Quance's planned visit was a highlight of Monday night's regular council meeting in Oakland. Other topics were the cancellation of the annual trick or treat activities in the town limits. Trick or treat will be replaced this year with a treat distribution for youngsters, and further information will be forthcoming next week.

Copies of a proposed revised and updated charter for the town, compiled by the Institute for Governmental Services, College Park, were distributed to the mayor and council for study Monday. The charter will be reviewed over the next several weeks before any action is taken.

It was brought to the attention of the council that numerous complaints about dogs running loose in the town had been received by law enforcement officials. The council reminds all citizens that Oakland's ordinance about dog control must be obeyed at all times, or compliance will be enforced by the Oakland police or county dog warden.

Small Amounts Of Rain Noted

Small amounts of rainfall were recorded this past week by Weber's weather station near Oakland, but the amounts did not add up to the total of half an inch.

The week's high temperature was evidenced Monday, with the mercury rising to 76 degrees under bright sunny skies. The week's low was last Thursday night, with a reading of 28 degrees.

High last Wednesday was 70 degrees before the mercury dropped to 33. Thursday the high was 68. Rain clouds obscured the sun Friday and brought .37 of an inch of precipitation, while the high was again 68 degrees after the chilly drop to 28 the preceding night.

Saturday was partly cloudy and had a high of 63 after the previous night's dip to 35 degrees. An additional .07 of an inch of rain was noted by Saturday morning and the overnight low was 35 degrees. Sunday was also partly cloudy with a high again of 63 after the drop to 32 degrees. There was .01 of an inch of precip noted Sunday.

The overnight low Sunday night was 36 before the mercury zoomed to 76. Monday night's low was 40 and high Tuesday was a comfortable 73 degrees. Overnight low last night was 52 degrees.

Reinhardt Earns Doctorate Degree

Alan J. Reinhardt, assistant professor of English at Garrett Community College, has been awarded the Ph. D. in composition and rhetoric from Indiana University of Pennsylvania. His B.A. in English was completed at the University of Pennsylvania and his M.A. in English was earned at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind.

Prior to Dr. Reinhardt's joining the faculty of Garrett in 1976, he was a member of the faculties of Genesee Community College, Batavia, New York; Drew University; College of St. Elizabeth; Furman University; Washington and Jefferson College and Washington College in Chestertown.

Reinhardt's dissertation research, conducted with his colleague, Bob Crone, also an assistant professor of English at Garrett, measured the effects of an interdisciplinary approach to freshman composition. In addition to several published periodicals, Dr. Reinhardt edits Murphy's Horses, the GCC literary magazine.

Dr. Reinhardt resides in McHenry with his wife, Stephanie, and two-year old daughter, Sonya.

Hands Off . . .

Another difficult decision lies before the judges of the U. S. Supreme Court, who met yesterday to discuss an issue involving the separation of church and state.

The case began in the small city of Pawtucket, R.I. For the past 40 years the government of Pawtucket has owned, maintained and annually displayed a life-size nativity scene on public property. In 1980 a resident filed suit against the local government, claiming that such action is unconstitutional in that it is an endorsement by the government of a particular religion, namely Christianity. The First Amendment to the Constitution bars government steps toward "establishment of religion." The case went before two different federal judges in Rhode Island, who both upheld the complainant's claim. The mayor and city council took the matter all the way to the Supreme Court, which now must render the final decision.

Also speaking out against the practice is the Civil Liberties Union, while a spokesman for the Reagan administration feels it is justified.

The issue is obviously an emotional one and at first glance the suit against the Pawtucket government appears to be a slap at Christianity and religion in general. However, after closer study, we have to agree with the complainant in this case and, for once, with the Civil Liberties Union.

Christianity, although the most widely accepted religion in this nation, is not the only religion. Christianity is not, thank heavens, mandated by government that all citizens accept it as the only true religion. Freedom of religion from governmental interference is one of our most precious possessions.

However, the issue is a political matter, not a religious one. Even the National Council of Churches has recommended that the decision of the Rhode Island judges be upheld by the Supreme Court. The Christian church leaders do not want to give the government the power to force-feed any religion, including their own. The issue of religion cannot become political, because then it will be exploited by politicians and thus degraded. Indeed, the very sacredness of the Nativity can remain so only if it is taken completely out of the hands of government. The majority religion in this nation is not supposed to dominate the minority religions.

The easy solution for the Pawtucket government is to allow local Christians to purchase the Nativity figures and display them on private property. Then the non-Christian taxpayer would have no complaint.

Government must be required to fully maintain its "hands-off" policy concerning religion, just as the writers of the Constitution stipulated.

In Other Words

Cast Me Not Off . . .

by Carol Fox

The Associated Press wire service recently carried an excruciatingly sad, yet somehow beautiful story about an elderly married couple who jointly decided to end their lives together, as they had lived them, rather than become a burden to their children and society.

The couple, in their 80s, carefully, and with utmost consideration, planned their death, their funeral arrangements, and the explanation they would leave behind for their family.

The house was left in order, the clothes they had chosen to be buried in had been carefully laid out, she had her hair done, and he collected the mail one final time. After covering the car seat with a shower curtain and wool blanket, so their blood would leave no permanent stain, the husband said goodby to his wife of 60 years, held the revolver he had purchased specifically for the act to her breast, and pulled the trigger.

He then turned the gun to his own chest, and fired one final time. The Florida couple had just become part of the more than 4000 elderly Americans authorities say will take their own lives this year.

The couple's children found the note, which said: "Don't grieve, because we had a very good life and saw our two children turn out to be such fine persons. Love, Mother and Father.

Think about the elderly persons in your life. Have you recently called, or stopped by to say hello? Have you asked for advice, or sent a small gift? Have you said thank you for being here with us, and sharing your life experiences? Think about it.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

On September 12, four young people from Oakland broke down in Romney, W.Va. in a 1977 Olds. My son, Douglas, and another young man stopped to help. My son came home, got his tow bar, and he and his friend towed them to my son's garage.

The older girl called her parents, telling them they were OK, that the young men who had stopped to help them were real nice and that they were at his home, out of the rain and his parents did not mind. My son made about four trips to and from Romney and then stayed at the 7-11 store until their family came and got them. Douglas helped them from about 8 p.m. until 2 a.m.

The young people left without saying "thank you," or even asking Douglas what they owed him for all his help. My son even let the young man have money to get something to eat. They said over and over how happy they were that my son could be trusted. How happy their parents were, that they had found someone that would help. They were concerned they would not have enough money to fix the car. Douglas told them not to worry because he would not charge them that much. Most likely, all he would have charged them would have been gas money for the trips he made to and from Romney.

Most young people wonder why no one will trust them. I don't mean to cause any hard feelings, but I think that when someone stops to help, it should be appreciated. These young people were a long way from home and my son was happy to help.

Douglas didn't know them and didn't once think maybe they were faking or would do harm to him. He only wanted to help.

Thank you,
Bettye Butler
Shanks, W.Va.

To the Editor:

This past Friday, my husband and I experienced something that I hope no one should ever have to go through. Early Friday morning we went to feed our German Shepherds and found two of them dead and one suffering immensely. It was really hard to believe that a human being could be so cruel to poison three innocent dogs and make them suffer. I just wish, whoever you are, that you could have seen how much they did suffer. It just makes me sick to think that someone could be so low to do something like that. I hope you don't have the privilege to own an animal that could become a part of your family and love them as if they were your own children and then have someone take their lives as if they had a right to do so.

However, there is one thing we all can do is to support or become a member of the Garrett County Humane Society, to prevent cruelty against animals. The membership is only $5.00 per year and is tax deductible. The president of the humane society is a good friend of ours, Paul Savage. He was very kind to us and helped us more than most people would have. So I urge you to join the Humane Society and make it a powerful organization against the cruelty of animals.

There will eventually be justice for our dogs. It may take a while, but we will have it.

Just a final note—whoever you are, don't pat yourself on the back too hard, because one our dogs is still with us and she knows who you are and what you did, and it's a shame she can't speak.

D. Hanline

To the Editor:

We are writing as concerned parents of students in reference to the recent outbreak of head lice in the school system. We feel that valuable learning time is being taken away from students as teachers and aides have to devote two to four hours a day of instructional time checking students for head lice.

We feel that this is a health problem, not an educational one. Head lice are known to carry typhus, trench fever, and relapsing fever, not math, science or social studies.

We feel that the Health Department should be sending someone to the schools on a regular basis for head checking.

We also feel that the Health Department should be informing the public concerning measures to be taken for prevention and how to take care of the problem after it arises.

Thank you,
Concerned Parents

To the Editor:

It has been awhile since the Bald Eagle was shot and reduced to a lifeless heap of blood and feathers but whoever pulled the trigger shortened by several years its rightful place in the sky and the environment, and as far as protection goes, if the U.S. government can't provide enough to insure the future survival of the national bird (and I don't think they can) then I put them both in the same category—on the way out.

Here are a couple of factors in the possible extinction of the eagle. There are too many people who are unconcerned about wildlife survival, endangered or otherwise. And there is a nationwide breakdown of law and order resulting in a serious inability to control criminal activity. Consider the brown pelicans on the coast of California early this year that were mutilated by sawing off their upper bill or beak and leaving them to die of starvation. If the authorities take into custody whoever performed this exercise in sadism, do you think they will be punished? The answer is, not nearly enough.

Then a little later in the same area the fierce storms battered the coast and washed a lot of baby seals up on the beach, leaving them bewildered and helpless. And more than a few of them perished when the sickies and weirdo's pounced upon them with spears and bows and arrows before it was over.

And then there was the big Golden Eagle kill around the mid-1970's that was engineered by the western sheepman. Helicopters manned with rifles and sharpshooters made this slaughter possible. I saw one of the pilots on TV testify at a Senate hearing that he helped to kill between 700 and a 1000 Golden Eagles.

And all this happened under full federal protection.

I saw what I am sure was an eagle one evening in early August flying in an easterly direction before it quickly disappeared behind the timberline. Forever?

To the Editor:

How refreshing to read real contributions to the solving of real problems in last week's Republican and Citizen.

I refer specifically to Commissioner Braskey's straight forward analysis of the Liquor Control Board and Virginia Rosenbaum's brilliant editorial. Thank God for honesty and straightforward, realistic thinking.

Your Carol Fox's brilliant realistic analysis of the Free Food give away, should put her in Annapolis or Washington and then perhaps we could solve some of our problems as she consistently comes up with masterpieces of solutions to our problems.

Thanks for Jim Willis's continued adventuresome, creative works.

Thanks, Mr. Foster, for your in-depth analysis of our Deep Creek Lake problems. Your suggestions, if heeded, could almost eliminate the horrible tragic past summer occurrences.

I am so grateful for your letter to the Editor. Welcome aboard. I hope DNR and all those concerned will listen and act.

We have a wealth of brilliant human expertise here in Garrett County. I often wonder why it isn't utilized? Do we cherish mediocrity or is it we don't want any ripples or waves?

I do believe, once again, our commissioners are being a concerted, united positive force and what a blessing! In all the discussions of unemployment problems, why has lack of human services never been mentioned for Garrett County? I refer specifically to all the hundreds of thousands of dollars and hundreds of jobs going elsewhere, because we do not have any facilities to care totally for our own mentally ill in Garrett County.

Why? Ineptness, lack of vision, lack of responsible leadership, fear, or what?

Every Garrett County resident is our responsibility.

Has the past "national malaise" overwhelmed us?

It's past time we get our better "American inner instincts" working in Garrett County!

To the Editor:

In response to the September 28 letter to the Editor alleging that group homes are "very profitable," I can only state that may be true for some private, for profit nursing and group homes. But for those agencies, such as Garrett Crossroads, Incorporated, that operate by grants from the State of Maryland, it would be impossible to make any profit since any surplus money is returned to the state at the end of each fiscal year.

The community can be assured that, as the only private non-profit organization currently providing a group home for mentally retarded adults in Garrett County, that one of the "outstanding" characteristics of Garrett Crossroads is its lack of profitability. No one or organization would have made a profit from the home that was proposed for Grantsville.

Sincerely,
Daniel J. Elmlinger
Executive Director

National Newspaper Week

by Ronald Reagan

Since the founding of this nation, freedom of the press has been a fundamental tenet of American life. The economic freedom that has earned us such great bounty and the precious freedoms of speech and assembly would have little meaning or be totally nullifed should freedom of the press ever be ended. There is no more essential ingredient than a free, strong, and independent press to our continued success in what the Founding Fathers called our "noble experiment" in self-government.

Today, as we survey the globe, we find increasing hostility to the principles of open communication. Both the governments of many nations and certain international organizations advocate or enforce policies alien to a free flow of ideas. This promotion of censorship reflects a manifest fear of the truth and deprecation of the great importance of liberty to human advancement.

The theme of this year's observance of National Newspaper Week, "A Free Press—Democracy's First Defense," helps focus attention on the essential role of a free press to the progress and development of democratic institutions. This occasion also serves as a reminder of the singular worth of a free press to the well-being of our country. As Thomas Jefferson wrote, "Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press."

Throughout National Newspaper Week, all Americans are pleased to note the many contributions of the men and women of our nation's press to the preservation of the First Amendment's guarantee of freedom of the press. Of the forces shaping the destiny of our civilization none is more crucial to our future than the responsible reporting and truthful analysis of the events of our era. I commend your dedicated efforts in pursuit of their goals.

TCC Provides Money For Town Coordinator Post

Garrett County's municipal coordinator will have a job at least through this fiscal year, the Garrett County commissioners reported Tuesday.

This year's problem of funding for the position was resolved Wednesday during Tri-County Council of Western Maryland meeting which unanimously voted to contribute $10,000 to the program which the commissioners said would have run out of money by Sept. 30.

The incorporated towns which are served by municipal coordinator Wendell Keaton also contribute to the program while the commissioners have guaranteed inkind services, such as free office space and secretarial assistance.

Commissioner Ernest Gregg, who spent much time attempting to obtain the TCC's commitment, said the money comes from the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development and would have had to be returned to that agency if it had not been used for this program. It will insure the existence of the program through June 30, 1984.

Second Impression

Legacy

by Harry Fox

There was a time when it was still a craft—before cameras and computers created the technology that makes today's newspaper shops hum with the gentle clicking of keyboards and the purring of phototypesetters.

In his lifetime he bridged the gap between the first and this lately born stepchild of the trade. Stepping from the sweat and noise of casting machines and linotypes, of chases and stereotype plates, into a new way of doing things.

He was there to show a kid how it was done—to teach me how to miter corners, to look for trouble before it found me, to learn the ropes of a job that slowly becomes part of the stuff of life itself. It sounds crazy. But that's how it is when newspapering gets into a man's blood. I think he knew what was happening to me even before I did.

On chilly fall evenings he'd offer me a beer as we sat at his kitchen table, listening, talking—patiently hearing me out, offering some advice, helping me to understand what it takes. Things like caring about doing a good job, handling pressure, learning to get along with my fellow workers . . . all things I needed to learn.

I'll always see him wearing a shop apron, quietly picking handset type from a case, then turning about and crossing the hundred years' barrier from the old to the new. It was so different—cutting type with scissors instead of saws. It never seemed to bother him.

With an occasional gruff rebuke when I needed it—more often with an outstretched hand to help, John "Newt" Castilow taught a kid how to survive a job, and how to love every minute of it. In his career of 31 years at The Republican his craftsmanship has helped to bring this newspaper to thousands of readers. He has labored, sweated, often long into the night. And for the last six or so, he helped me to grow to love this business.

This issue of The Republican is "Newt's" last—as he moves on to a well-deserved retirement.

He leaves behind co-workers who will miss him dearly, and at least one who might never have figured out what he was doing without his quiet help.

The word from which we get "type" means "to strike a blow, leaving behind an impression."

Such is his legacy to our generation. We won't forget it.

Few Attend Public Hearing On Group Home

Few persons attended the public hearing on a proposed site for a second group home for mentally handicapped persons in Garrett County held Wednesday evening in the Garrett Community College Oakland Center.

The home, to house six persons, originally was proposed for a site adjacent to the Grantsville Town Park, but was recently changed after considerable opposition to the home was mounted by town citizens.

Dan Elmlinger, administrator of Garrett Crossroads, Inc., a group home for mentally handicapped persons located on Broadford Road, said 11 persons attended the hearing, eight were Garrett Crossroads personnel, two were interested citizens and one was a landowner.

Landowner Frank Robinette said he attended the hearing primarily to gain more information while county citizens Craig Wengerd and Louise Harvey stated their support for the home.

Property owners surrounding the proposed site, located between U.S. 219 south of Oakland, and Weber Road, were contacted by letter, Elmlinger said, but none had voiced opposition before the public hearing.

The Maryland Mental Retardation Administration is financing the group home and has projected June 30, 1984 as the completion date for construction of the home.

Jim Willis Trends

I am often asked to speak to classrooms of glassy-eyed students on the joys of a career in the publishing world, which strikes me as not unlike inviting James Watt to teach a Dale Carnegie Course.

If you are a high school student contemplating a career in journalism, the first rule is, "Do Not Major in Journalism." A knowledge of the martial arts will serve you better.

No newsroom I've been associated with has more than one journalism graduate and these we regard in awe. How can anyone endure four years of schooling in this discipline and still choose a career in journalism?

I have worked in various newsrooms and it didn't take me long to learn that newspaper people fit into neat categories determined by their titles. Walk into any newsroom and you will recognize who does what without glancing at the desk nameplates.

The Sports Editor: Probably the worst physical specimen in the building. He smokes like Mount St. Helens and his idea of a balanced meal is a bag of Doritos and a six-pack. In addition to being the only person who reads box scores, he had a journalistic coup today when he used the words trounce, crush, overpower, master, topple, triumph, victory, captures, knocks off, blanks, routs and drubs—all in the same lead paragraph.

The Society Editor: Invariably a woman, but not necessarily a lady. We don't call her section the "society pages" anymore, ever since someone thought up "lifestyles" or "family living." She is the epitome of charm, grace and ready-to-wear. Society editors cry a lot, especially in June when 45 distraught mothers-of-the-brides march into her office and each demands that her daughter's nuptials be on page one.

The Religion Editor: An even-tempered person who from all appearances spends a great deal of time in deep meditation, but in reality is asleep. Religion editors produce imaginative feature material like the interview with the man who wrote a book on atheism and then prayed it would be a best-seller.

The Staff Photographer: Unlike "Animal" on the "Lou Grant" television series who is at the scene of fires so quickly (I think he is an arsonist), staff photographers are not quick as a bunny. Only a vampire has a deeper aversion to daylight. Photographers tend to hole up in the darkroom and only a threat of turning on the light can flush them from that refuge. These people need to breathe Dektol in order to survive and a photo credit means more to them than life itself.

The General Assignment Reporter: Can usually be found in the library cramming in background research for a current assignment, i.e. "The effects of bird lice on budgies." GA's are tons of fun at parties because they can recite bits of trivia learned in the course of their research. In their off-time they compose slogans for T-shirts and bumper stickers.

The Investigative Reporter: They believe they are secret agents and if you surprise one, he'll swallow his notes. They've all seen the movie, "All the President's Men" 25 times and Hollywood has hit them the hardest . . . they'll sometimes cover school board meetings while disguised as a potted plant. If they get a phone call at the office they dramatically drag the telephone into the janitor's closet and whisper.

The Editor: The die-hard masochists of the newspaper world—they assume responsibility for what I write. Skydiving would be safer. They spend a great deal of time trying to figure out where their reporters are and who called Australia and talked for 25 minutes. They editorialize in their sleep and talk in terms of headlines. They open envelopes addressed "Letter to the Editor" with ten-foot pole, edit our stories with an enormous pair of scissors, re-write all of our leads and breathe down our necks when we're on deadline.

The next time your class is planning a field trip, go visit your local newspaper. We're a lot more interesting than the zoo.

Phyllis Trickett Appointed To Maryland Commission For Women

Phyllis Trickett, Oakland, was sworn in this past week as a member of the Maryland Commission for Women for the remainder of a term of four years from July 1, 1981. Clerk of the Circuit Court Clifford DeWitt performed the swearing in ceremony, shown above.

Mrs. Trickett was appointed in late Aug. by Governor Harry Hughes to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Susan J. Crawford. In his letter notifying her of her appointment, the Governor said "It gives me great pleasure to make this appointment and I am confident that your judgment and ability in performing the duties of this office will be to the advantage of the State and its people."

The new commission member has been owner-manager of Vogue Beauty Salon in Oakland for 36 years. She and her husband Harold D. Trickett, have two daughters, Pamela and Kimberly.

Mrs. Trickett is a past state president of the Maryland Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., past president of the Garrett County BPW, past national chairman for "Young Career Women" for the national BPW federation, and is a charter member and past president of the Junior Woman's Civic Club of Oakland.

She served as president of the Southern High School Parent-Teacher Association and as a member of the Garrett County PTA Council. For the past 13 years she has been a member of the county Vocational Advisory Council and has served that group as chairman. For eight years she was a leader of the Monte Vista 4-H Club.

Mrs. Trickett was a member of the original committee for the Community Action Board of Directors, where she served 12 years; is a member of the Southern Band Boosters and has served on the Board of Directors for the Western Maryland Heart Association for 14 years.

A graduate of Oakland High School and Georgia's Academy of Beauty School in Cumberland, she has also taken various courses and seminars in business, politics, and parliamentary procedure at Garrett Community College, the University of Maryland, and West Virginia University.

An active member of St. Paul's Methodist Church, she is presently a member of the administration board. She was one of the original members of the Women for Progress Committee for Title IX.

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

The Aurora PTO membership drive begins October 3 and continues through October 11. It is hoped by PTO officials that everyone interested in the school—parent, grandparent, friend or relatives—will help by giving their membership to one of the students. The winning class will receive a $10 class gift.

There will be a sing at the Maple Grove Assembly of God Church on October 9 at 7 p.m. The church choir and other groups within the church will be presenting numbers and the public is invited to join them for an evening of fellowship in gospel music.

The Halloween Festival is being planned for Aurora School on October 29. Doors will open at 6 p.m. and in addition to games, cake walks and food, this year there will be a haunted house and a gypsy fortune teller.

The dress parade begin at 6:30 p.m. for pre-schoolers and continue through 7:30 p.m. when adults participate. There will be five parades, and categories to be judged will be ugliest, funniest, prettiest, most original, and best couple. Cake walks will begin at 8 p.m. and door prizes will be awarded at 9 p.m.

The PTO is asking for volunteers to serve one-hour shifts so that the rest of the evening may be spent with the children. They are also seeking donations for harvest baskets which are any non-perishable item and may be sent to the school at any time.

They are asking that the community help with donations of cakes, pies, bake sale items. Persons needing transportation may call Becky Oldham at 735-5033 and items will be picked up.

Union District Senior Citizens met Saturday evening, October 1, at the Aurora U.M. Memorial Building for their regular covered dish supper which was attended by about 66 persons. Blessing for the meal was asked by Wilma Waybright.

Ted Hardesty called to order the business meeting following the meal. Devotions were conducted by Sheridan Layman. Frank Stemple presented a table which had been handcrafted as a gift for them by George Bolyard of Erwin.

Applications to receive cheese and butter will be taken at the Aurora Fire Hall on October 7 from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Flu shots will be available on Friday, October 14, at the Eglon Clinic.

There were 51 flu shots given and blood pressures read at the meeting.

Arvin Harsh of Eglon, member of the Preston County Board of Education, and Elmer Pritt of Kingwood, Preston County Superintendent of Schools, were present to give the pros and cons of the special levy which is to be voted upon October 10. The meeting adjourned with the Lord's Prayer in unison.

On Sunday, October 2, a number of Union District Seniors were in attendance for the Heritage Day observed in the Mill Room of the Kingwood Community Building. Serving as master of ceremonies for the affair was Ernest Shaffer of Aurora.

During the afternoon, Wilma Knapp was honored for having served as the Preston County Belle to the Glenville Folk Festival; Ted Hardesty was honored as the outstanding senior citizen in Union District; and entertainment was provided by a number of musical selections by Floyd Knapp, Ralph Lee and Tom Glotfelty.

William and Martha Hollen will be honored in observance of their 50th wedding anniversary with a buffet meal served at the Mt. Grove Fire Hall on October 15. The meal will be served at 6 p.m. and all friends and relatives of the couple are asked to be present, but to bring no gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollen were married October 17, 1933, and are the parents of two sons, Richard Hollen and William Hollen, Jr., of Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Bodes of Frostburg are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Barbara Lynne, to Gregory W. Knotts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Knotts of Cresaptown.

The wedding will be an event of October 15 and held in St. Mary's Catholic Church in Pocahantas, Pa., at 4 p.m.

Miss Bodes is a graduate of Beall High and employed at the Frostburg National Bank as a commercial teller. Mr. Knotts is a graduate of Allegany High and Allegany Community College and is employed with Photo Genetics at the Country Club Mall, LaVale, as a laboratory technician. He is a grandson of Lillian Knotts of Eglon and Dale Knotts of Oakland.

BALLOON MESSAGES floated above the clouds last Sunday as 30 or more children from the Church of the Nazarene shared in the celebration of the organization's Diamond Anniversary. The cards attached to the balloons indicated the name and address of each child, and issued an invitation to anyone finding a balloon to come to the church on October 16 to join in the nationwide celebration of the denomination's founding. Assisting in the "lift-off" is Rev. Kenneth G. Rice, pastor.

Oakland Nazarenes Participate In Diamond Anniversary Celebration

The Church of the Nazarene, Eighth and Alder Streets, will be among 7,000 churches worldwide celebrating the Diamond Anniversary of this young Protestant denomination during the month of October, according to Rev. Kenneth G. Rice.

The Church of the Nazarene originated from a series of mergers between many local and regional religious bodies in the United States and Great Britain which arose from the Wesleyan Holiness Movement of the late 19th century.

During Heritage Month celebrations, Nazarenes hope to receive 10,411 new members, equaling the original membership of the denomination of its founding in 1908. Today, the Church of the Nazarene has grown to more than 1.25 million, with an active membership of approximately 750,000.

The Oakland Church of the Nazarene is holding revival services each night this week beginning at 7 p.m. with Evangelist Rev. J. Paul Hill. This weekend, song evangelist Harry Stewart will be featured at the services.

Sunday, October 16th, the Oakland Church of the Nazarene will be joining this worldwide celebration, closing with the film "The Sun Never Sets In The Morning" at the evening service, which begins at 7 p.m.

The 1983 Football Homecoming Dance was held September 30 at the Southern High School gym. The dance, lasting from 10 p.m. to midnight, featured the band, Slow Poke.

The Homecoming Court consisted of Freshmen Princess, Wendy Bosley and Scott Lohr, escort; Sophomore Princess, Liz Burdock with Mike Weimer, escort; Junior Princess, Renee Sharpless with Steve Bennett, escort; Senior Princesses, Tracy Imhoff escorted by Jim Freeman and Wendy Beitzel escorted by Jay Marple. Dawn Shaffer was crowned 1983 Homecoming Queen by Luther Parrack, principal. Chris Foley was escort of the Queen.

The Homecoming Football Game was postponed Friday because of a problem with lighting at the field. The game was rescheduled for Monday and the Rams were victorious over Keyser 16-7.

Southern High School is moving into the computer age with the acquisition of 13 new computors. The school will have 18 at this project's completion. Paid for by the Board of Education, these computors have arrived at Southern at a cost of $560.00 each. Programs for the computors are being purchased and cataloged for teacher and student use. Software already in stock includes: math, science, geography, history and Engish. The computors and their programs will be set up in a classroom lab situation where teachers may schedule their classes. This lab is expected to be open within two weeks. The room used for the lab must be rewired and furnished before it is open for use.

Activity Day, September 30, held many activities for students. The ninth grade magazine campaign assembly was held in the cafeteria under Mr. Hanna, magazine representative. The students received information on sales procedure, profit sharing and awards incentive. The freshmen students will be selling magazines from October 1 through 10. After the assembly, homeroom captains met with Mr. Hanna to get detailed instructions. The ninth grade captains are: Kim Rosenberry, Tracy Martin, Tracy Ridder, Cathy WErdibaugh, Joelle Plauger, Kathy Strawser, Annette Cooper, Todd Beahn, Charles Friend and Heather Savage.

Student pictures will be taken October 10 by Lemley Studios.

October 11 the Senior Class will be ordering Senior announcements from Herf-Jones. Caps and gowns will be ordered at a later date.

SHS Marching Band participated in the Buckwheat Festival by entering the Festival's first field show and competition. The show was held Saturday, October 1, at 10 a.m. The band entered class AAA, the class West Virginia offers.

The Golf team will be competing against Central Preston October 4. That match is away. Wednesday the Golf team will play Northern at home, and on Friday they play Tucker County at home. October 10 the team will be in the PVC Tournament at Canaan.

nutrition NEWS

The Nutrition Committee of the American Heart Association has prepared a series of articles providing information and recipes for healthier diets. Another of those articles, supplied by Wendy Norris, dietician for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and a member of the commmitte, is as follows:

The American Heart Association recognizes that with the fall, we are getting ready for a whole new season. Autumn is the season of Friday night football games and hard work on the weekend raking leaves and getting ready for winter. It is the time when many familes get back into the hustle and bustle of the new school year.

The Heart Association's Nutrition Education Committee is committed to providing you with practical and sound menu ideas for healthier eating through 1983. This week's featured recipe is "Tomato Corn Soup." It is a warm and hearty soup which tastes great when you come in from being outside in the cool, brisk fall weather . . . maybe after a football game!

Tomato Corn Soup

2 Tablespoons Oil
¼ Cup Chopped Onion
2 Tablespoons Flour
2 Cups Tomato Juice
1 16-Ounce Can (2 Cups) Cream-Style Corn
2 Cups Skim Milk
Freshly Ground Pepper
Parsley For Garnish

In a 2-quart saucepan, heat oil over moderately low heat and cook chopped onion until transparent. Stir in flour and cook stirring until slightly thickened. Pour mixture into a blender with tomato juice and corn. Blend until smooth.

Pour into a 2-quart saucepan with the milk. Place over moderately low heat and cook, stirring constantly. Do not allow to boil.

Add pepper to taste.

Serve hot garnished with parsley.

Yield: About 1½ quarts

Approx. Cal/Serv.: 1 cup = 155

Fall is also the time when we should start to think ahead to the Christmas holidays. An easy gift suggestion is the American Heart Association cookbook. What could be more practical than a whole cookbook full of heart-healthy recipes? If you are interested in a cookbook, call Wendy Wakefield, R.D. 334-2155. Give the gift of good nutrition this year!

There will be a welcome party on arrival with fruit punch and flower lei greeting.

Travel arrangements are being made by International Marketing Tours, Paramus, N.J.

The tour runs from Monday, November 21 to Monday, November 28, with options to stay for another week.

Mrs. Glotfelty will fly from the Pittsburgh airport on Monday, November 21.

She is a contributor to Dr. Peale's Foundation for Christian Living.

Church News

World Communion Sunday was observed with a Communion service in all three churches of the Bittinger parish.

The wheat, grapes and ivy arrangement on Zion's altar on Sunday was placed there because of the symbolism it bears on World Communion Sunday. The wheat represents the bread, the grapes the wine and the ivy is a symbol of Eternal Life. Miss Leota Baker, who cares for the altar, made the arrangement.

Marvin Beckman served as lector at St. John's and Rita Knox served as lector at Emmanuel. Robert Legeer served as Communion assistant at Emmanuel.

St. John's Council will meet on Thursday, October 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the church.

The parish youth group went to the nursing home on Sunday afternoon.

Many persons from the area attended the concert at Garrett Community College on Sunday evening.

Repairs Complete At State Bridge

Repair work on the Bear Creek Bridge along U.S. 219 is complete and state road crews were taking down scaffolding and traffic signals at the bridge early this week, said State Highway Administration officials Monday.

The contractor, HMF Enterprises, Oakland, completed the work Sept. 27, officials said.

The work had been delayed about two weeks because of problems obtaining supplies.

County school buses, detoured on a county road under the bridge during the construction work, began crossing the bridge Sept. 28, Michael Sines, Board of Education transportation director said this morning.

UPENDED by a Keyser defenseman is Southern Ram quarterback J. R. Gibson in Monday evening's contest between the Rams and the Golden Tornado. Also identifiable in the photo is No. 43, Dave McLaughlin and No. 32, Tim Tharp. The Rams won the game 16-7 for their third victory in four outings. They will host Hampshire this Friday evening.

Defense Sparkles

Rams Return To Win Column By Stopping Golden Tornado, 16-7

The Southern Rams returned to the win column Monday evening by whipping visiting Keyser 16-7, on the scoreboard and in statistics by a more significant margin. The Homecoming and Potomac Valley Conference win was the third victory in four starts for Coach Tom Woods' team, the lone loss coming at the hands of undefeated Musselman the previous week.

The Yardstick

Southern		Keyser
1	First Downs Rush	1
1	First Downs Pass	1
4	First Downs Penalty	4
14	Total First Downs	6
11	Passes Attempted	12
4	Passes Completed	5
1	Passes Intercepted By	1
33	Yards Passing	76
254	Net Yards Rushing	105
2 [illegible]	Punts Average	3 39.0
9	Penalties Yards	3 55
1	Fumbles Lost	0 0
299	Total Offense	181

A couple of dropped passes and a fumble by the Rams kept the game close, although Southern's senior-dominated defense veteran defensive unit dominated the Golden Tornado all evening, except on one play when Keyser's Sean Hill, a sophomore tailback, broke loose at the 6:27 mark of the first quarter and raced 71 yards to paydirt. Keyser managed to gain just 34 more yards on the ground and 16 in the air throughout the reminder of the contest.

The Rams were down 7-0 following Mike Lyon's conversion kick, but only briefly as they took the ensuing kickoff and began a drive which quickly produced a touchdown as senior running back Dave Terrant broke loose for a 56-yard scoring gallop. Quarterback J.R. Gibson tossed another Tom Woods-patented two-point conversion pass to Jim Freeman to put the Rams on top for good.

Southern engineered another drive in the second period, which was nearly stopped when a Keyser defensive back appeared to have picked off a Gibson aerial inside the Tornado's five-yard line. The officials ruled the pass incomplete, however, and several plays later the Rams scored their second touchdown as fullback Tim Tharp crashed over from the one. Gibson tossed to Mike Hill for the final two points of the contest.

Southern had a few more scoring opportunities in the second half which were eliminated by dropped passes.

Terrant paced all ball carriers with 191 yards on 27 carries, while Hill finished with 140 yards on 20 attempts for Keyser.

Leading tacklers for the Rams were Dan Clark and Chris Foley.

The loss dropped Keyser to 1-4 on the season.

Woods stated that he was "happy with the win" but expressed concern about the mistakes which bogged down the Ram offensive unit. "We are going to have to work harder to eliminate our own mistakes," he said. "Except for the play when Hill ran for the touchdown, our defense played very well," he continued. "There were some breakdowns, but we played well any time the pressure was on us."

Woods said he was particularly pleased with the running of Terrant and Tharp and the performances of Freeman and Hill from the tight end position. "J.R. (Gibson) also had a good game," he said. "A few of his passes that were right on target were dropped and he stayed right in the pocket despite taking some hard hits from Keyser's defense."

The next foe for the Rams is Hampshire, a team which Woods calls the most improved on Southern's schedule. The Trojans are 1-4 on the season, but three of their losses were close and to strong teams. They were edged by powerful Frankfort, 7-5, lost in overtime to Berkeley Springs, and fell to Beall, 14-0, after holding the Mountaineers scoreless until the fourth quarter.

"Most of Hampshire's losses have been a result of their own mistakes," Woods said, "which has us scared. If they play a mistake-free game this Friday night, then we are going to have to play very well to win the game."

Hampshire's strong, veteran defense is led by 5-10, 195-pound Lynn Hott and 6-0, 190-pound John Gyvoni in the rover position. They use a multiple-50 defense.

Their veer offense is led by Hott at fullback, Steve Henderson, a 6-0, 178-pound flanker, and David Jeter, 5-9, 150-pound halfback.

"We really need this win to keep our momentum going into the second half of the season," Woods said. "Every team left on our schedule is tough and about equal in ability."

Woods said his team is in good physical condition with no new injuries reported after the Keyser game.

Kickoff at the Southern field Friday is slated for 8 p.m.

Huskies' Offensive Effort Sputters Again In Loss To Berkeley Springs

The Northern Huskies continued to have difficulty in moving the ball Saturday evening as they dropped their third straight game in being shutout by host Berkeley Springs, 7-0.

The defensive unit of the Huskies, although riddled with injuries to key players, once again turned in a strong performance as they have in every game this season. However, one miscue in the Northern secondary in the second quarter allowed Berkeley Springs' split end Casey Hess to get open in the Huskies' end zone and pull in a 17-yard pass from quarterback Joe Didawick. The conversion kick was the final point of the evening.

Berkeley Springs continued its tradition of keeping the ball in the air, as Didawick threw over 30 times, including one 40-yard toss which set up the game's only touchdown. The Huskies virtually shut down the West Virginians' running game, holding them to less than 50 yards.

Northern quarterback Steve Zumpano was also forced to go to the air when the Huskies also could not generate yardage on the ground. He threw the ball 21 times, completing seven. Northern receivers dropped two passes which probably would have resulted in scores had they been caught.

Northern was held to just over 50 yards on the ground, with Bill Murray's 34-yard gallop accounting for over half of that total.

Zumpano also handled the punting chores for the Huskies, hitting one for over 60 yards and finishing with an average of over 40 yards.

Coach Jack Settle noted the defensive performances of Jeff Graham at outside linebacker, middle linebacker Jeff Eggleston, defensive tackel Bill Friend, who had four sacks, defensive ends Jeff Glotfelty and Ron Stark, and the secondary unit, consisting of Greg Diehl, Zumpano, Randy Kamp, and Bill Murray.

"When we were forced to change our game plan to primarily a passing attack, we began to make a lot of offensive mistakes," Settle said. "We just aren't used to having to throw so much, but we saw that our running attack was basically fruitless and we felt we had no choice but to pass.

"Berkeley Springs, on the other hand," he continued, "utilizes the pass extensively in every game and one miscue by our secondary cost us."

The numerous injuries confronting the Huskies which have five seniors and one junior sidelined also made for a frustrating evening for offensive line coach Joe McKenzie, whose resources for filling the many gaps are extremely thin. "Joe is doing the best job possible under the circumstances," Settle said.

"I will not use our injuries as an excuse for our loss, though," Settle said. "Berkeley Springs was well-prepared, they played good, hard football and maybe we still would have lost, even if we were healthy." It was the fourth win in five starts for Berkeley Springs.

George Walker, center for the Huskies, was added to the list of casualties on Monday during practice, sustaining a severely strained ankle and he is listed as extremely doubtful for this Friday night against Moorefield. Defensive standout Jim Swauger is expected to return to the lineup, however, and running back/defensive back Roy Miller may see some limited action. Dave George will take over the center position for Walker.

Moorefield will attempt to avenge last year's 27-0 loss to the Huskies, which was one of the only two losses all last season for the Yellow Jackets. Like Northern, Moorefield lost a large number of seniors to graduation, but one of their two wins this season was just last Friday evening over previously undefeated Tygarts Valley, 6-3.

Moorefield is led by quarterback Matthew Smith, a 5-10, 185-pound sophomore, and running back Derrick Harvey, a 5-8, 145-pound senior speedster. Senior guard Carter Williams, 5-11, 180 pounds, anchors the offensive line. Moorefield uses a veer set offense and a 52-monster and 53 defense.

"Moorefield is coming off a big win over Tygarts Valley," Settle stated, "and they are always a well-prepared team. They are also rebuilding, but they are in good health right now. We expect a real tough contest."

Kickoff is slated for 8 p.m., on the Yellow Jackets' field.

Lakers' Record Dips To 5-3 With Two Losses

The Garrett Community College Volleyball Teams record dipped to 5-3 this week as they balanced only one win against two losses in away contests. In addition to tough competition, the Lakers had to deal with injuries which kept Christy Fratz from her hitter position in two matches and Kathy Baker from the setter position in one game.

Garrett lost to Hagerstown 2-1, despite their best spiker effort of the season. Lani Dailey led the hitters with 10 points and Sue Harper added nine. Christy Fratz served seven points and Mary Dougherty recorded 16 assists from the setter position. The defensive effort was paced by Kathy Baker's eight digs.

The Lakers bounced back to overwhelm the Montgomery Germantown Community College squad 15-5 and 15-0. Sue Harper spiked for eight points and Karen Holyfield served for six to lead the offense.

In their second trip of the week, Garrett played a return match with Frostburg State and lost 3-1. Garrett lost the first game 11-15 playing without starting setter Kathy Baker who was injured during pregame warm-up. The Lakers rebounded to win a close game of 16-14 only to lose two more close contests 16-18 and 13-15. Sue Harper led all hitters with 19 spikes points followed by Sue Snyder's 10. Mary Dougherty set for a season high of 18 assists.

Laker Coach Mike Friend stated "This was a real tough week for us, but we need tough weeks to prepare us for our regional goals. Our women have played with intensity and they've given their best effort without exception. Against Hagerstown we simply failed to force them to adjust to our game plan. With a fine team like that you can't afford to play into their strength all evening.

"Frostburg was an especially frustrating match for us but FSC played well enough to win and they beat us in the closest match I've coached. Our injuries didn't help anything but that's no excuse. When you lose a whole match over four games by only eight points total it's temptng and frustrating to analyze all the little things which add up to those eight points. We did some things better than we've done yet. Our spiker coverage was excellent and we had our first effective blocking day. We're continuing to improve in some phase of the game every time we play so I expect us to shake this off. It's just a matter of experience until we get all the different phases of the game together at the same time. Then the best team wins and we expect to be best team in many of our contests."

The Lakers' only match this week is at home on Thursday at 6 p.m. against Potomac State and Howard Community College.

DOLPHINS DEFEAT BROWNS, 20-13

Brad Friend's two interceptions and Jimmy Freeland's two touchdowns led the Terra Alta Dolphins to a hard fought 20-13 win over the Parsons Browns Sunday at Parsons.

The Browns caught fire first when Chopper Evans ripped off 20 yards for a score.

Freeland's first TD came on a 30-yard burst to cap off an 84-yard Dolphin drive in the first quarter. Jimmy Farris kicked the Dolphins conversion for two, to put the Dolphins on top 8-6.

The Browns came back in the second quarter with a two-yard run by Kevin Corcoran. Kevin Hebb's conversion run was good.

In the final period Brad Friend intercepted an errant Browns pass and returned it 60 yards to the Browns' 20. Three plays later, Darren Radford punched in from seven yards out for the Dolphin touch down. That gave the Dolphins the lead again at 14-13.

With two minutes left, Friend scooped in his second interception and returned it 25 yards. Freeland went from the seven to secure the win for the Dolphins.

Lacy Smith also had an interception, and Farris, Danny Hall and Friend helped the Dolphins defense.

Evans led the Browns with 14 tackles, along with Kevin Hebb and Mike Bates.

The Dolphins will host the Vikings next Sunday in Terra Alta, while the Browns will tangle with the Rams, also at Terra Alta.

RAMS WIN FOURTH BY BOMBING VIKINGS

The Thomas-Davis Rams registered their fourth victory against one loss with a 27-0 win over the Parsons Vikings at the Tucker County field this past Sunday.

Rob Rush got the Rams rolling with a 12-yard touch down burst in the first stanza. Jim Drenning's pass to Brian Quattro for the PAT was complete.

In the second quarter, Drenning took off on a 78 yard gallop to paydirt. The missed PAT sent the two teams to the lockers with Rams on top, 13-0.

Bush scored his second TD of the day on an 18-yard burst in the third quarter. Drenning booted the conversion for two more points.

Carmen DelSignore's 35-yard rip to the Viking four late in the last quarter set up the Rams' final score with DelSignore rolling in on the next play. The conversion attempt failed.

Ed Carr, Darrell Nestor, and Richard Evick played a strong defensive game for the Vikes who meet the Dolphins next weekend in Terra Alta.

The Rams, who play the Browns next Sunday at Terra Alta, were led defensively by Ross James, Mike Cussins, Jeff Kitzmiller, Marty Bush and Dan Cosner.

RAIDERS EDGE OUT STEELERS, 14-7

The Oakland Raiders got back on the winning track Sunday at the Cove in Accident with a 14-7 win over the Northern Steelers.

The Raiders got on the score board first with just 12 seconds left in the first half when quarterback Chris Helbig banged in from one yard out. Helbig also scored the PAT to give the Raiders a 7-0 halftime lead.

Zack Gibson's one-yard run on the first play of the fourth quarter gave the Raiders their second touchdown. Helbig's pass to Bobby Horner for the conversion was good.

The Steelers came right back at the 6:50 mark of the fourth when Eddie Tabor passed to Duane Campbell who rolled 80-yards for a touch down. Campbell also ran for the PAT.

Helbig, Gordon Savage, Bobby Winters, Feo Polce, and Jamie Colaw led the Raiders' defense. The Steelers were led by Tony Burrow and Eddie Tabor.

The Raiders are off next week while the Steelers travel to Oakland on Sunday for a 1:30 contest with the Oakland Jets.

Adorable Adoptables

from the Garrett County Animal Shelter

TIRED? BORED? — It certainly seems that way, what with waiting at the Garrett County Animal Shelter for someone to call or come by. These Shepherd/Husky mixed puppies are seven weeks old, and all ready to come home with you. They have five brothers and sisters waiting for a home, as well. Why not stop by the shelter, located on the Oakland-Sang Run Road, and pick a pup? If you call first, at 334-3553, they'll be packed and ready to go. Last week, two of the four kittens went to live with Ann Stanley and Cathy Neubert. The other two are available only until Thursday morning. Won't you call today?

VIEWS ON DENTAL HEALTH

By Ted Reeder, D.D.S.

Why do we recommend regular check ups if you haven't had any cavities in the last three or four visits? After the age of about twenty five or thirty, the incidence of decay decreases significantly in most cases. That would lead many people to conclude that regular dental visits are no longer necessary. Unfortunately, as the decay rate decreases, the incidence of gum disease increases. And more teeth are lost due to gum disease than are lost because of decay.

During an exam appointment the dentist not only checks for decay, but also examines the soft tissue to check for gum disease and other soft tissue lesions such as tumors, ect.. The teeth are then cleaned and polished to decrease the likelihood of gum problems.

In our next dental message we will discuss some ways that you can help prevent gum disease on your own.

ENERGY TIP: Keep your car in good condition, a poorly tuned car can use as much as 3 to 9% more gasoline than a well-tuned one. The tune-up will pay for itself in gasoline savings and car reliability.

BROWN BAG FOOD SAFETY

When packing lunches, it is vital to keep food safety in mind. Follow these tips for proper food preparation and handling:

*Always prepare foods with clean hands, clean tools and clean work surfaces. If you're using several different types of foods, always wash cutting boards, knives and hands with soap and water between each type of food. It only takes a few extra minutes, but is time well spent.

*Use fresh, clean and properly refrigerated or cooked foods. Meats, poultry and other protein foods that have been cooked, for example should be cooked well done, quickly cooled and then kept cold.

*Start with well-chilled ingredients and try to keep brown bag items as cold as possible. (Except, obviously, for hot foods such as soup, that you'll want to keep hot).

*Preparing sandwiches the night before, and refrigerating them until packing time, will help. Most sandwiches can wait the few hours until noon in relative safety. But, if possible, keep your brown bag in a cool place, or refrigerated.

*If a cool storage place, or refrigerator isn't available, sandwich fillings such as egg or ham salad could go into the brown bag in a cold-keeping container, to be spread on the bread at lunch time.

*Consider a small can of coolant, or "blue ice" to tuck into the brown bag to keep food cold.

Here's an interesting sandwich you might enjoy trying in your bagged lunch soon:

CHEF'S SALAD SANDWICH
2 slices bread
Softened margarine
1 to 2 tablespoons Thousand Island Dressing
½ to 1 hard-cooked egg, sliced or chopped
1 slice Swiss cheese
1 slice ham
1 slice turkey
½ to 1 cup shredded lettuce or 2 or 3 lettuce leaves. Spread both bread slices with margarine, then with dressing. Arrange all remaining ingredients on one bread slice, then close with remaining bread slice. Makes 1 sandwich.

EXTENSION HAPPENINGS

Appreciation Days Contest Results Are Announced

The second annual Appreciation Days sponsored by Tableland Milk Producers and Tableland Feeds was held October 1 and 2 with games, contests, demonstrations, and entertainment organized by the Country Kids 4-H Club and the Oakland Chapter FFA.

Food booths were manned by the Garrett County Shepherds 4-H Club, Monte Vista 4-H Club and the Appalachian Adult Activities Center. Apple cider was made on location and many individuals held bake sales along with the ice cream and hot dogs sold by Tablelands.

Farm animals to watch and pet included goats, sheep, a calf, rabbits, chickens, turkeys and geese. Free pony rides were also given by 4-H members.

Demonstrations given included: "Shoeing a Horse" by Howard Kepple, "Tattooing Cattle" by Rebecca DeBerry, "All About Sheep" by Verne and John Leininger, "Weaving on a Loom" by Barbara Leininger, "Riding Sidesaddle" by Criss Kepple, "Making An Omelet" by Paul Browning, "Milking A Goat" by Mike Kepple, "Dressage" by Criss Kepple and her horse, Ima Soot N Ashes; and "The Handicapped Riding Program" by members of F.R.E.E. (Four-H Riding for Exceptional Equestrians).

Entertainment was provided Saturday afternoon by the Garrett Highlanders Bagpipes and Saturday evening by Mandalah. Sunday evening the Judge and Jury Band provided the entertainment.

Ribbons were awarded in two classes of Flower Arrangements by judge Ann Bell. In the Fresh Flower Class winners were: Daisy Matthews, first; Hazel White, second; Ricky McCrobie; third; and Ronnie McCrobie, fourth. Winners of the Dried Flower Class were, Donna Idleman, first; Donna Idleman, second, Debbie Rounds, third; Donna Idleman, fourth, and Heidi Hauser, fifth.

For the largest pumpkin, ribbons were awarded by judge Harold Hoecker to: Mike Kelli and Kevin Taccino, first, Melissa Johnson, second; Ricky McCrobie, third, Melissa Johnson, fourth and Ronnie McCrobie, fifth. In the Most Marketable Pumpkin Class: Ronnie McCrobie, first; Matthew Zimmerman, second; Melissa Johnson, third; Rebecca DeBerry, fourth, and Brandy Freeland, fifth.

A Poultry and Egg Judging Contest was set up by Mrs. Janet Boggess, Oakland FFA Adviser, with Jim Weeks as official judge. Winners in the Junior Class were: Barbara Leininger, first, Tim Kepple, second and Scott Smith, third.

Senior Class winners were: Gian Ruggerio, first, Verne Leininger, second; and a tie for third place was between John Leininger and Marie Williams.

An Egg Toss was held with 20 teams receiving participation ribbons. The winning teams were: Chuck Fitzwater and Verne Leininger, first, Dan Green and Tim Green, second; Stacy Bowser and Howard Kepple, third.

A Goat Milking Contest was held Saturday with goats provided by Mike Kepple, Rebecca DeBerry and Ed Bowser. The contest was a timed event and the contestant milking the greatest weight of milk in the alloted time was the winner. Receiving a first place ribbon for goat milking was Don Matthews representing Tablelands; Lee Shillingburg, Garrett Co. Fair Board President, second; Janet Boggess, Oakland FFA Adviser, third. In the extremely close contest, Participation Ribbons were awarded to Alice Hevner, 4-H Extension Agent; Tom Butscher, WMSG Radio; and Don Sincell, The Republican.

Sunday afternoon a Pet Show was held with three classes of pets judged by John Evans and Amy Evans, both of the Red House 4-H Club. Contestants were interviewed by Miss Karen Hamilton, Garrett County Farm Queen, and ribbons and gifts were awarded. Winners in the Dog Class were: Ashley Smith, first place; a tie between Sara Thomas and Becky Burns, second place; and Eric Martin, third place. Winners in the Cat Class were: Rebecca DeBerry, first; and Jessica Yost, second. In Unusual Pets there was a tie for first place between Kelli Taccino with her rabbit and Mike Kepple with his pony; Barbara Leininger and her lamb, second; and Jennifer Delaney and her turkey, third.

A Dairy Products Contest was held with contestants required to identify tastes and odors in milk and also various kinds of cheeses. Winners were: Mike Kepple, first; Leonard Custer, second; Marsha Custer, third; Verne Leininger & Tim Kepple tied for fourth; Stacy Bowser, fifth; and Courtney Smith, sixth.

The Hay Bale Throwing Contest attracted 44 entries and was divided into two classes. In the Farm Bale Class, after the first round the winners were: Tie for first between Andy Mason and Leonard Custer; John Matthews, second; tie for third between Jim Weeks and Howard Kepple. A "Throw-off" to break the tie resulted in the final placings: John Matthews, first; Andy Mason, second; and Leonard Custer, third. In the Powder Puff Class, after the first round, the winners were: tie for first between Kathy Sanders and Criss Kepple, Karen Hamilton, second; and Amy Friend, third. A "throw-off" to break the tie resulted in: Kathy Sanders, first; Amy Friend, second; and Criss Kepple, third.

One of the highlights of the weekend was the Milk Drinking Contest with 24 contestants trying to be the first to drink a coke bottle full of white or chocolate milk. Winning this contest by a big margin was Tim Kepple, Philip Bentley, second; Martha Knox, third, Leonard Custer, fourth; William Fitzwater, fifth; and Brenda Sines, sixth.

Mathias Seeks Moratorium On Cruise Missiles

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) today proposed a mutual and verifiable moratorium on deployment of nuclear-armed Sea-Launched Cruise Missiles (SLCM) for the duration of the Strategic Arms Reduction Talks (START).

Mathias, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, offered his proposal as an amendment to the Committee's Arms Control Resolution. The amendment urges that the SLCM moratorium be discussed at the earliest possible opportunity when START negotiations resume in Geneva October 6.

In a statement to the Foreign Relations Committee, Mathias said, "Strict limits must be negotiated with the Soviet Union on SLCM deployments, and as soon as possible. The need for an interim moratorium on SLCM deployments is equally urgent to create an atmosphere in which negotiations would be possible."

Mathias warned that the United States and the Soviet Union would be likely to engage in massive deployment of SLCMs without a moratorium, and that verification would become "A practical impossibility.

"With thousands of small, easily transported and concealed cruise missiles carrying both nuclear and conventional warheads deployed, there would be little chance of verifying with any degree of confidence that nuclear arsenals of the other side," Mathias said.

While Mathias acknowledged that the United States currently has superiority over the Soviets in SLCM technology, he stressed that the United States has little to gain by encouraging the Soviet Union to match American SLCM capabilities. "It should be noted that 75 percent of the American people potentially are within range of SLCM attack, while only ten percent of the Russian population is vulnerable to cruise missiles from the sea," said Mathias.

Flying squirrels can glide more than 150 feet.

ACCIDENT COMMUNITY UNITES TO HELP FRIEND IN NEED — The community in Accident recently pulled together to help a local family, burned out of its home in May, purchase $4,000 worth of materials for a new home. The Albert Klink family, living in a granary, above, with their baby, had begun to rebuild a one-story home on the foundation of the old house but had run out of money before they could complete it in time to move in before winter. Klink, who was laid off by Celanese, did have a roof over the home. People in the community organized under the sponsorship of Aid Association for Lutherans Insurance Company Branch No. 585, a group which matches whatever local branches can raise. The group sponsored a clean-up campaign along Route 219 on Saturday, September 17, and a 10-mile walk-a-thon on Sunday, September 18, with a goal of $2,000, to be matched by A.A.L. Fred Illick, one of the group members, said their goal was surpassed. Now all that is left to do is to complete the house, Illick noted. He welcomed anyone to help in constructing the home. Below, Albert Klink stands outside the new home he is constructing.

, PIPERS TO PIPE — As one of the activities of the Autumn Glory Festival, St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park, will host members of the Ali Ghan Highlanders bagpipe band at the 10:30 a.m. worship service on Sunday, October 16. The Cumberland based group, several members of which are from Garrett County, will play for the opening part of the worship service and then present a series of tunes in concert during the last half of the service. The series will feature solos and duets, as well as group numbers. As has been the custom in the past, the Highlanders will also play some numbers on the lawn of St. John's following the service, weather permitting. In the photo, left to right, are John Grant, Kyle Diehl, Charles Evans, Fred Thayer and John Wolf. St. John's is located along State Rt. 135 near the Deer Park Fire Department.

Six Injured In Oakland Mishap

Six persons injured in a two-vehicle accident in Oakland last Friday were treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, according to a report by Officer John Sines.

Officer Sines reported that a pickup truck driven by Ralph Keefer, Oakland, and a car operated by Millie L. Meeks of Gormania, collided at the intersection of Eighth and High Streets about 4:55 p.m. Keefer was cited for failing to stop at a stop sign, and both vehicles had to be towed from the scene.

Treated at the hospital were Mrs. Meeks, Danielle Meeks, 11, and Edward Meeks, nine, all of the White Church area, and Vonda Moreland, and her children Royce, five, and Marcella, aged one, of near Gorman.

Garrett Central Alarm dispatched the Southern Rescue Squad and Oakland firemen to the scene.

Four Area Youths Place In National Boy Scout Contest

A team of four area boy scouts has placed fifth in national competition, John Smith, leader of Scout Troop 31, Oakland, reported this week.

The announcement of the placing was made at the Fall Fellowship of the Order of the Arrow at Camp Potomac, BSA, held September 23-25.

The four—Vernon Leighton and Rick Lucas of Oakland; Kevin Keplinger of Keyser, W.Va.; and Chris Liller of Ft. Ashby, W.Va., represented the Ahtuhquog Lodge of the Potomac Council at the Order of the Arrow national conference in Rutgers, N.J., this summer.

The team competed in performance of the organization's induction ceremonies. John Smith was team adviser.

Leighton, Keplinger and Lucas are members of Scout Troop 31, Oakland. Liller belongs to Troop 69, Ft. Ashby.

Also during the Fall Fellowship, Greg Flinn of Troop 31, Oakland, was installed as the new Lodge Chief by Jim Williams of Troop 24, Frostburg. Williams and Forrest Piehl, Troop 58, Keyser, both received the vigil honor, the Order of the Arrow's highest recognition, during the weekend.

District Court Cases Are Heard

Garrett County District Court cases heard recently ranged from attempted prison escape to bad check charges.

An inmate at the Garrett County Jail, Terry Romano, was found guilty of attempted escape and malicious destruction of property after he was discovered missing from his cell by a jail official on a routine mail delivery.

Romano had removed a vent in the ceiling, and was found inside.

He was fined a total of $200, and sentenced to two years, which was suspended. He was placed on 36-months supervised probation to be served at the end of his current term.

Joseph Paul Graham, 23, Oakland, was fined $25, and ordered to make restitution for towing charges after he removed his wife's vehicle from Paul's Amoco, Rt. 135, without the permission of the owner. The car was being stored by the Oakland Police Department, and while the service center owner was on the telephone seeking permission to release the car, Graham left with it.

An Oakland man, Jerry Cline, was fined $25 on a charge of trespassing filed against him in an incident at the home of Carolyn Sue Madigan. Cline came to the residence in Deer Park at 1:20 a.m. and requested admittance. When it was denied, he removed a screen from a bedroom window and entered the apartment.

Tilden Wilt, Mt. Lake Park, was fined a total of $60 and ordered to make restitution to Arrowhead Deli and Wynlyns Edge in the amount of $287 for issuing worthless checks to those Deep Creek Lake establishments.

Sheila Schmidt, 20, Oakland was found guilty of theft and ordered to pay a $50 fine, and make full restitution to the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council in the amount of $49 which she admitted taking from the office of the executive director, Cindy Kutchman, while she was alone in the office.

She was also sentenced to six months in the county jail, which was suspended, and placed on unsupervised probation.

Cases were declared nolle prosequi against Anthony Bowers, Allen B. Williams, Karen Sines, Richard Parish, Randy DeWitt, Betty Bradshaw, Everett Boyd Weimer, Linda Sukow, and David Vaughn Tressler.

Gary Allen Davis was found not guilty in a case against him.

The following cases were placed on the stet docket: Donald Jr. Baker, Steven Eugene Beachy, David N. Shaffer, and Joseph Burton Nair.

A bench warrant was issued against Foster Dean Sines, who failed to appear for trial.

In other court news, the co-license holders of the Oakland Country Club, Gary Daniels, 47, and Roger Bray, 43, both of Oakland, as well as two employees, Jerry Friend, 24, Oakland, and Carol Bartram, 23, McHenry, were each fined $50, ordered to refrain from selling alcohol on Sunday, and placed on probation before judgement following their hearing for selling alcohol to a special agent law enforcement officer on a Sunday afternoon at the Oakland Country Club.

In other action, Kathryn Marie Dillsworth, 46, McHenry, was fined $50 & placed on probation before judgement on a charge of trespassing upon the property of Flora Kay Knox. According to the record, the house was unoccupied on the property, and no trespassing signs were posted. Dillsworth was accused of removing flowers and flat stones from the premises, which were found later at her home.

A Bruceton Mills, W. Va., man, Robert Bartholomew, 20, was found guilty of riding a 1972 Honda which belonged to Wayne Aubrey Anderson without his permission. Bartholomew was seen riding the vehicle on the Squire Fike Road in Friendsville. It was later recovered by West Virginia State police. A second charge of theft netted a $50 fine, after he took a 1966 Ford pickup belonging to William Coddington, and driving it until it ran out of gas.

Bartholomew was sentenced to 89 days in the county jail, which were suspended, and placed on 12 months supervised probation. He was also ordered to make a serious effort to become employed, and to accept alcoholic counseling.

Stolen Dog, Jugs Of Milk Reported

Several thefts and destruction of property incidents were reported to Garrett County sheriff's personnel during the past week. A theft in the Grantsville area apparently occurred during the past six months, according to the report.

On October 1, Sam Wilson reported that someone had opened the rear door of a trailer at the Potomac Farms loading dock along Route 135, and had thrown 36 gallon-sized jugs of milk to the ground. Three other gallons of milk were missing for a total loss of $66.24. Deputy William Thomas is investigating.

A reward is being offered for the return of an Australian shepherd dog stolen from Jerri Jones Swartzentruber, Herrington Manor Road, September 25. The dog is a black female with a white spot on her chest. Assistant Chief Deputy Paul Pratt is investigating.

Sometime last Friday or Saturday, according to Deputy Russell Drenning, someone broke out the windshields on seven old cars parked on the Stanley Friend property on Shady Dell Road. Estimated damage is $400.

On October 3, sometime between 5:30 and 5:50 p.m., a car belonging to Greta E. Cuppett, Youghiogheny Mountain Resort, was removed from her property. The vehicle was later found abandoned along Youghiogheny Drive, and had been backed into a ditch. Some damage was done to the rear axle, according to Deputy Richard Kutchman.

Several outriggers and U-bolts disappeared from a tower outside the roads department at Grantsville during the past six months, according to a report made by University of Maryland personnel from Baltimore. Estimated loss value is $300, according to Deputy Drenning.

Edwards Lists Area Problems, Suggests Remedies

In a letter to Gov. Harry Hughes, Del. George Edwards has listed his concerns regarding western Maryland unemployment and the need to complete the National Freeway.

Citing western Maryland as having one of the highest unemployment rates in the state, Del. Edwards pointed out that there has apparently been little effort on the state's part to actively pursue ideas to improve the situation.

Del. Edwards said it is "frustrating" to hear that such and such a company is coming to Maryland and know that 90 percent of the time the only area mentioned is the metropolitan area where the unemployment rate is considerably lower than in western Maryland.

He continued by saying "It is good news to hear that you have taken positive steps in looking at and trying to reduce the unemployment situation, but I wonder if anything would have been done if it were not for Fairchild announcing the closing of their plant in Hagerstown."

He also stated that a recent meeting with department heads to discuss the western Maryland situation is a "good start." He complimented the governor for establishing teams to go around the state to work with local people on their unemployment problems for trying to get someone interested in Fairchild and Celanese plants, and providing money for retraining of workers for technical jobs of the future.

Del. Edwards noted that he had hoped Garrett would be included in the Governor's itinerary on September 29, but this wish was not realized.

Saying that if we are going to try to solve the problems we must all share views and ideas, Del. Edwards suggested:

1. An economic development recruitment trip geared to rural Maryland, saying this would be no different than the state's trip to the Silicon Valley, Calif., which was geared to trying to attract high tech industries to the metropolitan area, specifically the I-270 corridor.

2. Push hard to get a convention center complex on state land in the county.

3. Set up a committee to review all existing state facilities to see what the possibilities are for conversion to coal, either raw coal or one of the new mixtures such as water/coal, oil/coal, or methonal/coal. Also, mandate that all new facilities being built with state funding study the feasibility of using coal either in raw form or in a mixture.

In outlining the need for the National Freeway (Route 48), Del. Edwards said this relates to the unemployment situation and as the Sidling Mountain sections are finished and more vehicles utilize this route, the unfinished section will become more of a safety hazard.

He said "It concerns me that people from your office and the Maryland Department of Transportation say we have to wait to see what happens with ARC funding and that we can't build it without that funding. This project should have a top priority in the state as it will impact the whole state and not just western Maryland, I feel that with a project of this importance we can and should build it even if there is no ARC funding. I ask you as Chief Executive of Maryland to make the move in that direction."

Revival Services Set

Revival services will be held at the Walnut Bottom Assembly of God Church from Wednesday through Sunday, October 5-9, beginning at 7 p.m., each evening, except Friday night. The evangelist will be Terry Broadwater.

Police Probe Auto Mishaps

Maryland State Police investigated several accidents around the district in the last week which resulted in personal injury, property damage, and traffic citations.

An Oldtown man, Stanley J. Caton, was charged Saturday with negligent driving after his vehicle, which was traveling east on U.S. Route 48, near Friendsville, went off the right side of the road, struck the guardrails, crossed the roadway and median strip, striking those guardrails, and came to rest in the left lane.

Caton and two passengers, Lonnie J. Plotter, Alliance, Ohio, and Kathy Pifer, Flintstone, were slightly injured.

A two-car accident on the Accident-Bear Creek Road, near the Fish Hatchery Road, sent a Friendsville woman, Patty Sines, to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, via the Northern Rescue Squad, as well as the second driver, William Hughes, of Uniontown, Pa.

Police say the Sines vehicle was rounding a left curve on the Accident-Bear Creek Road when the driver crossed the center line, and was struck by Hughes, who was unable to swerve enough to avoid the accident. Both were treated and released, and police charged Sines with failure to keep right of center.

An accident involving three cars and a tractor-trailer on Monday evening sent several persons to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where they were treated and released, and one driver was charged with driving while intoxicated, improper passing, and reckless driving.

Joseph E. Sidebottom, Oakland, who was charged by police was traveling west on Rt. 135, approximately 19 miles from Oakland, in the process of passing another vehicle, when he came upon a tractor-trailer being driven by Richard Cary Wells, Deer Park.

The truck was unable to avoid the head-on collision, which spun the Sidebottom car into another vehicle driven by John Marvin Crosco, Keyser, W. Va., which was following the truck.

Cpl. Elmer Selby investigated the 6:10 p.m. accident.

In other news, an Oakland man, John Earl Denison, was charged Monday with failure to keep right of center after his auto struck a pickup driven by Rebecca Iden, of Sharpsburg, in a head-on crash, along Lake Shore Drive, near Oakland. Both drivers were transported to Garrett Memorial, where they were treated and released.

Head Lice

pared by Board of Education and Garrett County Health Department personnel.

In the letters, identification of the louse and treatment were described to parents.

Officials emphasized that none are immune from head lice, cleanliness does not necessarily protect a person from head lice. In fact, recent reports say head lice prefer clean heads.

The adult louse is described as a tiny two to three millimeter insect with a slender tapering body, three pairs of legs with delicate hooks, and either grayish or reddish in color. Lice can generally be found behind the ears at the back of the neck or anywhere on the head. The nits attach themselves to the hair with a saliva and cannot be easily removed by picking them off by hand.

Lice are transmitted by contact such as through combs, clothing, carpets, bed clothing, or visiting an infested area. A person can be re-infested.

Symptoms are an intense itching on the head, reddish bites on the scalp, or white particles on the hair which cannot be easily pulled away.

There are special shampoos and sprays which can be used to treat persons or areas infested with the lice. Personal items, clothing and any possible areas of contact such as cars should also be treated.

Johnson offered the following information on treatment of head lice: 1) Wash the hair with a medicated shampoo; 2) Comb the hair with a fine toothed comb; 3) If necessary, repeat again in 24 hours, but not more than twice; 4) Machine wash all linens and clothing in hot water, drying for 20 minutes in high heat; 5) Dry clean items which cannot be washed; 6) Wash combs and brushes for 10 minutes in hot soapy water and after every combing; 7) Every member of the family must be treated; 8) Run a vacuum cleaner over furniture and the floor.

Johnson added that according to recent media reports, head lice is a problem this year in schools throughout the nation.

Liquor Board

be more than competitive, but it was pointed out by County Clerk Robert Fousek that these are state-owned stores in the surrounding states. Wolf has not yet compared Garrett County prices with neighboring Allegany County, which has no ten percent surcharge.

In verbal and written statements following the press conference, Commissioner Braskey rebutted the allegations made by the liquor board that he had "ignored" the little guy or Mom and Pop operators.

He said "the number one issue I feel must be addressed concerning the recent statement issued by the Garrett County Liquor Control Board is their strong indication that I was not concerned for the 'little guy' or the Mom and Pop operators. This statement certainly hurt me personally in its attempt to discredit me.

"Both my mom and dad were in the restaurant-liquor business for over 22 years and were probably one of the most respected restaurant owners in Garrett County. I, too, was in that same business for several years, holding that same respect. For the Garrett County Liquor Control Board to indicate that I was not concerned about the little guy is not only incorrect—it's totally absurd.

"For I was raised in a Mom and Pop operation and worked in a Mom and Pop operation for the better part of my life. I was that 'little guy' they referred to for over four and a half years and I'm damn proud of it. This is one of the main reasons why I volunteered my time to serve on Del. Edwards' and Sen. Bambacus' committee to make sure that all beverage license holders are not overburdened as they are now with the ten percent surcharge nor would any of the county taxpayers suffer."

Braskey stated that he had not appointed the committee, which included Roger Ruff and Roger Resh, two of the larger liquor holders in the county, and Edward Bosley, of Gorman; as well as members of the liquor control board and its administrator, in addition to Fousek and Braskey.

He pointed out that the legislators had asked each segment of the committtee to come up with alternatives to the surcharge which would not reduce revenue to the county, and that the liquor license holders had done this. After meeting separately with the liquor control board, which was adamantly opposed to the elimination of the surcharge, Braskey forwarded the license holders' suggestions to Del. Edwards and Sen. Bambacus feeling that any further meetings of the committee would be fruitless.

had never been a lawbreaker as a license holder and was not calling for a halt to the stiff penalties imposed by those who break the laws. He does feel there might be alternatives to closing an establishment down, such as a heavy fine paid to the county in the amount to be determined by the liquor board.

Lawsuit

Kutchman specifically retaliated against him by requiring him to work alone in near blizzard conditions on a steam-coal beltline. Because the beltline was slipping, it was necessary to apply belt dressing. After requesting help which he did not get, Sanders applied the belt dressing from an unguarded side while the belt was moving because the "on-off" switch was inoperative, and the accident occurred.

Thayer further stated that the issue of Kutchman's individual liability has previously been addressed, and need not be reiterated. The very narrow issue is, given Kutchman's alleged corrupt motives, does his order to require Sanders to work alone on the beltline connect causally with Sanders's injury? The declaration does not allege specific facts nor general facts from which a reasonable inference flows that had Sanders had assistance on the night he was injured, the injuries would not have occurred. Apparently conceding this state of the pleading, Sanders asserted that Kutchman's wrongful conduct in harassing him to the extent he would be forced to quit or give grounds for being fired does establish a basis for liability. In analysis, Thayer says Sanders cited no Maryland authority, nor identified any specific intentional wrongful act not involving a breach of contract.

Thayer said there is simply no factual allegation in the amended declaration, other than the bald conclusion that Kutchman's conduct was the proximate cause of the injuries. Coal mining and its associated functions are extra-hazardous, and duties in and about the mines must be performed in all weather conditions. There is no legally justifiable conclusion available that, had Sanders not worked alone on January 13, 1981, he would not have been injured. The duty to provide competent co-employees is a non-delegable duty of the employer, in this case, Mapko, Inc. Failure to do so, whether negligent or intentional, represented action of the employer, and as such, cannot subject Kutchman to personal liability.

Autumn Glory

bugle corps, clowns, and floats.

Following the parade, starting at 6:30 p.m., at the Southern High School Athletic Field, will be the Western Maryland Tournament of Bands, co-sponsored by the Southern Garrett Band Boosters and the Autumn Glory Festival. This event features outstanding bands of the region competing for trophies in field show skills.

To wind up the evening will be the Official Maryland State Fiddlers Championship beginning at 8 p.m., also at the Southern High School gym. Immediately following the Fiddlers Contest winners from the Fiddle Contest and the Banjo Contest will return to play and compete for the "People's Choice Award." Both the fiddle and the banjo competitions will feature top players from the surrounding areas. After the competition is over, the band "Southpaw" will perform. Advance tickets for either event can be purchased from Festival Headquarters in the Courthouse on Third Street. Tickets will also be sold at the door the nights of the performance.

Saturday, October 15, from 12:30 to 1:30 in front of Kight's Insurance on Second Street, the recently formed band "Mandalah" will be performing. This group includes four members: Tom Simpson, Chris Kraatz, Tim Beitzel, and Barry Morgon. They will be presenting a variety of music, including country, rock n' roll, pop, and jazz. The band "Mandalah" has appeared at the Blue Barn Theatre at Deep Creek Lake.

On Friday, October 14, at 7 p.m., at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church on Liberty Street in Oakland, a selection of organ music will be presented on an Alan Digital Computer Organ, which was installed in the church in 1982.

On Sunday at 10:30 a.m., the Ali Ghan Highlanders will be presenting a selection of bagpipe music at St. John's Episcopal Church on Rt. 135 in Deer Park.

To close the musical portion of the festival, a Festival Square Dance will be held from 2 to 5 p.m., at the Southern Middle School cafetorium. The Mt. Top Promenaders will be appearing with Wade Johnson, from Washington, Pa., as the guest caller.

For more information on these or other events concerning Autumn Glory and a free schedule of events brochure, persons may contact the Festival Headquarters, Courthouse Annex, Oakland, 334-3888.

Officals Discuss Service Program For Law Breakers

Judge Fred Thayer and State's Attorney James Sherbin met with the Garrett County Commissioners Tuesday to discuss a community service program for individuals convicted of nonviolent crimes.

The program, called an alternative sentencing program, would require a person to coordinate the program and to work with the judge, convicted persons and nonprofit organizations in the community.

The commissioners requested additional details on the benefits and costs of the program.

Representatives of a similar program in Washington County was suggested to provide the commissioners more information about the program.

In other business, the commissioners met with county residents Clifford Friend and Hubert Friend to discuss the barricading of the Limestone Bridge along the Accident/Friendsville Road.

The commissioners explained they had to close the bridge until it can be replaced next year, because engineers had given the bridge a zero ton limit. The commissioners were required to close the bridge to relieve the county of any possible liability should someone be injured on the bridge.

Anna McNallie, senior planner, met with the commissioners to discuss the Winter Trails planning grant. The project will involve planning development of outdoor winter recreational facilities and services. The total grant request is $7,500 for the project.

John Nelson, director of zoning, met with the commissioners to present a recent request for a junkyard permit located off Route 50 and owned by Royce Moreland. The commissioners approved the permit with the stipulation that the area be properly screened.

The commissioners opened bids for a fire and rescue boat to be stationed at the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Department. There was only one bidder participating, Bill's Marine Service, Deep Creek Lake, who submitted two alternative bids, one for $17,260 and the other $23,857. The commissioners presented the bids to a member of the fire company for review.

The commissioners, at their afternoon press conference, noted commissioners John Braskey and Elwood Groves and county clerk Robert Fousek will be in Annapolis Wednesday for a Maryland Association of Counties meeting.

Braskey pointed out the group will be voting on several issues at its meeting, including its stand on matters to be presented during the 1984 General Assembly session. Some issues to be addressed will be education funding of the state pension system, sludge, Program Open Space, and transportation funding.

Class Openings Noted

The continuing education department of Garrett Community College reminds interested persons that there are still openings available in the Real Estate Investment course, which will begin Monday, October 10, at the McHenry Campus. The class will meet from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. For further information, persons may contact the registrar's office at 387-6666.

"People-Powered" Vehicles Eligible For Bike-A-Thon

Karen Fauber, coordinator of the Friendsville area Bike-A-Thon to benefit St. Jude Children's Hospital, stated this week that all "people-powered" wheeled vehicles, and not just bicycles, are eligible to be entered in the event, which will be held this Saturday at the Friendsville United Methodist Church parking lot.

The Bike-A-Thon will be preceded by a costume parade at 10 a.m., for which participants are encouraged to decorate their vehicles and themselves.

Persons may pick up registration forms at the church, S & S Market, or from Ira Hicks, 746-5615.

Mental Health Workshops Held At Village Inn

A "Regionalization Program" sponsored by the Maryland Psychological Association was conducted this past weekend by professionals who provide mental health services in Western Maryland.

The program was held at the Village Inn at Deep Creek Lake. Of the five workshops, four were presented by psychology faculty members of Frostburg State College.

Workshop I was "A Systems Approach to Mental Health Service Planning and Delivery." The moderator was Dr. Robert Grooms, assistant director, Mental Hygiene Administration for Western Maryland. The presenters were Ms. Helen Fore, crisis counselor at Sacred Heart Hospital; Dr. Conrad Cole, director of Psychological Services at the Thomas B. Finan Center; Tim Rowan, Aftercare Coordinator at the Allegany County Mental Health Clinic; Dr. Jim Miller, Day Treatment Program at the Allegany County Mental Health Clinic; and Lou Van Hollen, executive director, Archway Station, Inc.

Workshop II was "The Experience of Loss and Grief" presented by Dr. Lee Ross, coordinator of the Master of Science Program in Counseling Psychology, Frostburg State College.

Workshop III was "Aerobic Exercise and Life Style Change: Basics for Psychologists." The presenter was Dr. Ken Stewart, director of the Department of Psychology, Frostburg State College.

Workshop IV was "MMPI: Advanced Interpretation and Treatment Implications," presented by Dr. Charles Cantone, assistant professor of Psychology, Frostburg State College.

Workshop V was "Helping Clients and Their Therapists Become Aware, Understand and Act on Stress," by Dr. Jack Zealand, associate professor of Education and Psychology at Frostburg State College.

Psychologists from Western Maryland planned the program recognized by the Maryland Psychological Association Foundation and Division II of the MPA. Certificates for category A, continuing education credit were issued at the end of each workshop with a total of nine hours of category A credit being available.

Reimbursement Is Received From Forests, Parks

In Garrett County 25 percent share of revenue collected in state forests and parks for the fourth quarter fiscal 1983 totalled $26,790, according to the Maryland Forest and Park Service. This reimbursement to the county is in lieu of county property tax. The fourth quarter is from April 1 to June 30, 1983.

Deep Creek Lake, Herrington Manor, Swallow Falls, New Germany and Big Run State Parks and Savage River and Potomac/Garrett State Forests are administered by the Department of Natural Resources' Forest and Park Service. The total payback to Garrett County for fiscal 1983 was $118,233.

State parks and forests quarterly provide revenue to counties, in addition to managed recreational opportunities, the Service said.

DNR Policemen Earn Promotions

Roy W. Rafter, Superintendent of the Natural Resources Police Force, has promoted four officers to the rank of Corporal, including one from Garrett County.

John L. Williams was promoted to Corporal and assigned to Garrett County. He is a twelve-year veteran with the force and a resident of Mt. Lake Park.

Also promoted were Charles M. Rhodes, Jr. Kennedyville; George W. Legg, East New Market; and Ronald J. Harris, Elkton.

Thrifty Food Plan Adjusted

Effective October 1, the Thrifty Food Plan, which is the basis for food stamp coupon allotments, has been adjusted, according to an announcement by the Maryland Department of Human Resources.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture Food and Nutrition Service bases the Thrifty Food Plan on the Consumer Price Index for urban households. Because the increase in food prices leveled off during the period in which the data for the update was gathered, food allowances will increase only slightly and not for all sizes of households. For two, three and four person households, the allotment amounts will not change. However, allotments for households of one person and five or more persons will increase by one or two dollars per month. No food stamp recipients will lose benefits, according to the department.

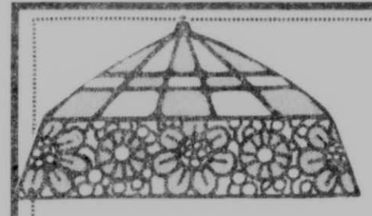
Social Security Benefits To Be Subject To Tax

Starting in 1984, part of the Social Security benefits received by people with substantial other incomes may be subject to the Federal income tax, according to Elaine Watson, district manager of the Cumberland Social Security office.

This change in the law was part of the 1983 Social Security amendments which were designed to strengthen the Social Security program for many years into the future.

Up to half of the person's Social Security benefits for 1984, and for later years, will be subject to tax if his or her adjusted gross income for Federal tax purposes, plus nontaxable interest income and half of the Social Security benefits exceed a base amount.

The base amount is $25,000 for an individual, $32,000 for a couple filing a joint return, and zero for a couple filing separate returns. The amount of benefits subject to taxes will be the smaller of: one-half of the Social Security benefits, or one-half of the amount of the person's combined income—adjusted gross income, nontaxable interest income, and half the Social Security benefit—exceeds the base amount.



Some adjustments in benefit payments may be possible, Watson said. Any overpayment that person repays during the year can be deducted. Also, any lump sum received can be prorated to the year for which it was paid if that is an advantage. Any Medicare medical insurance premium deducted must be included in total benefits.

The Internal Revenue Service will provide complete instructions on how to file tax returns. Social Security has a free leaflet which briefly explains about taxing benefits.

Copies of the leaflet can be obtained at the Cumberland Social Security office, located at the Country Club Mall, Winchester and Vocke Roads, LaVale.

MAY WE COME IN?

Let us introduce ourselves . . . WE are the hundreds of millions of earnest souls the world over who believe it's God's world and He makes a difference.

We worship Him and seek inspiration in His truths. We bring our children to His house for religious education. We encourage their growth in the faith of our fathers. In our every day pursuits we try to live up to our convictions. Failing . . . we seek God's help as we try again.

Our spiritual heritage is yours also. In worship each week we share its reverent expression.

May we come into your life? Please come into ours!

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

BETTER TO LOVE

October 9, 1983

Background Scripture: Josea 11:1-4,8; 14:4-7; I John 4:8,9.
Devotional Reading: John 3:18-26.

Behind the wry joke, I could sense a bundle of pain. The man, a friend of many years, had just told me that his daughter had given birth to a baby out of wedlock. The father of the child, a college drop-out who manages to escape employment by getting the daughter to solicit funds from her parents, has also managed to turn the girl against her parents (although not their monetary support), rupturing a once-close, warm relationship. "Do you think," he concluded, "they'll ever invent birth control pills that are retro active?" We both chuckled. It was better than crying.

THEY DIDN'T KNOW

Of course, he didn't really mean that he wished his child had never been born. But he couldn't help wondering, if only for a moment, whether he would have risked all that love if he had known the hurt and disappointment that were later to go with it. Don't many of us wonder that from time to time? To love is to make ourselves vulnerable to pain.

And that is true, not only on the human level, but on the divine level as well. Nowhere is this more poignantly expressed than in the prophecy of Hosea, Chapter 11:

When Israel was a child, I loved him, and out of Egypt I called my son. The more I called them, the more they went from me; they kept sacrificing to the Baals and burning incense to idols. Yet it was I who taught Ephraim to walk. I took them up in my arms; but they did not know I healed them. (11:1-3).

God's love is expressed for us here in terms that any of us can understand and appreciate. No matter how tender the love, the capacity for hurt is always present. We can place ourselves within Hosea's words: "I led them with cords of compassion, with the bands of love, and I became to them as one who eases the yoke on their jaws, and I bent down to them and fed them" (11:4). The more tender the love, the greater the potential for pain.

WITHOUT LOVE

Many people conclude, therefore, that the only thing to do is to insulate themselves from love. If they do not make themselves vulnerable through love, they will protect themselves from pain. So they steel themselves to feel nothing, neither love nor pain.

Yet, as must be obvious, that is no answer to the problem of love. For, if we insulate ourselves from love to protect ourselves from pain, we will also insulate ourselves from God. One cannot "play it safe" and still experience love. For, as the writer of I John tells us so simply: "He who does not love does not know God; for God is love." We can never be secure without God and, without running the risk of loving, we cannot know God.

It is like that old saying: "Better to have loved and lost, than never having loved at all." Except that when we love—as God loves us—we do really lose.

SUB-QUALITY DRUGS ARE RECALLED

Every week the government issues a list of products that they would like taken off the market either temporarily or permanently. We have found that the majority of the drugs on this recall list are made by lesser unknown manufacturers whose products are not usually stocked by pharmacists.

When one of the larger well-known companies is listed it is usually at their own request and because they have found something in their extensive testing laboratories. The public is being protected by strict supervision of the medicines that can be dispensed, so you can have confidence in what your doctor prescribes and your pharmacist dispenses.

Maud gets the 'Point'; CBS goes movie-crazy

By Peter Meade

Maud Adams

John Schneider will only appear in two-thirds to three-fourths of this year's "Dukes of Hazzard" episodes. He will not be replaced by someone during his absences. Co-star and co-pilot Tom Wopat will have to drive the General Lee solo... Look for Priscilla Presley as part of this year's goings-on on "Dallas." She'll be the one with Bobby Ewing (Patrick Duffy) on her arm... Maud Adams, last seen in "Octopussy," will be Dennis Weaver's love interest in the new CBS series "Emerald Point, N.A.S." It was originally called "Navy" — which explains the locale — and is being done by Esther and Richard Shapiro of "Dynasty" fame.

Barney Rosenzweig, the producer of the defunct "Cagney & Lacey," says it cost $670,000 to complete a one-hour program... James Brolin isn't sad that his "Marcus Welby" days are over. He's not riding that motorcycle anymore as he did as Dr. Steve Kiley. Peter McDermott, his character on ABC's "Hotel," has moved up in the world. He owns four-wheeled transportation: a Porsche... Morgan Brittany of "Dallas" is happy that her Friday night series will no longer be airing vs. NBC's "Knight Rider." Her husband, Jack Gill, does a lot of the stunt driving for David Hasselhoff. "Knight Rider" will move to Sundays for its second season.

CBS is starting the new season with movies scheduled on Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday nights. But come December, says Steve Mills, the network's vice president, motion pictures for television and miniseries, one movie night will be axed and replaced by new series. One might possibly be "Four Seasons," based on the 1981 movie starring and scripted by Alan Alda. However, the series would not include the former "M*A*S*H" star. CBS also has a Universal comedy called "Domestic Life" waiting in the bullpen. And if the situation ever gets desperate, they may unveil the long-awaited "Mama Malone," which has been on the shelf for more than a year. In case you don't remember "Mama," the half-hour sitcom stars Lila Kaye as Brooklyn's version of Julia Child.

Computer wiz joins 'Knight Rider' cast

By Peter Meade

Rebecca Holden

There was an era on television when heroes seemed more interested in their horses than women. Now the horse has been replaced by the car. Rebecca Holden is going to do something about that. She's the new regular on NBC's "Knight Rider," and by the looks of her, it won't be long before series star David Hasselhoff stops driving his computerized wonder-car alone.

Miss Holden portrays computer wizard April Curtis, whose job it is to program all the high-tech gizmos aboard Hasselhoff's car, KITT.

"The car is her pet project, that's her baby," says the former Breck model. "You could call April a feminist, but they've designed some knock-out jump suits for her to wear."

So much for the guys only looking at the car. Actually, NBC is thrilled that so many people watched the series in its rookie season. It was up against highly rated "Dallas," and yet held its own. The reward for the second season is a move to Sunday night at an earlier hour. This way the show is surely to be seen by more of the young males, especially since it is now in an advantageous time slot with no serious competition from either network.

"I don't know where the character is going," says Miss Holden, "I just want to establish enduring characteristics."

Part of that may be endearing herself to Michael Knight (played by Hasselhoff), but that won't happen until later in the season. Her role was not included in the first five hour-long shows of this year. They had been written last year, so her character was added in.

The 25-year-old Texan is married to an oil millionaire, they have several residences and a bevy of high society friends. So Miss Holden was able to hold out for the best work offer, although she has had plenty of work offers, having turned down parts on "Bare Essence," "Yellow Rose" and "We Got it Made."

" 'Knight Rider' looked the most promising," says Miss Holden. "It was renewed for 22 shows and did well vs. 'Dallas' and even better in the reruns. I can't imagine any other job where I'd want to get up at 4 a.m. and go to work."

Pat says 'Woman' gives you more than an 'Hour'

By Elaina Thompson

Pat Mitchell

Twice in the last four years Pat Mitchell has taken big gambles on herself in order to gain more self-satisfaction and "a feeling of doing something worthwhile." Both times she has won.

It's no fable that a successful television anchor person at a local station in a big city can pull down a yearly salary that matches or exceeds that of many powerful business executives. Despite high marks as a co-anchor in Boston, Miss Mitchell left her job and joined the syndicated "Hour Magazine." It represented a cut in pay, but it gave her a chance to travel, interview, probe into problems and try to get clues toward solutions. She found the work satisfying, but it just wasn't enough.

"From the mail that came I found the show didn't go far enough for the many women that tuned in," says Miss Mitchell. "For me that boiled down to a theme: 'You're talking to us, about us, but not with us.' "

That gave her the concept for her new series, "Woman to Woman," which she co-developed with producer Mary Muldoon. The program has done well right from the start with an enviable lineup of stations booking it from its first day last month.

"WTW" now has a staff of researchers, after Miss Mitchell and Miss Muldoon devoted the first six months of this year to doing the basic research themselves.

Each week a group of 15 carefully screened participants gather in the studio below Miss Mitchell's office and televise an updated, well-run gathering. Miss Mitchell describes her role as "the catalyst, because I am not a host in the way, say, Donahue is."

Behind the scenes is almost as good a show as what goes on the air.

"We feed them lunch and snacks," says Miss Mitchell. "Every week we increase our food order with the caterer. Some of these women are nervous about being on television and eating a lot seems natural.

"We have a baby-sitting service across the hall, because we cannot ask mothers to come in and leave young children. The first week we had 14 children under 4 years old. And we all just love them."

Hatch's life changed after joining 'ATWT'

By Kimberly Redmond

Eddie Earl Hatch

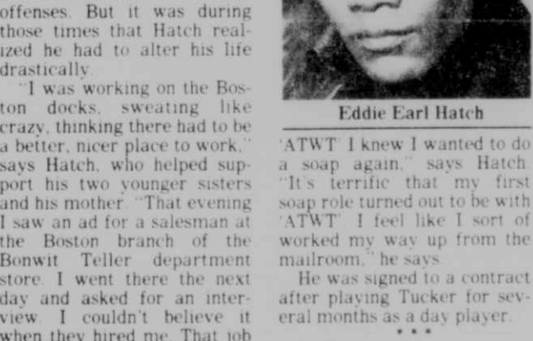
For Eddie Earl Hatch the road to soap opera stardom hasn't been an easy one. The handsome actor, who portrays Tucker Foster on "As The World Turns," admits he was a street-wise kid from the wrong side of the tracks who got into some trouble during his teen-age years. The trouble that landed him in juvenile detention facilities for various offenses. But it was during those times that Hatch realized he had to alter his life drastically.

"I was working on the Boston docks, sweating like crazy, thinking there had to be a better, nicer place to work," says Hatch, who helped support his two younger sisters and his mother. "That evening I saw an ad for a salesman at the Boston branch of the Bonwit Teller department store. I went there the next day and asked for an interview. I couldn't believe it when they hired me. That job move changed my life."

Within two years of getting the job, Hatch was one of only two men chosen to tour with the world famous Ebony Fashion Fair and he did done numerous local TV commercials. He was later selected as the spokesperson for Salem cigarettes and it was then that he decided to head for the Big Apple.

Ironically, his first job in New York was as an extra on "ATWT." He has also appeared in the films "Deadly Hero" and "Short Eyes," as well as the TV movie "Muggable Mary."

"After that first day on 'ATWT' I knew I wanted to do a soap again," says Hatch. "It's terrific that my first soap role turned out to be with 'ATWT.' I feel like I sort of worked my way up from the mailroom," he says.



He was signed to a contract after playing Tucker for several months as a day player.

No. Millee Taggart, who portrayed Janet Collins, is not the "SFT" announcer. The voice you hear daily belongs to Alison Steele, who made history when she was hired as the first woman announcer for a daytime drama.

"Captain Kangaroo," starring Bob Keeshan, begins its 29th year on CBS airing on both Saturday and Sunday mornings. There will be plenty of new segments and on-location visits to interest youngsters of all ages.

(Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

Daniel J. Travanti (center) of "Hill Street Blues" takes on a different kind of role in the movie "Adam," to air Monday, Oct. 10 on NBC. He stars with JoBeth Williams as John and Reve Walsh, a Florida couple whose son (played by John Boston) mysteriously disappears.

THURSDAY

Magnum (Tom Selleck, l.) joins forces with a private eye from St. Louis (Eugene Roche) to find a missing girl on "Magnum P.I.," Thursday, Oct. 6 on CBS.

CINDY SAYS

Another Kennedy film; Steiger gets around

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — Another Kennedy will be immortalized in celluloid. This one is Kathleen Kennedy, younger sister of President John F. Kennedy. The four-hanky movie will zoom in on the tragic romance of Kathleen — nicknamed "Kick" — and the Duke of Devonshire's older brother, William, who was killed in the war. It'll go wide on the years when "Kick" was the deb of London and papa Joe was the high-stepping Ambassador to the Court of St. James.

Erik Estrada
new mate

Stefanie Powers is organizing a benefit for her late love William Holden's beloved Wildlife Fund. She's throwing together a celebrity polo match. The match will be at L.A.'s Griffith Park Equestrian Center in mid-October, in case you have horse and will travel... In one week Rod Steiger flew to Malibu to check his house, to New York to check out Paula, his restaurant hostess girlfriend, who eschews publicity, to Canada to check in with additional scenes for "Cook and Peary," the CBS movie with Richard Chamberlain, and to Chicago to check on his new movie "The Naked Face," with Roger Moore.

Dating: Cybill Shepherd of NBC's "Yellow Rose" and Wally Crowder, California's offshore racing champ — whatever that is. Phase two: Erik Estrada and Cathy Shower will make it a Valentine day's wedding... Marrying: Pancho Segura's son, Spencer, and actress Patosh Silan of Turkey. They'll be hitched at La Costa where tennis champ Pancho is the tennis pro.

Expecting: Kim Novak's former husband, actor Richard Johnson, and new wife, Marie-Louise Norland. Gossiping: Nobody has mentioned that Margot Kidder's new husband, French director Philippe de Broca, was formerly married to Marthe Keller, who was formerly adored by Al Pacino.

Nicol Williamson is coming south — that's New York — for one day to kick off the Shakespearean TV season. That's PBS.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

What happened to Shaun Cassidy? I haven't seen him since "The Hardy Boys." Where can I write him? — A.C., Augusta, Maine.

Shaun is doing theater and presently is appearing in Los Angeles in "Mass Appeal," with Milo O'Shea. The two-character play about a pair of priests was a big hit on Broadway. The reviews have been excellent and business is building, so it looks like the run of the play will be extended. "Mass Appeal" is also being made into a movie starring Jack Lemmon. Write Shaun in care of the Huntington Hartford Theater, 1615 Vine St., Hollywood, CA 90028.

Shaun Cassidy

I have noticed that one of my favorite comedy shows, "Laverne & Shirley," has left TV. Is it coming back? And has Shirley had her baby yet — that is, if she was really going to have one. — M.M., Yuba City, Calif.

"Laverne & Shirley" has left first-run TV, but it's big in syndicated reruns, so keep looking for it. Cindy Williams, who played Shirley, left the show in a dispute when she got pregnant. She gave birth to a daughter, Emily, on Nov. 29. Cindy's husband and Emily's father is Bill Hudson of the Hudson brothers.

Penny Marshall (l.) and Cindy Williams

I have watched "The Merv Griffin Show" for many years. Recently I heard that he might have remarried. Is this true? — M.W., Bayonne, N.J.

No, Merv is still leading the single life. He has been seen with Eva Gabor a few times, but that doesn't necessarily mean it will lead to a marriage.

On "Dallas," is the Ewing's ranch, Southfork, actually located in Dallas? — H.S., Nutley, N.J.

On the series, the ranch where the Ewing clan do their weekly battling is supposedly located in Braddock, Texas.

What was the name of that cop series that starred Burt Reynolds? — J.J., Denver.

It was "Dan August," and it ran from 1970 to 1975. Norman Fell played his sidekick.

(Do you have a question about TV? Write Val Carew at 200 Park Avenue, Room 602, New York, NY 10166.)

Cliff DeYoung

'Master of the Game'

"Master of the Game," the popular Sidney Sheldon novel, will become a nine-hour CBS miniseries for broadcast late this season.

Dyan Cannon, Ian Charleson, Harry Hamlin and Cliff DeYoung will star in the production, which began shooting last month. After completion of filming in New York, locations in Paris, London, Nice and Kenya will be utilized.

Miss Cannon portrays Kate Blackwell, the head of a powerful corporate empire. Charleson, best known from his role as the Scottish runner in "Chariots of Fire," plays Kate's father and patriarch of the family's tremendous fortune.

Hamlin is Kate's son, Tony, who doesn't agree with the policies of his domineering mother. DeYoung is Brad Rogers, the Blackwell family's closest confidante.

'9 to 5' addition

Leah Ayres has replaced Valerie Curtin, joining Rachel Dennison and Rita Moreno as the three crazy secretaries on "9 to 5" as the ABC sitcom goes into its second year.

Miss Ayres, who appeared on "Love of Life" and "The Edge of Night," will portray Linda Bowman on the Thursday night series. She left Tufts University in 1975 to complete her dance studies at New York University. This led to filming many commercial spots. She was then spotted by Bob Fosse and he cast her in his movie "All That Jazz."

A native of Baltimore, the 5-foot-5 blonde spends her free time skiing, playing tennis and horseback riding.

GCTA Teacher Talk

by Lowell Leitzel

Local Items

The G.C.T.A. Executive Board will meet on Thursday, October 6, at 4:00 p.m. at Betty Hesen's home. Items for discussion will include negotiations and membership up-dates and the M.S.T.A. Convention agenda. The G.C.T.A. Governing Board will meet on Thursday, October 20, at 4:30 p.m. at Garrett Community College, McHenry, in room LC-155. All faculty representatives will receive a copy of the agenda. Representatives who cannot attend should secure a substitute.

During the summer M.S.T.A. produced radio spots to encourage parental involvement in the education of their children. The spots were mailed to radio stations throughout the state. Beginning this week, listen to local radio WMSG and WXIE for ways to help children learn.

State News

The M.S.T.A. Convention will be held October 28-29 at Ocean City. G.C.T.A. President Betty White, Cindy Downton, Keith Harvey, John Helmick and Lowell Leitzel will represent Garrett County. The Honorable Benjamin Cardin, Speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates, will address the Representative Assembly on October 28. Main items of business include action on recommended support on presidential candidates in the 1984 national elections, approval of the 1984 M.S.T.A. Legislative program, election of a member to fill a vacancy on the M.S.T.A. Board of Directors, various amendments to the M.S.T.A. By-laws, and proposed resolutions. All G.C.T.A. members should consult the September 21 issue of the M.S.T.A. Action Line for the convention agenda and proposed by-law amendments. Teachers may provide input directly to the G.C.T.A., delegation or through their faculty representatives.

At its August meeting the M.S.T.A. Board of Directors approved a program to outline the procedure for supporting presidential candidates. According to the procedure, NEA-PAC (National Education Association-Political Action Committee) and the N.E.A. Board of Directors will first make a decision whether to support a candidate. Following the N.E.A. decision, MEPAC, M.S.T.A.'s political arm, will decide whether to concur with the N.E.A. recommendation. If it concurs, it will present the recommendation to the M.S.T.A. Representative Assembly, which will vote on the recommendation by a secret ballot. A 58 percent majority is required for the Assembly to take a position of support for any candidate.

While the M.S.T.A Representative Assembly meets, other educational departments will conduct their annual statewide meetings. The Maryland Art Education Association will meet in Ocean City. The Maryland Association of Science Teachers will meet at the Gateway Hotel in Ocean City. The Maryland Education Media Organization will meet at Old Mill Senior High School in Glen Burnie. The Maryland Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation will meet at Bowie State College. The Maryland Council Teachers of Mathematics will meet at Howard Senior High School, Howard County. The Maryland Music Educators Association will meet at Towson State University. Their program will conclude on Saturday, October 29, with the Grand Finale Concert of the 1983 Maryland All-State Chorus.

State Seniors Show Gains In Aptitude Tests

Maryland's college-bound high school seniors have posted gains in the Scholastic Aptitude Test for a second consecutive year in both verbal and mathematics scores, the State Department of Education announced this week.

Math scores, which rose three points last year, rose another two points in 1983, to 466.

Verbal scores also rose two points to 427, after having posted a two-point gain in 1982.

State students were still two points shy of the national math average—468 but scored one point higher than the national verbal score of 426. The nationwide scores reflect a two-point improvement in math and a one-point decline in the verbal test since last year.

State school superintendent David W. Hornbeck expressed pleasure with Maryland student performance. "Of course, you cannot make sweeping judgments about the quality of our schools by the results of a single series of tests taken by a limited number of students," he said, "but progress anywhere along the line for two years in a row is gratifying. Good things are happening in our schools. I congratulate the students and their teachers." Hornbeck added that the test performance appears to reflect the taking hold of statewide curriculum reforms, including Project Basic, undertaken in classrooms four years ago.

The Test in Standard Writtten English, which is administered at the same time as the SATs, also shows improved performance by Maryland students. The 1983 score is 42.6; the 1982 score was 42.3.

Of the 29,755 students who took the SAT tests, 47 percent were male and 53 percent female. One in five attended a nonpublic school.

Twenty-four percent of Maryland test-takers were minority students, compared with 19 percent for the nation as a whole.

Substantial numbers of women are planning careers in computers, the study shows, with 10.3 percent intending to study computer/science systems analysis, up from 7.5 percent last year. In the same area for the same period the figure for men dropped from 13.7 to 9.4 percent.

Males intending careers in education dropped from 1.9 percent to 1.6; females intending education careers dropped from 6.5 to 5.6 percent in the one-year period.

The study shows students planning education careers having a verbal score of 403 and a math score of 419, a substantial improvement in scores over the 1982 group, but still considerably off the state averages for all seniors.

Maryland's 51 percent of graduating seniors participating in the SAT test ranks it tenth in the nation in that category.

"All right, Daddy. You've gotten your point across."

Baltimore Area Oakland Alumni Hold Reunion

The Oakland High School Alumni Baltimore Chapter met for its 1983 reunion, Saturday, September 24, at the Overlea Hall, Baltimore.

A fruit and cheese table was shared during the cocktail hour. The dining room tables were decorated with linens and fresh flowers.

Following dinner, William Grant, president of the chapter, presented the program. An acrobatic and juggling team from Dundalk performed, as well as a magician.

Because of lack of support for this event, the presiding officers voted to postpone any future reunion meeting indefinetely.

Accident Library To Host Workshop

The second in a series of free workshops to be offered at the Accident Library Branch will be held on Monday, October 10, from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. This workshop, entitled "Who Am I?", is designed to help direct individuals in a self-evaluation so they can better know and appreciate themselves.

The workshop is sponsored by the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College and will be conducted by Sandy Schofield, Outreach/Job Awareness Coordinator of the HCO Program.

For more information or to register persons may contact the Program's main office at 334-9184.

Deputy Van Evans Attends Seminar

Van Evans, chief deputy for the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, returned last Tuesday following a three-day seminar on "Vicarious Liability" conducted at the FBI's National Academy Association Retraining session in Rehoboth Beach, Del.

The session presented instruction concerning recent Supreme Court decisions on police officers' liability in administering the laws.

AARP To Meet

The local chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons will hold its next meeting on Wednesday, October 12, at 1:30 p.m. at the Oakland fire hall.

The guest speaker will be George Williams, assistant state director for the A.A.R.P.

Refreshments will be served.

Oakland Chapter Of Eastern Star Observes Birthday

Oakland Chapter #67, Order of the Eastern Star, celebrated its birthday September 20 at the Masonic Temple in Oakland, beginning with a covered dish dinner prior to the regular order of business.

"The Making of Friends" was the opening thought of Wilda Hile, Worthy Matron. She then greeted several special guests, including: Mildred S. Martin, General Grand Chapter Committee Chairman and Past Grand Matron; Margaret Flurshutz and Elizabeth Mullennex, Deputy Grand Lecturers; two Grand Representatives, one Worthy Matron and one Worthy Patron of other chapters. Thirty-six officers and members of Oakland Chapter were in attendance.

Among the business conducted included balloting on candidates, September birthdays and a program given by the Worthy Matron and her officers for the Past Matrons and Past Patrons of Oakland Chapter. Past Matrons of Oakland Chapter attending were Esther Householder, Elizabeth McComas, Ethel Rae Snyder, Helen Henline, Helena Thrasher, Ann Purbaugh, Gladys Weeks, Betsy Colaw, Betty Foy, Minnie Nelson and Carole Paugh. Past Patrons were Robert Paugh, Reaford Purbaugh, William Nelson and Lewis Marks.

Members having 25 or more years were honored with certificates by the chapter. Those in attendance included Dessie Bell, 41 years; Ann Purbaugh, and Pearl Rush, 38 years; Gladys Weeks, 36 years; Ethel Rae Snyder and Reaford Purbuagh, 35 years; Helen Henline, 28 years; and Ocie Rush, 25 years.

The Worthy Matron gave a special reading to Gladys Weeks and presented her with a plaque for outstanding service along with a personal gift.

"Keeping Friends" was the closing message of Mrs. Hile. Refreshments were served by Sharon Perando and her committee. The next meeting will be held October 4 at which time the chapter will have the Past Matrons and Past Patrons Caravan of Western Maryland.

Senior Citizens Organize To Fight Telephone Rates

A statewide "action coalition" of senior citizen orgazinations and representatives of local area agencies on aging has been organized to fight proposed rate increases by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company. The coalition is convinced such increases would hurt elderly citizens in Maryland living on fixed incomes or those homebound with disabilities.

Under rate increases recently proposed by C&P, the cost of flat unlimited local service would be raised 100% (for example, in Baltimore City from $11.82 to $21.30 a month). This would result in many customers being forced to use other phone company options, primarily a new measured local service or message units in which outgoing calls are billed both per call and for duration of call.

The coalition, which is working closely with the Maryland Office on Aging, is mobilizing elderly people throughout the state to attend a series of public hearings being held by the Public Service Commission concerning the rate increases. The coalition is certain these rate increases would discourage volunteers who daily call homebound elderly disabled in support and who stay in touch by phone with sometimes totally isolated individuals.

The PSC public hearings on the telephone rate increases will be held on October 4 and 11 in Baltimore; October 6 in Bowie; October 13 in Annapolis, October 18 in Cumberland; October 19 in Hagerstown; October 24, Rockville; October 26, Salisbury; and October 27 in Joppatowne. More information about the coalition is available by calling Richard Kirchner of the State Office on Aging at (301) 383-2100.

COMPLETE COURSE — Thirteen Maryland Forest and Park Service employees including one from Garrett County, recently completed a 70-hour law enforcement familiarization course at the Eastern Shore Criminal Justice Academy operated by Wor-Wic Tech Community College in Salisbury. First row, from left are: Gerald W. Vickers, Jr. of Parsonsburg, Robert T. Clarke of Pocomoke City, and Joseph J. Appel of Pasadena. Second row, from left are: Steven A. Brown of Annapolis, Kathleen M. Sneider of Brandywine, Deborah L. Sample of Newburg, Brenda S. Bishop of Hagerstown, and Owen R. Handwerk of Grantsville. Third row, from left are: Sam E. Barnhart of Hagerstown, Robert M. Tritapoe of Brownsville, Carl W. Shipley of Cumberland, and Bernard C. Zlomek of Frostburg.

Library Corner

by Judy Miller

The Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County last year received a grant to establish a job and career information center. Some residents have already taken advantage of the new books associated with this grant to try to improve their job skills or to further their education.

In connection with the grant, we'll be holding a "swap shop" to exchange ideas with interested parties whose purpose is either to assist job seekers, extend employment opportunities, or in some manner help others train for careers. The date for this meeting has been set at October 11, 1983 at 10:00 a.m. at the main library in Oakland.

O. Randall Harman, president of Garrett Community College will speak to us about some of the ways the college helps countians in their efforts to improve their employment situations. It is to be hoped that the meeting will be a forum in which others will tell what their organizations are trying to do or what services they feel are needed in the area.

Invitations have been sent to agencies and organizations in Garrett County who have special interest in this problem, however, we would also like to include all citizens or groups who may wish to participate or feel they have something to contribute. If your group or organization has not received an invitation, or if, as a private concerned individual, you wish to attend this meeting, please call the main library for a reservation.

Since seating in limited, we must ask that you contact us by October 7 if you wish to be included.

Communication Skills Class Set

Communications Skills and the World of Work, an assertiveness training class, will be offered by the Continuing Education Department of Garrett Community College, and conducted by staff members of the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program. The class will begin on Friday, November 4, and will be held each Friday morning from 9 a.m. to noon for six weeks.

This six-week course is designed to introduce participants to an open, honest style of communication. Topics to be discussed include a general introduction to assertiveness, barriers to assertion and anxiety, dealing constructively with anger, communication and conversation skills, dealing with put-downs and criticism, and appreciating oneself. There will be mini-lectures and role playing to assist participants to learn how to practice behavior modifications successfully.

Classes will be held at the Oakland Center of GCC in Room 306. To register or for further information persons may call 334-9184. Tuition assistance is available through the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program to qualifying individuals. Space is limited so early registration is recommended.

Chapter I PAC Meets In Crellin

Motor Fuel Tax Revenues Higher During August

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says the State's motor fuel tax collections totaled $24,263,183 during August, 1983, a 23.5% increase over the $19,647,367 received during the same month last year. He noted the state collected more revenue despite a drop in the use of gasoline, diesel fuel and other special fuels by Marylanders.

"Motor Fuel consumption during July, 1983, on which August revenues are based, amounted to 175,696,545 gallons," Goldstein said. "That's about six-tenths of one percent less than the 176,746,279 gallons of motor fuel used during July, 1982."

Goldstein said the revenue increase could be attributed to the increase in the motor fuel tax rate, enacted by the 1982 session of the Maryland General Assembly. The tax on motor fuel increased from 11 cents per gallon to 13.5 cents per gallon on June, 1, 1983.

For the first two months of Fiscal Year 1984, motor fuel tax revenue totals $50,559,501, a 24.6% increase over the $40,579,464 collected during the identical period of the previous fiscal year.

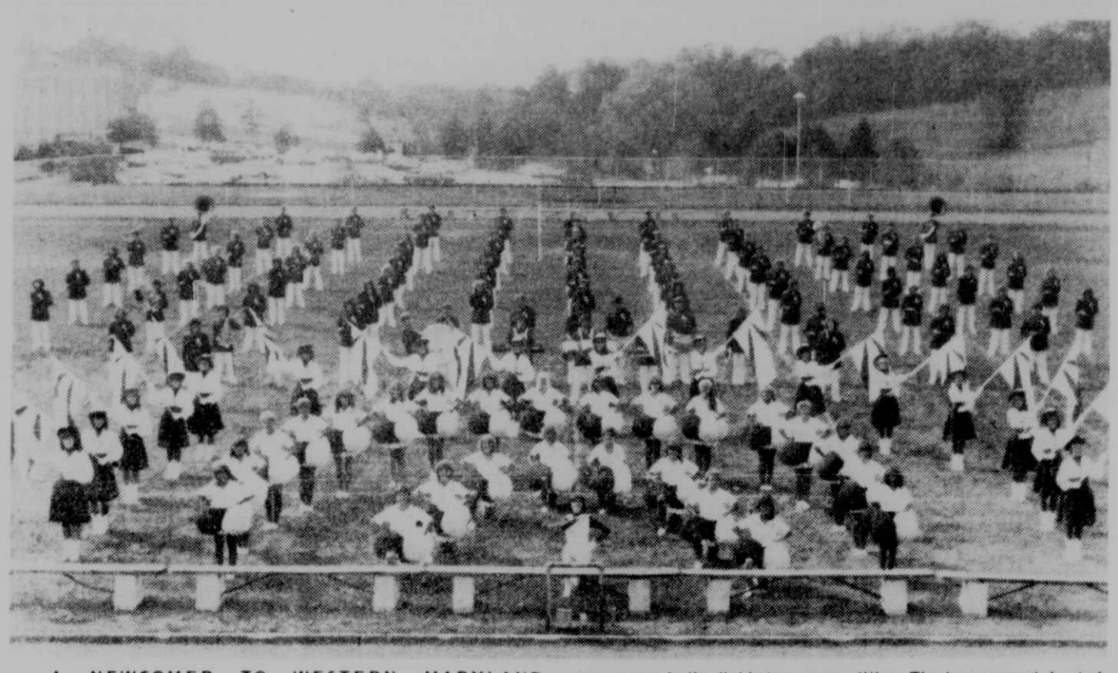
Annual Tourney Expected To Draw 14 School Bands



About 14 bands are expected to participate in the sixth annual Western Maryland Tournament of Bands to be held October 15 at 6 p.m. at the Southern High School football field, said tournament coordinator Richard D. Clever Monday.

The Southern High School band, under Clever's direction, will be the host band and will perform, but not compete during the evening. Twelve bands competed last year in the tournament.

A newcomer to the tournament this year will be Peter's Township High School Marching Band, under the direction of Robert Dell, Jr. The 138-member Pennsylvania band, from near Pittsburgh, will join in its first field show competition at this tournament.

Although 14 bands have indicated an interest in participating in the tournament, 11 bands had registered by Monday.

Among the 11, besides Southern and Peter's Township, will be Berkeley Springs High School Band, an 80-member West Virginia band under the direction of Gary Marvel; Bruce High School Marching Band, Westernport, an 83-member band under the direction of David H. Kuhn; Connellsville Falcon Marching Band, a 140-member Pennsylvania band under the direction of Raymond T. Budd; Frankfort "Falcon" Marching Band, a 118-member band from Ridgeley, W. Va., under DuWaine Sandlin's direction; Keyser High School Band, a 113-member West Virginia band directed by Richard Frush; Meyersdale Area High School Red Raider Marching Band, a 95-member Pennsylvania band directed by Roger Johnston; the Northern High School Band, Accident, a 67-member band directed by James E. Board; Philip Barbour Colts Band, Philippi, West Virginia, a 103-member band directed by Patrick Daugherty; and Valley Jr.-Sr. High Band, Frostburg, a 57-member band directed by Martin Crump.

A NEWCOMER TO WESTERN MARYLAND TOURNAMENT OF BANDS — One of the bands registered to attend the sixth annual Western Maryland Tournament of Bands will be Peter's Township High School Marching Band, Pa., a newcomer to the field show competition. The tournament, hosted by the Southern Garrett High School Band, will begin at 6 p.m., on October 15, at the Southern High School football field.

Square Dance Fest Slated Saturday

A square dance festival, with one of the outstanding square dance callers on the east coast, will be performed this weekend at the Frostburg National Guard Armory on Water Street as part of the annual Belles and Beaux Fall Festival this Sunday, October 9, from 2 to 5 p.m.

Featured caller will be Jerry Cochran.

The Belles and Beaux will be starting another class of beginning instruction, consisting of the 100 basic square dance calls, starting this Friday, October 7, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Finan Center on Country Club Road, Cumberland. Caller will be Robert Boswell.

Southern Garrett Band Boosters To Serve Dinners

The Southern Garrett Band Boosters will be serving complete turkey dinners Saturday, Oct. 15, from 2 to 7 p.m. at Southern High School cafeteria. The menu will consist of turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, sauerkraut, green beans, cranberry sauce, roll with butter, and pumpkin pie. Price of dinners are $5.00 for adults and $3.50 for children.

The Southern Garrett Band is sponsoring and hosting the Western Maryland Tournament of Bands Saturday evening at 6 p.m. on the Southern High School football field. Twelve bands are expected to compete in this event. Admission is $3.00 per person.

Starr Addresses Lake Lionesses

Ed Starr, a retired government employee, spoke on government policies with foreign nations at the September 22 meeting of the Deep Creek Lake Lioness Club held at Deep Creek Lodge.

Shirley DeMatz, vice president, presided at the meeting. A $25 donation was given to the Garrett County swim team and a 50-50 drawing is being planned to benefit Brandon Frantz.

Sandy Iden, ways and means chairman, distributed Mayer stainless steel knives to be sold by members. It was decided to hold a combined Christmas party with the Deep Creek Lions Club.

The Board of Directors will meet Thursday, October 13, at the home of Donna Sites. That group will meet on the second Thursday of each month thereafter.

The next club meeting will be October 27 at the Deep Creek Lodge at 6:30. The program will be on drug abuse. All new members not previously inducted into the club will be sworn in at this meeting.

Parenting Skills Workshop Slated

The Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College will hold a free workshop entitled "Parenting Skills" on Wednesday, October 12, from 10 a.m. to noon at the Oakland Center of GCC in Room 306.

The workshop will be led by Dr. Michael Yura, pshychologist and associate professor of counseling and guidance at West Virginia University. Parent-child communication, giving children choices, and disciplining children will be topics of the session.

This workshop is open to the public. To register, or for more information persons may call 334-9184.

TV Franchise

Cablentertainment representatives spoke with the mayor, town council and their legal representative this week about the proposed changes in scheduling and rates. There will be another meeting to address the current financial statements before decisions are reached.

Financial Assistance

After concerted effort by the mayor, Dr. William Pope and Edgar Harman of the Garrett County Health Department and Delegate George Edwards, grant monies for the work accomplished under the three phases of the failing septic plan will be forthcoming in the near future.

Zoning

The zoning meeting held on September 29 was well attended. Testimony was heard on the petition to change the El Lobo property from a town residential to commercial zone, with the overwhelming majority opposing the change. The matter will be further researched by the mayor, town council and their legal representative. A decision will be announced in the near future.

Halloween

Public response has favored trick or treat, so there will be no party this year.

Town Hall

This building is scheduled to be painted on October 8, weather permitting. All supplies and equipment will be provided and it is hoped that residents will assist with the project.

Frostburg State College Theatre Notes Offerings

Frostburg State College Theatre has announced its 1983-84 season of offerings.

The first production of the year will be a farce entitled "No Sex Please, We're British" and will be presented October 6-8. Written by Anthony Marriott and Alistair Foot, this play opened in London in 1975 and is still running successfully.

"Here's Love", a special holiday musical by Meredith Willson, will be performed December 1-4. Based on the movie classic "Miracle on 34th Street", "Here's Love", is entertainment for the entire family.

The third production will be "Hotel Universe" by Philip Barry. Presented February 23-25, this play has been described as "one of the most profound studies of human nature carried out in the spirit of high comedy."

The last show of the season will be Jack Heifner's comedy, "Vanities" to be presented April 12-14. During the latter 1970s "Vanities" received more professional productions in the United States than any other play.

All performances are scheduled in Compton Auditorium on the Frostburg State College Campus. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

Reservations may be made by telephoning 689-4145 between 1-4:30 p.m.

PROCEED WITH CAUTION

You've often heard the admonition "Read contracts carefully and completely before signing." We'd like to change that to "Read and UNDERSTAND contract before signing." For example, if a certain three words appear on that contract don't even touch that pen before doing some checking.

The words are "restrictions of record," and if you sign that contract you have to take the title subject to any restriction, no matter how unusual it may be. You might find out later that the only thing you can build on your land is a rabbit hutch or a doghouse! The thing to do is to find out what the restriction or restrictions are. If the restriction is okay with you, have something put in the contract to the effect that it is subject to the restriction listed on Document X (state name or number). In other words know exactly what those restrictions are before putting your signature on that contract!

As Realtors, we want to emphasize the prime importance of this matter of restrictions when buying real estate, especially regarding vacant land. It's also another reason why a buyer should have his own attorney to represent him.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices.

DECD Offering Eleven Percent Mortgage Loans

Hans F. Mayer, Acting Secretary of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development (DECD), recently announced the availability of 11 percent mortgage loans being made by DECD's Community Development Administration (CDA). Fifty-two million dollars in mortgage financing is available through lenders participating in CDA's Mortgage Purchase Program. CDA is the state's housing finance agency.

Loans made through MPP are 30-year, 11 percent fixed interest rate mortgages. To qualify, family income cannot exceed $33,000 and individuals must earn $28,000 or less annually.

"CDA has an interest rate 2% lower than FHA and VA and about three percent lower than conventional mortgages," commented CDA Director, Trudy P. McFall. "Anywhere from three to five points are being charged on FHA, VA and conventional mortgages as compared to the one point charged in this program. We expect a tremendous demand for this money."

First-time homebuyers wishing to finance a home through MPP must first find a new or existing home that qualifies under the $60,000 purchase price limitation and then go to one of the 11 participating lenders to apply. CDA, acting as a secondary market, then buys the loan from the lender.

The participating lenders are: •Carroll County Bank and Trust Company, •Equitable Federal Savings and Loan Association Inc., • First National Bank of Maryland, •Guaranty Mortgage Corporation, •Home Mortgages, Inc., •Loyola Federal Savings and Loan Association, •Maryland National Mortgage Corporation, •Mercantile Mortgage Corporation, •Rouse Real Estate Finance, Inc., •Weaver Brothers, Inc., •Wye Mortgage Corporation.

Of the $52 million, $12 million will be reserved for homebuyers in target areas. Target areas are either "qualified census tracts" or "areas of chronic economic distress." In these areas, applicants do not have to be first-time homebuyers and the maximum purchase price is increased to $66,000. The goal in these areas is to attract homeowners and to revitalize neighborhoods.

Information on the Mortgage Purchase Program and targeted areas is available by contacting CDA's Single-Family Programs office at (301) 269-3524 or one of the participating lenders.

"This may be the last opportunity for moderate-income Maryland residents to take advantage of cheap mortgage money," McFall said. "Because of federal law, state housing finance agencies will lose their ability to provide reduced interest mortgages on December 31, unless Congress eliminates the cutoff date from the Mortgage Subsidy Bond Tax Act. First-time homebuyers will be the big losers if Congress fails to act," she added.

The act was passed to eliminate potential abuse of the proceeds of tax-exempt revenue bonds. CDA has mounted an active campaign in conjunction with the Council of State Housing Agencies, local issuers and support groups in Maryland to lobby for an extension on the cutoff. Statewide, about 3,200 mortgages have been made through the sale of tax-exempt mortgage revenue bonds.

CDA is the state's housing finance agency and works to increase the supply of housing statewide. CDA operates four program areas: single-family, multi-family, home improvement and housing subsidies. Established by an act of the General Assembly in 1970, the Administration is funded primarily through the sale of tax-exempt mortgage revenue bonds and uses no tax dollars.

4-H Club News

Rt. 20 Tailblazers
by Lisa Miller, reporter

The Rt. 40 Trailblazers 4-H Club met recently at the Eastern Garrett County firehall. The meeting was called to order by Susan Bennett. Minutes were read by Betty Faidley.

Our club made bookmarkers for the Route 40 School, and for the fire hall. Sharon Malone gave us our baby beef tickets to sell.

We discussed our plans for an up-coming event. Our club has decided to visit shut-ins and take them each something. Lisa Miller, Deanne Brant, Ida Faidley, and Clara Albright agreed to make or bake something for them. Deanne and Billy Brant, Susan Bennett, Stacey Malone, and Clara Albright are going to have skits on radio for National 4-H Week.

Other members attending were, Ronald and Carolyn Bennett, John Bennett, Chad Malone, and Chet Christner. There were also three leaders present. Deanne Brant served refreshments.

Mr. And Mrs. Charles Mason Honored On Silver Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Mason, Jr., Oakland, were honored recently on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary with a dinner and reception at the Deer Park Fire Hall. The event was hosted by the couple's eldest daughter Tammy and her husband Randy Thomas, assisted by Susan Mason, Mrs. Gale White and Tina Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason were married September 13, 1958 at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, by the Rev. Charles Godwin. Donald Mason was best man, Patricia (Campbell) Ash was maid of honor, and Brenda (DeBerry) Sanders was bridesmaid.

Mrs. Mason, the former J. Lorraine Kight, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kight, Mt. Lake Park. Mr. Mason is a son of June E. Biser, Oakland, and the late Charles Mason, Sr., Fairmont, W.Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason have owned and operated CH-LO-MA Farms, Oakland, for the past 25 years. The Masons have approximately 125 registered Holstein cattle and farm 300 acres.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason are the parents of three children, Tammy Thomas, Oakland; Susan Mason, Alderson-Broaddus College, Philippi, W.Va., and Andy, at home. They have one granddaughter, Sara Thomas.

Yellow and silver decorations were used throughout the fire hall. Mrs. June Biser provided flower arrangements. The three-tiered anniversey cake was baked by Louise Martin. Lois Martin and Becky Mason cut and served the cake, Wilda Sanders served punch, and Mary Utterback was in charge of the guest register.

Music was provided by "Mandalah," a local band consisting of Tom Simpson, Tim Beitzel, Barry Morgan and Chris Kraatz.

Toasts were offered in honor of the couple by John Conaway, Fairmont; Edward Utterback, Aurora, W.Va., and Susan Mason.

Robert Custer, Deer Park, gave the invocation. Don Mason offered nostalgic memories of the past 25 years.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Mason at the gift table were Walter Leutje, Fairfax, Va.

Over 100 guests attended the event.

DAV Unit Hosts State Commander

Ruth McMichael, department commander of Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary of Maryland, made her official visit to Mt. Top Unit 29, Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary, during the local unit meeting September 26.

Commander McMichael reminded members of the important role they play in support of the local chapter and encourged the group to continue its support of legislation concerning veterans by contacting their legislators by letter or phone.

Marjorie Maguire, past national commander of Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary, was also a guest speaker.

Tom Bland, First Junior Vice Commander of Maryland's DAV, visited the Mt. Top Chapter 39 the same evening. Plans were made for the local chapter and unit to participate in the Autumn Glory firemen's parade October 13. Members are to meet at the home of Richard and Brenda Butts, Third Street, by 6:30 p.m.

Harshes Celebrate 65th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Harsh, of near Aurora, celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary with an open house given by their children and grandchildren at the Stemple Ridge Church on September 25.

The couple was married Sept. 25, 1918, by Rev. Vanscoy at Oakland. They have seven children: Mrs. Mary Jane Hanline and Mrs. Helen Lipscomb, Aurora, Stanley Harsh, Amboy, Melvin Harsh, Akron Ohio; Oran Harsh, Brunswick, Ohio; Mrs. Cleota Haisengton, Kent, Ohio; and Mrs. Shirley Doolittle, Randolph, Ohio.

More than 100 relatives and friends attended the celebration. Those attending from other areas were Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Holden, Largo, Fla.; and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hurshman, Lansing, Mich.

Nugent-Lose Couple To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nugent, Friendsville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Lois Marie, to David Van Lose, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lose, Bruceton Mills, W. Va.

The couple will be married October 8 at 2 p.m. at Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses, Markleysburg, Pa.

A reception will be held at 3:30 p.m. at Mt. Fellowship Center, Markleysburg, Pa.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Garber, Manthos Exchange Vows

Tamara June Garber and Michael Charles Manthos were married August 27 at Otterbein United Methodist Church in Harrisonburg, Va.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Garber of Harrisonburg, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M.A. Slagle of Annandale, Va.

The Rev. Louis Carson performed the ceremony. Music selections were by Tom Garber, trumpet; Bonnie Garber, soloist; and Nancy Hackman, organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal-length, off-white gown and carried peach silk flowers.

Mary Garber of Harrisonburg was matron of honor, and M.A. Slagle of Annandale was best man. Usher was William Rutledge of Arlington, Va.

A reception was held at the church.

The couple took a wedding trip to Florida and is living in McHenry. The bride teaches at Garrett Community College and the bridegroom is a free-lance writer.

Members of the Appalachian Mountain Square Dancers will compete this Saturday, October 8, in the National Firemen's Parade in Washington, D.C.

Ray Ferguson, McHenry, custom home contractor, is sponsoring the trip for the square dance group.

Recorder Consort To Play In Organ Recital On Oct. 14

A Garrett County recorder consort will join in an evening of baroque music at the Autumn Glory organ recital to be held at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church on Friday, October 14, at 7 p.m.

The consort consists of three recorder players and a guitarist. The group formed this year and has performed at PC's Restaurant to raise money for the Ruth Enlow Library bookmobile.

Members of the group are: Ruth Huebner, alto, tenor and bass recorder; Tom Johnson, alto recorder; Marci McClive, soprano and tenor recorder; and Roger Strouse, 12-string guitar.

The consort will perform works of Bach, Handel, Pachebel and other composers and will join with Pattie McLaughlin, organist, in the performance of Bach's Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring.

The recorder is a medieval wind instrument commonly played in small groups or chamber orchestras, explained consort member Marci McClive.

Improvement Loans Available At 8.5 Percent

Two loan programs of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development (DECD) are currently making rehabilitation, home improvement and energy conservation loans at an interest rate of 8.5 percent. DECD's Community Development Administration (CDA) is making the loans through the Maryland Housing Rehabilitation and Home and Energy Loan programs.

The Maryland Housing Rehabilitation Program (MHRP), one of CDA's oldest programs is designed to upgrade existing housing stock and makes three types of loans: single-family owner-occupied, rental properties up to 20 units and commercial properties.

MHRP loans can be used for improvements including electrical, plumbing and heating systems, weatherization and energy conservation, and handicapped modifications. Loans carry no minimum amounts, but carry maximum loan amounts of $30,000 for a single-family unit; $30,000 for the first unit and $20,000 for each additional unit in rental properties; and $50,000 for each unit in a commercial property.

The interest rate on MHRP loans in 8.5 percent with maximum loan terms of 20 years. Complete program information, including eligibility requirements, are available from the Home Improvement Programs office at (301) 269-2795 or 1-800-492-7127.

The other program currently making loans is the Home and Energy Loan Program (HELP). HELP is CDA's newest program and was initiated in May, 1983.

HELP provides loans to single-family homeowners at an interest rate of 8.5 percent plus a one-half percent insurance premium for qualified home improvement and energy conservation improvements.

Three types of loans are available through HELP: energy conservation, home improvements and combined energy conservation and home improvement. Loans limited to energy conservation have no income limits and other loans will be made to single borrowers earning $28,000 or less and families with incomes of $33,000 or less.

Among the home improvements eligible are home additions, repair or replacement of plumbing, heating and electrical systems and new bathrooms, kitchens and closets. Energy improvements include caulking and weatherstripping, insulation and siding, furnace efficiency modifications and storm and thermal doors and windows.

Homeowners interested in financing home and energy improvements can apply directly to one of the six participating lenders or in areas where there is not a participating lender, homeowners apply to CDA. Complete information on HELP is available from the Home Improvement Programs office at (301) 269-2795 or 1-800-492-7127.

Refunds To Be Available For Dairy Farmers

Milk producers who reduce their commercial marketings by 8.4 percent in September may apply for a refund of the second 50-cents-per-hundredweight deduction from their milk checks since September 1, 1983. According to William B. Crum, chairman of the Maryland State Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee, the same percentage will apply for the 1984 milk marketing year.

"Refund applications may be filed at our office from October 1 until December 31," said Crum.

USDA increased the deduction by 50 cents on the sale of all milk sold commercially from September 1, 1983 through September 30, 1984, to a total of $1.00 per hundredweight to help offset the cost of the dairy price support program and reduce milk production. Both the milk marketing deductions and the dairy refund program are authorized by the Omnibus Budget Act fo 1982.

To qualify for refunds, dairy farmers are required to reduce their commercial marketings from the base period which is the average of the two marketing years that began on October 1, 1980. Crum said milk producers may establish their base marketings at the county ASCS office by submitting payment receipts or statements from milk handlers. "Those who sell milk directly to consumers should have sales records and cancelled checks as proof of marketings and the amount paid to the Commodity Credit Corporation."

The ASCS official said September is the only base needed for determining a 1983 refund. However, bases for all months may be computed at the same time so that producers will know how much reduction is needed to qualify for a refund during the 1984 marketing year.

The deadline for filing for a 1983 marketing year refund is December 31, 1983.

Caution, Sorghum & Sudangrass That Has Been Frozen.

Young plants and leaves of sudangrass contain cyanogenetic glucoside durrin which breaks down to release a poison known as prussic acid or hydrocyanic acid. Caution must be exercised in feeding plants that contain appreciable quantities of this poisonous substance. Sorghum is much higher than sudangrass in prussic acid, and in general, it is unsafe for pasturing except after plants reach maturity and no new growth is present. Sorghum silage may contain toxic quantities of prussic acid, but it escapes in gaseous form when silage is moved and fed. Under most circumstances, silage and well-cured stalk residue can be fed safely. Prussic acid is released very quickly from the glucoside form in frozen leaves, and hence, frosted sorghum is very dangerous until it begins to dry out. Usually there is little danger of prussic acid poisoning in grazing most varieties of sudangrass; however, the young growth that follows clipping drought, frost or grazing may contain appreciable quantitites of prussic acid. If favorable weather for growth follows a killing frost, sudangrass will send forth new shoots which are apt to be very high in prussic acid and if pastured, it will cause prussic acid poisoning.

Delay Pruning Fruit Trees

Though many of you are tempted to prune fruit trees now, don't give in to the urge during fall or early winter. Stone fruit trees—cherry, peach and plum—should only be pruned in very late winter or early spring anytime before they bloom. These trees, if pruned now, will be weakened and may be subject to winter injury. Apples can safely be pruned anytime after cold winter arrives and trees have lost all of their leaves. But don't rush the job. If only a few trees must be pruned, they can be given the needed attention in late winter.

Milk Line—Indicator of Corn's Maturity

An important management decision is in determining when corn is physiologically mature. There are several methods used to determine when corn is mature but the most popular method is the formation of a black layer of cells at the base of the kernels. Black layer formation is a good indicator of maturity but it cannot be used to predict when maturity will occur. The "Milk Line" method is a good indicator of approaching maturity. The "milk line" can be seen when an ear of corn is broken in half. Kernels on the tip portion of the ear will have their smooth or endosperm sides exposed. As the ear approaches maturity, a "line" can be seen on the smooth side of the kernels. This line is called the milk line or the starch layer, and it marks the boundary between the solid and liquid portions of the maturing kernel. When the "milk line" is half-way between the tip and the base of the kernel the mositure content is approximately 40 percent. Also, at this point the kernel contains 90 to 94 percent of its potential dry weight. Under normal conditions, complete loss of milk from the corn kernel will occur at the same time as black layer formation. Corn can be considered physiologically mature when either the black layer is formed or all the milk disappears from the kernel tip.

Oakland Chapter Officers Attend Leadership Event

Five members of the Oakland FFA Chapter attended the State Leadership Development Workshop for Chapter Officers September 23-25 at Summit Lake Camp located in the Catoctin Mountains in Frederick County near Emmitsburg. It was sponsored by the Maryland Association of FFA.

Chapter members attending were: Ralph Mick, Loren Bowser, Marsha Custer, Patricia Hamilton and Karen Hamilton. Chapter advisor Mrs. Janet Boggess also attended.

The workshop was conducted by the Maryland State FFA Officers and was coordinated by Ms. Carol Irvine and Alton SHirk, both former Maryland State Officers.

Bryan Stamps, National FFA Vice President from the Southern Region, joined the Maryland officer team in conducting various personal and leadership development sessions. Stamps was also keynote speaker during the Saturday Evening Banquet.

Other workshop presenters were Dr. Boyd F. Robinson, Jr., Maryland State FFA Advisor; Dr. Clifford Nelson, Agricultural Teacher Educator, University of Md.; Richard Arrington, President Maryland FFA Alumni Association; Roy S. Walls, Jr., Executive Secretary, Maryland FFA Association; and agricultural education student teachers from the University of Maryland at College Park and Eastern Shore.

Over 130 FFA members, advisors and guests attended.

Correction Noted

In a story in The Republican last week it was stated that Charlie Miller spoke to members of the Garrett and Allegany County Farm Bureaus on September 22 about a number of items which may affect Garrett County farmers. It should have said that John (Jack) Miller, public affairs director of the Maryland Farm Bureau, spoke to the group about those items, not Charlie Miller.

Southern States Election Meeting Reps Announced

Oren Bender, Accident, Clifton Bachtel, Horse Shoe Run, W. Va., Harry Hummel, Grantsville, and Lee Shillingburg, Deer Park, will represent local Southern States Cooperative members at the Cooperative's district election meeting to be held October 11 at The Holiday Inn in Grantsville. Donald Fratz, Ronald J. Bishop, Thomas R. Boggess and Rex E. Hoalcraft, managers of the local Southern States retail outlets, will also attend.

The session will elect a member of the cooperative to serve on its board of directors for the next three years. The member elected will be confirmed at the cooperative's 60th annual stockholders' meeting in Richmond, Va., on November 16 and 17. The group wil also select a nominating committee for the 1986 election meeting.

The program for the Grantsville meeting will include a talk by R.W. Bryan, the cooperative's vice president of member and public affairs, who will discuss "Legislative Process—In or Out?"

A.H. Booth of Clarksburg, W. Va., a regional manager for Southern States, will be in charge of arrangements.

STATE OF MARYLAND PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

ORDER NO. 66370

IN THE MATTER OF THE INVESTIGATION BY THE COMMISSION ON ITS OWN MOTION INTO THE REGULATION OF RADIO COMMON CARRIERS.

BEFORE THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION OF MARYLAND

CASE NO. 7757

During the 1983 Session of the General Assembly of Maryland legislation was introduced in both Houses which, if enacted, would have significantly altered the existing law contained in Article 78, Section 55A of the Annotated Code of Maryland relating to the regulation of radio common carriers (RCCs). As a result of the rapid changes in the technology relating to radio common carriers and the proposed 1983 legislation, the Commission asked its technical staff to conduct a study of the regulation of RCCs.

The Commission's technical staff has completed and forwarded its study to the Commission. Among other things the study provides a history of Section 55A, the number and names of authorized RCCs, a history of Commission regulation of RCC services, an evaluation of technological developments affecting RCC service, and recommendations for changes in the scope of regulation of RCCs.

In order to determine the appropriate extend of regulation of RCC services by the Commission, hearings will be held pursuant to Article 78, Section 60. To assure that all available information is presented on the subject, the hearings will be conducted to receive comments, testimony and evidence from interested persons.

Copies of the report of the Commission's technical staff will be made available to interested persons and all prefiled testimony will be open to the public for review prior to the hearings. The hearings will be legislative in nature and cross-examination of persons testifying or presentation of rebuttal will not be permitted during these proceedings.

The Commission will accept testimony and written comments on the following:

1. The present and projected need for RCC services and the presently authorized industry's ability to satisfy that need with quality, affordable service;
2. The technological developments affecting RCC service;
3. The impact of recent regulatory action by the Federal Communication Commission upon RCC services and upon state regulation of those services;
4. The appropriateness of the present scope of regulation by the Commission of RCC service;
5. The Commission's technical staff report; and
6. Any other matter germane to the past, present and future regulation of RCC service by the Commission.

IT IS, THEREFORE, this 9th day of September in the year Nineteen Hundred and Eighty-three, by the Public Service Commission of Maryland, ORDERED: (1) That legislative proceedings to receive information on the scope of RCC regulation as described in this Order will be held on Friday, November 4, 1983, in the office of the Commission, American Building, Fourteenth Floor Hearing Room, 231 E. Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Maryland.

The hearing will commence at 9:30 a.m.

(2) Ten copies of written testimony, comments, and documentary evidence should be prefiled with the Public Service Commission, American Building, 231 E. Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21202, no later than Friday, October 21, 1983.

BLASTING NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Gaylord Fuel Corporation, Stone Division, P.O. Box 128, McHenry, MD, will conduct blasting at its surface quarry operation located at Sang Run Road, Hoyes Run, Garrett County, under Permit No. 77SP0131:

From May 9, 1983 through December 31, 1983, in compliance with all 1979 State and Federal laws.

Blasting will occur either between the hours of 8 a.m. and 12 noon, or between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday, weather permitting. This schedule will be followed except during adverse conditions that will prevent blasting, or if the operator or public safety requires unscheduled detonations.

At least 10 minutes prior to all detonations all access roads will be controlled to prevent unauthorized entry. A warning signal will be sounded at least 5 minutes prior to detonation with 3 blasts of 10 seconds duration. The warning signal will be sounded once after detonation of 15 second duration as an all clear signal.

AMENDMENT TO TOWN CHARTER

WHEREAS, Section 21 of the Public Local Laws of Garrett County, Maryland, sets forth the charter of the Town of Kitzmillerville, and, whereas by resolution of the Mayor and Council of said Town at its regular meeting of September 7, 1983, it resolved to replace the existing charter.

AND, WHEREAS in such situations the law provides for publication of a fair summary of the variations from the Model Charter set forth in Article 23B of the Annotated Code of Maryland, as amended, the following is published as such:

Variations from model charter as set forth in Article 23B, Annotated Code of Maryland, as amended.

The Council, Section 5 - Number of councilmen: selection; term.

All legislative powers of the town are vested in a council consisting of four councilmen who shall be elected as here-in-after provided and who shall hold office for a term of four years or until the succeeding council takes office. The regular term of councilmen shall expire on the fourth Monday following the election of their successors. Councilmen holding office at the time this charter becomes effective shall continue to hold office for the term for which they were elected and until the succeeding council takes office under the provisions of this charter.

Meetings of Council, Section 8.

The newly elected council shall meet at 7:00 p.m. on the fourth Monday of each month following its election for the purpose of organization, after which the council shall meet regularly at such times as may be prescribed by its rules but not less frequently than once each month. Special meetings shall be called by the clerk-treasurer upon the request of the mayor or a majority of the members of the council. All meetings of the council shall be open to the public, and the rules of the council shall provide that residents of the town shall have a reasonable opportunity to be heard at any meeting in regard to any municipal question.

Referendum, Section 16.

New charter provides for application of its Sections 91 and 92 to levying of special assessments instead of Section 92 and 93 as in the model charter.

The Mayor - Selection and term, Section 18.

The mayor shall be elected as here-in-after provided and shall hold office for a term of two years or until his successor is elected and qualified. The newly elected mayor shall take office on the fourth Monday following his election. The mayor holding office at the time this charter becomes effective shall continue to hold office for the term for which he was elected and until his successor takes office under the provisions of this charter.

Board of Supervisors of elections, Section 26.

There shall be a board of supervisors of elections, consisting of three members who shall be appointed by the mayor with approval of the council on or before the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January in every even-numbered year. The terms of members of the board of supervisors of elections being on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in March in the year in which they are appointed and run for four years. Members of the board of supervisors of elections shall be qualified voters of the town and shall not hold or be candidate for any elective office during their term of office. The board shall appoint one of its members as chairman. Vacancies on the board shall be filled by the mayor with the approval of the council for the remainder of the unexpired term. The compensation of the members of the board shall be determined by the council.

Filing certificate of nomination, Section 32.

Persons may be nominated for elective office in the town by filing a certificate of nomination at the office of the board of supervisors of elections on or before the second Tuesday after the first Monday in January next preceding the town election. No person shall file for nomination to more than one elective town public office or hold more than one elective town public office at one time.

Primary election; municipal meeting or convention, Section 33.

(a) Time of holding; conduct of primary election—A primary election or municipal meeting or convention shall be held in the town on the fourth Monday in January in every even-numbered year, in order to select candidates for the general election on the second Tuesday in February. The primary election shall be conducted generally as specified in this subtitle for the conduct of special and general elections. Candidates' names shall appear in alphabetical order for the office sought, on the ballots or voting machine labels, with no party designation of any kind. If not more than ten persons have filed as candidates for the office of councilman, or if not more than two persons have filed for the office of mayor, no primary election shall be held as to that office or those offices. In such instances those nominated for the mayor or the nominees for councilman shall be considered as nominees and their names shall be placed on the ballots or voting machines at the general election on the second Tuesday in May. Of the candidates participating in the primary election, the two persons receiving the highest number of votes cast for the office of mayor and the ten candidates receiving the highest number of votes cast for the office of councilman shall be named and considered as nominees at the general municipal election following.

(b) Town meeting or convention—Candidates for the general election may be chosen at a town meeting or convention, at the time specified herein. Such meeting or convention for the selection of candidates shall be conducted generally according to accepted parliamentary procedure. In other respects, nominations at town meetings or conventions wherever applicable, shall be conducted as specified herein for primary elections.

Election of mayor and councilmen, Section 34.

On the first Tuesday in February in every even numbered year, the qualified voters of the town shall elect one person as mayor and two persons as councilmen. Council so elected shall serve for four years. Mayor elected shall serve for two years.

Conduct of elections generally, Section 35.

It is the duty of the board of supervisors of elections to provide for each special and general election a suitable place or places for voting and suitable ballot boxes and ballots and/or voting machines. The ballots and/or voting machines shall show the name of each candidate nominated for elective office in accordance with the provisions of this charter, arranged in alphabetical order by the office with no party designation of any kind. The board of supervisors of election shall keep the polls open from 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. on election days or for longer hours if the council requires it.

Authority to employ personnel, Section 67.

The proposed new charter has no specific provision authorizing employment of officers and employees as set forth in model charter.

Compensation of employees, Section 72.

The proposed new charter has no provision for fixing compensation of officers or employees by ordinance except as set forth in other provisions of the new charter.

In addition to publication of these variances, the entire proposed new charter shall be on deposit for inspection by interested citizens at the Town Hall on Tuesday from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., and at the Town Branch of Ruth Enlow Library on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from noon to 5:00 p.m., and on Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

Unless a petition for referendum is duly filed, this new charter shall take effect fifty days from September 7, 1983, and shall be filed with the appropriate State agencies at Annapolis, Maryland.

Passed September 7, 1983.

Economist, Author To Speak At FSC

Dr. Murray Rothbard, a prominent economist and author, will be a featured speaker on Monday, October 10, at Frostburg State College.

The program begins at 7:30 p.m. at the Lane Center and the public is invited to attend. Admission is free.

A proponent of Libertarianism, Rothbard applies his expertise in economics to re-evaluate history as well as providing comment on current day politics and world affairs. Recently, he published an exclusive interview in the "Gold and Silver Report" in which he stated that "We're in the very worst kind of recession—slow, grinding and chronic." Rothbard is critical of liberal Democrats as well as conservative Republicans.

Dr. Rothbard, a professor of economics at Polytechnic Institute of New York, is the editor of the Journal of Libertarian Studies and officer of the Center for Libertarian Studies. He has lectured at most major universities in the country including Harvard University, Princeton University, the University of Virginia, the Pennsylvania State University, and Stanford University.

He has written several books including Power and Market: Government and the Economy; America's Great Depression, and 2 volumes titled Conceived in Liberty: The American Colonies in the 17th and 18th Centuries.

Church Of Christ Has New Minister

The Oakland Church of Christ, located on Memorial Drive, has recently appointed a new minister.

Evangelist Randolph "Randy" Cook, his wife Beth, and young son, Matthew, moved to Oakland from Knoxville, Tenn., where they were both enrolled at the East Tennessee School of Preaching and Missions.

They formerly worked with congregations in Barrackville, W. Va. and Knoxville.

The Churches of Christ are striving to restore New Testament Christianity, according to Cook. They believe all points of religion and doctrine can be based only on the Bible, he said.

The Oakland Church of Christ is planning a Gospel Meeting October 9-12. The new minister will be speaking at each service about pertinent Bible topics, and invites the public to attend.

Alcohol, Drug Abuse Program Meeting Slated

Drunk driving is the leading cause of death of persons age 15 to 24. More than 65% of all Americans try an illicit drug before they finish high school. Thirty-four percent of high school seniors regularly abuse drugs. Forty-one percent of high school seniors regularly abuse alcohol. The average age that young people begin chemical use is 11 to 14 years.

Because of these alarming facts, the National Center for Youth, their Families and Society has produced a television outreach project entitled The Chemical People, which is a two-part television series which will air on PBS stations November 2 and November 9 at 8 p.m. The series is designed to bring concerned citizens together and offer them guidelines for assisting the young people of the nation with combating this problem. It will be hosted by Nancy Reagan, First Lady. This Thursday, October 13, at 1 p.m. there will be an initial meeting to discuss how the project will be implemented in Garrett County.

The meeting will be held on the second floor conference room of the Garrett County Health Department. Representatives of community organizations and all concerned citizens are invited and encouraged to attend by local health officials.

Plans are already underway to enable Garrett County residents to convene at Garrett Community College in McHenry to participate in the television project. More details about the program will be released latter.

Persons desiring more information about tomorrow's meeting or the program may contact Ed Zook or Lois Glotfelty, counselors for the Garrett County Mental Health and Addictions division, at 334-8111 or 895-5050.

Former Oakland Woman Indicted For Murder

Mrs. Regina Wotring, Glen Oaks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Sanders, Oakland, was indicted by the October term of the Allegany County grand jury on a first-degree murder charge in connection with the death of her husband, which occurred on August 19.

State's Attorney Robert W. Hamilton stated that the arrest warrant was served on Mrs. Wotring on the morning of October 6. She appeared for a bond hearing before Judge J. Frederick Sharer in Allegany County Circuit Court, where he set a $25,000 property bond. Mrs. Wotring posted bond later that day.

Her husband, Ronald Wotring, 38, died of a gunshot wound at his home on August 19.

Oakland Offers Tentative Contract To Sterling Plant

An impasse in the negotiations between the town of Oakland and Sterling Processing for purchase of that plant's wastewater treatment plant was apparently partially resolved Tuesday when a proposal was presented to Sterling's manager for study.

Oakland town council members presented the tentative contract for purchase of the treatment plant and settling ponds to Gilman Sylvester, plant manager, during a session with Earl Quance, program administrator for construction grants for the state Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

Sylvester agreed to study the proposals and will indicate in the near future whether it will be acceptable, according to Frank Eberly, president of the town council.

The town has planned to incorporate the Sterling treatment plant into the proposed rehabilitation of the sewer system so that raw sewage will no

Lake Project Problems Require Lengthy Commission Discussion

The Deep Creek Lake sewer project was the main topic discussed October 4 in a meeting of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission.

Several problems, including that of a contracting firm which felled the wrong group of trees and numerous complaints about appearances of properties after installation of grinder pumps were discussed.

Several hemlock trees were mistakenly felled by the Strohecker, Inc. contracting firm and the firm has agreed to pay whatever damages deemed necessary and to replant the area in white pines at the recommendation of a local forester. The trees were on the property of Mr. and Mrs. C.L. Spence, Lake Shore Drive, and were cut when the contractor's crew somehow mistook the area to be cleared for a right of way to a pump installation site on Penelec property.

As related by Wendell Beitzel, there have been numerous complaints by property owners concerning the appearance of their land after installation of grinder pumps. Beitzel pointed out that there has been a delay between the time the installation crews put in the pumps and the clean up crew, but that nearly all landowners have been satisfied once the clean up crew has completed work.

There are approximately six easement agreements between property owners and the sanitary district for grinder pump installation which have not yet been signed.

Bridges To Be Replaced

Three lake bridges are scheduled for replacement in the foreseeable future, and each poses a problem for the sanitary district.

Replacement work is now underway for the Deep Creek state park bridge, and it was not possible for the contractor to wait until sleeves could be installed in the bridge abutments for a sewer line.

Beitzel and other commission members met September 29 with Department of Natural Resources personnel to discuss the incorporation of the Deep Creek

Gunfire Exchanged As Accident Man Discovers Intruders Inside His Home

A Tuesday evening shooting incident at the home of B.O. Aiken, located on the Aiken-Miller Road, south of Accident is currently being investigated by Maryland State Police officers and Harland Tichnell, assistant chief deputy for the Garrett County Sheirff's Department.

No one was injured, although numerous shots were fired inside the Aiken residence, police said.

According to Sgt. Charles Hinnant, Aiken's grandson, Samuel VanSickle, 19, who lives with the Aiken family, returned home from college yesterday evening about 5:30 p.m., and upon entering the house, heard a noise in the upstairs area. He walked toward the stairway, where he was met by a young white male, approximately 20 years of age, who was pointing a handgun down the stairwell toward him. A second white male was also present.

The intruder fired at VanSickle, who dived toward his bedroom. Once inside, he located a rifle, which he loaded. In the meantime, the two ran down the stairs, and through a hallway toward the back of the home. VanSickle, running parallel through other rooms in the house, met up with the intruders at an open doorway, where a volley of shots were exchanged. Approximately ten shots were fired, which caused considerable damage, and the young men then ran down the basement stairs and out the basement door, which they had initially kicked in to gain entrance.

Both men were described as white, approximately 20 years of age, six feet tall, weighing about 150 pounds. They both had

WED 76 YEARS — Archie and Araminta Bittinger, of Grantsville, reached a milestone that few married couples reach as they celebrated their 76th wedding anniversary recently with family and friends. The couple was married on July 25, 1907, and they are the parents of two daughters and five sons, three of whom are deceased. They also have 15 grandchildren, 35 great grandchildren and 15 great great grandchildren. The celebration for the couple included a dinner at their home, where they still reside on their own and raise a garden every summer. Mr. Bittinger is 95 and Mrs. Bittinger is 94.

Weather

More rain likely tonight. Lows in the low to mid 60s. Rain ending Thursday and turning cooler. Temperatures falling into the 50s.

Considerable cloudiness Friday through Sunday, with some chance of showers each day. Warm with highs averaging in the 70s and lows averaging from 50 to 60 except some 40s in the Maryland mountains.

State Jobless Rate Increases, County's Drop

Maryland's estimated unemployment rate inched up slightly from 6.3 percent in July to 6.4 percent in August, reflecting normal seasonal trends, according to statistics released by the Maryland Department of Employment and Training (DET).

Garrett County's jobless rate dropped significantly, however, from 14.2 percent in July to 12.2 percent in August.

The August rate for the state is the lowest for an August since 1979 and is considerably lower than the 8.5 percent recorded in August 1982. DET officials pointed out that these are estimates of the level of unemployment in the state's labor market and should not be confused with the state's insured unemployment rate which determines eligibility for certain unemployment insurance benefit programs.

Statewide, 2,085,282 persons were employed in August and 142,293 unemployed which, combined, gave the State a labor force of 2,227,575. From July to August, the labor force increased by an estimated 10,253 persons, employment grew from 7,843 while 2,410 persons remained unemployed.

In Garrett County, 11,030 of a workforce of 12,568 were employed in August, while 10,816 of a workforce of 12,599 were employed the previous month.

Sixteenth Rabies Case Confirmed

Garrett County recorded its 16th positive rabies case this past week, when Don Moreland killed a rabid raccoon which had followed him into a barn and gotten into a fight with the two family dogs.

The confirmation was received late Tuesday by local health department officials. Moreland, a resident of Route 560, has been advised to see his family physician to determine if he will need to undergo the series of anti-rabies vaccine shots needed after exposure to a rabid animal.

Neither of the dogs had been vaccinated against rabies and

Governor Hughes Visits County To Hear Concerns Of Leaders

Maryland Governor Harry Hughes, on a fact-finding mission through western Maryland early this week, met with about 40 Garrett County business and government leaders at a breakfast meeting Tuesday to hear how they believed the state could help them improve economic problems in Garrett County.

Accompanied by Department of Natural Resources Secretary Torrey Brown and Department of Economic and Community Development acting Secretary Hans Mayer, Hughes talked with the group for one-and-a-half hours at the Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake.

The meeting was later heralded by Tom Jones, county development director, as a "productive exchange" between state and local officials in which Hughes and his secretaries left the county with a better understanding of obstacles to county growth and local officials had a better understanding of the state's position on several matters.

Hughes opened up the morning's discussion saying there were no "magic answers" to this region's economic problems, but that the state was willing to work with local people in whatever way possible.

The first comments from county officials came from county commissioner Elwood Groves who hit on problems facing all the major industries in the county, described the county commissioners' philosophies for economic growth and the major obstacles to that growth.

From Groves, the governor heard of the commissioners' desire to see additional business attracted to the county as well as expansion of existing businesses which he said was the "only real solution to the county's traditionally high unemployment."

Among the commissioners' strategies to attract business and help existing businesses was the county's desire to have the Accident Industrial Park designated an enterprise zone. Groves noted the county met three out of four requirements for a zone designation, but has still been denied in the past attempts.

Also planned by the county is the establishment of industrial parks. The biggest hindrances to this concept Groves noted were problems with town water and sewerage systems and the lack of rapid responses from the state Department of Health and Mental Hygiene which slows progress in rehabilitating those systems.

A point Groves made which surprised the governor was that all municipal sewerage systems in the county are currently under moratorium, which prohibits growth in those towns.

Three Projects Get EPA Grants

The Garrett County Sanitary Commission received notification early this week that three county water and sewer projects have received grant awards amounting to $1,945,500 from the Environmental Protection Agency.

The Kitzmiller water project was awarded $790,550 of the estimated $1,102,500 total cost. The local share of $126,000 would be obtained through a bond issue from Farmers Home and repaid through ad valorem taxes over a 40-year period.

The Upper Youghiogheny project for rehabilitation of Trout Run was awarded $166,500. As of now the state is considering only the Loch Lynn sewer rehabilitation to be on the priority list, but if the facility plan is approved then the upgrading of Trout Run and Bausch and Lomb interceptor line could be returned to the funding list.

The Bloomington sewer project was awared $988,450 or 75 percent of the total project cost of $1,365,300. Estimated local share would be $234,000 to be repaid through average monthly user charges of $13.60 for a family of four.

The sanitary commission is not committed to accept the funding for Bloomington, and has said that it will conduct another public hearing on the matter before making a final decision on whether to proceed.

The grants will be discussed at the commission's October 18

Del. Edwards Meets With Officials To Discuss Local Sewage Problems

At the request of Delegate George Edwards, members of the Garrett County Mayors' Association and state officials from the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene recently met in the Delegate's Annapolis office to discuss sewage problems affecting the towns in Garrett County.

The Mayors' association was represented by chairman Russell B. Alexander and Wendell Keaton, Director. State officials in attendance were Rich Sellars, Earl Quance, John Milnor, and Ms. Becky Burner. Ms. Bruner, Legislative Liaison, had arranged the meeting at Delegate Edwards' request.

Delegate Edwards opened the meeting by stating that sanitary needs in his district were "just as important" as those in other areas of the state and he wanted to make certain that Garrett County was being treated on an equitable basis. Mayor Alexander stated that present sewer situations in Garrett County were of grave concern to all municipal officials since each town was under a sewer moratorium, effectively prohibiting growth or the expansion of tax bases for any given municipality. The following municipal concerns and comments were presented during the three hour meeting:

Accident & Friendsville - Just as are all other towns in Garrett County, Accident and Friendsville are under a partial sewer moratorium, restricting the number of new sewer taps which can be issued by the municipalities. Although both towns are now actively involved in sewer maintenance programs, a substantial amount of rehabilitative work must be performed before either sewer moratorium can be lifted. When asked about possible grant assistance from the DHMH, the participants were informed that because of previous federal and state grant participation, no further assistance was available from the state under existing policies. The members of the Mayors' Association suggested that perhaps such policies and regulations should be made more flexible and informed Delegate Edwards that they would discuss this possibility with him in the near future.

Grantsville - Grantsville has recently advertised for bids on an estimated $1,000,000 sewer rehabilitation project. Due to the apparent unresponsiveness of the low bidder to certain bid items, the mayor and council have decided to award the contract to the next lowest bidder. This action has resulted in protest action by the low bidder, Mattingly Construction of Cumberland. Since this matter must now be resolved by the Environmental Protection Agency, Delegate Edwards requested that the State Department Health and Mental Hygiene do all they could to expedite a timely resolution of this problem. This assurance was offered by those state officials in attendance, according to Del. Edwards.

Mountain Lake Park - During this summer, the town of Mountain Lake Park submitted a "Failing Septic Tank Grant Application" to the DHMH which requested funds for the correction of failing septic tank conditions along Broadford Road and at the Youghiogheny Plaza (Manor Mart) in Mountain Lake Park. Due to the severity of the problem along one section of Broadford Road, the local health department requested that the town correct that situation last year, further stating that the health department would then support this action (starting work prior to grant award) when Mountain Lake Park, submitted their grant application.

An application was submitted on June 2 of this year and on September 6, the town was notified that the grant would be denied, mainly due to the fact that work was started before the application was approved. Mayor Alexander informed the state representatives that Mountain Lake Park had already spent approximately $33,000 in town funds to correct sanitary problems that were polluting nearby lakes and streams that were a direct result of failing septic tanks. Delegate Edwards asked the state officials to reevaluate the situation based on the problems and concerns as explained by the delegate and Mayor Alexander. The state representatives then agreed to reexamine the application and, if the application merited State fund, they would then request a waiver from the Board of Public Works for funding of a project which began prior to state approval.

Oakland - Delegate Edwards requested a status report on Oakland's sewer project which has recently been halted by the State. Quance explained that the mayor and council had requested a clarification and legal opinion on certain activities related to the project. He informed the group that he had received answers to most of the questions raised by the council, but was still awaiting information from legal counsel on one particular issue. He stated that a response would be received shortly.

Accounting Firm Announces Change In Ownership

The Oakland office of McLaughlin, Reineke & Associates, Certified Public Accountants, has been purchased by Randy Rodeheaver, CPA, effective October 1, 1983. The new firm, Rodeheaver & Associates, Certified Public Accountants, is located at 6000 Thayer Center, Oakland.

Rodeheaver stressed that only the name has changed and that the firm will continue to serve a wide variety of business interests in the tri-state area.

Accounting, audit, tax, management advisory, financial planning, and computer services will continue to be the services of the firm, which was established 35 years ago. In addition to Rodeheaver, the office will continue to be staffed by Jim Murray, CPA, Denise Rinker, CPA, and Gene Helbig, CPA.

A graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan College, Rodeheaver began his career in public accounting in 1976, obtaining his CPA certificate in the same year. A native of Oakland, he is vice chairman of the Garrett County Sanitary District and treasurer of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council. He and his wife, Denise Rinker, reside on the Oakland-Sang Run Road.

Murray was graduted from Strayer College in 1975, beginning his public accounting career with the accounting firm of Buchanan & Company, Washington, D.C. In 1977, he joined the Oakland practice, obtaining his CPA certificate in the same year. A native of Oakland, he is past-president of the Oakland Rotary Club, volunteer for the House of Hope and member of St. Peter's Catholic Church. He and his wife, Susan, reside in Oakland with their three children.

Ms. Rinker was graduated from West Virginia Wesleyan and began her public accounting career in 1979. She obtained her CPA certificate in 1982. Originally from the Cumberland area, she is a member of the Martha Washington chapter of the Eastern Star. She resides with her husband, Randy Rodeheaver, on the Oakland Sang-Run Road.

Helbig received an honorable discharge from the U.S. Navy in 1975 after serving three years as an Operating Budget Specialist. He was graduated from Frostburg State College in 1977 and was employed as an accountant for Garrettland Realty. He began his public accounting career in 1980 and received his CPA certificate in 1982. A native of Oakland, he is a member of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club, the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and St. Peter's Catholic Church. He and his wife, Cathy, reside in Oakland with their two children.

School Officals To Meet Thursday With Legislators

The Garrett County Board of Education will meet with Delegate George Edwards and Senator John Bambacus Thursday at 6 p.m. to discuss possible legislation and issues to come before the 1984 Maryland General Assembly.

The meeting will be one of the items on the board's Thursday meeting agenda which begins at 1 p.m. in the board room at the county school offices, Oakland.

The board will begin its afternoon meeting with an executive session followed by public session at 2:30 p.m. when the board will take up instructional concerns.

The board is expected to take action on an agreement with Head Start and on a revision to the curricular, co-curricular and extra-curricular activities policy. Other items to be addressed will be a school improvements through instructional processes report, an extra-curricular ineligibility report, an interscholastic athletic expense report, a computer usage in schools report and discussion of a discipline, atmosphere, and teacher effectiveness project.

At 4:05 p.m., the board is scheduled to take action on the FY1983 Audit and Annual Financial Report.

The board, beginning at 4:30 p.m., is to take action on seven items of administrative concern: the food service and transportation budgets, revision to an administrative policy, disposition of the old Accident Elementary School, award of a fencing bid at Southern High School, awarding of a maintenance vehicle bid, awarding of a coal bid for Dennett Road Elementary School and awarding of a copier bid.

At 5:20 p.m., the board is to take action on personnel concerns and then will open the floor to public comment before its 6 p.m. meeting with the legislators.

Leaf Lovers Have Perfect Weekend

Leaf lovers from around the tri-state took advantage of the weekend's balmy, mostly sunny weather to visit highways and byways lined with fall splendor and highlighted with sunshine. However, weather does not look so promising for this weekend's Autumn Glory events as the forecasters call for additional rains and only partial clearing on Saturday.

This past week's high was a comfortable 73 degrees on Saturday. The overnight low was 28 noted on Thursday night.

Rain dominated last Wednesday, bringing some .12 of an inch. High Wednesday was 67 degrees, the same reading as noted Thursday. An additional .03 of an inch of precip was recorded Thursday by weather watchers at Weber's near Oakland.

High Friday was 69 degrees and the mercury dipped to 31 before climbing to the week's high Saturday. Saturday night's low was a balmy 60 degrees, and skies were only partially clouded over on Sunday which boasted a high of 67 degrees.

Low Sunday night was 48 degrees and the high Monday was only 57 before dropping to the night's low of 47. There was .05 of an inch of rain on Tuesday and the day's high reached only to 51. Overnight low last night was 47 and there was an additional .29 of an inch of rain noted.

Oakland Council Accepting Donations For Treats To Youth

The Oakland Mayor and Town Council are accepting contributions from Oakland residents to pay for the Halloween treats to be distributed to town children on October 31 at the Oakland fire hall.

The council voted at its October 3 meeting to prohibit the annual trick or treating and to replace it with a distribution of treats funded by townspeople.

City officials expect to buy treats for 500 town children and need $100.

Persons wishing to make cash donations may present them to councilmen, the mayor or take them to the city hall. Town officials note even amounts of $1 will help.

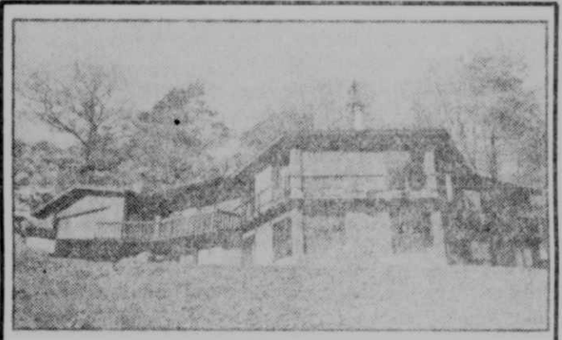
Body Found In Tucker County Is Still Unidentified

West Virginia police say they have no new leads in the case of the body found August 16 at a strip mine site just across the Tucker County line not far from Kempton.

The badly decomposed body was found by employees of Davis Trucking company and was taken to the medical examiner's office at West Virginia University Medical Center for autopsy work and possible identification, but no new information has been discovered to help identify the body.



Officials had sent teletype requests to all regional police departments asking them to notify West Virginia state police of any missing persons reports during the past year. Tucker county has had only one such report in the past 14 years, and Garrett County has not had any missing persons report in the past year.

Tongue Trouble . . .

All of us, at least once in our lives, must remove one, and sometimes both, feet from our mouths. James Watt, former Interior Department Secretary, jumped in with both feet right up to his knees when he made his bigoted remark a few weeks ago about "a black, a woman, two Jews and a cripple" on a federal commission.

What made things even worse for Watt was the fact that his popularity was hardly in line for any awards before he made the statement. An extremely popular person may have gotten away with such a comment with nothing more than a mild reprimand. Most citizens bid Watt farewell with good riddance when he submitted his resignation this week.

Despite his free tongue, which has brought trouble for Watt on numerous occasions, there is no doubt that he is an intelligent, capable person, who was, in fact, a strong advocate for conservation and the environment. For the most part, he did his job well. Had his comment been made in private or by an ordinary citizen during a coffee break, it would have been shrugged off and forgotten within minutes. The only word which possibly could be labeled as in poor taste was "cripple," which only recently became forbidden and replaced with "handicapped person." Watt no doubt made the statement in jest. He may not have a single prejudiced bone in his body.

However, public figures simply cannot make such comments and expect the public not to react, even though the public is hypocritical to the hilt. It is all right for us common folk to use such terms, but how dare a political figure voice them!

It was, as Watt said himself, a stupid remark. The price for that remark is high, for all of his expert skills now mean nothing to other government leaders and much of the public.

Our tongues are a marvelous part of the anatomy, but they often plunge us into deep pits from which there is no way out.

In Other Words

A Fond Farewell . . .

by Carol Fox

Children's stories often begin with the words, "Once upon a time," and continue on to weave a tale of an experience with, hopefully, a happy ending.

I'm not a child anymore, but today, my story begins much like the fairy tales of yesterday.

"Once upon a time, a young woman seeking the inner peace only living life to the fullest can bring, picked up a pen, and chose to become, as best she could, a creative writer. She called upon the God-given talent she had been told she possessed, and the pen became a way of life. For a time, she was content to produce stories for children, nature studies, and research articles. One day, a dear friend offered her a position as a newspaper writer, which she happily accepted, knowing full well that newspaper experience was not a part of her past, but more than willing to try.

"Nearly four years went by, filled with questions, answers, learning experiences, and the constant help of co-workers and close friends, who were also teachers. Courtroom reporting, law enforcement investigating, and community service became a way of life. She attempted to be exceedingly accurate, fair, and call on both sides of an issue. Editorial columns became an important part of her writing career, and childhood dreams of someday owning a newspaper of her own resurfaced and began to bloom. She read the trade journals, studied the market, and attempted to polish the skills so necessary for a position of such gravity, and finally, she dared to admit that someday, she was ready to try.

"During that time, life's road took many turns, and she met a young man who shared many of the same childhood dreams and adult hopes for the future in many areas of life. Among those dreams loomed that of publishing their own newspaper someday. The couple became one, and the dreams for the future multiplied and grew."

Today, I am submitting my last column as a staff writer for The Republican newspaper family. I use that word with pride. Twenty-two of the finest people I've ever known are soon bidding me and my husband goodbye as we embark on our newest adventure in the journalistic world, and my heart is filled with love for each one of them. I'm incredibly anxious to begin my tenure as co-publisher of the Citizen newspaper with my husband, but the loss I will feel when I walk down those stairs for the last time as one of the "family" will live in my heart forever.

All my ambition for the future, my plans for all the tomorrows, cannot be matched by the sadness I feel in leaving my friends. Even though I'll be right here in the county, and in and out of the office, it will never quite be like the busy Monday mornings, the hectic Tuesdays, the hysterical Wednesdays, and the calming relief of a Thursday morning shared with good coffee, and good friends. I feel as though I should address each one of them separately, to say thank you. Thank you for the years of fun, of crazy antics, of sharing serious tragedy, family problems, and answers . . . oh, the answers. I've learned so much here, and could not be taking this giant step without each and every one of you. I especially want to publicly thank my editor, Don Sincell, who put up with a novice newswoman who has a stubborn streak a mile wide, with a temper to match, and a batch of sensitivity that often left the crew in the newsroom either in tears, in fits of laughter, or red with anger. But it all worked so well together, and I must either thank or blame Don, my supporter, my boss, and my friend.

I'll be proud to say, "formerly of The Republican," but not too proud to say I'll be honored if you read my column in The Citizen from now on!

Last, but certainly not least, I want to thank my readers, my contacts, my fans, and my adversaries. Without you, what reason is there to sit before the typewriter. Just knowing you're out there, every week, either to agree with me, get angry with what I've said, or be motivated to do something about a particular action is all I need to look forward to each day with the same gusto I feel at this moment. I'll miss you all.

Letters To Editor

To the Editor:

Most local people are now familiar with the act of our county commissioners tearing up the solid planks from the bridge over Bear Creek and hauling them away.

I made an appointment with Commissioner Braskey to meet at the bridge on Monday morning of last week. I also asked a retired county roads foreman and a resident who has had several years experience working on bridge construction to be there. Braskey did not show up.

The following Tuesday, former Commissioner Hubert Friend and I asked, we pleaded, with our commissioners to reconsider their action, and have notices posted limiting the weight of vehicles crossing the bridge to what would be considered a safe load.

By placing a weight limitation the people living along the Oak Hill Road could then drive to Friendsville to the doctor, the drug store and their work. The Commissioners refused.

It has always been customary to place limited weight restrictions on county roads bridges. This relieves the county from any liability in case somebody happens to ignore the warning.

The Commissioners have stated that they plan to have the bridge replaced next summer by some outside construction company for $460,000.

Every person who has looked at the bridge believes the present structure can be easily strengthened and made serviceable for the small amount of traffic it serves and for a few thousand dollars.

Closing the bridge to all local traffic is not at all necessary, the action of tearing up the sound planks and hauling them away was heavy-handed and contemptible abuse of power. Even if they do intend to replace the bridge next summer, it is not necessary to arbitrarily close it now to necessary local use.

The people living along Oak Hill Road are being unjustly deprived and inconvenienced by this willful action of elected county officials.

Clifford Friend,
Accident

To the Editor:

I would like to express my happiness concerning the revival of the Southern Speaks column. I am glad to see that after an absence from The Republican that the column is once again being submitted.

Since I am a 1980 graduate of Southern High School, enjoy reading what is going on there. Although there are few students that I remember, I enjoy hearing what clubs and classes are doing to keep the school spirit alive.

Thank you, Criss Kepple and Mr. Editor for keeping alumni up to date.

Sincerely,
Kelley G. Beard
St. Augustine, Fla.

longer be dumped into the Youghiogheny River. Oakland and all other incorporated communities in the county are presently under sewer moratoriums by the state health department for non-compliance with state and federal regulations and therefore there can be little or no growth within town limits until situations are corrected.

Tuesday Quance answered questions posed by the town officials in July concerning wording of the agreement which is to be effected between the town and Sterling. The town, state and EPA officials had placed the sewer project "on hold" at that time until contract wording could be clarified. Matters were complicated by the announcement that Sterling would cease production in late October.

One final item, that of obtaining a clear title to land underneath the ponds, will be discussed next Tuesday in a meeting with town officials and local lending institution officers. Quance has asked to be notified of the outcome immediately following that meeting.

Gov. Hughes

Groves also addressed the topic of state-owned land in the county and the state's study on developing a convention center resort on state-owned landholdings. Groves suggested that private business, which would be involved in the endeavor, be given a more active role in determining the future center site.

Also discussed by Groves were problems with regulations in the state which prohibit Maryland coal producers from being competitive with other states. He suggested the laws be re-examined.

As a result of Groves presentation, the governor agreed to meet again with the commissioners in Annapolis to more thoroughly discuss the issues he raised.

Among the businesses represented at the breakfast were Sterling Processing, Bausch & Lomb, Flushing Shirt Factory, First National Bank, Garrett National Bank, several coal producers and other manufacturing, recreation and College interests. Also present for the discussion were officials from the towns.

Delegate George Edwards and Senator John Bambacus were among those seated at the head table with the governor. Bambacus broached the subject of calling a special session of the General Assembly to extend unemployment benefits, but the governor argued against the idea noting that in the long run, effects of extending the benefits may prove more harmful to the economy.

Several businessmen and town officials also spoke during the session either giving their thoughts on topics Groves addressed or asking specific questions on state programs.

After the breakfast meeting, Hughes reportedly held a closed door meeting with a select group of county businessmen to discuss an undisclosed subject.

Rabies Case

the health department will determine if the animals must be quarantined or destroyed.

The raccoon was the 15th of its species to be found rabid in the county this year. There has also been one cat determined to be carrying the disease.

Vaccine Costly

Mike Beck, who is presently undergoing the anti-rabies vaccinations because of exposure to a rabid raccoon last week, reported to The Republican that the series of shots is very costly. He said that each of the six required shots costs $84.34, plus each visit to the emergency room at Garrett County Memorial Hospital for the shots costs an additional $65.

Beck wore gloves when he handled the raccoon, but failed to keep the gloves on when he tied his dog, which had carried the raccoon to its master.

Block Defers Decision On Drought Relief

Garrett was not one of the first 13 counties in Maryland which will be eligible for federal disaster relief because of crop damage caused by the extremely hot, dry summer, according to John Block, U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, who said he deferred a decision until actual harvest results are known.

That announcement was made last week in a letter to Gov. Harry Hughes, who had requested aid for all 23 counties.

Counties declared eligible for aid are Allegany, Carroll, Washington and Frederick in western Maryland; Calvert, Charles and St. Mary's in Southern Maryland; Dorchester, Kent, Queen Annes, and Talbot on the eastern shore; and Montgomery and Harford in central Maryland.

Farmers in these counties are eligible for loans from the Farmers Home Administration to help tide them over until next year. Those loans are available at interest rates far below the going rate for normal bank loans. The current rate is five percent.

Block said his department does not have enough information to determine if the other ten counties are also eligible. He asked for more information "on the severity of the losses" in those counties.

This may take a few more weeks as members of the county emergency board compile the information. Included on the emergency board are chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service here, along with directors and members of the Farmers Home Administration, Extension Service, Soil Conservation Service, and Civil Defense.

Commissoners Attend MACO Meeting Wednesday

The Maryland Association of Counties met in Annapolis Wednesday, to discuss and vote on a number of key legislative issues which would affect not only Garrett County, but all counties of the state, Garrett County Commissioner John Braskey reported Tuesday.

Commissioners Braskey and Elwood Groves, accompanied by county clerk Robert Fousek, left Garrett County at 5:30 a.m. in order to participate in this legislative meeting.

The meeting which began at 10 a.m., was to establish guidelines for educational funding. One of the highlights of the policy guidelines was that no new educational programs be established. Another key item was that each county should retain its local discretion as to education expenditures.

Other funding guidelines was a greater share of state funding and elimination of the present consumer price index cap that is placed on State funding. MACO members believed that the state should change its basic expense formula to provide a more complete and equitable measure of funding to local subdivision based on wealth or abilty to pay.

The legislative committee voted unanimously for these proposed educational funding guidelines. One of the committee's main goals is to assure that all present and future state-mandated education programs be funded in full by the state, Braskey noted.

Another issue addressed was the comprehensive sludge management planning process. The purpose was to obtain greater county input in sludge land applications. Currently the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene may issue permits without concurrence from the counties.

MACO members stipulated that the state should provide adequate funding in support of local permit review and enforcement of monitoring efforts and that the state should require performance bonds on sludge applications to insure funding for any type of corrective action. The group also believed the state should establish standards for transporting sludge as well as require monitoring of wells and associated costs. These recommendations were approved unanimously by the group.

Another item considered is the state retirement system. The position taken by the counties was to specifically request a complete accounting of each individual subdivision's experience and a complete accounting of each county's liability with an explanation of past participation. This concern has been requested for over two years and the state has been unable to provide such an accounting, Braskey noted. The group unanimously endorsed this request.

There were a number of other issues addressed and discussed including a Community College funding proposal but due to the disagreement among those in attendance the matter was delayed for future study.

Other items viewed were a Program Open Space proposal to change the current guidelines in the areas of acquisition and development formula and proposals for state support for Volunteer Fire Rescue and Ambulance services.

Both Commissioner Braskey and Groves stated that the day was worthwhile because each county, regardless of size, was entitled to one vote, the key issues discussed were of great importance to Garrett County.

Second Impression

All in a day's work

by Harry Fox

Every place of business has, over the years, developed its share of stranger-than-fiction stories. Newspapers are no exception.

There was the time when the paper tape used by the typesetting keyboards ran out—on a Thursday morning—just hours before the paper was to be on the streets. Picture the general manager in the back shop, cutting out 7/8" strips of paper while the advertising staff furiously stuck them together with little pieces of scotch tape, until enough of the flimsy streamer was created to set the final stories needed for the edition. (Epilogue: Yes, it worked, although the tape punch mechanisms balked a little on the scotch tape pieces.)

On another memorable day, just hours before deadline, the headline typesetter gave up the ghost—with several dozen stories still in need of headers. Any printer reading the paper that week must have thought the shop was drunk—since the heads were set in body copy and then enlarged on the camera . . . a process that resulted in some offbeat sizes of type.

On some weeks the process of publishing comes off without a hitch . . . and then, just as suddenly, everything seems to go wrong—all at the same time, of course.

Some of the "fixes" are sheer genius. On one occasion the press run was completed with a chunk of cardboard pressed into service to hold open a failed switch on the motor controls.

Often plain, old-fashioned determination is in order. When a needed supply of printing plates was languishing in Pittsburgh, the staff went ahead with the first two press runs while the general manager went to retrieve the missing plates. After a few anxious hours of waiting and a long day on the road the paper went out on schedule.

Each test of the staff's resolve to publish is met with one response: Pull together and get the job done.

It's all in a day's work.

shoulder-length hair, one light brown, the other dark. One wore dark blue jeans, and the other, a lighter, more worn pair of jeans.

A K-9 search of the house was made, and the MSP Crime Lab is on the scene this morning, collecting information to aid the investigation.

Probing the incident, being investigated as a breaking and entering and assault with a deadly weapon at this time, is Sgt. Hinnant, Tfc. Chester Miller, and Tfc. Larry Smith, K-9 officer, along with Deputy Tichnell.

Anyone with information about this crime is urged to contact the McHenry detachment of the Maryland State Police at 387-5511, or the Garrett County Sheriff's Department at 334-2141.

Lake Project

State park into the lake sewer project. Items which need to be resolved include a cost in lieu of capital assessment (the state is not required to pay either ad valorem or front foot assessments); which part of the system will be incorporated; and arrangement of a schedule of user charges for the state.

The latter will require an estimated cost schedule for use of the lake system, with these costs to determine if the state will join the new system or continue to use its present recently-installed system.

There is an infiltration and inflow problem encountered in the present state system which would need to corrected before the sanitary district will accept the park into the system under construction, Beitzel noted.

The Glendale bridge will be torn down and replaced sometime before too long, and this means that there will be no place to suspend the sewer line while such work is in progress, which would mean an interruption in service. This means the district must decide now whether to wait until completion of the new bridge to install the sewer line, or to plan a route underwater so service could begin as scheduled.

SHA Says No

The Deep Creek Lake bridge sewer line crossing is destined to hang from the Route 219 bridge, but a snag has developed because State Highway Administration officials have refused to pay for costs of installing a new line when that bridge is replaced.

So far the only response to requests from the sanitary district that the SHA incorporate the costs of re-installing the line is an emphatic "no." The district is now seeking political pressure to be brought against the SHA by local and state elected officials so the SHA would bear the costs of moving the line to the new bridge alignment. SHA is now seeking a consultant to plan the best route for relocating the bridge.

If the SHA would not include costs of relocating the line in its bridge contract, this could mean higher costs for the sewer users, warned Beitzel. By the time the bridge is relocated, the district would not be eligible for grant assistance and the costs would have to be borne totally by the users of the system.

Receive Approval To Proceed

An arrangement has apparently been worked out with members of the Pinnacle Spring Trust so that contractors can proceed to install a pump station on that property. Earlier, members of the trust had refused to sign the agreement but now Beitzel has been assured that work can proceed while final arrangements are made to purchase the site.

Review Proposals

A proposal from Rummel, Klepper and Kahl to provide engineering services during construction of the expanded system is being studied by the sanitary commission, which has requested some amendments to the agreement. RK&K has requested an amendment for the basic system and additional compensation "due to the time loss involved in getting underway with the project."

A proposal from Greenhorn & O'Mara to provide inspection services for the expanded system is also under perusal now by the commission.

Telemetry Decided

Engineers for the project have recommended that a radio telemetry system pumping station and treatment plant failure rather than the telephone system originally proposted to be set up through the county's Central Alarm system. The change would mean reduced operation and maintenance costs by eliminating the need for renting telephone lines.

Mt. Lake Commission Impasse Remains

Neither Mt. Lake Park nor Loch Lynn town officials have signed agreements with the sanitary district which provides sewer service to the communities. As district administrator, Beitzel has presented a proposal to the town of Oakland to attempt to get Oakland to pay for treatment of sewerage generated at the Broadford Park, but to date has received no word from Oakland officials.

Mt. Lake and Loch Lynn have said they will not sign the sewer agreement for the coming year until Oakland pays for the park sewerage treatment, despite an agreement signed with the latter town which does not require any such payment.

Jim Willis Trends

C.F. Mueller Co.
Jersey City, NJ
October 7, 1983

Gentlemen:

Enclosed is a part of a lasagne noodle, one of your lasagne noodles. You will notice in the upper righthand corner of this noodle, all along the rippled edge, what appears to be something non-edible.

This noodle and it companions were purchased this evening. They were destined to be part of a culinary masterpiece. However, if one finds a noodle with unidentifiable specks inside a box of Mueller's Lasagne, one must question the personal hygiene of the adjoining noodles . . . sort of guilt by association.

While I was pondering the sanitary condition of the noodles the grocery store closed and my friend and I were reduced to excavating some chicken pot pies from the freezer which we then placed in the oven. As we awaited the pot pies we commiserated and quaffled a bottle of fine Italian vino which had originally been ordained to complement the lasagne. Subsequently, we lost all track of the time and the pot pies fossilized in the oven.

Our only recourse was to go out for dinner, which required the usual dressing and primping. We then had to stop for gasoline and drive no small distance to the restaurant. Upon our arrival, we were told that this particular restaurant does not serve past 10 p.m. It was past 10 p.m. The dinner special that evening at the restaurant had been lasagne.

Disappointed, hungry and irritable, we made our way home. Halfway there, the water pump on my car burst, the engine overheated and we were stranded on a rural road. At this juncture, it was difficult to tell who or what was steaming more - me or my car's radiator.

After walking to the nearest telephone in a pair of dress shoes not designed for cross-country hiking, I made laborious arrangements for transportation and towing. By the time I returned home it was after midnight, by feet ached, my disposition was ruined and I was at the brink of starvation. I'm afraid I made some inexcusable remarks to the tainted lasagne noodle displayed on the kitchen table.

I have eaten your products for all of my 27 years and I have always been completely satisfied with the quality. I realize the noodle in question does not represent a compromise of your usual standards of excellence.

I would deeply appreciate it if you would replace the box of Mueller's Lasange and if you mention this incident to your quality control people. I think they should be aware that when they don't use their noodles, we don't use your noodles.

Sincerely JIM WILLIS

PLACING FIRST in the recent King Coal Parade in Carmichaels, Pa., were the Mountaineer Square Dancers, a group composed of 16 members from the tri-state area, six of them from Oakland. The group, which was organized by Wilbur and Irene Bowser in 1979, also appeared at the Old Time Fiddlers' Contest in Friendsville and in a benefit event for the Northern Rescue Squad. They participated in parades in Addison, Confluence, Friendsville, Grantsville, Markleysburg, and Somerset this past summer, and also at some local nursing homes. Their next performances will be this weekend in conjunction with the Autumn Glory Festival, appearing at Naylor's parking lot and in Saturday's Grand Feature Parade. Pictured with the group above at far left is well-known square dance caller, Claude Strickler.

BIRTHS

Garrett County Memorial Hospital reports the birth of five infants during the week of October 5.

A son was born to Timothy Alan and Kimberly Sue Sweitzer Gnegy, Oakland, on October 5.

A daughter was born to Michael G. and Mary Lou Miller Casteel, Friendsville, on October 7.

A son was born to Carl and Karen Sue Shreve Hedrick, Maysville, W. Va., on October 10.

A son was born to Charles Dennis and Shirley Jean Spiker Lucas, Deer Park, on October 11.

A son was born to Paul J. and Barbara Ann Sabina Dodos. Jr., Oakland, on October 11.

Admissions this week were listed at 60, with 59 discharges. This morning's tally shows 61 patients.

Clarification Noted

To clarify a case reported in last week's issue concerning Jerry Cline, Oakland:

Cline was charged with breaking and enterng and trespassing at the apartment of his former wife. The report quoted the original statement of charges, which said he came to the apartment at approximately 1:30 a.m., knocked at the door, and was refused entrance. He left the area, and fifteen minutes later, his former wife encountered him in the hallway of the apartment. The report stated a screen had been removed from a bedroom window.

Cline was found not guilty of breaking and entering, and guilty of the trespassing charge.

Correction Noted

It was reported in The Republican last week that the deadline for obtaining doe permits for the 1983 season would be Wednesday, October 19. However, it was reported this week by District Wildlife Manager Al Bourgeois that the deadline for obtaining the permits is this Friday, October 14.

District Court Cases Are Heard

District Court Judge Jack Turney heard numerous charges in the last two sessions of criminal court, including battery and bad check cases.

Russell Tasker, 32, Oakland, was fined $100 plus court costs, sentenced to 89 days in the Garrett County Jail, of which 74 days were suspended, and placed on six-months unsupervised probation. He was also permitted a 15 day work release program.

The case was the result of assault and battery charges brought against him by Vera Kuhn, of Bradley Manor. A charge of assault with intent to main was declared nolle prosequi.

According to the records, Tasker became involved in an altercation with Paul Ernest Kuhn, Jr., striking him with his fists, knocking him to the ground, and kicking him in the head.

Kuhn was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and later transferred to West Virginia Medical Center in Morgantown.

Maryland State Police brought charges of breaking and entering and malicious destruction of property against Kenny Weaver, 20, of Rawlings.

According to the report, Weaver and Dennis Leon Schell, 25, Oakland, attempted to forcibly enter the residence of Timothy John McBride, Accident, on August 30, and began using obscene language and creating a disturbance.

Weaver was fined a total of $150, sentenced to one year with the Department of Correction, and ordered to pay half the restitution for damages to McBride, which amounted to $95. The jail sentence was suspended, and he was placed on 12-months supervised probation. He was found not guilty on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Schell was fined a total of $200, sentenced to two years with the Department of Correction, which was suspended, and he was placed on 12-months unsupervised probation. He was ordered to pay half the restitution due McBride.

A charge of malicious destruction was declared nolle prosequi.

In other court news, a Friendsville man, Gerald Thomas, 25, was fined a total of $150, plus court costs, sentenced to 12-months with the Department of Correction, which was suspended, and placed on unsupervised probation. He was ordered to make restitution in the amount of $111.58.

The charges of theft and malicious destruction were placed against Thomas by Maryland State Police after a July 2 break-in at the S&S Market in Friendsville. Thomas was identified as being present on the roof of the building, and at the rear of the store. Windows and two doors were damaged, and more than $300 worth of items, including soft drinks, potato chips, candy, etc., were taken in the 4 a.m. incident.

Russell Gene Clutter, 36, Morris, Pa., pleaded guilty to three bad check charges, was fined $150, sentenced to 10 years with the Department of Correction, which was suspended, and ordered to serve 24-months supervised probation. He must make restitution in the amount of $5,855 for three checks he wrote to S&H Marina, Deep Creek Lake, to purchase a 1976 Century Sabre motorboat in June of 1980. The checks were written on a Pittsburgh, Pa., bank account which had been closed since May of 1979.

In another case, Karen Butler, 22, Salisbury, Pa., was found not guilty on a charge of trespassing brought against her by Jennifer L. Fazenbaker of Grantsville.

The following persons were fined and placed on probation before judgment:

John Everett Nock, $35; Scott Harold Uphold, $35; Michael Eugene Pritt, $35; Derrick John Latin, $35; Jeffrey Van Browning, $35; Clyde K. Friend, $45; Darl Zaddock Friend, $45; Randall Eugene King, $30; Ronald Wade DeBerry, $35; Paul Douglas Harvey, $35; and Mark Allen Cornish, $35.

The following persons had cases declared nolle prosequi against them:

Wilmer Warnick, Kenneth W. Kyle; Lori Kathryn Kyle; Gerald Broadwater; Roger Kitzmiller; Fannie O'Brien; Jeremiah L. Paugh, Inez D. Kitzmiller; Josephine E. Harvey; Linda Sisler; Randall H. Harvey; Thomas Bernard; Shirley A. Bernard; Laura Kope; Kermit Kope; Freda Sears; Rob K. Paugh; Joyce Paugh; Paul Bittinger; Clark Bittinger; Mark Kyle; Dave Zimmerman; Brenda Kyle; Kathy Zimmerman; Cynthia Diane Kitzmiller; Kenneth Martin; Frank Paugh; and Hazel Martin.

A case against Terry Wolfe was continued, and new trial dates were set for Laura M. Brown; Edward Lewis Hetrick and Steve Paul Noga.

READY TO CUT CAKE — Garrett County Commissioner Ernest Gregg prepares to cut a cake made at the Country Oven Bakery and presented to the commissioners Tuesday. The cake is shaped like a vehicle to draw attention to the annual road rally to be held Sunday to benefit the bakery. Seated beside Gregg are Commissioners Elwood Groves and John Braskey, and standing behind the commissioners are Charlotte Griffith, executive director of the Appalachian Center, and Mildred Crane, a member of the Appalachian Parent Association, Inc. The bakery will have a display of items made in the Appalachian Workshop during the Autumn Glory weekend such as Christmas crafts, cookbooks, macrame, and quilts.

Update Of Plans For Fall Road Rally Released

Charlotte Griffith and Jim Neville, rally planners, have issued an update on this year's Autumn Glory Road Rally to be held Sunday, October 16. Cars must be registered between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., at the Appalachian Center, 105 South Third Street, Oakland, 334-8146.

Cars will leave the starting line at the Southern Middle parking lot between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., and the rally will be closed at 6 p.m. There is a $10.00 donation to enter and prizes will be awarded for the best mileage and for correct answers to questions about what has been seen along the way.

The planners emphasize driver and vehicle safety. "It is not a speed race, you don't need to own a sports car or live in Garrett County to participate," Charlotte Griffith said. "We have planned a beautiful and scenic route through Garrett County. We give you written instructions throughout the rally to guide you along the course. If you can read, follow directions and observe things along the way, you stand a good chance of completing the course and winning a prize. In case you get lost or want to end your participation in the rally, you can open up the sealed envelop we give you which contains the directions to the destination.

"Last year, despite fog and cold weather, 38 cars registered. Many folks have been on more than one of our road rallies and have returned each year. After finishing the rally, people usually remark that they had a good time, enjoyed seeing the county in the fall, and plan to return next year," Griffith said.

The 1983 Autumn Glory Road Rally is sponsored by the Appalachian Parent Association, Inc., with the rally proceeds to benefit the Country Oven Bakery.

The Appalachian Parent Association, Inc., is a local, private, nonprofit group which operates the following training and employment programs for handicapped adults in Garrett County: the Country Oven Bakery, the Appalachian Workshop and the Appalachian Center.

In May 1983, the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped awarded to the Country Oven Bakery, the National "Small Employer of the Year" award. In 1982, the bakery was named by the Maryland Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, the State "Small Employer of the Year."

October is National Employ the Handicapped Month. The souvenirs for the rally will be provided by the Country Oven Bakery and the Appalachian Workshop; thus resulting in employing the handicapped to produce the souvenirs, Griffith noted.

For more information and pre-registration, contact Charlotte Griffith at 334-1322 day, or 334-8856 after 6 p.m.

To date, merchants who have donated prizes are: Oakview Motors, Rt. 135 Amoco, Oakland Oil Company, and Bell Brothers.

BPW Recognizng Business Women October 16-22

The Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club will join its sister organizations across the nation next week, October 16-22, in special events to mark the 55th anniversary of National Business Women's Week.

This is a special week set aside in 1928 by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs of the U.S. to dramatize women's contributions to the economic, social and political life of the community, state, nation, and the world.

Annually, the president of the United States declares the third week in October to be National Women's Week, while governors, mayors, and county officials sign similar proclamations.

National Business Women's Week this year is combined with the national federation's special membership outreach program, "Speak Up, Join BPW" which will take place from September 15 through October 31. The program emphasizes the special opportunities and accomplishments of BPW and the group's dedication to the interests of all working women.

This year club membership locally grew to the point that a club was proposed for the Grantsville area.

Anyone desiring further information about the county's clubs may call Marci McClive at 387-4745 or Ruth DiPaolo at 463-4462.

GREY AND BLACK — These beautiful short-haired domestic cats are anxious to make your home their home, and invite you to stop out at the Garrett County Animal Shelter, on the Oakland-Sang Run Road, to visit them. "Tabitha" is a grey female kitten, and "Shadow" is a male, appropriately named. Neither are sure of their ages, but both would love a home with you. Four of last week's pups have been adopted by Wendell Keaton, Timothy Paugh, Mary Taber, and Ricky Sisler. One more of the long-haired Calico kittens from two weeks ago was given a new home by Lori Cooley. Won't you call the shelter today at 334-3553, and make arrangements to visit?

Southern Speaks

by Criss Kepple

Southern High School freshmen have completed their annual magazine campaign. In their six-day campaign the ninth grade students hoped to reach a goal of $8500.00. Another goal was to reach $9500 and receive a complimentary viewing of The Raiders of the Lost Ark. High sales persons for the campaign were Deborah Steyer, with $284.26, and Marti Vance with an amount of $208.44. The top selling homeroom was Mr. Beard's with a total of $1126.35. Awards to salespersons will be distributed October 17 and 18. The money from this campaign will be used by the students to organize and pay for the Prom.

A Student Council meeting was held October 5 in Room 222 first period. Items of business included USSCA scholarships are available for Junior and Senior Student Council members. There are $25,000 worth of scholarships available. Miss Lease asked if students were interested in having pep assemblies. The cheerleaders would like to have more than one per season. Student input would be welcomed by student Council representatives. Class reports included complaints about the A-wing being locked before 6:00, the juke box updated, the band and the football team practicing on the same field, and the date of the new track's completion. Newly elected chaplains are Chris Oliverio and Shawn Garner.

Many colleges have visited Southern High School in the past week, including representatives from Flager, UMBC, Notre Dame, and Alderson Broaddus, Marymount, Va. Bowie State and Bridgewater.

Maryland Functional Reading Test dates are October 17-26. Ninth grade students and any eleven and twelfth students who have not yet passed will be taking the tests.

The Southern Garrett Marching Band is hosting the Autumn Glory Maryland Tournament of Bands. The contest will take place Saturday, October 15, after the Grand Feature Parade.

After winning the PVC Tournament, the Golf Team will be competing in the District Tournament October 12.

The Varsity Football Team will take on Valley Friday, October 14, in an away game.

The Girls' Volleyball Team will meet Bishop Walsh and Mt. Savage for a match at Mt. Savage on October 12.

meeting and at that time the commission will decide whether to accept the amounts awarded. All three projects have been in the planning stages since 1977, according to Wendell Beitzel, sanitary district administrator.

At this point, the Kitzmiller project has received a water appropriations permit from the Water Resources Administration and that agency will conduct a public hearing on the project before issuing the final waterway construction permit.

Upper Yough Plan

On October 6, Beitzel, Edgar Harman of the Garrett County Health Department's environmental services and Morgan France and Judi Kahl of Franklin Associates, met with John Milnor and George Keller of the state Department of Health and Mental Hygiene in Hagerstown to attempt to work out final details of the Upper Youghioghney facilities Plan before the plan is put into its final draft form.

Items outlined in a recent letter from the state health department were discussed at length, in the local commission's attempt to ensure that the final plan is accepted by the state department without further delay.

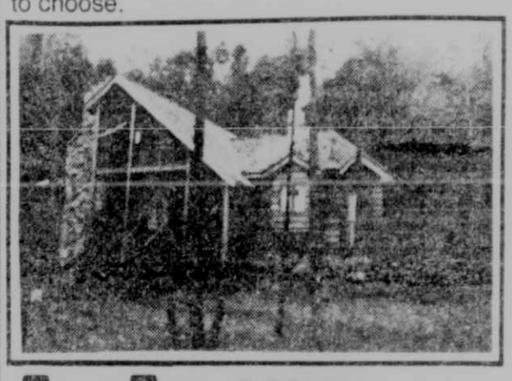
Approval of the plan is necessary before upgrading of the Trout Run treatment plant can begin. The commission is hopeful that work will proceed smoothly so that actual construction can begin before next October, when federal funding levels will be reduced from 75 percent to 55 percent.

The original draft was completed in 1981 by Pullman Swindell and submitted to the state health department for approval but was never accepted since discharge parameters for the Little Youghiogheny had not been set.

That firm is no longer in business but the discharge parameters are now established so the commission is hopeful that the plan can be completed with the assistance of Franklin Associates of Oakland.

Local officials have two main obstacles in the way of the project. The major one is the requirement by the state health department that a 15 acre storage facility be constructed so there will be no discharge into the Yough when the river is low. The size of the storage facility is based on daily output figures which include infiltration, which the local officials feel would not occur during dry periods and thus a smaller facility could be built.

The second obstacle revolved around a failing septic system survey which must be completed in the Deer Park area.



After the final draft of the plan is reviewed there will be public hearings in Mt. Lake Park, Loch Lynn and Deer Park on that plan.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

Open House

There will be an open house at the Friendsville Water and Sewer Plant Sunday, October 23, between the hours of 1 and 4 p.m., sponsored by the mayor and town council.

No Trick Or Treat

The mayor and town council have prohibited trick or treating in the town during the Halloween season. The Town and Community Women will have a Halloween parade and party for children at the school on Saturday, October 29.

Mercy Chapel

Rev. H. B. Rittenhouse, retired Christian Church minister, will have the service at 10:30 a.m., on Sunday, October 16, at Mercy Chapel Community Chapel, Mill Run. He conducts services the first and third Sunday of each month. Services on the second and fourth Sunday of each month are conducted by Rev. John Hickson, Addison, Pa., retired United Methodist minister.

Lutheran

Lutheran Church Women met Tuesday evening, October 4, at the home of Mrs. Donna Turney, Accident, with Mrs. Evelyn Jenkins, president, presiding at the business meeting. Dorothy Spear presented a reading, and Mary Frantz, topic leader, led a discussion on "The Importance of Belief." The members gave $20 to the Town and Community Women for a Halloween party for children.

The November meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Pauline Fawcett with Mrs. Bernadine Friend having the topic.

United Methodist News

The United Methodist Youth Fellowship annual Burlington Children's Home Booth Festival will be held Sunday, October 16, at 7 p.m., at the St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Grantsville. The U.M.Y.F. members will be leaving Friendsville Church at 5:45 p.m.

Members from three churches (Blooming Rose, Selbysport, and Friendsville) are collecting articles for the booth. The articles also may be left at any of the three churches.

Plans are also being made for the annual retreat for youth at Camp Sunrise, Md.-Pa. line, on Friday, October 21, to Sunday, October 23, and for the fellowship costume party on Sunday, October 30, at 6 p.m., at the Blooming Rose United Methodist Church.

U.M.W. Meets

The Friendsville United Methodist Women met Monday, October 3, at the church at 7 p.m., with 10 members present. Janice Fisher, president, presided at the business session. Members acknowledged the Christian and American flags given by Woodmen of the World during the worship service on Sunday, September 24.

A new shipment of brooms has been received and is available for sale. Members are also taking orders for pecans to be sold.

Plans were made to serve the W.O.W. dinner on Friday, October 21, at the school cafeteria. Officers will be elected at the November meeting.

Mrs. Pauline Georg, Zion Lutheran Church, Accident, led a discussion and workshop on construction of the Chrismon ornaments. Rev. Edd Myers also attended the meeting. Leslie Shomo served refreshments.

Fellowship Dinner

Approximately 35 persons attended the fellowship dinner on Sunday immediately after the worship service at the Friendsville United Methodist church. Following the dinner, Mrs. Thelma Kelley, Timonium, presented her father, Cecil Schroyer, with a decorated cake honoring his 84th birthday. The cake was cut and served, and the congregation sang "Happy Birthday" to him. He gave a short talk on how preachers served their congregations 60 years ago, and how they served from six to eight churches and rode horseback.

Selbysport U.M.W.

After serving a rehearsal dinner to 31 guests Friday evening the Selbysport U.M.W. held a business meeting. They completed plans to serve the Brotherhood on Tuesday, October 11, at the church when the ladies will be guests. The members discussed the Thanksgiving service in November.

Church of God Revival

A revival service will be held at the Church of God, Sand Spring, Sunday, October 16-Friday, October 21, at 7 p.m. Pastor Doug Baker, Old Bethel Church of God, Kingwood, Pa., will be guest speaker each evening.

BREAKING AWAY on a long punt return against the Hampshire Trojans is Southern Ram Steve Bennett, above, while below, No. 22 Dave Terrant picks up some of his 141 yards in leading the Rams to a 28-13 win over the Trojans Friday evening in Oakland. It was the Rams' fourth victory in five starts. They will travel to Valley this Friday evening for another Highland Football Conference contest.

Terrant Rolls

Rams Improve Record To 4-1 With 28-13 Win Over Hampshire

An outstanding offensive performance by Southern Dave Terrant highlighted a 28-13 victory by the Rams over visiting Hampshire Friday evening in a Highland Football Conference matchup. Terrant scored 22 points and rolled up 141 yards on 23 carries as the Rams recorded their fourth win against a single loss. It was the Trojans' fifth setback in six outings.

Southern		Hampshire
12	First Downs Rush	5
3	First Downs Pass	4
0	First Downs Penalty	2
15	Total First Downs	11
14	Passes Attempted	26
6	Passes Completed	12
2	Passes Intercepted By	2
76	Yards Passing	110
251	Net Yards Rushing	72
1-22	Punts Average	3-26
7-75	Penalties Yards	5-65
1-1	Fumbles Lost	3-1
327	Total Offense	182

Terrant's two-yard run in the first quarter opened the scoring for the Rams, however J.R. Gibson's pass for the two-point conversion was incomplete.

The Trojans took the lead moments later when a Southern defensive back lost his footing and Ed Jeeter hauled in a pass from Scott Shoemaker for a 45-yard scoring play. Steve Henderson's kick for the extra point put the Trojans on top.

The West Virginians enjoyed their lead only briefly, however, as Terrant came back early in the second period for his second touchdown, this one from 13 yards out. He also ran the three yards for the two-pointer.

Late in the same quarter, Terrant crashed over from the one for his third touchdown, giving the Rams control of the game at the half, 20-7.

The third quarter saw a slight breakdown in the Ram defensive unit as Hampshire engineered its only long drive of the evening, capped by Kevin Corbin's eight-yard run for a score. The kick for the conversion hit the right goal post and fell short.

Southern came back again in the fourth quarter as Gibson carried the ball to paydirt from the four-yard line, followed by Terrant's final two points of the evening with the conversion run.

The Rams finished with 327 yards in total offense, compared to 182 for the Trojans.

Leading tacklers for the Rams were Chris Foley and Jeff Beeman.

Southern Coach Tom Woods stated that he was pleased with the improved performance of his offensive line, noting that Scott O'Neill, Anthony Andrews, Scott Colaw, John Thayer and Mark Younkin provided good blocking for Terrant and the rest of the backfield.

He commented on the strong running efforts of Terrant and Mike McLaughlin, the effective blocking of fullback Tim Tharp and the general leadership by Gibson.

"The slight lapse by our defense in the third quarter, particularly two key third down penalties against us, had us concerned," Woods said.

Once again, Woods reported that his players came out of the game relatively injury-free, noting that the weight conditioning program has no doubt contributed to the general good health of the Rams. "We've also been lucky in that respect," he said.

Southern will attempt to add another HFC win to its record this Friday when the Rams travel to Valley of Lonaconing to face the Black Knights, who are 2-3 on the season and under new head coach, Lionel Baker. One of their wins occurred two weeks ago over previously undefeated Beall, 20-14, in overtime. Valley lost to the number one ranked team in Region II, Poolesville, 43-28, last Friday evening in a see-saw contest.

"Valley is playing very well right now," Woods said. "This is our most important game to date because Valley is in our region and in the HFC. They possess as much talent as anyone left on our schedule."

Valley is led offensively by Hank Halbritter, a 6-1, 165-pound senior flanker; Dan Hawkins, 5-10, 160-pound sophomore quarterback, who Woods calls the best passer in the Cumberland area; tailback Ed Miller, a 5-8, 190-pound junior; and Ed Shockey, 6-2, 224-pound tackle.

Pacing the Knights' defense are Lee Cutter, senior linebacker at 5-11, 170 pounds; linebacker Larry Muir, 5-10, 165, also a senior; and nose guard Bob Cook, 5-11, 165.

Valley runs a wide open offense and incorporates the pass 20 to 25 times per game. They use primarily a 5-2 defense.

Friday's contest will be Valley's Homecoming game.

In looking at the second half of the season, Woods stated that the Rams are not that much better than all five teams yet to

Miscues Costly

Huskies Suffer Fourth Setback In Falling To Moorefield, 26-7

Although the Northern Huskies were able to move the ball on the ground up and down the field Friday night, some key offensive miscues and an excellent passing game by host Moorefield resulted in a 26-7 loss for the Huskies, their fourth straight setback against an opening victory.

7-55	Penalties Yards	5-35
3-2	Fumbles Lost	2-2
339	Total Offense	236

The Huskies finished with 213 rushing yards, compared to 192 for the West Virginians, however Moorefield quarterback Matt Smith completed six of 12 aerials for an additional 147 yards.

Derrick Harvey was the workhorse for Moorefield, picking up 115 yards on 25 carries and scoring two touchdowns. His first score came in the second quarter when he was on the receiving end of a 76-yard pass-run play. Jim Shupe booted the extra point.

On their next drive, Harvey scored again for the Yellow Jackets, this time on a two-yard dive and Shupe again added the conversion.

The Huskies engineered a drive just before the half all the way down to the one-foot line of Moorefield, but penalties and an offensive miscue were followed by expiration of the clock.

Moorefield came back for more points in the third quarter when Harvey returned the opening kickoff 44 yards, and Chip Michael later crashed over the goal line from the one. The conversion attempt failed.

The Huskies finally got on the board when Greg Diehl, who rushed for over 100 yards on the evening, reached paydirt from the 15-yard line. Dave George added the conversion kick.

Michael struck again in the fourth quarter to round out the night's scoring, again diving over from the one.

Two other Northern drives were halted by fumbles.

Carter Williams and Alan Riggleman each provided an interception for the Yellow Jackets.

The Huskies, which have been plagued by injuries to key personnel for the past several weeks, added yet another casualty to their list in the first quarter, as Jeff Graham went down with a bruised kidney. The senior tailback had gained over 40 yards in just five carries at that point in the contest. He also leads the team's defensive secondary in interceptions. He is listed as doubtful for this week.

"Moorefield played as fine a game as they could play," Husky Coach Jack Settle stated. "Their excellent passing performance is what really hurt us."

Although disappointed with the key offensive mistakes, Settle said he was pleased with the overall performance of his offense. "We moved the ball very well," he said, noting the running efforts of Diehl, Graham, and fullback Bill Murray. "We got some excellent blocking from our line," he said.

Settle believes that some of the Huskies' breakdowns on defense are a result of lack of playing time by some players who just recently returned after injuries. "I think our basic techniques have slipped just a bit, so we are going back to the basics this week," he said.

Northern will host Father Geibel, of Pennsylvania, this Friday evening in the Huskies' homecoming game. Geibel is 3-3 on the season and, according to Settle, is a young, but physically big, team. "This team has been improving every week and we are going to have to play good ball in order to beat them," he said.

Geibel runs a multiple formation offense and a 5-2 monster defense.

Players expected to return to the Husky lineup this week are Roy Miller and Jeff McClintock. Still nursing injuries, along with Graham, are Phil Carr, who was the team's leading tackler, and Kevin McKenzie. All three are seniors.

"We need a win in the worst way," Settle said. "The only thing we can do at this point is to view our remaining five games as a second season and approach it with a positive attitude."

Kickoff at Northern is slated for 7:30 p.m.

Benefit Day For Ski Patrol Slated At Wisp

The Wisp Ski Area at Deep Creek Lake, which plans to open its 1983-84 season Thanksgiving weekend, will host a National Ski Patrol Benefit Day on December 3, the first of its kind for the Southern Appalachian Region of the NSPS. According to Wisp management, lift tickets will be special low prices that day to entice skiers to the resort where equipment demos, binding checks, skiing proficiency tests, movies, displays, prizes and an apres ski social will highlight the day.

A large portion of the proceeds for the day will be donated to the Wisp Ski Patrol and the Southern Appalachian Region to support training programs of the Ski Patrol and for the purchase of new first aid and rescue equipment.

Wisp has one of the largest snow-making capacities in the nation. It now boasts three chairlifts which has reduced lift lines considerably, the newest addition being the second half of a double-double chairlift that crowns the top of the mountain. New trails and more ponds for snow-making have also been added.

The alternate date for the Benefit Day is December 10, in the event of no snow on December 3. Further details of the events of the day will be released at a later date.

SGAA SUPPORTS CHEERLEADERS — Carol Gregg, advisor to the Southern High School cheerleaders, recently accepted a check for $300 from Dennis "Xie" Colaw, president of the Southern Garrett Athletic Association. The funds will be used to help purchase new uniforms for the cheerleaders.

Southern Girls Place Second In Tri-Match

The Southern High School Girls' Volleyball Team came in second in a tri-match at Bruce High School Wednesday, defeating Flintstone but bowing to Bruce.

Southern took the first two games against Flintstone, 15-3 and 15-0. Leslie Ellis was high scorer for Southern with 12 points while Carla Beckman added nine to the team's overall score.

The match against Bruce proved to be close as Southern took the first game 15-11, lost the second 8-15, and lost the third, 14-16.

High scorer was Cinda King with 11 points while teammates Leslie Ellis added nine, Carla Beckman added eight, and Chris Gregory added seven points. Beckman contributed seven spiking points to the team's score.

Southern travels to Mount Savage this evening for a tri-match against the host team and Bishop Walsh. Game time is 7 p.m.

Lakers Return To Winning Ways, Record Now 7-3

The Garrett Volleyball team returned to its winning ways this past week with two Region XX victories at the expense of Howard Community College and Potomac State College. The two wins pushed the Laker record to 7-3.

Garrett defeated Howard handily by scores of 15-4 and 15-2. Kathy Baker led the Lakers with eight points on her serve, two spike points and five assists. Sue Snyder was the key hitter with five spike points and Lani Dailey paced the defense with three digs.

The Potomac State match was a closer encounter, but the Lakers managed to win two of three games. Garrett won the first game 15-7, keyed by Gwen McBee's game winning four serves in a row.

The Catamounts roared back to take the second game, 15-7, and carry that momentum into an 11-4 advantage in the third game, only to see Garrett fight back to win 15-13. In this match, the Lakers received a balanced hitting effort as Sue Harper connected on nine spike points, Lani Dailey on seven and Christy Fratz on six.

Gwen McBee served for five points to put away the Laker win in the first game. Christy Fratz added six serve points to her hitting efforts and also recorded four digs. Mary Dougherty set 14 assists for the Laker hitters.

According to Laker Coach Mike Friend, these were two important wins for the squad. "We've lost two very close, frustrating matches in the past two weeks and we have a tough week of seven matches coming up so these two matches were pivotal in our season," he said. "It's always good to win, but actually we didn't play as well as we did in two of our close losses. Perhaps it's a good omen to win on our off night, but we do have to sustain our intensity better. We don't keep momentum going our way yet once we've achieved an advantage."

This week the Lakers are on the road again with a trip to Philippi, W. Va., to play Alderson-Broaddus College and Washington-Jefferson College, followed by a trip to Baltimore to play Howard and Dundalk community colleges. Dundalk was last year's Region XX Champion and competed in the NJCAA National Tournament. Garrett will return home Saturday to host the second annual Autumn Glory Invitational Tournament.

Garrett will host McKeesport Community College, Penn State Beaver Campus and last year's winner, Westmoreland Community College. Tournament action begins at noon on October 15.

Fratz Team Wins League Title

The Fratz softball team won the Mountain Top Slow Pitch Softball League Championship by edging Poor Richard's, 7-6, in a 12-inning contest.

Fratz defeated Doc Holiday's and Wynlyns to reach the finals of the playoffs. Fratz lost the first game to Poor Richard's, 4-1, but rebounded in the title game.

Fratz also won the American Division championship in the league, concluding the regular season with 30 wins and five losses.

THOMAS-DAVIS RAMS THRASH BROWNS, 33-18

The Thomas-Davis Rams rolled to their fifth win of the season with a 33-18 victory over the Parsons Browns Sunday at Terra Alta.

Jim Drenning tossed a 31 yard TD pass to Rob Bush in the first period and a three yard pass to Ross James for the conversion to open the scoring.

Drenning's 15-yard scoring pass to Carmen DelSignore in the second stanza made it 13-0.

The Browns charged back with quarterback Kevin Corcoran hitting Kevin Hebb with a 25-yard scoring strike.

DelSignore broke loose on a 40-yard gallop to paydirt just before the half to give the Rams a 19-6 advantage.

DelSignore's 41-yard touchdown pass to Drenning in the opening minutes of the second half put the game out of reach.

The Browns' eleven added six to their side of the scoreboard when Chopper Evans ripped nine yards to paydirt.

Drenning's pass interception and an 83-yard return for a score made it 31-12. Then Drenning kicked the two-point conversion.

Kevin Corcoran capped the Browns' scoring on a five-yard run late in the game. The conversion attempt failed.

Rob Bush, DelSignore, Manny Lipscomb and Allen Paugh led the Ram defense while Evans, Mike Bates, Beaver Barb, and Corcoran led the Browns.

The Rams will play the Dolphins Sunday at 3:30 p.m. at Southern for the West Virginia division championship.

DOLPHINS DROWN VIKINGS, 24-6

The Terra Alta Dolphins defeated the Parsons Vikings, 24-6, in Terra Alta, Sunday to give the Preston countains a berth in the West Virginia Division championship game against the Thomas-Davis Rams Sunday at Southern.

Darren Radford banged in from six yards out to put the Dolphins on top, which was followed by a 15-yard blast by Jimmy Freeland.

Brad Friend's 84 yard blast closed out the Dolphins scoring for the first quarter as they led, 18-0.

Danny Hall completed the Dolphins' scoring with a 62-yard interception return for a touchdown in the second stanza.

The lone Viking touchdown came with seven minutes to go in the game when Richard Evick raced six yards into the end zone.

Darrell Nestor, Kevin Jones and John Harper led the Vikings on defense, while the Dolphin staff praised the entire defensive squad.

JETS SOAR OVER STEELERS, 19-6

J.R. Bosley scored a pair of touchdowns to lead the undefeated Oakland Jets to their sixth win with a 19-6 victory over the Northern Steelers Sunday afternoon at the Southern High School field.

The Jets struck first when Bosley returned a Steeler punt 50 yards to paydirt at the 3:22 mark in the first quarter. Bobby Bernard's pass to Bosley for the conversion was complete.

Bosley banged through the Steeler defense with 29 seconds to go in the half on a 57-yard run to give the Jets a 13-0 halftime lead.

The Steelers struck back at 3:19 of the third quarter when Steeler quarterback Eddie Tabor hit Kevin Selby with a 12-yard scoring strike. The PAT attempt was no good.

Interceptions by Jet Defensive backs, Todd Michaels and Fred Glotfelty, kept the Steelers at bay and set up the game's final score when Billy Martin plunged in from one yard out.

Tony Burrow, Jeff Rounds and Eddie Tabor had fumble recoveries for the Steelers defense.

Marty Sharpless led the Jet defensive charge with four tackles, followed by Jeff King, Mike Inglese, Billy Martin and J.R. Bosley with three each.

The Jets will host the Raiders for the Maryland Division championship Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at Southern.

Annual 10-K Run Set For Saturday

The annual Autumn Glory Ten-Kilometer Run, sponsored by the Deep Creek Pacers Running Club and Pepsi Cola of Cumberland, will be held this Saturday, October 15, at Deep Creek Lake State Park.

Registration for the event will be held from 8 to 9:30 in the park and the 6.2 mile run will begin at 10 a.m.

Prizes will be awarded to the top three male and female finishers, plus the top three male and female finishers in six different age categories. T-shirts will be awarded to the first 140 runners to register.

Race officials remind runners that the State Park bridge is not usable and persons should come to the park by way of Rock Lodge Road, of U.S. Rt. 219. Spectators are welcome.

Southern Golfers Win PVC Title

The Southern High golf team nipped Berkeley Springs by two strokes Monday afternoon to capture the Potomac Valley Conference championship on the Canaan Valley course.

Steve Kremer led the Rams and the entire field with a low gross of 83 as Southern topped Berkeley Springs by a team total 348-350.

Mike Betler of Tucker County and Dave Buser of Berkeley Springs each carded 85s, while Lou Peterson led Keyser with an 87. Tucker County finished third with a 370, followed by Keyser with a 372.

Trout Unlimited Holds Regional Meeting Here

Approximately 40 persons attended the Mid-Atlantic Council of Trout Unlimited meeting held at Herrington Manor State Park October 7-10.

One of the highlights of the meeting was a visit from Lefty Kreh, syndicated columnist for fly fishing and recognized as one of the experts in casting, who gave a demonstration of his casting skill at the Youghiogheny River bridge at Swallow Falls Saturday afternoon.

The remainder of the days were taken up with clinics and workshops on organization and management of a Trout Unlimited chapter, recruiting members, "adopting a stream," fund raising, public relations, and appointment of a Trout Unlimited member to the Youghiogheny River Advisory Board. The group also had guided fishing tours of the Yough River and Savage River on Sunday before concluding activities.

The group was housed in ten cabins at the state park, according to Jerry Sword, park manager.

Parade Sale Set By Association

The Oakland Merchants Association announced this week that there will be a one-day parade sale this Saturday, October 15, before, during and following the Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade set to begin at 2 p.m. Most Oakland merchants plan to participate in the sale and they said they hope to make it an annual event.

Police Report Auto Accidents

Maryland State Police investigated several auto accidents this week, including a Monday morning mishap which sent a Lonaconing man to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, where he was reported in stable condition Tuesday.

Police say Donald Shingler, 25, was traveling along Rt. 48 near the Garrett County line about 1:15 a.m., when some deer ran into the path of his car. He swerved to the right in an attempt to avoid striking the animals, ran off the roadway, and up the embankment.

Shingler was transported to the hospital by Frostburg Area ambulance personnel.

An Oakland woman, Ruby L. King, was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital Tuesday morning following an accident on U. S. 219, near the Silver Knob Road.

Sgt. R. E. Edwards reported that James Michael, 33, Westernport, was traveling south on Rt. 219 when Ms. King pulled from the Silver Knob Road into the path of his dump truck.

Union Ambulance of Tucker County, which happened to be passing by the scene, transported Ms. King to the hospital.

Police charged King with driving an unregistered vehicle, having no insurance, unauthorized use of the certificate or title of another, and failure to grant the right of way.

Another accident about noon Tuesday on Rt. 135, near the Chestnut Ridge Road sent Shelda Yeckel, 46, Keyser, W. Va., to Sacred Heart Hospital for a fractured finger. She was treated and released. She was a passenger in an auto driven by Debra Maddux, 25, of Westernport.

Edwards said Arthur S. Tichnell, 86, of Swanton, was traveling west on Rt. 135 when he pulled into the path of the Maddux vehicle. Two other passengers in the Maddux auto were apparently not injured.

Guidance Conference

James G. Thomas and Jack Lear, the school guidance counselors, attended the third Western Maryland Guidance Conference, October 4-6, at the Village Inn in McHenry. This meeting was held to update guidance services, to provide better understanding to students, parents, teaching staff and administrative personnel in the schools of Western Maryland. This meeting covered several other subjects meant to update practical awareness and understanding.

Dance

Lickety Split will provide the music for the first school dance on October 14, which is Homecoming. This band plays popular hits from nationwide groups, such as Stray Cats, Survivor, John Cougar, ZZ Top, Bryan Adams, Bob Seger, 38 Special, and many others. The dance is sponsored by the varsity cheerleaders. The tickets in advance are $3.00 single and $5.00 couple. At the door, the prices are $4.00 single and $6.00 couple.

Senior Proofs

Senior proofs were distributed during lunch shifts on Monday. Orders will be taken Thursday, October 13. A schedule will be distributed listing all seniors and their appointment time for placing their orders with Ruhl's.

Fundraisers

The band is selling Tootsie Rolls for 10 cents. They are also selling raffle tickets for a beef for one dollar. The winner will be announced October 14 at the Homecoming game. The money raised will benefit the Northern High School Band Boosters.

Spirit Week

Students are showing their school spirit this week by wearing different outfits on specific days. Some of these are hat and button day, inside out day, sweat day, costume day, and blue and gold day.

Bonfire

There was a bonfire Tuesday, October 11, to psyche up the Huskies for their football game against Father Geibal. Hot dogs and marshmallows were roasted and soft drinks were served. The student council presented a skit and the band put on a field show.

Campus Life

Campus Life is holding its Banana Bash IV October 13. This is when students can eat all they want of a 50-foot Banana Split for only $1.50 with coupon and $2.00 without coupon. The event starts at 7:17 and ends at 9:19. Students are requested to bring their own spoon.

Campus Life meetings are every other Thursday at 7:17. At these meetings, physical games are played and afterwards there is a discussion on a subject relating to Christ.

PSAT/NMSQT

The PSAT/NMSQT (Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test) will be administered periods 1, 2, 3, and 4, Tuesday, October 18. This test measures verbal and mathematical reasoning abilities. The scores obtained can be used to estimate a student's performance on the SAT because the PSAT is a shortened version of the SAT.

The PSAT is a test for students desiring to participate in the nationwide scholarship competitions conducted by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. To enter scholarship competition the test must be taken during a student's junior year of high school. Sophomores and seniors may take the test for practice. Students should sign up with Jack G. Thomas if they are interested. There is a $4.50 fee for scoring. The last day to sign up for the test is October 14.

Counselors At Camp Hickory

The counselors for the 7th graders at Camp Hickory are Kate Klotzbaugh, Amy Wellborn, Dave Brandes, Seth Brandes, Brett Friend, Ray Kearney, Kim Moore, Kim Habel, Chip Frank, Jeff Gillum, Rodney Frazee, Ray Kearney, Barb Friend, Janell Esser, Stella Steuber, Dwight Emory, Barb Taylor, Regina Canan, and Brad Brenneman. This is from October 3 to October 19.

Band Competitions

On October 8, the Northern High School Band traveled to the University of Maryland for Maryland Band Day. In the morning the band participated in the University's Band Competition which had 20 bands. Later in the day Northern participated in the Massed Bands at halftime; over 4,000 students participated. The Band Competition and Massed Bands were recorded for Maryland PBS, and will be aired later this month on Channel 36, Oakland.

The same evening the band traveled to Chopticon High School in St. Mary's County for the Southern Maryland Tournament of Bands Competition. In Class I, Northern took third place. This is the first time the Northern High School Band has won a prize for a field show competition.

Sheriff Issues September Report

Members of the Garrett County sheriff's department answered 289 complaints and served 300 civil, criminal, juvenile and other legal papers on residents in September, according to the monthly department report issued by Sheriff Franklin G. Finch.

The department was responsible for 26 arrests on charges ranging from trespassing, assault and battery, theft, driving while intoxicated, and drunk and disorderly to possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

The jail population was noted at 33 inmates at the beginning of September, and 56 were added. During the month 57 were released, leaving a total of 32 inmates October 1.

Some 28,000 miles were added to department vehicles as the sheriff and deputies answered complaints, made patrol checks, served papers, and transported prisoners.

Republican Central Committee Meets

The Garrett County Republican State Central Committee met Tuesday evening to discuss plans for the Autumn Glory parade. Republican elected officials will ride in the parade again this year.

The committee also discussed plans for the upcoming fall convention in Columbia. Many important issues are on the agenda, according to Paul Frantz, committeeman.

The convention will be held November 11 and 12 at the Columbia Inn, and members of the local central committee are planning to attend.

Local Artists To Display Works During Festival

An art exhibit will be part of the Autumn Glory Craft Show to be Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on the second floor of the Garrett Community College Oakland Center, Center Street, sponsored by the Garrett County Arts Council.

Garrett County artists interested in exhibiting their work should contact Carole Lupis at 334-2803 to reserve a space.

Lupis noted that each artist will be responsible for hanging his or her own work and should mat or frame each art piece. Each person will be responsible for providing the necessary materials to hang his own work, such as a hammer, tacks, nails or brads.

Each piece is to be identified with the artist's name, address, telephone and price. Lupis added that each artist should prepare a typed list of his paintings, titles and prices.

Lupis noted artists should sign up for a time to stay with the show for security reasons and to handle sales.

Artists should also be willing to help clean the area for the exhibit, if necessary, and place the display boards as well as be willing to assist in closing the show, Lupis said. Set up for the show will be Friday between 3:45-5:15 p.m. and tear down will be Sunday between 5:45-6:15 p.m.

Donna L. Shaffer Becomes Bride Of Bennie D. Pook September 24

Donna Lee Shaffer and Bennie Dean Pook were united in marriage September 24. The double-ring ceremony took place at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland, with Rev. Raymond A. Ursin officiating. Marcette Danner was organist and Carolyn Helbig and Joseph DiSimone were vocalists.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Elliott E. Shaffer, Mt. Lake Park, and the late Mildred Lucille Shaffer. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie T. Pook, Friendsville.

Given in marriage and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of all lace. The bodice featured a high neckline accented with a ruffle of Cluny lace. The Bishop sleeves were all lace with a deep cuff. A satin ribbon accented the waistline holding the full skirt sweeping to a chapel train featuring a tiered and lace hemline. A picture hat of matching Cluny lace held a Chapel length mantilla veil.

The bride carried a silk bouquet of pink azaleas, burgundy rosebuds, and wedding starflowers, accented with baby's breath and greenery, surrounded by white lace, with pink and burgundy streamers. The attendants' bouquets consisted of white lace fans with pink and burgundy silk flowers. Flowers for the wedding party were made and arranged by Mrs. Leota Martin. Each attendant wore a hair-piece of silk flowers matching those of the bouquets.

Mrs. Sandra Speicher, Denver, Colo., cousin of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Marjorie Gnegy, Oakland; Tammy Manthos, McHenry; and Nancy Frazee, cousin of the groom, Mt. Lake Park. Distributing birdseed packets was Valerie Gnegy, Oakland. Cynthia Vitez attended the guest register.

Serving as best man was Simon Ferris, Uniontown, Pa. Ushers were Roger P. Glotfelty, Jr., Robert Gnegy, and Joseph Shaffer, cousin of the bride, all of Oakland. Distributing the bulletins was Kevin Gnegy.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the Oakland Fire Hall. Assisting with the reception were Mrs. JoAnn Glotfelty, Sue Shaffer, Lynne Glotfelty, Valinda Skeweris and Dennis Bryner.

Serving the wedding cake, baked by Mrs. Maxine Squires, Cumberland, was Mrs. Lavonna Frazee, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Renelda Frazee, aunt of the groom. Serving punch and coffee was Mrs. Brenda Bryner, cousin of the groom. Roger Glotfelty served as bartender.

Music for the reception was provided by the band, Mirage.

The bride is a graduate of Southern High School, Oakland, and is employed as a customer service representative at the main office of the First National Bank, Oakland.

The groom is a self-employed contractor and is a graduate of Northern High School.

After a honeymoon trip through parts of Virginia and West Virginia, the couple is residing in Oakland, but will move to Uniontown, Pa., in the near future.

The bride was a guest of honor at a shower hosted by Mrs. Tammy Manthos, McHenry, and at a dinner held at Chimney Corner by her secretarial co-workers.

Commissioners Present Awards To 15 Youths

At the Tuesday, Oct. 4, meeting of the Garrett County Commissioners, 15 participants of the Summer Youth Program were presented awards for Outstanding Performance.

"This was the climax of the largest Summer Youth Program to be conducted in Garrett County," said John Ledden, program coordinator.

The Summer Youth Employment Program provides many different opportunities for work experience for young people. It also serves to provide extensive community service to the county, Ledden said.

This year the program operated between June 13 and September 21. The young people accumulated a total of over 65,000 hours of work at 50 different work site locations throughout the county. A total of 96 different work site supervisors guided them in their daily responsibilities.

Just under 300 young people went through the intake process at the local office of the Western Maryland Consortium, Ledden said. They were then referred to the Youth Employability Office of the Board of Education where Ledden and his staff screened participants, arranged interviews and placed a total of 239 in some form of summer work experience.

This work experience included: 9,800 man hours in various schools, 3,004 man hours at Garrett Community College, 14,385 man hours at State Parks and Forests, 9,290 man hours at Broadford Recreation Park, 21,740 man hours at government and community agencies, 3,705 man hours in special projects and the balance of time at various other types of work sites.

Special projects included: Northern High School stadium, flood control dams, Finzel, Accident and Mt. Lake Park Community Parks, painting the hangar at the Garrett County Airport, flood control work at the 4-H Camp and several activities for the Garrett County Fair.

PRESENT AWARDS — The Garrett County Commissioners presented outstanding performance awards to 15 participants of the Summer Youth Program at their October 4 meeting. The Summer Youth Employment Program provides work experience for youth and is coordinated through the Garrett County Board of Education. Pictured are, left to right, seated, county commissioners Ernest Gregg, Elwood Groves, and John Braskey; standing, John Ledden, program coordinator, and 10 of the 15 award recipients Jamie Wright, Randall Lowers, Michael Shannon, Timothy Kinser, Scott Sines, Anita Bowser, Timothy Sines, JoAnn Durst, Vywanda Miller, and Shirley Steuber.

SUMMER YOUTH PROGRAM PARTICIPANTS — Among the jobs provided youth employees in the Summer Youth Employment Program was work on a pavilion at the Accident Open Space Park project. At work on preparing the foundation for the pavilion are, left to right, Rick Gregory, Chris Williams, David McKenzie, Ronnie Meyers, and roving crew supervisor Arthur Childs.

Serving as the SYEP staff with Ledden were: Elmer Redinger, assistant director, Bonnie Swyter, training specialist, three field advisors: Robert Crone, Patty Yoder and Woody Yoder, and three roving crew supervisors: Arthur Childs, Don Douds and George Futch III, and Gail Dixon, secretary/receptionist.

The following participants received honorable mention for their summer work: Ronald Beckman, Mt. Nebo; Josephine Bolyard, Board of Education, Chapter I - Office; Shelbadean Bolyard, Board of Education, Food Service; Michael Brantner, Town of Kitzmiller; Diane Burns, Southern Middle School; Albert DeWitt, Herrington Manor State Park; Russell Fitzgerald, 4-H Project - Bittinger; Rita Friend, Ruth Enlow Library - Accident Branch; Dennis Garlitz, Herrington Manor State Park; Karen Gaither, Board of Education - switchboard; Linda Miller, Clerk of Circuit Courts Office; Virginia O'Leary, Community Action; Courtney Rounds, New Germany State Park; Martha Rice, Ruth Enlow Library - Oakland; Rhonda Sisler, Camp Hickory; Robert Steyer, Broadford Recreation Park; Kathy Strawser, Animal Shelter; and Crystal Wilt, Deep Creek Lake State Park - Office.

The participants receiving the Outstanding Performance award and their work sites were: Anita Bowser, Goodwill Mennonite Home; Jeffrey Cooper, Southern Middle High School; JoAnn Durst, Ruth Enlow Library - Grantsville Branch; David Elsey, Southern Middle School; Mildred Johnston, Center Street Recreation and Board of Education, Chapter I - Office; Timothy Kinser, Board of Education - Maintenance; Randall Lowers and Vywanda Miller, Herrington Manor - Swallow Falls State Park; Timothy Paugh, County Roads; David Ringer, 4-H Camp - Bittinger; Michael Shannon, Broadford Recreation Park; Scott Sines, Northern High School; Timothy Sines, Camp Hickory; Shirley Steuber, Garrett Community College and Jamie Wright, New Germany State Park.

"As the Summer Youth Employment comes to a close along with the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, we have seen the result of a lot of people working together in partnership to accomplish much for our county and at the same time provide some valuable experience and funds for our young people," Ledden said.

Self-Evaluation Workshop Slated

The second in a series of self-evaluation workshops entitled "Who am I?" will be offered at the Grantsville Library Branch on Monday, October 17, from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. This workshop will assist participants in ways of better understanding themselves which will lead to a better self-image.

The workshop is sponsored by the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College and will be conducted by Sandra Schofield, Outreach/Job Awarenenss Coordinator of the Program. For more information or to register persons may contact the Program's main office at 334-9184.

Nazarene Church To Present Film

The Church of the Nazarene, Oakland, will present the feature-length film, "The Sun Never Sets in the Morning," this Sunday, October 16, at 7 p.m.

The film, part of the worldwide celebration of the Nazarene Church's 75th anniversary, focuses on the life and ministry of Phineas F. Bresee in the context of the rise and formation of the Church of the Nazarene.

There will be no admission charge and Rev. Kenneth G. Rice, pastor, invites the public to attend. The church is located on Eighth and Alder Streets.

Senior Citizens Participate In Three-Day Trip

Forty-six senior citizens departed from Oakland on September 28 at 6 a.m. for a trip to Washington, D.C., Crisfield, Tangier Island, and Baltimore's Inner Harbor.

The trip was arranged by Ernest and Alice Spoerlein. The bus driver was James Abe and the escort was Martha Armstrong.

Entertainment was provided by Ernest Spoerlein, Joseph Welch, Hugh Denison and Robert E. Lee.

On Wednesday the group took a tour of historic places in Washington and dined at the Crystal Dinery in Arlington, Va.

They went to Arlington National Cemetery where they participated in a wreath-laying ceremony in which a wreath was placed on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier on behalf of the Oakland AARP. The president, Joseph Welch and Keith Steyer, both veterans, placed the wreath.

They attended a Dinner-Theatre at Toby's in Columbia.

On Thursday they travelled to Crisfield and took a cruise to Tangier Island, Va., on the Steven Thomas. They returned to Crisfield and had a seafood dinner at Captain Gally Restaurant.

On Friday they went to Baltimore Inner Harbor where they saw the Top of the World Trade Center, National Aquarium and Gift Shops.

Those taking the trip were: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Spoerlein, Mr. and Mrs. DeNeal Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Lear, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bray, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Forman, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Steyer, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Denison, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Welch, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee, Irene Weir, Grayce Quinet, Beulah Sisler, Fannie Sullivan, Jean Sollars, and Elizabeth Watkins.

Revelation 7:1-17

It happened while I was hiking in the mountains. suddenly I came into a clearing and saw the crumbling foundations of what had once meant shelter and protection for a pioneer family. Rugged mountains surrounded the decayed dwelling on three sides. But in front there opened a panorama across a valley which in all its beauty held me spellbound.

I turned and noticed a small old-fashioned rose bush which seemed to reminisce with yesteryear beside the moldering stoop. I could feel the presence of those long-ago people. How they must have loved this place. The woman had tended flowers and vegetables here, had borne her babies and had helped her man carve a life from the wilderness.

What was their secret — these pioneer people? Where did they find the courage and confidence needed to face the privations and dangers of primitive living? God was their refuge and strength. Their love of Him illumined their lives, and goodness graced their days.

Just so today. God and His Church are the source of all bounty, greatness, and joy. They are yours for the asking.

WHAT IS IN A NAME?

Whenever you consider buying a product and it has a name that you recognize, or is made by a company you are familiar with, it will always give you a certain confidence that what you are getting is of good quality. It is the same when you select a pharmacy to get your medicines and health needs from, or a family physician.

Your doctor and pharmacist feel the same way about companies who make pharmaceutical products. Although some drugs may be made by many firms, your physician usually specifies the exact brand name he feels will be the safest for you. Because we stock only medicines made by reputable firms, we too feel confident that we are always dispensing drugs that are dependable.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WRATH AND LOVE

October 16, 1983

Background Scripture: Romans 3:21-26; 5:6-11; Hebrews 9:11-15; Colossians 1:11-14.
Devotional Reading: Hebrews 3:1-6.

"Let's see if I got this straight," said the bright youth who was a member of our confirmation class. "God created me as a finite human being who is able to sin, right? Then he gave us commandments and told us not to break them and, when we break them, he becomes angry with us, o.k.?" Getting my nod, he continued, "So then Jesus sacrifices himself to satisfy God's anger at us so we can be reconciled with him? Is that correct?" Once again I confirm his attempts to express orthodox Christian theology in simplistic language.

"Yeah?" he questions, "well then I can't understand why God goes to all that trouble in the first place. If he creates us as less than perfect and knows we can sin and will sin, why doesn't he just forgive us to start with or lower the commandments a little? Why does Jesus have to do all that to get God to do what he intends to do in the first place?"

APART FROM THE LAW

It was a good question and one not easily answered. So I began by saying that, although his explanation was essentially correct as an interpretation of Paul's theology, it is still an attempt to express infinite truth in finite words and concepts. It is an attempt to portray the mind of God from a very human perspective. It presents God as a deity who changes his mind from time to time. But we know that God is unchanging; what is changeable, therefore, is not God, but our understanding of him. Because we cannot hold in our minds a concept that is big enough and deep enough, we deal with bits and pieces of the big picture and the language we use to try to explain those bits and pieces is never adequate.

For example, Paul says in Romans 5: "Since, therefore, we are now justified by his blood, much more shall we be saved by him from the wrath of God" (5:9). Paul's words do make it sound as if Christ sacrificed himself in order to appease an angry God. But this is the action of God viewed from human eyes. We must remember that it is always God who acts through Jesus Christ: "But God shows his love for us in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." So it is God's love that saves us from his wrath. In other words, the love and wrath of God are two different expressions of the same reality. He is the God of both law and grace, wrath and love. Neither is complete or could exist without the other.

SAVED BY LIFE

Thus, we are not saved by the death of Christ, but the love of God that was stronger than death. When we understand this, it seems to me, we begin to see the atonement of Christ, not in negative terms, but positive ones. Even Paul recognizes this: "... much more, now that we are reconciled, shall we be saved by his life" (5:10). As Christians, we do acknowledge the sacrificial death of our Lord, but it is the redemption of a living Lord, not a dead martyr, that enables us to experience both the wrath and the grace of God and the salvation that is compounded of both.

'This Is Your Life' is reborn with a new host

By Elaina Thompson

Ralph Edwards

Apparently the lean, athletic man with the trim jaw who looks nowhere near his 70 years borrowed a line from one of the most successful shows he's created and said, "This Is Your Life, Ralph Edwards. Why don't you take some time off?"

No, that doesn't mean he's retiring, or semi-retiring, just that he's cutting the double-duty and overtime and has fired himself as the on-camera host of "The All New This Is Your Life." The Saturday evening series, which premiered on an ad hoc network last month, will now be hosted by Joe Campanella.

Edwards will continue to head his production company with the help from his son, Gary, and Stu Billet, among others. Of himself, he says, he's been in broadcasting since he was a junior in high school, all through college at the University of California at Berkeley, then big-time radio announcing in New York, and finally his own creation, "Truth or Consequences" in 1939. The series easily phased into television and is still going strong. So is one of his newer daily series "The People's Court."

Whenever and wherever "This Is Your Life" has played (and that includes localized versions in England, Australia and Spain) it has always rated in the top 10. After nine years on NBC, the show went into syndication in the United States until 1973. Recently Edwards decided to bring it back because we all, "especially the young," need heroes and there's still a good supply.

"There are people of courage, who overcome difficulties, problems and handicaps every day," says Edwards. "Yes, some of them are celebrities, but many of them are not. We do not depend on celebrity value."

In selecting Campanella as the new host, Edwards didn't choose a clone of himself in appearance, but a man who could handle the drama of the scripted portions, and unforeseen extemporaneous blurts and burbles, while staying in command.

This isn't the first time Edwards has fired himself as host. Twenty-five years ago, he replaced himself on "Truth or Consequences," with Bob Barker.

Barker is a man who really knows how to say thanks, says Edwards. "Every Dec. 21 at 12:05, he shows up with a gift. That's when we signed the original contract."

Lauri gets no 'Break'; she goes back to 'H.S.'

By Peter Meade

Lauri Hendler

Although she plays a high school student on NBC's "Gimme a Break" and in the movie "High School U.S.A.," to air Sunday, Oct. 16, Lauri Hendler has put her high school days behind her.

She is currently furthering her education by starting her sophomore year on Thursday night's "Gimme a Break." If the series hadn't been picked up for another season, the 18-year-old wanted to major in English at Yale.

But she won't be joining Jodie Foster and Jennifer "Flashdance" Beals on the New Haven, Conn., campus just yet.

"I was put on the waiting list," says Miss Hendler. "To put things in perspective, I had a 50-50 chance of getting in. So I decided to reapply next year. I always wanted to be an actress, so that was my first priority."

So when "Gimme" was put on NBC's priority list for the new season, Miss Hendler went to work on the soundstage instead of in the classroom.

But she had to go back to academia to film "High School U.S.A." It was filmed in Norwalk, Calif., in an abandoned junior high school that almost has as many famous alumni as Miss Hendler's alma mater, Beverly Hills High.

"Grease 2" and CBS' late sitcom "Square Pegs" were also filmed in Norwalk. It's more than an hour's drive from B.H.H.S., where she says her best friend was Amy Linker, who played one of the "Square Pegs."

Miss Hendler has been working since she was 12 so it didn't surprise her that she had to work on the set of "H.S. U.S.A." on the day she was to graduate from real-life high school.

"Working on my graduation day was very fitting," she says. But because she has spent more time on TV than watching TV, she didn't realize the significance of the older members of the "H.S. U.S.A." cast. She knew most of the younger members (Michael J. Fox of "Family Ties," Dana Plato and Todd Bridges of "Diff'rent Strokes" and Nancy McKeon of "Facts of Life"), but Cathy Silvers (of "Happy Days") had to explain who the older cast members were.

NBC gave the movie such a high mark that a second script has already been commissioned. That means it might be another year before Lauri Hendler can get away from high school.

CINDY SAYS

'Scoundrel' Joan; Glenn and 'Ladies'

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — Bette Davis was expected on the set of "Hotel," her ABC series, this week, but she didn't make it. Recouping from surgery in Connecticut, there's still no confirmation on her return. The producers now hope Miss Davis will check into their "Hotel" next month... It must be serious between Mary Tyler Moore and her Mt. Sinai Hospital cardiologist, Dr. Robert Levine. Levine, who's Jewish, has attended services recently at New York's Temple Emanuel. Miss Moore, who's not, went with him... After filming "Scoundrel" perfume commercials at Raleigh Studios in Hollywood, Joan Collins treated herself to a weeks' vacation in London.

Mary Tyler Moore
real love"

"Sophisticated Ladies" opened at the Warner Theatre in Duke Ellington's hometown, Washington, D.C. First-nighters will be part of a John Glenn fund-raiser. Only $200 gets them Glenn in person, champagne with strawberries, and theater seats. And what will they eat? Well, for one thing, fried mozzarella with apricot horseradish. Ex-astronaut Glenn probably found the menu in outer space.

Steven Spielberg, who counts his millions by the dozen, locked onto another $200 million in bookings and merchandise deals for his new movie "Indiana Jones." Forget about Blackglama mink coats. What becomes a legend most is big money... Jordan's King Hussein is cruising the Med with Queen Noor and the kids in a tub suitably named The Sinbad.

Bette Davis
'Hotel' reservation

Ingrid Bergman's twins, Ingrid and Isabella, skipped mother's tribute in Venice last week. Reason is, while living in America, they inherited $2 million from her. Had they placed one pedicured toe in the land of their birth, the Fiscale — that's the IRS Italian-style — would have hooked them for a fat tax.

Director-writer Lawrence Kasdan is no artful dodger when it comes to nepotism. His sons, Jon and Jacob, are in his movie "The Big Chill." So's his wife, Meg. She plays a stewardess.

TV TATTLE

Johnny Cash

'Reed and Rite'

Johnny Cash will host a documentary on adult illiteracy, to air during the beginning of January, 1984.

Called "Capital Cities Special Report: Cant Reed, Cant Rite," the hour-long syndicated program is now in the final stages of production.

Although Cash is best known as a country singer, he gave an outstanding performance as an illiterate in the 1981 CBS movie "The Pride of Jesse Hallam."

"What sets adult illiteracy apart from so many of the problems dealt with in TV documentaries is its 'solvability,'" says Charles Keller, vice president and general manager of Capital Cities TV Productions. "Adults can be taught to read. But many more volunteers are needed. We hope our documentary can be a catalyst."

"Cant Reed, Cant Rite" was filmed on locations around the United States. Included are interviews with Barbara Bush, wife of vice president George Bush, Secretary of Education Terrell Bell, and Anthony Alvarado, chancellor of the New York City Board of Education.

More Moran

As ABC's "Happy Days" moves along happily into its 11th season, Joanie Cunningham becomes a college student.

Erin Moran, who plays Joanie, is also a "single" woman again. Her show "Joanie Loves Chachi" is over and so is her romance with Chachi (Scott Baio). She's back home in Milwaukee again, has returned Chachi's I.D. bracelet and is heading to college to major in English. She'll also find time to do some student teaching in the same school where the Fonz (Henry Winkler) now works.

Miss Moran has also grown up in the other roles she is now playing. She was part of the season premieres of two other ABC series, "Love Boat" and "Hotel," and is enjoying the challenge of showing a different side of her acting abilities.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

I really liked "Bare Essence." How come it was taken off the air? — K.S., Lumberton, N.J.

Not enough people watched "Bare Essence." The movie, which had the advantage of having Linda Evans in it, had such high ratings that the series was rushed on the air. Rushing something on the air is not always a great idea. As Ian McShane, who was on the series said, the characters never had a chance to develop.

Lee Horsley

I have been a fan of Lee Horsley's through "Nero Wolfe" and now "Matt Houston." Where can I get a picture of him? — Mrs. M.W.H., Bardstown, Ky.

Write to Aaron Spelling Productions, 1041 No. Formosa Ave., Hollywood, CA 90046 and request the picture. They produce his series.

Of all the "Charlie's Angels," my favorite is Kate Jackson. When is her birthday? What are her hobbies? Where can I write her? — S.N., Louisiana

You'll be happy to know your favorite will be on CBS on Monday nights with a new series called "Scarecrow and Mrs. King." She plays Amanda King, a single parent who gets involved with a secret agent played by Bruce Boxleitner. Kate was born in Birmingham, Ala., on Oct. 29, 1948. As for hobbies, Kate is one of those totally career-oriented ladies. She is married to David Greenwald and they have a production company called Shoot the Moon Productions. Write her — or how about sending a birthday card? — at the production company, care of The Burbank Studios, Burbank, CA 91505.

Ricky Schroder

Are they coming out with any more episodes of "Silver Spoons" or are they just going to keep showing reruns? Not only do I like the show, but I like Ricky Schroder. When is his birthday and where can I send him a card? — C.J., Lucerne Valley, Calif.

"Silver Spoons" is now showing new episodes. The reruns are just summertime fare. Ricky turned 13 last April 13. So you have plenty of time to get a card to him at the series, at Universal Studios, Universal City, CA 91608.

SOAP OPERA WEEK

'Texas' lives on WTBS; Chris causes a riot

By Kimberly Redmond

John McCafferty of 'Texas'

Two weeks ago, NBC and Procter & Gamble's defunct soap project, "Texas," was resurrected on Superstation WTBS in Atlanta.

"Texas," which was an hour-long spinoff of NBC-TV's "Another World," is currently being presented in half-hour segments, airing at 11:05 a.m. (E.S.T.) followed by "The Catlins," also a Turner Broadcasting and P&G production emanating from an Atlanta-based studio.

As a network soap, "Texas" got off to a feeble start, while at the same time it almost demolished "Another World," since in the beginning many cast members with a goodly following were transferred from "AW" to "Texas."

Toward the end of its NBC run, however, "Texas" picked up viewers, if not ratings, under the tutelage of executive producer Gail Kobe (who currently holds a similar position on CBS' "Guiding Light"). Many are convinced that another factor contributing to the demise of "Texas" was the network's decision to move the show to the early morning time slot of 11 a.m.

On WTBS, "Texas" did not start with the serial's premiere episode, but began almost two years into the show. During the first few days on WTBS, introductory information was presented to bring viewers up to date with the characters and plot lines.

This is only the second time that a daytime drama with network origins has been picked up for rebroadcast in the United States. The first, "Dark Shadows," has been in syndication for the past several years.

New York area fans of "Days of Our Lives" and actress Gloria Loring (Liz Chandler) will get a chance to meet the actress/singer when she appears at Macy's department store on Saturday, Oct. 22. Gloria will be on hand to autograph copies of the second edition of her "Days of Our Lives" cookbook. All proceeds from the book are donated to the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation.

Christopher Holder (Kevin Bancroft on "The Young and the Restless") learned first hand that being a soap opera actor can sometimes be a bit on the scary side. Recently he had to literally run for his life when a shopping mall autograph session turned into a riot scene. After order was restored, Chris graciously signed autographs for the crowd of eager "Y&R" fans.

(Have a question about soap operas? Write Kimberly Redmond at 200 Park Avenue, Room 602, New York, NY 10166.)

The cast of "High School U.S.A." includes child stars of the past and present. Pictured here are (counterclockwise from center) Michael J. Fox of "Family Ties," Elinor Donahue of "Father Knows Best," Dawn Wells of "Gilligan's Island" and Angela Cartwright of "Make Room for Daddy."

Devane hopes 'Knots' gives decent exposure

By Peter Meade

William Devane

What brought the outstanding and outspoken actor William Devane to "Knots Landing"?

"Inactivity," says Devane. "I wasn't getting decent parts. I've been struggling just to get parts on medical shows. 'Knots Landing' is the best place to do what I want to do this year — get a lot more exposure."

Devane has not been involved in a major television product since he played President John F. Kennedy in "The Missiles of October," and for "Knots" he will again be playing a politician.

"I'll have to get out my TV grin," says Devane. "If anyone's looking for a politician, I'll be on that list. I can't escape the earlier typecasting. I have a reputation as being a wise guy and politicians are the only ones worse than actors when it comes to egos. But why would anyone want to be president? What can you do once you get there? But we're coming into an election year, so a lot of the nighttime soaps are offering political characters. I'm playing a very liberal state senator with an interest in — blondes."

Devane's No. 1 fair-haired "interest" will be the series' resident blonde, Donna Mills. Although Miss Mills' character, Abby Cunningham, will be marrying Gary Ewing (played by Ted Shackelford) early this season, Abby will be engaging in secret liaisons with Devane's character, Gregory Sumner, by mid-season.

"I'm not good at walking around with my shirt off and saying 'Baby,'" says Devane, "but the exposure should at least put me at the starting gate for other major projects."

He already is acquainted with most of the "Knots" cast, including Julie Harris, whom Devane says "is one of the best actresses alive today." He has signed a one-year contract that includes appearances in 19 of this season's 22 episodes. There is also an option for a second year, although he says his character is not included in the show's story line beyond the current season.

"We've left it open-ended," says Devane. "I haven't watched 'Knots Landing,' my wife does. I raise horses, so I'm usually asleep by the time the show comes on."

Fisher Explains New Format For C&P Statements

In a move to prepare telephone customers for changes associated with its upcoming divestiture from AT&T, C&P Telephone Co. is issuing a new, expanded telephone bill statement beginning this month. It will give customers a glimpse of how they will be billed for telephone services after the first of next year.

"The divestiture from AT&T in January means most telephone customers will be dealing with three separate companies for the same service C&P provides today," according to Leroy Fisher, C&P spokesman.

"For example, one AT&T company will provide telephone equipment, while a separate AT&T company will offer long distance service. C&P will continue to provide local telephone service, and some intrastate long distance, and will handle customer billing for all three companies," he said.

The new telephone bill separates charges corresponding with the type of service each company will provide—local area service, telephone equipment, and long distance service.

The new billing format does not change the amount a customer pays for telephone service today, Fisher stressed, but because it itemizes each company's charges in separate sections, it will increase the size of the average bill to about nine pages.

C&P is introducing the new bill now so customers and business office employees can become familiar with the new format.

"We want everyone to realize that they will be dealing with three companies in the future, but will still receive only one monthly bill and make payment to only one company," Fisher explained.

However, if a customer uses a long distance company other than AT&T, that company will bill the customer directly.

To help customers understand the new format, C&P is enclosing a special bill insert, entitled "We Can Help," with the bill.

The insert is one of a series of newsletters C&P will issue in the months leading up to and immediately following divestiture.

The publications will address changes in the way customers obtain telephone service, equipment and repair service after the first of next year.

"The 'We Can Help' bill inserts are part of a comprehensive customer information effort," Fisher said. It will also use advertising, public speakers, and an extensive community relations program to inform customers about changes.

In addition, C&P will operate a toll-free "We Can Help" information line to answer questions about the new bill or any other divestiture-related changes. Customers can call the hotline between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. Monday through Friday at 1-800-555-5000.

Christian Women Club To Host Guest Speaker

Mrs. Nancy Pratt, Laughlintown, Pa., will be the guest speaker at the next luncheon of the Oakland Area Christian Women's Club, scheduled for Wednesday, October 19, at 11:30 a.m. at the Village Inn, McHenry.

Mrs. Pratt is the mother of five and wife of an attorney.

The special feature by JoAnn Schrock of Cut' N Curl in Oakland will reveal the latest in hair fashions.

Mrs. Becky Mason of Oakland will provide special music.

The Christian Women's Club is part of an international organization with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo. It is interchurch and non-sectarian, with about 2,100 groups meeting monthly across the United States and Canada and around the world.

All interested women are invited to attend, and may make reservations with Mrs. Brenda Thorn at 334-8506 or Mrs. Janet Smith at 334-1115, for both nursery and the luncheon. There will be free nursery care by reservation at The Deep Creek Baptist Church, Rt. 219.

Harvest Sale Set At Swan Meadow

The annual Harvest Sale at the Swan Meadow School near Gortner will be held on Friday, October 14, at 7:30 p.m. Such items as garden produce and baked goods will be offered on auction. There will be various refreshments for sale. The public is invited.

Republican Women Meet At Hill Top

The Northern Garrett County Republican Women's Club met September 27 at the Hill Top Restaurant, with Carolyn Ganoe, president, presiding. The devotions were given by Twila Mae Fike.

Committee person Carol Frazee reported that a number of county roads are being retained and more dirt roads will be tarred and chipped in the near future.

A book entitled "Ronald Reagan, His Life and Rise to the Presidency," written by Bill Boyarsky, has been purchased and will be placed in the Ruth Enlow Library in Grantsville.

Carolyn Ganoe, Cora Bowser, Mary Durst and Cleda Baker are the delegates to attend the Federation of Republican Women's Convention to be held October 14-15 in Timonium.

Plans were made for the Christmas dinner, to be held at Hill Top Restaurant December 5 at 6:30 p.m. Instead of purchasing jingle gifts, the money will be given to the Northern Rescue Squad. Carol Frazee and Lois Rowe will be in charge of entertainment.

Last minute committee meetings resulted in a cancellation by Senator John Bambacus as guest speaker for the evening. Beverly Murphy reported that she had spoken with the Senator, who sent his regrets. Bambacus said that he is "very much concerned" about the seriousness of unemployment in Garrett and Allegany counties. Club members are endorsing his proposal for a special session of the Maryland General Assembly to address the need for an additional program of extended unemployment benefits. Letters from citizens containing their opinions on the matter may be directed to Gov. Harry R. Hughes, The Senate House, Annapolis, Md. 21401, or persons may telephone Senator Bambacus at 1-800-492-7122, ext. 3565.

Delegate George Edwards will be the guest speaker at the October 25 meeting at Hill Top Restaurant.

Twenty members and one guest, Ruth DePaolo, were present for the meeting. Refreshments were served following adjournment.

"I had no idea he drank until one day he came home sober."

Civil Defense Sets Emergency Exercise

The Garrett County Civil Defense and Disaster Preparedness Agency will conduct an Emergency Operations exercise October 21 from 1 to 4 p.m. in the emergency operations center in the basement of the courthouse.

The exercise is designed to test the phone notification system, familiarize participants with procedures, and test the capability of the recently completed emergency operations center.

The exercise is being arranged by Brad Frantz, civil defense coordinator, and Terry Spear, assistant coordinator. All participants in the emergency operations exercise will be notified by telephone by Central Alarm to report to the center at approximately 1 p.m. Participants are asked not to report without this notification, according to Frantz.

Retirement And Estate Planning Course Offered

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College will offer Retirement and Estate Planning. Sessions will be held at the Grantsville Elementary School Oct. 20 and 27 from 6 to 9 p.m.

This short course is designed to make participants more aware of the importance and benefit of proper retirement and estate planning. It will review Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs) and Keogh Plans along with Medicare and Social Security considerations. It will include estate planning and the value of making a will.

The course is limited to 25 participants and registration is now being taken on a first-come, first-serve basis.

For more information persons may contact the Office of Continuing Education at 334-8266.

nutrition NEWS

The Nutrition Committee of the American Heart Association has prepared a series of articles providing information and recipes for healthier diets. Another of those articles, supplied by Wendy Norris, dietician for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and a member of the commmitte, is as follows:

Last week we started off the fall season by getting ready for the Friday night football games. This is also the time to get ready for the winter weather which is fast approaching. While raking up the leaves in the yard or making sure that the storm windows are ready for the winter, take good care not to overdo. The Heart Association recommends that, if you are not used to this type of hard work on a regular basis, you should pace yourself. Take your time! Work at it slowly and easily and you will get it done! Safely and healthily!

This week's featured recipe is an easy bake-in-the oven sandwich. Traditionally sandwiches are thought of as being served cold or grilled. The following recipe, however, is a very simple one that can be prepared in a toaster oven.

Baked Turkey & Swiss Cheese Sandwich

¼ cup Prepared Mustard
1 Stick Margarine
1 Tablespoon Grated Onion
1 Tablespoon Poppyseed

Cream together these ingredients at room temperature.

Spread some of the mixture on rye bread as you would butter bread.

Place 2 ozs. of turkey and 1 oz. of cheese on a bottom and then top it.

Wrap in aluminum foil and bake at 300°F for 15 minutes or until cheese melts.

Don't forget to save this recipe and the hearty Tomato Corn Soup featured last week plus the two upcoming recipes to complete a meal. If you missed any of the weekly recipes, you can get copies from Wendy Wakefield R.D., 334-2155. Don't forget to order your cookbooks for Christmas from the Heart Office too!

Help For Workers Who Need Jobs!

The Targeted Jobs Tax Credit (TJTC) program, administered by the Maryland Job Service, is designed to provide employers with an incentive to hire job seekers from low-income families as well as job seekers from other specified groups. Through the TJTC program, qualified job seekers have a greater opportunity to gain work experience, develop job skills, business contacts and references. The program is an extremely simple method of encouraging employers and job seekers to meet in the labor market.

If you are between 18 and 24 years of age or a Vietnam era veteran or an ex-felon from a low income family, handicapped, or a member of a family receiving cash welfare payments, you may be able to take advantage of this program to get a job. If you are eligible, you will be given a form worth several thousand dollars to any employer who hires you.

If you would like a job and you want to participate in this program, complete the form below.

When the form is completed bring it to:
Maryland Job Service
216 East Alder Street

VOLUNTEERS HONORED — Volunteers who have aided the Garrett County Commission on Aging were honored at a dinner for 130 persons held September 30 at the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College. The dinner was prepared by Amy Griggs, nutritionist for the commission, and staff members, and served by members of Brownie Troop 5537. The welcome address was given by Lois A. Brenneman, area coordinator, and Mrs. Griggs. All transportation aides, cooks, homemakers and all other volunteers were honored, and the program included a film from Ruth Enlow Library, a poetry reading by Marian Moorehead, Frostburg, and music by Marilu Rowe, North Glade Road.

MONEY-RAISING QUILT — Members of the Oakland Senior Citizens Center have completed a handmade quilt, displayed above, to help raise funds for the group. Tickets for the quilt are available from the senior citizens room in the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College, according to Lois Brenneman, area coordinator of the Commission on Aging.

Census Bureau Slates Survey

The U.S. Bureau of the Census will conduct its regular survey on employment and unemployment in Garrett County during the week of October 17-22, according to James F. Holmes, director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Philadelphia.

In addition to the usual questions on current employment, the October survey will contain questions on school enrollment. Also, questions will be asked to obtain information on non-collegiate post secondary enrollment and student mobility, as well as time spent on homework by elementary and high school students.

Households in this area are part of the sample of 72,000 across the country scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all U.S. households.

The monthly survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor and provides a continuous record of activity in the labor force. The August survey indicated that of the 112.3 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 101.6 million were employed.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Kahl Graduates From Mortuary Science Institute

David Kahl, 22, Oakland, graduated from the Pitttsburgh Institute of Mortuary Science August 27, completing a 12-month course of instruction.

Kahl is now serving a two-year apprenticeship with R. Mark Durst, owner of Durst Funeral Home, Oakland.

A son of Charles T. and Helen (Harned) Kahl, David is a former honor roll student at Southern High School, where he was a reporter for the Quill and Scroll Society and a reporter for The Acorn newspaper. He also played basketball.

Kahl received his Associate of Arts degree in May 1982 from Garrett Community College, where he graduated with honors.

He is a member of the St. Paul's United Methodist Church and the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

Pipers Perform At Hopemont Hospital

The Garrett Highlanders bagpipe organization, Oakland, travelled to Hopemont Hospital, Terra Alta, on October 3 to present a program of bagpipe music and short talks about the pipe.

Members participating were Fred Thayer, John Grant, John Wolfe, Elizabeth Morris, Jack Beard and Charlie Evans, Jr.

There were 45 residents in attendance, many never having heard or seen bagpipes. A return visit is tentatively planned for the spring.

Any groups wishing to present a program of entertainment, bingo or other activity may contact Hopemont's Volunteer Coordinator, Connie Grove, at 789-2411, Ext. 78, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Bambacus, Murray Meet To Discuss Cable Pornography

Pornography on Cable TV was the subject of a recent discussion between Senator John Bambacus and Miss Mary E. Murray, former National Regent of Catholic Daughters of America.

Bambacus, Chairman of Senate Select Committee 1 for Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties, has been looking into steps which might be taken by State government in the area of Cable TV regulation. Miss Murray, a resident of Mount Savage, expressed her objections to the showing of obscene matter on the airwaves, stressing the view that Cable operators should be required to observe the same standards of public responsiblity as the networks. Both Bambacus and Murray have been in touch with U.S. Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. to request his consideration of the issue on the federal level.

Bambacus stated that "responsible television programming is an issue of vital concern to our citizens. Pornography on television is a matter which affects our families and our society."

HCO Program Sets Cosmetics Workshop

The Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College will hold a free workshop entitled "Looking More Confident" on October 19 from 9 a.m. to noon in Room 306 of the Oakland Center of GCC. Jan Cassidy, a beauty consultant with Mary Cosmetics, will help participants learn to look more confident through cosmetic techniques and tips regarding makeup.

This workshop is free and open to the public. To register, or for more information persons may call 334-9184.

We've broken the tradition of fixed premium-fixed benefit life insurance with UniversaLife... It let's your money work twice as hard for you—giving you the life insurance protection you need when you need it and building a sizeable cash value accumulation at the same time. You decide how much life insurance and how much cash value accumulation you want.

Special Olympic Winners Honored By Legioneers

The Mountain District American Legion held its second meeting at Proctor Kildow Post 71, Oakland, on September 16.

Two winners of The International Special Olympics, held in Baton Rouge, La., were given plaques by Commander Jerry Francis and Tom Dawson, chairman of the Special Olympics for the Mountain District.

Walter Griffith, son of Carolyn McMillen, Barton, won a gold medal in the softball throw. Alan Arthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Arthur, won a silver medal in the softball throw and a silver medal in the 440-yard dash.

At The International Special Olympics there were 52 nations represented and 4,200 athletes took part.

Commander Francis and Tom Dawson issued a reminder that the local Winter Special Olympics will be held at The Wisp, Deep Creek Lake, January 22-25.

There are more than 80 species of birds that only nest in dead or dying trees, such as red-bellied woodpeckers, screech owls, and chickadees.

A NEW BOOKLET, which includes old photographs of Mountain Lake Park, recipes from many of the boarding houses which once thrived in the Park, and a daily appointment calendar, has been published by the Friends of Mountain Lake Park and will go on sale this week at various locations during the Autumn Glory Festival and at local businesses. Copies of the booklet may be obtained for a donation of $3 each, with all proceeds going to support restoration, promotion and improvement projects for the town. Persons wishing to order copies may do so by sending payment plus $.40 postage per copy to Friends of Mountain Lake Park, c/o The Republican, P.O. Box 326, Oakland, Md. Persons interested in the town of Mountain Lake Park, whether or not they are residents there, are welcome to join the organization, which will meet at the Park city hall on Thursday, October 20, at 7:30 p.m.

Southern Rescue Squad Selling Citrus Fruit

The Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad has announced that it is sponsoring its first citrus fruit sale. Orders are now being taken for pink and white grapefruit, navel and Hemlin oranges and tangelos. It is available in two-fifth and four-fifth bushels.

The sale will continue until November 26, with delivery slated for December 8. Orders may be picked up at the Southern squad building on Oak Street any evening except Saturday.

Persons interested in ordering fruit may do so with any squad member, or by calling or stopping by the squad hall between 6:30 and 10 p.m. Sunday through Friday. The phone number is 334-3000.

Proceeds from the sale will help purchase needed maintenance and medical supplies for ambulances and rescue truck.

Past Matrons, Patrons Visit Oakland Chapter

"Perfect Love" was the opening thought of Wilda Hile, Worthy Matron, as Oakland Chapter #67, Order of the Eastern Star, held its October 4 meeting at the Masonic Temple in Oakland.

The Worthy Matron then greeted nine Past Matrons and Past Patrons of the Past Matrons and Past Patrons Caravan of Western Maryland. She also greeted Elizabeth Mullennex, Deputy Grand Lecturer; Jane Biggs, Grand Representative; one visitor, 18 members and her officers.

Elizabeth McComas, treasurer, and Betty Foy, secretary, received a special reading and a gift in honor of their service and assistance to the Worthy Matron.

"A Sure Way to a Happy Day" was the closing message of the Worthy Matron. After the meeting was closed, several members participated in a fashion parade to entertain the Past Matrons and Past Patrons Caravan.

The next meeting will be October 18, which will be Advance Night and the official visit of the Deputy Grand Lecturer, when two candidates will be initiated. October birthdays will also be celebrated.

Fellowship was continued after the meeting with refreshments being served by Doris Swartzentruber and her committee.

Unusual Markings Found At Swallow Falls State Park

A series of unusual markings, pictured above, have been found on a large stone along the Youghiogheny River in the Swallow Falls State Park area. Remembering details of an article which appeared in The Republican last May, Park Ranger Gerry Sword was attracted by the unusual nature of markings on a stone high above the river path near the "Little Falls." He then contacted the Rev. John Grant, local amateur archaeologist, who examined and photographed the markings a few days later.

"This is the kind of thing we have been searching for," said Grant, "in order to add collaborating evidence to the inscriptions found down near Beckley, W. Va. Several markings have been found since the article first appeared in The Republican, and I appreciate the fact that people contacted me about them. However, the markings found by ranger Sword are exactly what we had in mind."

Comprising a dozen characters, the inscription extends about five feet over the face of the sandstone outcropping. At the present time, they can be seen about 12 feet above the path that runs along the river. "Admittedly," Grant stated, "they could be the result of natural fracturing of the sandstone, but this possibility is diminished by their regular sequence. They resemble the same pattern of Ogam script which is found in West Virginia."

When asked about what message the inscription might contain, Grant replied, "If this is Ogam script, the letters can be deciphered into a message. However, a translation of the message is something for experts to do, since it has only consonants; vowels are absent. When a person starts adding vowels, the entire meaning of the message could be changed."

Earlier this summer, an Indian neck amulet was located by an Accident woman which had an Ogam type of inscription on it. As yet a correct translation of the inscription has not been returned by an expert who was consulted.

Secretaries Plan Dinner, Workshop

The Garrett County Chapter of Professional Secretaries International will hold a covered dish dinner on October 20. The dinner is open to all those secretaries who are interested in learning more about PSI. A program describing the organization and its activities is being planned. The dinner will be held at St. Mark's Lutheran Church at 6:30 p.m.

PSI will be sponsoring a computer workshop for secretaries on November 5. Marci McClive will be leading the workshop from 9 a.m. to noon at Garrett County Community College.

For more information regarding either of these activities persons may contact Rebecca Knox at 334-8789.

Ambassadors To Sing

There will be a Gospel concert at the Gorman Church of God this Sunday, October 16, at 2 p.m. Featured will be The Gospel Ambassadors, of New Creek, W. Va.

The Ambassadors have performed with a number of nationally-known groups and have recorded four of their own albums.

Rev. John Bava, pastor, invites the public to attend.

Grantsville PTA Meeting Noted

The Grantsville Elementary School PTA met recently to elect new officers for the coming school year.

Those persons chosen include Judy Shoemaker, president; Lois Bittinger, vice-president; Mary Ann Fink, treasurer; and Judy Sebold, secretary.

Matthew Stieringer, principal, spoke of tentative plans for the school year, and reported that several new teachers had joined the faculty. Mrs. Patty Rice is teaching the Gifted and Talented program. Jeffrey Rice is in charge of the Physical Education program.

A PTA newsletter will be sent to parents during the year to keep them informed of current projects and upcoming events. Several items that had been donated to the school and to individual teachers were noted during the meeting.

Attorney General's Docket

by Stephen H. Sachs
Maryland Attorney General

Buying insurance can be one of the most confusing—and costly—consumer purchases you will ever make. Perhaps because the language and provisions of insurance policies can be so complicated and baffling, many consumers fail to do the same tough comparison shopping for insurance that they do for other consumer goods.

That can be an expensive mistake, studies have shown. For example, the federal government found back in 1979 that the difference in cost for the $25,000 whole life policies offered by various companies was as much as $4,700 over a 20-year period. While insurance is supposed to provide you and your family with financial protection in case of accident, illness or death, there's nothing wrong in tryingto get this vital safeguard at the most reasonable price available.

There are many kinds of insurance: automobile, homeowner or renter, business, even exotic policies to cover such things as the Oriole games that are rained out. The terms in most automobile and residential insurance policies are about the same (although costs do vary depending on the company). But there are many kinds of life insurance and health insurance policies and you must consider carefully precisely how much insurance you need and—what is equally important—how much you can afford.

Life insurance is designed to cover funeral costs; help support a family and provide money for the educational expenses of the childen if the breadwinner dies. In some cases, it also supplies disability payments or retirement benefits as well.

Basically, there are three kinds of life insurance—Term, Whole Life and Endowment—each of which has numerous variations.

Term Insurance often is the least expensive form of coverage. It lasts for a specific period, usually a year or more, and either is renewable (at a higher premium cost) after that term expires, or can be converted (again at a higher cost) to a Whole Life or Endowment policy at any time you wish during the length of the term. Usually there is no cash value accumulated over the years for the premiums you pay for a Term policy, but since it is the most economical type of life insurance it may be the best kind of policy for a single person—or one with a limited income—to provide money to pay for funeral expenses and outstanding debts.

Whole Life insurance does not expire. It lasts as long as you live (and pay the premiums, of course), and after your death the lump sum for which you are insured is paid to the person or individuals you name in the policy as "beneficiaries." You can pay the premiums for Whole Life policies any number of ways—once a year for as long as you live; once a year for a specific period of time or until you reach a certain age, or in a single payment. Depending on how you pay the premiums, you can purchase either a Straight Life (sometimes known as an "ordinary life") policy, which requires you to pay a fixed premium each year for the rest of your life, or a Limited Payment Life policy, for which you pay a higher premium for a limited period of time, say 20 or 30 years. Both types of Whole Life policies gradually build a cash value from which you can borrow money during the years you are paying premiums.

Endowment policies reach "maturity" more quickly than Whole Life policies. "Maturity" is when the cash value of a policy and the face value of it are the same. A Whole Life policy matures when the purchaser reaches 100 or when the purchaser dies, prompting "instant maturity" of the policy. Endowments tend to require higher premiums, but when they mature, which can be after whatever length of time you choose—20 years, 30 years, and so on—they provide a greater cash accumulation than a regular Whole Life policy would provide for the same length of time. Once the policy matures, you may take its face value as a lump sum; have the insurance company pay you a monthly income, either from the cash (which is called an annuity payment) or from the interest on it only, or you may exchange the policy money for a different kind of investment.

Some insurance experts contend that life insurance is needed primarily to protect families against the loss of the breadwinner's income, so consumers without dependents simply don't need it. Others point out that persons without dependents today might find themselves responsible for the well-being of quite a few dependents in a year or two. The long-range costs of insurance are less if you buy it when you are young and healthy, so even a single person might be wise to get in on the ground floor, so to speak, when buying insurance.

Regardless of the type of insurance you're considering, be sure to deal with reputable agents and companies. All insurance sellers in Maryland must be licensed by the State Insurance Commission, and if you don't know either the company or the salesperson personally, check them out. Be wary of those trying to sell you life insurance by mail, since it is more difficult to verify the credentials of the company or the salesperson. Make every effort to comparison shop for policies and terms. Remember that insurance agents earn their commissions by selling you as many extra policy provisions as they can.

According to one insurance consumer group, the average family of four pays $1,000 a year—or 11.7 percent of its disposable income—for insurance. That's a substantial sum no matter how you slice it, so you'd be wise to know as much as you can about insurance before you sign on any policy's dotted line. The Better Business Bureau has two helpful publications, one called Tips on Life Insurance and one called Facts About Health Insurance, which you may obtain free by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Council of Better Business Bureaus, 1515 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, Virginia 22209.

Energy Tips

by Patricia Driscoll Easterday
Extension Agent for Community Resource Development for Allegany and Garrett Counties

Last month's article delt with two mechanisms for reducing water use; stopping leaks and installing water saving devices. This month's column will concentrate on the third mechanism for reducing water use; which is developing water saving habits. Following are some good habits to get into if you would like to cut your energy and water bills.

Take shorter showers. Unless a shower lasts seven minutes or less, bathing in the tub will usually use less water and energy.

When filling the tub, don't let water run down the drain until it gets hot. Instead, close the drain before turning on the faucet. The water will soon be hot and the temperature can be adjusted later as the tub fills.

Use a brush, washcloth or your hand to dislodge particles of dirt when washing anything rather than relying on the force of water to do the job.

Turn off the water while brushing your teeth; this can save 5-10 gallons of water a day.

Rinse hand razors in the filled sink rather than under running water.

Keep a bottle of water in the refrigerator rather than letting water run in the sink to get a cool drink.

Water the lawn in the early morning to avoid evaporation losses. Avoid sprinklers that produce a fine mist; too much water is lost in wind and evaporation.

Sweep sidewalks and driveways instead of washing them down with the hose.

Never run the dishwasher or clothes washer with less than a full load.

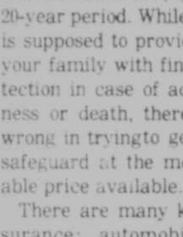
When washing by hand, use a stoppered sink rather than continually running water to rinse them.

Don't use the toilet as an ashtray (or wastebasket). Flushing away six gallons of water is an expensive way to dispose of a cigarette.

Low sudsing detergents require less water for rinsing.

Washing a car for 20 minutes with a 5/8 inch diameter garden hose uses about 97 gallons of water. A ¾ inch hose nearly doubles the flow. With a pistol-grip nozzle on the hose to shut off the flow when washing the car, only about 15 gallons of water are used.

For more information on reducing water use, contact the Cooperative Extension Service at 11 Prospect Square, Cumberland, Maryland 21502, Telephone: 301-724-3320; or at 202 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, Telephone: 301-334-2145; or at Grantsville at Telephone: 301-895-3124 on Mondays and Fridays.



Information from the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service is available to a persons regardless of race color, national origin, sex o handicap.

GET IT RECORDED!

When the time comes to record a deed, make sure it is recorded as soon as possible. Insist on it, because it is of prime importance for a number of reasons some of which are obvious and some not so obvious.

For one thing, a deed can be lost or destroyed just like anything else—thoughtlessly put somewhere and forgotten. Or it could be shuffled up accidently with some worthless papers and thrown in the garbage and burned. (It has happened). Another problem could come up if someone brought a lien against the previous owner before the deed was recorded. If this should happen that would be a valid lien (judgment) against the property—your property!

Still another consideration would be the possibility of the previous owner giving the property to someone else, say a friend or relative. If that person recorded the deed before you did, he would have priority over the property! This could also happen if the previous owner mortgaged the property to someone else. So, remember, protect yourself and don't waste time getting that deed to the Recorder. It's for your benefit!

APPRAISALS

AUTHOR TO APPEAR — Nita Scoggan, retired graphics artist for the federal government, and author of Pillars of the Pentagon, will be a special guest speaker at the October 15 meeting of the Garrett County chapter of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship group. The 7 p.m. dinner meeting will be held at the Aurora Fire Hall, where Nita will speak of various experiences in the Pentagon, and her life as a born-again Christian. Reservations for the dinner are important, and interested persons are asked to contact Sam Wilson at 334-4829; Charles Burrell at 334-3152; Jess Skipper at 387-6707; Rev. Stephen Wilson at 334-3467; or Rev. Victor Kope at 1-304-735-5150, to make these arrangements. Cost of the dinner is $3.75 for adults, $1.90 for children.

Away Meeting Set For Thursday

AWAY (Adult Women and You) will meet at noon on Thursday, October 13 at the Garrett Community College McHenry Campus in LC-164. All participants should bring a bag lunch.

AWAY is an organization made up of students attending GCC after some break from high school or previous college. Ages range from 21 to 65-plus. The group meets on an informal basis to discuss common concerns and suggest remedies. It also gives students who have been at GCC for a semester or more a chance to help new students in their transition from home to college. It also provides an opportunity for students with common interests to get together socially, according to coordinators of the organization.

Thursday's meeting will provide a viewing of interviews with GCC women students who have successfully made the transition from homemaker/employee to college student.

Area women who have an interest in attending GCC are invited to attend.

More information is available by calling 387-6666, 245-4133 or 359-9520. Ext. 146.

Bus Inspection Dates Announced

Garrett County school buses will be inspected at various locations in the county October 18-20, according to Michael G. Sines, supervisor of transportation for the Board of Education.

Inspections will be conducted at Southern High School on Tuesday, October 18, from 8:30 a.m. to noon and 1:30 to 2 p.m.; at Northern High School on October 19 from 8:30 a.m. to noon; at Grantsville School on October 20 from 9 to 11 a.m.; and at Bloomington School on October 20 from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.

Each bus has been assigned to a specific location, according to Sines.

Parent Meeting Held

A parent meeting was held Thursday afternoon at Broad Ford Elementary School with 32 adults and seven pre-school children in attendance.

Discussed were: supplemental reading programs, Chapter I, gifted and talented, parent volunteering and special education. A discussion on the physical education program was led by Phil Caruso, instructor.

The door prize was won by Josie Tenny.

Bambacus Asks State Policy On Use Of Coal

In a letter to Delegate Thomas B. Kernan, Chairman of the special Joint Committee on Economic and Community Development Oversight, Senator John N. Bambacus (R-Allegany, Garrett) has requested that the committee look into the development of a statewide policy on the responsible use of coal.

Bambacus, representing the only two coal-producing counties in the state, considers a sound policy on the extraaction and use of coal an issue of vital economic importance to the region.

A member of the Special Joint Committee himself, Bambacus has discussed the issue with Governor Harry Hughes and former DECD Secretary James O. Roberson. The Senator, requesting that the Committee schedule hearings on a coal policy, stated that "the Committee should provide the proper forum for comment and suggestions

"It has long been my view that there must be a balanced public policy dealing with the need to extract and market our coal on the one hand, and the equally important need to protect our environment and conserve our natural resources on the other hand," Bambacus said. "It is time now to articulate and define the role of the State of Maryland as it relates to the coal industry."

Appalachian Dance Group To Perform

The Appalachian Mountain Square Dancers will be performing this Saturday, October 15, at the tenth annual Pennsylvania State Championship Fiddlers' contest at State Music Hall in Uniontown, Pa.

Competition will start at 6 p.m. in the junior category, followed by the dancers. After the square dancers perform the senior division competitors will be judged.

Jim Hayes, Greensburg, Pa., will be calling out the dance steps for the Appalachian group. Pinkie Shoemaker will be master of ceremonies, and with his band, will provide the dance music.

Members dancing Saturday night will include Ruby Bowser, Rita Zietak, Betty Casserly, Alicia Lanning, Lois Fitzpatric, Dorothy Bowser, Kenneth Rose, Harold Fike, John Turney, Mark Casserly, Russell Bixler, Richard Fitzpatric, Roger Bowser, Harvey Bowser, Kenneth Friend, Vicki Friend, and Jessie McKinney.

Tickets are available from State Music Hall, 27 E. Main Street, Uniontown, Pa. (412) 439-1360.

Wins Quilt

Charles McGuinness, Meyersdale, Pa., won the handmade bowtie quilt raffled off by the square dance association October 5. The group meets the first Wednesday of each month at the homes of the members.

Romney District United Methodists To Hold Rally

The United Methodist Church of the Romney District will hold a New Life Mission Rally this Saturday, October 15, at 7 p.m. in the Craig Civic Center in Kingwood, W. Va. "This event will bring an opportunity to the Romney District for worship, renewal, evangelism, and celebration on a scale heretofore not ever realized," according to Dr. Neal Irons, Romney District superintendent.

The featured preacher for the evening will be the Rev. Eddy Fox, national director of the United Methodist New Life Mission Program from Nashville, Tenn. Dr. Fox has coordinated numbers of New Life Mission events in United Methodist Churches in the Romney district. These events are set for October 30 through November 3.

A choir of United Methodists from across the Romney district will be presenting musical selections during the rally service. Approximately 100 voices will participate under the direction of Rev. Frank Shomo of Franklin, W. Va., and Rev. Bruce Reed of Terra Alta, W. Va.

The goal suggested for each local church in the district is to have its congregation represented at the service with at least five to ten people. The service is open to all who wish to attend.

This rally is the first of its kind ever held in the Romney district. Rev. K Almond is to serve as liturgist, and Dr. Irons will also be speaking.

Art Dept. Of GCC Plans Trip To Falling Water

The Art Department of Garrett Community College is sponsoring a field trip to Falling Water, Pa., on Friday, October 21. The group will leave the GCC library at 10 a.m. and return to campus by 5 p.m. Participants should bring a bag lunch.

This world-famous Kaufmann House built over a waterfall is one of Frank Lloyd Wright's most famous designs. It combines features of the original prairie houses and the California houses built of pre-cast concrete blocks. Wright specifically adapted the house to its site. Built in 1938 "Falling Water" exemplifies "the first" in several architectural characteristics.

The public is invited to join the Art Department on this trip. Persons should make reservations at the college by calling 387-6666, 245-4133 or 359-9520 Ext. 105.

Admission for the guided tour is $4.00 per person and individuals are requested to make reservations by October 19.

Lake Zoning Board Approves Four Of Six Applications

Members of the Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals gave approval to four of six requests heard by its members at the October 6 meeting in Oakland.

One case was denied and another postponed until the November session.

A request for a variance from the zoning ordinance affecting side yard set-back requirements were granted to Adolph Waitekunas, who wishes to construct a home within 12 feet of one property line and eight feet from the opposite property line. His property is on Hazelhurst Road.

An application by Richard Shaffer, Park Lodge Road, for a variance from the ordinance affecting rear-yard set-back was approved, as was a similar request for Fred Bell on Lake Forest Subdivision Road.

A special exception permit was granted to Lonnie Lewis to place a mobile home on the Helen Heath property on Boy Scout Road.

An application by Robert Redic for a variance for rear yard set-back requirements was denied by the board which said that the landowner, represented at the meeting by contractor Troy Gnegy, did not demonstrate that lack of approval would cause a hardship.

A case involving an application by Paul E. Williams for a variance from the rear yard requirement has been postponed until the November meeting as the landowner was not in attendance at Thursday's meeting.

Board members present were Mrs. Betty Friend, John Marple and Irving Day.

Western Maryland Counselors Hold Meeting Locally

Approximately 100 of western Maryland schools' guidance counselors met last week for a three-day workshop at The Village Inn, McHenry.

"This was the third year that professional guidance personnel from Allegany, Carroll, Frederick, Garrett and Washington counties have met for purposes of increasing the occupational competency of those who provide guidance and counseling services to the public school students in Western Maryland," stated Al Coviello, pupil services coordinator for the Garrett County Board of Education.

As in years past, the supervisors of guidance for the five western counties along with Dr. Jack Zealand, Frostburg State College, cooperatively planned this workshop which ran October 4-6. This year Allegany County was the host.

The theme of the conference was "Update on Guidance Services" and special programming emphasized family life, special education, handicapped students, microcomputers and career planning, student financial aid, and new innovations in county guidance services.

The guest speakers included Thom Thompson, executive director, Ability Discovery Counseling, Inc., Towson; Dr. Donald Rabush, associate professor and coordinator of graduate special education, Western Maryland College; Carol Rabush, assistant director, Discovery Center, Western Maryland College; and Dr. Herman Davis, president, College Student Financial Aid Services, Inc., Gaitherburg.

CONDUCT WORKSHOP — Approximately 100 of western Maryland schools' guidance counselors attended a three-day workshop last week at the Village Inn, McHenry. Above, Liz Elliott, left, from the Garrett County Board of Education pupil services office, registers Southern High School counselor Anna Bishop Tuesday afternoon. Glenn Hanna, supervisor of pupil services for the Allegany County Board of Education, lends an attentive ear. Allegany County served as the host county for this year's workshop.

Disaster Drills Are Conducted At Cuppett, Weeks

The Cuppett and Weeks Nursing Home held a surprise disaster drill for employees during the 3 to 11 p.m. shift on Saturday, September 24. The purpose of the drill, which is required by law for all three shifts, is to make certain that the staff is trained and prepared for any type of disaster.

The drill (disaster) was a mock snow storm with the accumulation of 25 inches of snow, causing the roof to cave in on Annex 2. The "victims" had various trauma and exposure due to the extremely cold temperature.

Members of the Health Careers Club and the Health Class at Northern High School served as "victims" for the 3 to 11 p.m. personnel. These included Freddie Bowser, Mellissa Stanton, Brenda Stanton, Tabatha Sweitzer, Hazel Sweitzer, Jim Margroff and Janell Esser. Mrs. Valerie Frazee, student advisor, and Mrs. Kathleen Margroff, mother of one of the students, also served as victims. Fred Bowser, father of one of the students, took photographs.

A repeat drill held during the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. shift on Monday, September 26, had the 3 to 11 p.m. staff serving as victims. These included Joyce Arnott, Lisa Frazee, Lois Evans, LPN, Joan Riggleman, Frances Morehead, Melinda Phares and Betty Riley.

The 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. shift staff was surprised with its drill on Tuesday, September 27. The 3 to 11 p.m. staff again acted as victims with the addition of Cora Shreves, Nellie Wolfe, Maxine Tasker, Kathy Perando and Diane Moore.

Procedures For Nominations To Academies Noted

Procedures for applicants seeking Congressional appointment to United States Service Academies were announced recently by Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.).

Maryland students interested in appointment to the Naval, Air Force, Military or Merchant Marine Academies must apply to Senator Mathias before November 4, 1983, the deadline for applications for nominations to the class entering July, 1984.

Candidates applying for a nomination must be U.S. citizens, Maryland residents, and have the equivalent of a High School education. They must be at least 17 years of age but not yet 22 by July 1 of their entering year.

Nominations are strictly competitive and are based on the recommendations of Mathias' Academy Review Board which evaluates the applicants. College Entrance Examination Board (SAT) scores of 450 verbal and 600 math, or a composite total of 1050, are required to be eligible for an interview.

After the board considers the student's scholastic record and interviews each applicant, a decision is made. Ten nominations are then made for each vacancy. Final decision on appointments is made by each service academy.

Students interested in obtaining further information and application materials should contact Ms. Linda Strine in Senator Mathias' Baltimore Office, 1616 Federal Office Bulding, 31 Hopkins Plaza, Baltimore, Maryland 21201 (301) 962-4850.

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

On October 22 there will be a buckwheat cake and sausage supper at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, Eglon, on Route 24. Serving will begin at 5 p.m. and there will be homemade cider included in the menu.

A Health Fair on November 5 at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building in Aurora is being sponsored by the Aurora and Eglon Homemakers Clubs and Mt. Lions Club. There will be many types of screenings including: eyes, oral, foot, blood pressure, urine test, blood type, all of which are free or for a nominal charge, a blood panel which gives results of numerous factors with one test. There will also be information concerning family planning and the pulmonary education program.

Visiting with the Galen Fikes in Eglon this weekend were Lowell and Lois Texiere and Mrs. Mattie Texiere of Harrisonburg, Va., Mrs. Fike's brother and wife, and her mother.

Dick Ward, Zanesville, Ohio, was a Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Teets at Eglon.

A family birthday luncheon was held on October 2 at the home of Mrs. Millie Phares of Erwin, W.Va., in honor of her and her daughter-in-law, Sue Flynn of Etam, W.Va. The luncheon was given by Mrs. Phares' daughter, Pamela Bucklew of Mt. Lake Park.

The cakes were baked by Beth Colville of Loch Lynn. Many gifts were received by both Mrs. Phares and Mrs. Flynn.

Those attending were Mrs. Nellie Phares of Erwin, W.Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Wotring of Winchester, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Terry Wotring of Stephenson, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Flynn and children of Grafton, Mr. and Mrs. William Flynn and children of Etam, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bucklew and children of Mt. Lake Park, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hotsinpiller, Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Phares of Rowlesburg; Mr. and Mrs. George Knotts and boys of Crellin, Mr. and Mrs. Don Knapp and Dustyn of Red House, and Patty and Pam Bohon of Erwin. Those who did not attend, but sent gifts were Bobbie and Gary Beckman of Red House.

Aurora Homemakers are planning a Community Christmas Festival to be held December 3 in the Aurora Community Building. Organizations interested in having a table to sell craft items, baked goods, or other new items such as decorations, may call either Opal Myers, 735-3881 or Julie Adams, 735-5768 for further information. There will be a charge for the use of a table and only 12 tables will be available, these on a first come basis.

Union Ambulance EMTs were busy during September and the following is a report of their activities by their secretary, Florence Minnig. There were ten runs, nine emergencies and one transport, and they logged 582 miles making those trips plus one trip for repairs, one stand-by for fire, two stand-by trips to Davis for the 4WD Mud Races at which time they were required to make one transport.

Eglon and Aurora Homemakers met on Tuesday, October 4, at the Eglon Memorial Building for a covered dish luncheon. Guests present for the meal were Shirley Miller, acting postmaster at Eglon; Ron Eckley, administrator for Preston Medical Associates; Fran McKenna, Black Lung Outreach Worker with Preston Medical Associates; Naomi Teets, Aurora; Margaret Blagg, Preston County Extension Agent, Home Demonstration. Members from Aurora present were Vesta Stemple, Eva Wotring, Maxine Hauser, Dean Sisler, Anita Lantz and Benjamin, Julie Adams and Ryan, Bonnie Lantz, Opal Myers, Ernestine Sisler and Martha Bolyard. Eglon members were Ruth Parks, Marguerite Shaffer, Nina Layman, Cynthia Bachtel, LaDeana Teets, Avenell Parsons, Mary Rembold, Lillian Knotts, Lorraine Fike, Jean Winters, Linda Lewis, Rebecca Teets and Barbara Heckert.

Following the meal, LaDeana Teets led the devotions using a meditation "Not Now, I'm Eating" and closing with prayer.

The clubs are jointly planning a Health Fair for November 5 at the Aurora School from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Ron Eckley was present to list some of the services which will be provided, which are: foot screening by a podiatrist, blood panel (a series of tests from a blood sample), blood typing, breast exams, dental screening, TB test, urine dip, and there may be other services offered. There will be information on pulmonary care, family planning, cancer and mental health.

President Marguerite Shaffer made a series of announcements prior to the main feature of the day which was a lesson on "Investment Sewing" or the planning of a coordinated wardrobe in which garments may be mixed and matched to give a much broader wearability. Ms. Blagg showed basic garments to wear together or switch and the change provided by different tops and jackets. She also gave several hints on sewing, tailoring, and avoiding the "homemade" look.

It is requested by the Band Boosters that all parents of former Aurora Band members please check their homes and return all uniforms or band-owned instruments immediately. There are many of both the older and new uniforms and accessories missing as well as several of the band-owned instruments.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Lewis recently moved into the former Raymond Russell home at Brookside (the John and Mary Snyder property) which they have purchased and for the past two weeks, Mr. Lewis has been a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital for an injury sustained in an accident earlier this summer and re-injured in a fall at the mines recently.

Mrs. Lela Roth of Eglon remains a patient in WVU Medical Center where she underwent surgery on last Tuesday.

On October 15 Bill and Martha Hollen will be honored with a buffet meal served at 6 p.m. in the Mt. Grove Fire Hall. The dinner is in celebration of their 50th anniversary and they invite all friends and relatives to join them there, but request that there be no gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Harsh of Ft. Ashby visited Thursday in Eglon with friends.

Verla Evans George and her son, Greg, of Belington visited this weekend with her aunts, Nora Strawser and Violet Evans, at Eglon.

The Union Ambulance Squad will begin recertification classes on October 16 which will continue each Sunday afternoon through November 15. Classes will be held from 1 p.m. until 7 p.m. and they invite EMTs who require certification to attend, both those from the local squad and from other surrounding areas. Classes will be held at the squad hall in Aurora.

APPLE TIME

One of the sure signs of fall, besides the beautiful colored leaves, is the apple harvest. Wherever you shop, the grocery store, fruit market, roadside markets or direct sales outlets for orchards, you can't help but notice that apples are in the spotlight. For that reason October has appropriately been designated as "National Apple Month."

This fall's apple harvest is running later than normal. The crop is slow in maturing, and smaller sizes are a definite possibility. Prices are firm for bagged apples in light supply such as Red Delicious. Availability of new crop Red and Golden Delicious is expected to increase sharply in the near future. There will also be plenty of other popular varieties such as Golden Delicious, Rome, and Winesap.

Almost everyone likes apples. They are a very versatile fruit and make wonderful "extenders" for the budget-conscious consumer, while adding food value and flavor to many main dishes. They blend so well with other foods that they can find a place in the menu from first course to last.

Buy apples that are well colored for their variety type, as these usually have the full flavor well developed. The largest size does not always give the best quality.

Apples are noted for good keeping qualities, but it takes a little care to hold them at their best in home storage. For short storage of a few days to two weeks, keep firm apples in a cool place—about 60 to 70 degrees F. Store mellow, ripe apples at colder temperatures in your refrigerator.

Longer storage, up to several months, requires a cold-storage space where temperatures

Farming in Maryland

ASCS Says PIK Program Worked

As farmers faced the 1983 crop year, the outlook was discouraging. Market prices were depressed, net farm income was low, supplies of many basic commodities were overflowing, and demand for crops was still weak.

To help farmers and their families through this difficult period, the U.S. Department of Agriculture introduced a temporary program where farmers could take acres out of production and swap what they didn't grow for a certain amount of the commodity already in surplus. It was called the payment-in-kind or crop swap program, and judging from the level of participation, the majority of farmers agreed it was the right thing to do.

"They saw the payment-in-kind program as a personal action they could take to benefit both themselves and others too," said William B. Crum, chairperson of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. Farmers could reduce planted acres, help bring supplies more in line with demand, and strengthen farm income. They could establish sound conservation practices on their diverted acres and help eliminate soil erosion.

In response to the payment-in-kind program for corn, wheat, upland cotton, and rice, farmers held over 80 million acres out of production, the largest yearly reduction ever. "I cannot remember any program that offered farmers so many advantages," Crum said.

Since PIK began, prices for some major crops strengthened significantly and production costs were down for participating farmers. The program is expected to add $2 to $3 billion to net farm income and greatly reduce credit needs in 1983. Crum says this will put farmers on a sounder financial footing, which will work to benefit agriculture as a whole in the long run.

Without PIK

What would have happened without the payment-in-kind program? For wheat, the bulk of which was harvested before the onslaught of this summer's devastating drought, the result would have been the piling of more surpluses upon markets that were already seriously overburdened. That would have created lower farm prices, massive forfeitures of price support loans to the Commodity Credit Corporation, and increased government storage costs far into the future.

For the crops of corn and other feed grains, PIK's effect on total production has been overshadowed by the forces of nature. Between the dought and PIK, corn production this year will be only about half of last year's total. Current supplies of feed grains are now in far better balance than a year earlier, prices are up, government storage costs will be down and farmers can look to higher expectations for the future.

For individual farmers, of course, this year was one of widely differing outcomes. Drought-plagued farmers who participated substantially in PIK will have grain and a good price. Those who chose not to enroll in the PIK or crop insurance programs and suffered from the drought face a bleak winter.

"This year, far more than others, is a graphic illustration of the historic role of farm programs as a buffer for the shocks that natural disasters can level on our farm economy," Crum said. "Without PIK, corn prices would still be higher than otherwise, but farmers would not have had the grain to sell," he declared.

With PIK

The payment-in-kind program also gave farmers more marketing options and more flexibility, Crum said.

"They had more to gain than ever before. PIK was a self-help program that only farmers themselves could make successful.

"The program gave farm prices a needed boost, and provided farmers and others in their communities with a real reason for renewed hope.

"The PIK program was necessary, in large part, because of the magnitude of the stock imbalance. It was only intended to be a temporary measure to reduce excessive crop supplies and should not be construed as the final solution of problems for agriculture. PIK went a long way toward alleviating the surplus stocks problem. Maryland farmers alone are scheduled to receive 8,239,960 bushels of feed grains, and 183,479 bushels of wheat.

"PIK gave farmers the opportunity to stay in business as excessive supplies were reduced. It is a program that dealt with a symptom. Payment-in-kind was a successful short-term response to a long-term problem," he concluded.

Sidney C. Miller Named Assistant Ag Secretary

Secretary of Agriculture, Wayne A. Cawley, Jr., announced Friday that Sidney C. Miller, long-time member of the Department, will assume the duties of an Assistant to the Secretary effective November 1. His prime responsibility will be in the area of public affairs. In this capacity he will serve as chief spokesman for the Department and maintain liaison with the media. He will also represent the Department on various committees, commissions and/or task forces and perform various administrative duties and limited legislative liaison assignments.

Miller is a graduate of the University of Maryland with a BS degree in Agricultural Education and an MS degree in Agricultural Economics. He began working with the Department's forerunner, the Maryland State Board of Agriculture ; in 1960 as a Marketing Specialist. When the Department was established in 1973 he was promoted to Chief of the Marketing Services Section and subsequently to Chief of the Marketing Division.

Miller who is a native of Quincy, Fla., resides in the Four Seasons (Gambrills) area of Anne Arundel County with his wife, Mary Anne, and daughter, Pam.

Beware of Deadly Gases When Filling Silos

Although I had an article on silo gases about three weeks ago, I feel it is important to repeat it because most farmers are in the process of filling their silos with corn. If you are exposed to silo gases, a burning sensation will occur in the nose and throat. You can work around silo gases and feel no discomforts, but lung damage may result in death just a few hours later. Deadly nitrogen gases are the greatest danger in and around open top concrete silos. I would suggest that you obey the following safety rules:

*Run the blower for 15 to 20 minutes before entering a partly filled silo. Keep the blower running while anyone is in the structure.

*It is best to stay out of the silo for two weeks after filling. Never go into the silo unless someone is nearby.

*Leave the blower pipe close to the silage level to draw off gas.

*At the slightest indication of coughing or throat irritation, get out of the silo and into fresh air at once. Go to your doctor immediately.

*Keep children and animals away from the silo during the filling period and for at least one week after.

*The door between the silo room and the barn should be kept closed during the danger period to protect livestock.

*Ventilate the silo room for at least two weeks after filling.

BE SAFE—NOT SORRY!

Value of Corn in the Field?

I have had several calls from farmers wanting to know the value of corn standing in the field. First of all value is determined to a large degree as to the quality of the corn. Are the ears large, are the leaves excessively dry, etc.? There are many ways to come up with a fair evaluation; however, the following method for pricing 30 to 35% dry matter corn silage by the ton is easy to use. Consider normal corn as a number 6, below normal as a 5, above normal as a 7. Now multiply one of the above by the current price of shelled corn per bushel and you should have a fair nutritional price per ton for corn silage. Example, shelled corn at $4.00 per bushel times normal corn at 6 would equal $24.00 per ton. You also will have to consider the cost of harvesting. I do not recommend that either the buyer or seller try to arrive at a fair price by the acre.

Prune Roses in Spring

Though they may look rather weather-worn and bedraggled now, roses should not be pruned in the fall. Pruning now can weaken roses making them subject to winter injury or even being killed by cold temperatures. Some plants may have long canes which will whip about in winter winds. These canes can be tied loosely together to keep them from whipping. Bush type roses are best pruned in early spring just before new growth begins. Climbing roses need special pruning in late spring after the first flush of blooms have faded.

remain constant and the air is rather moist. If you have cold-storage conditions, such as an old-fashioned fruit cellar, you probably can save money by storing autumn-picked apples in quantity at home.

Before storing apples for long periods, sort them carefully to remove any fruit with bruises or skin breaks. Use these promptly. Divide sound apples into half-bushel lots and stack them in your coolest storage space. Be sure, however, that they will be in no danger of freezing, even during cold winter weather.

Try apples in salads.

MAIN DISH SALADS

Mix 1 cup diced or sliced raw apple with ½ cup celery and 1 cup of any of the following:

Flaked Tuna fish (7 oz. can)

Chopped cooked pork, ham, veal, chicken, turkey

Diced cheese

Moisten with tart French dressing or mayonnaise and serve in lettuce cups (4 servings).

For a jellied salad:

Fold the above ingredients, except dressing, into a partially thickened gelatin mixture made from a package of lemon or lime gelatin dessert powder and 2 cups of water. Chill, serve with dressing. Jellied this way the recipe makes 6 servings.

PUBLIC NOTICES

PUBLIC NOTICE

Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI) for the West Shale Road, the Sand Spring and the Meadow Lake Abandoned Mined Land (AML) Reclamation Projects, Maryland.

The Office of Surface Mining (OSM) is proposing to approve a grant request by the State of Maryland for specific AML projects. The State proposes to reclaim these sites by using monies from the State's 50 percent allocation of the Federal Reclamation Fund. The grant requests covered in this FONSI involve the following projects.

The West Shale Road Reclamation Project is located in the Savage River State Forest, 3.5 miles south of Grantsville, in Garrett County, Maryland. The project involves reclamation of a two-acre abandoned surface coal mine that poses a threat to public health and safety, and degrades the water quality of Little Laurel Run due to acidic runoff and sedimentation.

The Meadow Lake Reclamation Project is located 3.8 miles southeast of Grantsville, Garrett County, Maryland, adjacent to the Savage River State Forest and the Meadow Lake Camping Area (private). The project involves reclamation of a 34-acre abandoned surface coal mine. Water is impounded in a portion of the pit area adjacent to the camping area and Meadow Lake, and is of poor quality. An exposed highwall presents a safety hazard to users of the roadway. Acid, iron, and sediment drainage from the exposed pit and spoil areas flows directly into Meadow Lake, contributing to environmental degradation of the lake and receiving stream.

The Sand Spring Borehole Reclamation Project is located 10.5 miles south of Oakland in Garrett County, Maryland. The project involves reclamation of an abandoned underground coal mine power borehole that is discharging low quality mine drainage into Sand Run. The proposed reclamation area encompasses one quarter acre.

The environmental impacts of those proposed projects are discussed in the specific Environmental Assessments (EA's). Safety hazards and environmental degradation are ongoing on these sites. Additional adverse impacts that would occur as a result of reclamation would not be significant and would be appropriately mitigated to prevent harm to the environment during construction. Beneficial impacts would include protection of health, safety and general welfare of local residents, improved fish and wildlife habitats, reduced erosion and sedimentation, and improved aesthetics.

Based on the discussion of impacts in the EA's, OSM hereby finds that the proposed projects would not result in significant individual or cumulative impacts to the human environment. Therefore, an Environmental Impact Statement pursuant to Section 102 (2)(c) of the National Environmental Policy Act is not required.

Man Arrested For Six Motor Vehicle Violations

An Oakland man was arrested Saturday night and detained overnight in the county jail on six motor vehicle violation charges, reports Officer Ron Beeghly of the Oakland department.

According to Officer Beeghly's report, Frederick Grant Cassidy, 33, Route 1, Oakland, was arrested on Fourth Street and charged with driving while intoxicated, reckless driving, not having a registration card in his possession, failure to keep right of center, unsafe backing, and driving without a license.

The charges were brought after a man stopped in person at the sheriff's department to report that a vehicle matching the description of that operated by Cassidy had run him off Route 135. Cassidy was arrested approximately 45 minutes later, and released Sunday morning on payment of $100 bond.

Insurance Company Notes Appointment

Westmoreland Casualty Company, Latrobe, Pa., has announced the appointment of P. Edward Miller, CPCU, as vice president of its Coal Mine Division. Miller will be working out of our Branch Office in Oakland, and will be responsible for the development of Westmoreland Casualty Company's Mining Program for Pennsylvania as well as other states.

During the six years that Miller spent as vice president of the Coal Division of Rockwood Insurance Company, he successfully developed over $20,000,000 annual premium in Coal Mine Workers Compensation.

He has over 20 years in coal mine and underwriting experience. Prior to the time he spent at Rockwood, he spent 15 years with the Old Republic Insurance Company in Greensburg, Pa., rising to Chief Coal Mine Underwriter.

POSTER CONTEST WINNER — Jimmy Iden, Deer Park, pictured above center, won the senior division of the annual poster contest sponsored by the Department of Natural Resources and Garrett Community College for Sportsmen and Conservation Day late in September. This year's theme was "Building a Future for Wildlife." For his efforts Iden, a senior at Southern High School, was presented a $50 U.S. savings bond awarded by the Garrett National Bank. Pictured at left is Al Bourgeois, district wildlife manager for DNR; and at right is George Evans, vice president in charge of marketing and personnel for the Garrett National Bank in Oakland. The First National Bank would have provided a similar savings bond to the winner of the junior division but there were no entrants this year.

Mom And Me Group To Resume Meeting

The Mom and Me Play Group has resumed its Monday morning meetings at the old St. Peter's School building on Oak Street, Oakland.

The group meets at 10 a.m. on the second floor, following the school calendar for holiday school closings and bad weather cancellations. Meetings are informal and provide opportunities for children to play together, for mothers to discuss topics of interest and for parent and child to participate in activities together, according to Becky Friend, one of the group's coordinators. Singing, finger plays and a snack are usually included, and occasionally on arts and crafts activity or guest speaker, she said.

The organization is open to all mothers and their pre-school children. For more information persons may call Mrs. Friend at 334-4003.

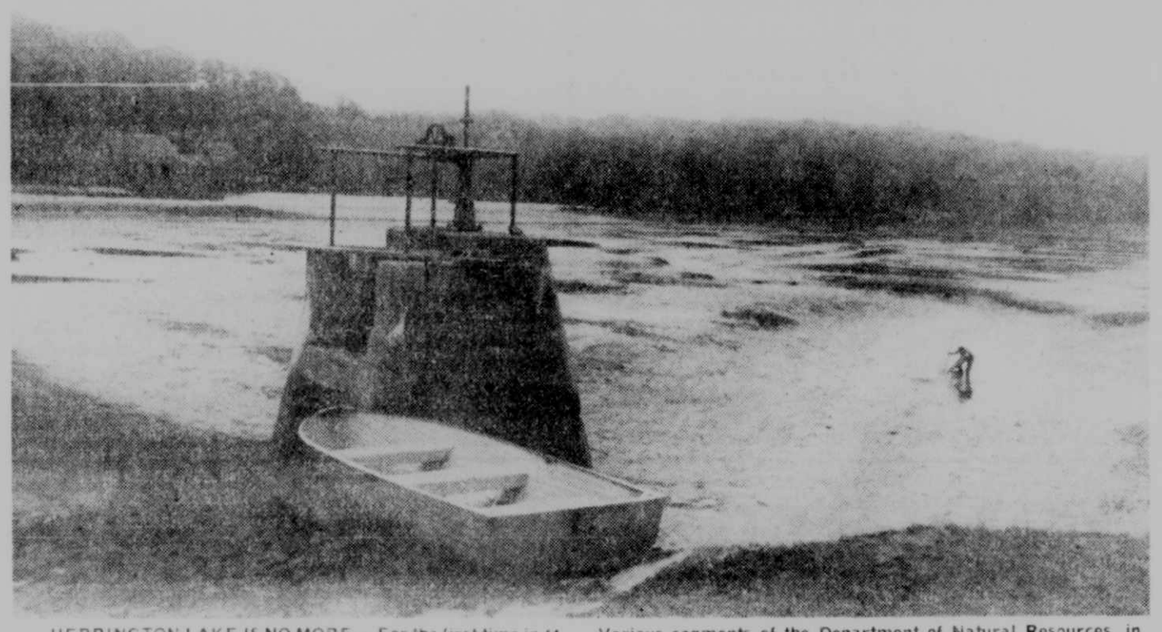
Yough Planner Meets With Commissioners



Keith Roberts who was recently hired by the Department of Natural Resources as project coordinator for the Youghiogheny River, had an introductory session with the commissioners Tuesday, explaining his job's functions and goals.

Roberts has threefold duties: to develop a use plan for the river consistent with the needs of the people; to serve as DNR's Project Open Space coordinator, replacing David Wineland; and to deal with the state's land consolidation plan. The latter is the state's proposed land acquisition, through sale or trade, of any additional land in the county over the next several decades.

Roberts told the commissioners that he will be sharing his findings with their group often. In turn, the board told Roberts that their position is that the county does not plan to give up any additional acreage to state control so that there will be no net change in the amount of acreage in the future.

Commissioner Groves, as a member of the former Yough River local advisory board, said he views the hiring of Roberts as a planner as a "fresh start" on the part of the DNR to resolve the conflict between that organization and the landowners along the river.

Roberts may be reached at the Deep Creek State Park offices, at 387-5116, or by writing Route 2, Box 69C, Swanton 21561.

HERRINGTON LAKE IS NO MORE — For the first time in 44 years, there is no water at all in Herrington Manor State Park's lake. Draining of the 53-acre pool began last Wednesday and concluded Tuesday, leaving mud flats where water once rippled. Various segments of the Department of Natural Resources, in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service, have plans that should delight area fishermen and swimmers beginning next spring. For more details, see page 5. Photos by Craig Phillips

Southern Rescue Member Honored With EMS Award

A Mt. Lake Park woman was among three individuals who were honored recently by the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services Systems for their contributions to local emergency medical services.

She is Fran Pope, a paramedic and active member of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

The awards were presented to Mrs. Pope, Gina Glick, M.D. and Kenneth May on the University of Maryland Baltimore County Campus during the EMS Olympics.

David P. Ramsey, Region I Administrator for EMS, stated that Mrs. Pope's award was for her service in field care as a result of her work with Southern Rescue.

A cardiac rescue technician since 1979, Mrs. Pope has responded to over 330 priority 1 and 2 calls. This represents over 30 percent of all advance life support calls for the squad.

In addition to being an active provider of care in the field, Mrs. Pope serves as Southern Rescue's CRT coordinating officer and organizes numerous special training exercises for the squad. She also serves on the Region I EMS Council and is active on the Medical Advisory Committee.

Dr. Glick, Cumberland, was honored for the active part she plays in "everything relating to the EMS system," according to Ramsey, and May was honored for his participation in the EMS system development, as well as his active membership of the LaVale Rescue Squad.

Supervisor Named At Consortium's Oakland Office

Peter Thomas, executive director of the Western Maryland Consortium, has named Sue Shockey office supervisor in the Oakland office.

Thomas noted the office has been left without a person performing supervisory responsibilities since the elimination of the county coordinator's position in March. However, Thomas explained Shockey will not have nearly the level of responsibility as the county coordinator post and so cannot be considered a replacement for the position.

Shockey will retain her responsibilities she has now in marketing and job development, but will also be responsible for supervising the staff and programs as well as develop a rapport with service agencies and local government. She received a 6 percent salary increase.

On her selection, Thomas noted that he based his decision on the person he felt had the most ability for the position. Seniority was not a factor, he said. He added he was looking for a person who could be a leader and who could represent the agency in the community.

The position was only advertised in the Oakland office with the intention of adding the supervisory responsibility to a person's workload, Thomas said.

The decision to appoint an office supervisor was Thomas', although Garrett County Commissioner Ernest Gregg sat in on the interviews. Gregg said he had no vote in the decision, but merely was present for the interviews because he was the commissioners' representative on the Consortium executive council.

The commissioners, who had requested the county coordinator post be eliminated as a way to reduce administrative costs, had no part in the decision to appoint an office supervisor, although they informally agreed with the need for one.

Commissioner John Braskey had not received word of the interviews and appointment until during the Tuesday press conference. Gregg said he was unaware of the advertisement in the Oakland Office until after it had been circulated there.

County Officials Plan For Meeting On DOT Matters

Garrett County officials are preparing for a meeting Thursday evening with State Department of Transportation officials who are on their annual tour of counties.

During the meeting, to begin at 7 p.m. Thursday in the commissioners' office in the Garrett County Courthouse, Transportation Secretary Lowell K. Bridwell is expected to review the department's report on its efforts to improve state highways and bridges since state taxes on gasoline and road use fees for heavy trucks were raised in 1982 as well as review the FY 1984-89 Consolidated Transportation Program.

Among the significant changes in the CTP is placing reconstruction of the Deep Creek Lake Bridge, along U.S. 219, on the construction program. Engineering on the project is scheduled for completion by FY 1985 with construction to begin in 1986.

The project is estimated to cost a total of $5.9 million, including engineering fees.

Among their preparations for the meeting, the commissioners asked the Garrett County Planning Commission to place in priority ranking state projects in its secondary road program for the county.

At its meeting on Oct. 12, the commission gave rankings to five of the 12 projects.

Those projects, in order of ranking, were: reconstruction of a two-lane roadway on Maryland 42 from U.S. 219 to MD 742;

Matthews Will Address Farm Bureau Members

Jack I. Matthews, information director for the Maryland Farm Bureau, will be the guest speaker to address the annual Farm Bureau membership meeting scheduled October 27 at 7 p.m. at the Grantsville fire hall.

Matthews, 57, is a graduate of the University of Maryland with a degree in agriculture education and taught vo-ag in Baltimore County for a short time. From 1961 until 1972 he managed the Eastern National Livestock Show in Timonium and has held his present position with the farm bureau since 1973.

Currently he is a member of the Baltimore County Planning Board, president of the Baltimore County Extension Advisory Council, and a member of the University of Maryland Institute of Applied Agriculture Advisory Council.

All local members must send dues to secretary-treasurer Merrell Wilburn in order to attend the banquet. If anyone should desire further information, call Wilburn at 826-8239.

Fires Destroy Two Northern County Houses

Firefighters in the northern portion of Garrett County were kept busy this past week as two blazes destroyed two structures, one vacant and one occupied.

A flue fire has been determined to be the cause of a fire Thursday afternoon which destroyed the two-story frame home owned by Greydon Tolson, Dickerson, and located along Fairview Road about five miles off New Germany Road. The structure served as the residence for Mr. and Mrs. Roger Walsh and their child.

Fire personnel from Grantsville and Bittinger responded to the 1:48 p.m. alarm and told Guy Carola, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, that the house was practically down upon their arrival. Carola said that witnesses had seen flames shooting from the chimney just prior to when the framing ignited.

Grantsville firemen remained on the scene until about 4 p.m. Also responding were the county air cascade vehicle, the Northern Rescue Squad and Potomac Edison. There were no injuries reported.

Tolson told Carola that he had insurance on the building.

The second structure fire occurred Saturday night and destroyed an unoccupied single-story house located along Gravel Hill Road near Grantsville. It was the second time within a year that firefighters responded to the structure, having been called there in February to extinguish an electrical fire.

Robert Dunn, assistant chief of the Eastern Garrett Volunteer Fire Department, said that the alarm sounded at 11:21 p.m. and, upon arrival, they found the structure fully in-

Officials Begin Look At Projects For ARC Funding

Word that the Tri-County Council of Western Maryland may receive up to $1 million from the federal Appalachian Regional Commission has set regional officials working on what projects need funding the most.

Expecting to see the money divided equally among the three counties in the TCC, the Garrett County commissioners met with staff persons Tuesday to discuss what county projects most likely could be funded with the ARC money.

Commissioner Ernie Gregg explained to the group that when TCC received money annually from ARC, projects were ranked according to various factors so that conceivably one year TCC funded only Garrett County projects and another year another county's projects were financed.

However, since ARC funds are now distributed sporadically and are diminishing, he expected TCC to evenly divide its allotment, meaning each county would receive about $333,000.

The three projects discussed at length and which the commissioners indicated would be the ones to be submitted on an application for funding, were the Upper Youghiogheny Sewerage Facility, the Oakland Sewerage Treatment Facility, and the Mt. Lake Park sewer line rehabilitation project.

Wendell Beitzel, sanitary district administrator, explained to the commissioners the Upper Yough project which would involve extending a sewage interceptor line from the existing Mt. Lake Park-Loch Lynn sewerage system to the Bausch & Lomb plant and installation of an aeration facility at the Trout Run lagoon which will increase treatment capacity from 180,000 gallons to 500,000 gallons.

Beitzel explained that the Sanitary Commission would ask for $150,000 from ARC, which would be part of a multi-faceted funding package for the estimated $620,000 project cost.

Beitzel said the commission had an EPA grant of $166,500 for the project plus the state grant match of $27,750, as well as a $70,000 HUD block grant.

He added he is preparing an application to the Farmer's Home Administration for the balance of the estimated cost of $206,250. The application will be for a combination loan and grant package.

Wendell Keaton, county municipal coordinator, briefly described the Oakland and Mt. Lake Park projects and asked for $225,000 for Oakland, and $7,250 for Mt. Lake Park.

The commissioners indicated that the three requests can be submitted and if necessary, the amounts will be re-adjusted.

Also present for the meeting were Tim Dugan, county planning director, and Tom Jones, county development director.

HONOR WORKING WOMEN — Garrett County's commissioners took official action Tuesday to proclaim October 16-22 as National Business Women's Week to honor the 44 million women in the nation's work force who are "constantly striving to serve their communities, their states and their nation in civic and cultural programs." At the document signing were, left to right, Pat White, chairman for the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club's Young Careerist program, past club president and national delegate to the national BPW convention this year; Leona Beckman, president of the Garrett BPW; Commissioner chairman Ernie Gregg and Commissioners Elwood Groves, II, and John Braskey. The proclamation further declared "since the major goals of business and professional women are to help create better conditions for business women through study of social, educational, economic and political problems; to help them be of greater service to their community, to further friendship with women throughout the world, that all of us are proud of their leadership in these many fields of endeavor." National Business Women's Week has been sponsored annually for 55 years by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Computer Labs Nearly Complete In County's Secondary Schools

Establishment of computer laboratories in the two high schools and two middle schools in Garrett County is nearly complete, although some problems still exist, said Al Ringer, assistant superintendent of instruction, at the Garrett County Board of Education meeting Thursday.

Ringer told the board the biggest setback to effective use of the computers for instruction was that the disk drives, memory storage devices, for the computers have not been delivered. What this means, he explained, is that a program has to be re-entered into a computer each time it is to be used.

Despite this problem, which Ringer said he hoped would be solved in the next few weeks when the disk drives arrive, the set up of the laboratories is ahead of schedule, Ringer said.

Northern High School's laboratory was in operation by September 14 with regularly scheduled classes taught each sixth period of the day by Gerald Snelson, Ringer noted. Mathematics and science classes are also using the lab.

Southern High School's lab is nearly ready for regular use. Principal Luther Parrack stated the lab may be opened after school hours for use by a computer club and for math tutoring.

The lab at Southern Middle School is also established and in use with classes for sixth graders taught by principal Jack Rickman.

Ringer stated Northern Middle School has a computer lab open primarily for professional development of teachers, but is also used by some students.

Ringer said among the next steps for the computer program will be to train more teachers, begin introduction of computers in the elementary schools on a pilot basis and development of a curriculum for grades kindergarten through 12.

Garrett County is to receive about $10,000 for retraining teachers in computer awareness and programming through a grant secured through the Regional Education Service Agency, Ringer said. He added a committee is being developed to provide the staff development.

Approve Budgets

In other business at the school board's meeting Thursday, the board approved the FY 1984 food service budget and FY 1984 transportation budget.

In past meetings the board had approved two major aspects of the food service budget by authorizing a hike in school lunch prices and a salary increase for employees. The total figure approved for the food service program was $1.22 million.

The $1.6 million budget for the transportation department was also approved which included a 3 percent increase for school bus drivers. The board decided not to increase the per vehicle allowance for the drivers but did increase the allowance for maintenance by 4 percent.

Meet With Legislators

Senator John Bambacus and Delegate George Edwards met with the board to discuss legislative issues which are expected to come before the 1984 General Assembly. Among items discussed were curriculum matters and state funding of education.

The board members expressed their beliefs of the need for additional funding for education as well as the need for a more equalized formula for funding.

In executive session with Bambacus and Edwards, the board discussed labor relation matters.

John L. Yommer, County's Oldest Resident, Dies

Garrett County's Autumn Glory celebration was marred by at least one sad event: John L. Yommer, 105, died Saturday at the Goodwill Mennonite Home in Grantsville.

Mr. Yommer was Garrett County's oldest living resident.

According to a family spokesman, he had been in fine health until Friday evening when he began to experience breathing difficulties.

He was born to George and Elizabeth Witvgall Yommer on August 20, 1878, at Jennings and spent his entire life in Garrett County. He was married around 1903 to the former Abby Beachy, who died 13 years ago.

The couple had a daughter, who died at the age of two.

Mr. Yommer was a charter member of the Zion Lutheran Church in Jennings and a retired saw miller.

He resided in and maintained his own home with his brother until January 1981.

Mr. Yommer is survived by his brother, Dan, 97, also a resident of Goodwill Home, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Services were conducted Monday at the Newman Funeral Home with the Rev. David Rockwood officiating. Interment followed in the Grantsville Cemetery.

GCC Trustees Formally Accept Dean's Resignation

The Garrett Community College Board of Trustees accepted the resignation of Robert L. Trantham as dean of the college at its meeting last night.

Trantham resigned, effective Oct. 28, to become executive director of the Brownville-Haywood County, Tennessee Chamber of Commerce. He had submitted his resignation at the end of September.

Prior to joining the administrative staff at GCC, Trantham was an associate professor of speech and theatre at Genesee Community College, Batavia, New York. He has also taught at Harford Junior College and St. Mary's College.

As executive director of the Chamber of Commerce, Trantham said he will work closely with city and county government in recommending and promoting policies relating to the economic development of the area, located in west Tennessee.

He will also serve as an official representative of the area to regional, state and national development organizations, maintain relationships with local business and industry, and represent the city and county constituents through effective public relation efforts and marketing procedures.

Trantham, his wife Kay, who is director of nursing service at Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home, and their two sons, Robert and Jon, will leave the area in the near future, Trantham said, relocating near Memphis, Tennessee.

Mt. Lake Park To Hold Special Session On Zoning

The mayor and council of Mt. Lake Park decided last Thursday to hold a special session later this month on whether to change the El Lobo property zoning designation from town residential to commercial.

The group decided to review the facts in the case, which has drawn negative response from many residents, and will announce their decision following this hearing.

El Lobo owner Laurence Wolfe had petitioned for the zoning change, alleging that Mt. Lake made a mistake in the original zoning and the property should be designated commercial.

Trick or Treat

Trick or treat will be observed in the town for children up to age 12 October 31 from 6 to 7 p.m.

Other Items

At its October meeting the town officials decided that fall cleanup days will be October 26 through 28. Leaf pickup is scheduled the first four days in November.

Grant Awarded

Letters from the Environmental Protection Agency and the state Department of Health and Mental Hygiene were received announcing a $109,350 grant for steps 2 and 3 of the sewer rehabilitation project.

The grant is designated for replacements in the collection system and manholes, and other needed repairs.

Other Business

A letter was read from the Maryland Historical Trust acknowledging receipt of the town's application for a federal matching grant in aid for fiscal 1984. If received, the funds could be used to refurbish homes in the recently designated historical district.

The council reviewed and approved plans for the Open Space playground on L Street and Philadelphia Avenue. Plans are for playground equipment, a multi-use court, a 30 by 60 foot pavilion, seven picnic tables and two restrooms.

Ivan "Red" Frederick and his wife appeared to voice concern about a drain from the direction of Pinewoods East development which could bring water runoff onto their property on N Street. The town has agreed to replace the present culvert with a 20 inch pipe.

Present for the meeting were Mayor Russell Alexander, and council members Margo Vandiver, George Welling and Welton Lane.

Commission Gives $30,000 Grant To Aid Water Supplier

Members of the Grant County Commission bordering in West Virginia acted September 22 to give a $30,000 grant to the Mt. Top Public Service District to keep that corporation from default and possible federal receivership.

The Mountain Top Public Service District provides water for the Gorman water project completed last year.

Delmas Goldizen, Farmers Home Administration representative from Elkins, told the Grant Commissioners that "something has to be done now." The PSD as of September 26 was behind in note payments in the amount of $16,764 and two notes of reserved account payments for $13,020.

District representative Charles Culp, Sr., Bayard, informed the commissioners that the district had lost approximately $50,000 and requested $60,000 to "buy some time" until the organization could get a rate increase into effect.

The main reason given for the loss was that the PSD did not raise its rates soon enough after learning it was losing money servicing its largest customer, Vepco. An audit exposed the losses and as soon as the third audit is complete, the district plans to approach the Public Service Commission for a rate increase.

Commission President Dayton Carr moved to grant the $30,000 to the PSD, saying they had no real choice in the matter because they could not let a county PSD go into receivership without adversely affecting the county's credit rating.

Garrett County's sanitary district administrator Wendell Beitzel said last week that the Gorman district will be notified of any meetings with the West Virginia Public Service Commission regarding a rate increase. Such an increase would naturally impact on the county citizens receiving water through the Gorman system, since all water is obtained from the Mt. Top Public Service District. Right now the minimum charge is $32.50 per quarter, a charge that is higher than other communities because of the current cost of the water.

Local Bank Merger Given Approval By Comptroller

Courtney R. Tusing, chairman of the board and president of The First National Bank of Oakland, and John L. Conway, president of Cumberland Savings Bank, announced that they received approval October 13 of the Comptroller of the Currency to merge their financial institutions. The merger cannot become effective for 30 days following approval.

The tentative merger date is November 21, when the two banks would open for business as one with a new corporate title—First United National Bank & Trust.

Tusing and Conway jointly stated that efforts are already underway within their respective banks to standardize systems, products and financial services. They also indicated that the merger process is expected to be accomplished smoothly and without inconvenience to the banks' customers since both banks have the same electronic data processing system.

When merged, the resulting institution will become one of the largest locally-owned and independent banks in Western Maryland, with assets exceeding $180,000,000.

1. More Money In Your Pocket — Because First National's Automatic Christmas Club is more economical to process, we will pay you one-half percent more interest on your money. You'll earn 5¾% interest per annum with the Automatic Christmas Club. But, if you prefer it, the traditional Christmas Club (with coupon book) is also available—at the rate of 5¼% interest per annum.
2. More Time Saved — You don't have to come to the bank with a coupon book to make payments. The Automatic Christmas Club automatically drafts your payments from your checking account on the dates you choose. And, you'll never have to stand in line to open another Christmas Club. Next October, when your Club is completed and paid out, the same Club re-opens with your next automatically drafted payment.
3. More Flexibility — Your Automatic Christmas Club payments can be made in any dollar amount you choose. You also have the ability to increase or decrease your payment amount anytime you wish throughout the year. And, you can make extra deposits to your Club at any time, should you wish.
4. Easier Recordkeeping — Your Automatic Christmas Club payments and your current balance are displayed on your monthly combined statement. In one quick glance you know your total banking relationship.
5. More Peace of Mind — With the Automatic Christmas Club there is no coupon book—you don't have to worry about misplacing it, or forgetting to bring it with you to the bank. And, because your Automatic Club payments occur with strict regularity, you can rest assured that your Christmas Club will always be paid in full prior to the deadline. Each October when your Club is completed, instead of receiving the usual Christmas Club check in the mail, you can elect to have your Club balance automatically transferred back into your checking account for even more convenience.

Oakland Officials Have Hearing On Zoning Change

The Oakland town council conducted a public hearing Monday evening to hear testimony regarding a proposed zoning ordinance change concerning homes used for professions.

The amendment to the zoning ordinance was suggested by a petition from at least 12 residents of Second Street extended and others, and refers to Section 405 (47) in the table of use regulations. This section deals with home professional offices and home occupations.

The amendment would also add an additional subsection to the ordinance.

Basically, the change requested would be that a special exception permit must be granted by the town zoning board for home occupations proposed in town residential and suburban residential zones. The subsection would require that no special exceptions would be approved if the character of the specific neighborhood would be altered.

The next step in the procedure is for the town officials to review the proposal and testimony before voting on whether to make the ordinance change.

Local Resident Hospitalized After Shooting Incident

Steven Lewis Tichnell, 26, of the Chestnut Grove Road, Backbone Mountain, was admitted to Memorial Hospital in "stable" condition, last evening following an accidental shooting.

Tfc. D.G. Riggleman investigated for State Police at McHenry and reported Tichnell was at his residence doing some target shooting. After loading the .357 magnum revolver, he was walking with the hammer of the gun still cocked. As he was crossing a barbed wire fence, the report continues, the weapon discharged striking him in the right leg, 12" above the knee.

The accident occurred around 4:30 p.m.

Allegany County Civil Defense reported Tri-Towns Rescue Squad met the Medevac helicopter at a nearby wood yard, and the man was flown to Memorial Hospital. Also dispatched to the scene at 4:40 p.m. were firemen from Bloomington and Luke.

Not A Racial Issue . . .

An effort by Senator Jesse Helms to block legislation which establishes a federal holiday honoring the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., was smashed yesterday on the Senate floor.

Although most of Helms' views are a little too far to the right to suit us, we have to agree with him, perhaps for different reasons, that there should not be a national holiday honoring Dr. King. We believe this not to be a racial issue, although anyone opposing the idea is automatically labeled a bigot by many.

Helms is attempting to disclose evidence which suggests that King is unworthy of this honor. The FBI has information which allegedly links King with communism. There also seems to be evidence that Dr. King's activities after hours were not always of a wholesome variety.

However, we choose not to stand in judgment of Dr. King, recognizing the fact that he too was a human being. We also believe that he was an effective leader who played a key role in bringing about some desperately needed changes in the way blacks were being treated by the majority in this country.

Our opposition on the holiday question is based not so much on the good and not so good characteristics of Dr. King, but on the fact that there are dozens of other deserving Americans throughout the history of this nation who have contributed as much to the betterment of mankind as Dr. King and who do not have holidays commemorating them. As it is now, only three persons are honored with holidays—Columbus, Lincoln and Washington—and the remembrance of the latter two have been combined on one day, Presidents' Day.

What about Jonas Salk Day? or Thomas Jefferson Day? or Susan B. Anthony Day? or Albert Einstein Day? or Ben Franklin Day? or Eleanor Roosevelt Day? or John Wayne Day? All of these people have contributed much to society in different ways. Do they not also rate a national holiday if Dr. King does?

We re-emphasize: this is not a racial issue, but a political hot potato which most legislators are supporting not via sound logic and reasoning or because it's a good idea, but because of fear of what may be in store for their own political futures if they refuse to support it. We must admire Helms for his stand.

We hate to see another unjustifiable, unproductive, horribly expensive national holiday created on this basis.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

In a letter last week concerning the closing of the "Little" Bear Creek Bridge the word "Little" was left out. Little Bear Creek Bridge is different from what is known as Bear Creek Bridge.

To get to "Little" Bear Creek Bridge you would leave the Bear Creek Road a half mile above Friendsville, drive across the Bear Creek Bridge, then drive about another half mile on the paved road to the bridge over Little Bear Creek. There you would find the steel bridge, minus the planks, that were torn off and hauled away. The steel structure was placed there about 1940. In charge of the County Roads at that time was a qualified Engineer from Oakland. His name was "Thayer."

The purpose of this letter is to inform the public of the exact location of the Little Bear Creek Bridge. We would like to have people from all over the county drive in and look at the bridge. We believe that people, once they see the steel structure, minus the planks, would be more sympathetic and more able to appreciate the predicament the now disabled bridge will leave some of our people in during the coming winter unless they can use the road and the bridge to get to Friendsville and back home again.

Clifford Friend
Accident

To the Editor:

In response to Harlan Miller's letter expressing his sentiments on the useless slaughter of birds and seals. First I would like to say that I sympathize with the senseless killing of bald eagles, pelicans and seals. But when it comes to the golden eagles, I suggest Mr. Miller stand on the other side of the fence and view the reasons for the deaths of these eagles.

I spent many summers working the ranches, accused of killing eagles. The sheepman not mentioned by Mr. Miller was the late Mr. Herman Werner. Mr. Werner was a founding father of the Wyoming sheep industry. If you would like to check his credentials, stop by the Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

As for the reasons for the killings, suppose Mr. Miller, you made your living raising sheep and each year you lost a large percentage of your lambs to coyotes, eagles and other predators, approximately 10,000 in Mr. Werner's case. What steps would you take Mr. Miller? Ask the sheepmen on Route 560 their feelings about predators, either stray dogs or eagles, caught on their property killing a lamb. I'll tell you, they'd be killed just as any sane farmer or rancher would do trying to protect his livelihood.

It is a sad situation and I wish there was another way. It is also a shame that the bureaucratics are spending our tax dollars worrying about eagles killed 12 years ago, when the main suspect dies before going to trial.

If you were to have read the actual accounts, you would not have dramatized your description so much. To correct this portion, the sharpshooters were ranch hands and the rifles were shotguns.

An inside point of view from Texas.

Second Impression

Goodnight and "30"

by Harry Fox

A relic of the days when type was cast in slugs of molten metal, the title of this column represents both "the end" of an important part of this writer's life, and a personal milestone.

"30" was the way a copy editor told the linotype operator that the end of the story had been reached—while "goodnight" traditionally noted that a day's work was wrapped up.

This is the last issue of The Republican for which I will serve as advertising manager. This is also the end of an apprenticeship, of sorts.

This education has prepared me to take, in partnership with my wife, Carol, our next step in the craft of the journalist, a trade I have learned to love and respect during my years here.

Readers of this newspaper, advertisers, fellow employees, and the publisher, Robert Sincell, have all had a hand in shaping and testing a novice's love of a demanding, and rewarding, way of life.

There is no point in denying the "bittersweet" taste in putting down familiar tools, of cleaning out the desk, of saying goodbye to routines that have become habitual and comfortable.

The discomfort that comes from letting go of the past is natural. It is the pain one feels in reaching any milestone, because there is the ever-present knowledge that everything is beginning again.

So, while today brings to an end one endeavor, it also marks the beginning of new challenges.

It does not mean ending the friendships formed, or abandoning the people loved, or leaving behind the things I've been taught by patient teachers.

The time has come to move on to another assignment.

If one learns anything in this life, it is the wisdom to say not just "au revoir," (until tomorrow), but rather "a Dieu," (to God), commending our works and our ways to His care.

That about wraps it up.

Police Report

Auto Accidents

Maryland State Police investigated several auto accidents this week, including a two vehicle mushap that occurred at 1:15 p.m. on Saturday, October 15.

According to police reports, a 1983 Olds station wagon driven by Stephen Eugene Brown of Huron, Ohio, was northbound on Rt. 219 and attempting to turn left on Mayhew Inn Road. His vehicle was struck from behind by a 1979 Mercury driven by David Benjamin Robison of Cumberland.

Robison was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad where he was treated and released.

He was charged by police with failure to control speed. Tfc. Chester Miller investigated.

Earlier that same day, a car driven by James Clarence Sechler, 19, of Meyersdale, Pa., was westbound on U.S. 40 at approximately 1 a.m.

Sechler was unable to negotiate a sharp right turn and overturned. A witness advised the vehicle was traveling too fast. The incident occurred on U.S. 40 at Big Savage Mountain.

Sechler was charged by police with speeding greater than reasonable and prudent.

Both Sechler and a passenger, David Brant, also of Meyersdale, were transported to Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland by the Frostburg Volunteer Fire Department.

Tfc. R.J. Resh was the investigating officer.

volved in flame. He said the house was about 30 by 50 feet and was believed to have had four or five rooms.

The cause of the blaze is still under investigation by James Martin, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties.

Also responding to the scene were Grantsville VFD, the Northern Rescue Squad and Potomac Edison crews. Firemen remained on the scene until 1:53 a.m. service program showed a profit in FY '83, an improvement from the previous year when it had a loss of $17,000.

The accountants noted overall that the school system was in sound financial condition.

The board approved a youth jobs program for the 1983-84 school year which is part of the federal jobs partnership training act and named John Ledden as youth employment specialist to coordinate the program.

Reports On Student Grades

Robert Rodeheaver, instructional supervisor, presented a report to the board showing the number of students who were ineligible to participate in sports and other extra-curricular and co-curricular activities in the 1982-83 school year as well as the grade point averages of students participating in the various activities.

Rodeheaver pointed out that overall the average grade point average of the 240 students participating in activities outside the classroom at Northern High School was 81 percent.

There were 506 students participating in activities at Southern High School, Rodeheaver said. Because of such a high number, he and his staff calculated the average of 326 students' grade point average which was 79.2 percent.

The total of students who became ineligible to participate in activities at Southern High School was 31 while at Northern High it was 21.

Rodeheaver said he was pleased that the students in the activities held high grade averages, noting that some students maintained high averages and were in more than one activity.

The board awarded four bids as well as voted to declare the old Accident Elementary School as a surplus building and turned it over to the county commissioners.

Bids awarded were: a fencing bid at Southern High School to American Industrial Steel Fence Co., Grantsvillle, for $7,371.78; a maintenance vehicle bid to J & S Chevrolet, Oakland, for $7,630; a coal bid for Dennett Road Elementary School to Black Diamond Energies, Corriganville, for $39.90 per ton; and a copier bid to Queen City Business Systems, LaVale, for a 48-month lease at $358.81 per month. All bids were awarded to the lowest bidders.

Jim Willis Trends

My friend, Peter B. Kaplan, lives on West 23rd St. in Manhattan. If you ring his door bell the intercom will bark to life and order you to stand back. The key to the street level door is then placed in an empty film cannister and is tossed from a second or third floor window to the sidewalk below. If you're lucky, the lid won't pop off and the key won't bounce into the street.

Peter occupies the second and third floors of the building along with an African Grey parrot (which squawks phrases I can't quote) and several Persian cats (which steer clear of the parrot). Amid an array of photographic equipment, Peter wheels and deals on a futuristic telephone system and issues commands through the intercom to his assistants. More often than not the parrot usurps the intercom and broadcasts his ribald vocabulary around the building.

Peter is a celebrated photographer known for his daring shots of Manhattan from lofty perches. Included in the book, Manhattan, chronicled in "LIFE" Magazine (March, 1983) and featured in an upcoming "Real People" television segment, Peter lives life at breakneck speed. He's unconventional and uncompromising in the quality of his work. He sports a new gold earring depicting "Mickey Mouse" for no other reason except he's always wanted an earring. And at age 44 he's having a love affair with a lady who's much taller than he and considerably older.

As her officially designated "Preferred Photographer," Peter knows every inch of her Roman features. She is the Statue of Liberty and on October 28, 1986 she will have stood at New York Harbor for one century as the most recognized symbol of human freedom in the world.

But those hundred years have not been kind to Lady Liberty and it saddens Peter to see her in such decay. Her copper skin is corroded, her framework weakened and I have seen the rust holes which threaten her.

In the year before her death at 38, Emma Lazarus wrote the inscription for this Mother of Exiles. It bears repeating:

"Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore,
Send these, the homeless, tempest-tossed to me:
I lift my lamp beside the golden door."

The cost to revitalize Miss Liberty and neighboring Ellis Island—where my grandparents and 17 million other immigrants first tasted freedom—is $230 million. Neglected since 1954, Ellis Island is the chosen home for a planned national museum and park which will commemorate our ethnic heritage.

All of this money must come from private donations and none of the restoration will be government funded.

The sale and use of Peter's spectacular photographs of this colossus will partly fund her restoration. When the project is finished we're all going to have a gala birthday party for the lady, because there isn't a single American who doesn't owe something to what she stands for.

For her sake and partly for Pete's sake, your tax deductible contributions may be sent to: The Statue of Liberty, P.O. Box 1986, New York, N.Y. 10018.

Herrington Lake Drained And Sport Fish Sorted To Provide Years Of Better Fishing And Boating

Fishermen who love to try their luck at Herrington Manor Lake will be gratified to know that several state agencies have combined efforts to improve the catches there.

First step, however, required that the 53-acre impoundment be drained and all fish removed. Undesirables such as suckers, catfish, and pickerel were released in Herrington Run below the impoundment, while the more desirable species such as bass, bluegill, pumpkinseed, and shiners were caught in nets and placed in tanks on trucks. These latter species will be kept in special pools at Bear Creek Fish Hatchery near Accident, and at Manning Fish Hatchery in southern Maryland.

Next spring, when other planned improvements have been completed, these fish will be released into the lake and officials predict fishing will get better each year for several years as the new eco-system develops.

According to Jerry Sword, park manager for both Herrington and Swallow Falls state parks, artificial reefs will be placed at strategic points in the lake to provide better environment for bass.

Other improvements will include a weir valve to regulate consistent water flow, construction of a boat ramp for small boats on trailers or carried atop cars, and construction of a parking area.

The swimming area will be cleared of stones and other debris, and the overall appearance of the water should be improved after winter frosts aid in killing off the aquatic weed milfoil which now covers the bottom of the lake.

Helping with the project, from draining the water to capturing the fish to actual construction, are the inland fish and wildlife administration departments of DNR; the park services and forest services of DNR; Garrett Community College, Water Resources Administration, DNR dam inspections ss crews, and the Soil Conservation Service.

The boat ramp and access area will be funded with a $25,000 grant from the park waterway improvement fund, using monies from the state recreational boat tax. Labor will be provided by park and forest service personnel and all supplies will be purchased locally. A team of students from Frederick Community College had planned to assist with fish sorting but were unable to make the trip at the last minute.

Sword related that this is the first time since the lake's construction in 1939 that the entire pool was drained. For several years, the pool has been reduced to three-fourths its normal size in winter to aid in killing the undesirable weeds which flourish on its flat bottom. Deepest part of the lake is at the breast of the dam where water is measured at 15 feet.

Development of the park area was through Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) labor which completed the bathhouse, the first ten rental cabins, the lake and park trails. The state has owned the land since 1917.

The lake presently has 28 boats for rent, and can accommodate an additional 25 boats to make up the "one boat per acre" used as a rule of thumb for fishing. Boats used at Herrington may have one horsepower or less electric trolling motors.

Pictured on this page are a few of the many who aided in sorting the fish which were trapped when the lake was drained. Arm-length pickerel were found, but no outstandingly large examples of other species were noted. The "trash" fish were released into Herrington Run, which intersects with the Youghiogheny River some distance above Swallow Falls.

Act IV Troupe Will End Season This Weekend

The ACT IV local dinner theatre group will close its regular season this weekend with the production of "Arsenic and Old Lace," by Joseph Kesselring. The group is scheduled for special performances next week.

Evelyn Heise and Jean Shaw play the two kindly old ladies who help lonely old men to a peaceful sojourn in the hereafter.

In addition to Shaw and Heise, the cast includes: Bob and Sherry Crone, Kevin Monn, John Smith, Clay Sheridan, John Ackerman, Mike Ross, Michael Hale-Cooper, Rick Lucas, Robert Grove, Bill Thoman and Greg Carrico.

Making a cameo performance this week in the role of the Rev. Dr. Harper will be the Rev. John Grant, pastor of St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park.

The ACT IV Players, a nonprofit group composed of Garrett County residents, is closing its second year of dinner theatre at the Wisp Ski area.

Opening in April with a comedy-suspense, "The Butler Did It," ACT IV continued its season with a two-week run of an old-fashioned melodrama, "The Widows Weary Way Out;" and 13 performances each of "On Golden Pond," "Butterflies Are Free," and "Natalie Needs A Nightie."

In addition to playing to county patrons, the group performed before audiences bussed in from Washington, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and surrounding areas.

Other members of the group are Frances Acton, producer, Dan Ledden, assistant producer and stage manager, Joan Sussman, set and costume design, and Leroy Raines, hairstyling and makeup.

Other people making their appearance in production this summer were Rita Vaeth, Kathy Ward, Linda Coulter, Susan Bell, Linda Fousek, Maria Gonder, Brenda Ackerman, Scott Hollingsworth, Scott Glotfelty, Ned Holloway, Chris Bock, Bob Ulino and Tim Morrisson of Cumberland.

Skate-A-Thon Slated By Local Diabetes Group

November is National Diabetes Month and the Garrett County Diabetes Association is doing its part by planning a skate-a-thon.

The fund raising event is slated for Saturday, November 5, from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Tri-R Roller Rink.

Prizes will be awarded according to the amount of pledges a participant collects. Entry forms are available at Tri-R Roller Rink, the Ruth Enlow Library, High's Dairy Products, or C.P Martin's Convenience Store.

Terry Knotts, president of the Garrett County Chapter, invites the public, including clubs, churches and civic organizations, to participate.

Persons desiring more information may call 334-4049, Wednesday through Sunday.

Homemakers Gain Recognition At Annual Meeting

Six Garrett County Homemakers received 50-year certificates from the National Extension Homemakers Council at the annual Achievement Day held October 11, at the Bittinger Fire Hall. Those receiving the certificates were Anna Clatterback, Deer Park; Mabel Friend and Edna Lewis, Oakland; Almira Stanton and Martha Beachy, Mars Hill; and Lenora Buckel, Bittinger. Mrs. Clatterbuck also was given a certificate from the county, others had received theirs in previous years.

Persons recognized as 25-year members were Clara Weeks, Loch Lynn; and Dottie White, Oakland. Receiving certificates for Outstanding Homemakers in Individual Clubs were Ruth Miller, Cove; Stella Edwards, Casselman Valley; Mary Rollman, Deer Park; Barbara Speicher, Flatwoods; Betty Vitez, Friendsville; Esther Stanton, Mars Hill; Mary Ellen Lichty and Barbara Swiger, Oakland; Zeola Robeson, Route 40; Lorraine Ledden, Sunnyside; and Mary Glotfelty, Swallow Falls.

Certificates were also awarded to members with perfect attendance at club meetings. The Cove Club had 10 with perfect attendance, the Deer Park Club had seven, the Friendsville Club had three, the Loch Lynn Club had three, the Mars Hill Club had five, the Meadow Glade Club had four, the Oakland Club had two, the Route 40 Club had nine, the Sunnyside Club had two, and the Swallow Falls Club had four.

The morning program was presented by Paul and Ruth Calderwood on their recent trip to Vancouver, British Columbia, for the 17th Triennnial Associated Country Women of the World Conference. Homemakers are a part of this organization. In the afternoon, Jane Rentschler, Extension Agent, home economics, showed slides on the 1983 Spring Fashion Show, "Homemakers on Parade."

Opal Crowe, County vice president, presided over the day's activities. Other participants in the program were Fannie Bender, Beryle Foy, Mary Glotfelty, Lorraine Ledden, Beth Colville, Hannah Green, Ann Stanley, Ferne Beachy and Dessie Bowman.

Laurna Savage of the Friendsville Club was installed as County treasurer. Marian Majors, Route 40, will be installed as County president during the February Council meeting.

MAKING PLANS on Thursday for a head-on confrontation with drug and alcohol abuse among school-age youth were various members of the community who will spearhead the local effort in a natinwide program known as "The Chemical People." The project involves two hour-long television programs hosted by First Lady Nancy Reagan to be aired over PBS stations on November 2 and 9. Local interested viewers will gather at the Tiffany Green Room of Silver Tree Inn on those dates to witness the programs and then discuss ways to approach the problem of drug and alcohol abuse on a local level. Attending the meeting, which was held at the Garrett County Health Department board room, were, from left, clockwise, Van Evans, Garrett County Deputy; Don Quin, representing the Department of Social Services and the Maryland Jaycees; Rev. Kenneth Rice, pastor of the Nazarene Church, Oakland; Jane Rentschler, Garrett County Extension Service; Rev. John Grant, pastor of St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park, and representing the Mt. Top Ministerial Association; Leona Beckman, Business and Professional Women's Club; Carol Shawl, Oakland Rotary Club; Bill Koelle, prevention coordinator for Western Maryland; Ed Zook, counselor for Garrett County Health Department; and Jim Terry, also representing the Health Department. Citizens are encouraged to attend the television showings at the Tiffany Green Room, the use of which has been donated by Silver Tree Inn management.

Local Resident Injured In Fall

Paul O. Frazee, 55, of the Frazee Ridge Road, fell approximately 30 feet from a silo near his home. The accident happened October 12, Garrett Central Alarm was notified at 1:42 p.m.

Frazee was transported by the Northern Rescue Squad to Monongalia General Hospital in Morgantown, W. Va. He underwent surgery on both legs and a family spokesman reports that he is now "doing pretty well."

Mr. Frazee was installing a new door in the silo when a ladder rung broke, causing him to fall.

Mt. Lake Water Rehabilitation Is Now Completed

The Garrett County Sanitary District announced recently the completion of rehabilitation of the Mountain Lake Park water system, with all the work accomplished within the original funding limits.

According to Wendell Beitzel, sanitary district administrator, work included replacement of most of the water mains in Loch Lynn and Mt. Lake Park, additional fire hydrants; a new transmission line from Loch Lynn to the water source at Landon's Dam; a new chlorination building, replacement of the collection line at the springs, rehabilitation of the main spring at Landon's Dam, and new water lines for Oak Park.

The original project was undertaken in 1977, with funding obtained by a grant and bond issue from the Farmers Home Administration. The bond issue amounted to $850,000 and the grant was $475,700, for a total project cost of $1,325,700.

Although renovation of the springs, the chlorination building, and replacement of collection lines at the spring were not part of the initial scope of work, the district was able to complete all rehabilitation well within the funding limits, so this additional work was made possible. To date a balance of approximately $8,000 remains, which Beitzel said the district plans to use to recondition the water storage tank in Mt. Lake Park.

Beitzel also related that since the project is complete it is no longer necessary to purchase water from Oakland. Before and during the project, the Mt. Lake Park water system was not able to supply all of the water needs for the two communities of Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn, so water was being purchased from Oakland to prevent interruption of service.

As the administrator pointed out, even during the extremely dry summer when many communities were experiencing water shortages, the renovated system supplied all of the towns' water needs without need for water conservation.

Rehabilitation of the line had originally been deemed necessary to correct deteriorating water lines, many of which had been in service since the system was constructed in the early 1900s.

Oakland Police Called To Check Mixed Up Vehicles

A slight mixup of vehicles led an Oakland man to think his car had been deliberately stolen from the parking lot of the American Legion Saturday night.

According to Oakland Police Officer John Sines, Harold "Chum" Gower reported about 7 p.m. that someone had removed his yellow 1979 Oldsmobile 98 from the lot. About midnight, Gower received a telephone call from Bruce Rodeheaver that Ralph Humberson, also of Oakland, had mistaken the Gower vehicle for his similar Olds and had driven it home.

Apparently both drivers had left the keys in their vehicles. Officer Sines made no arrests or charges and the vehicle was returned without further incident.

ACTIVITIES REVOLVING AROUND WOMEN and their contributions to the workplace, the community and the nation are the focal point of the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club's National Business Women's Week. This year's committee, consisting of, left to right, Helen Harman, Kitty Crowe, committee members; Leona Beckman, club president; and Mildred Wucik, committee chairman. Absent were Alice Smith and Carol Canan, committee members, and Wilma Calhoun, chairman of the Woman of the Year committee. This year the club plans to honor all its members as outstanding women during the October 20 meeting at Will O' the Wisp.

WAYS AND MEANS TO RAISE MONEY for the Garrett County BPW are pondered by, left to right, Tammy Manthos and Evelyn Weissgerber, co-chairmen, with assistance from club treasurer Connie Trickett and corresponding secretary Linda Callis. Each year the club sponsors booths at the county fair, Autumn Glory festival, and the annual Fourth of July celebration, along with numerous yard sales, a Christmas auction, and other events to fund club projects.

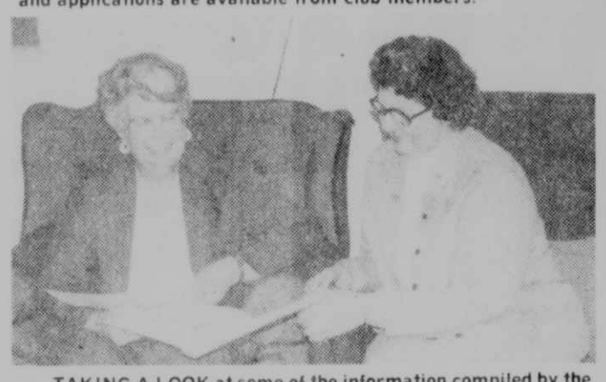
A FULL YEAR of legislative action is planned by the Legislative Committee of the Garrett County BPW. Dorothy Kelly, right, chairman, and Kitty Crowe, member, met recently to map strategies to keep tabs on legislation affecting women on both state and national levels. Their work is assisted by the National Legislative Committee and by various committees on the state level.

BPW Salute To Working Women Now Underway

The nation's annual "salute to working women" is underway this week, designated by the President of the United States and thousands of local officials as National Business Women's Week.

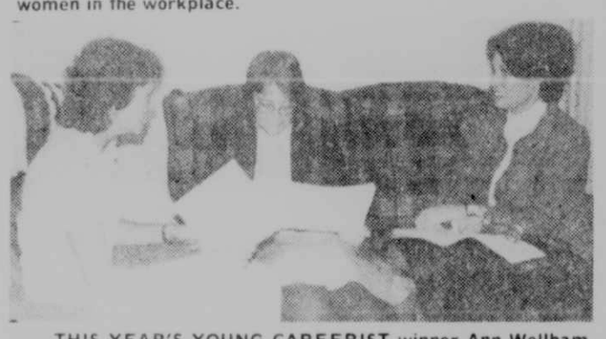
October 16 through 22 has been set aside this year to provide recognition for women's contributions to the economic, social and political life of their communities, states, nation, and the world.

For the past 55 years, this special week has been observed nationwide as a chance to highlight special achievements of working women.



Garrett County Commissioners Ernie Gregg, John Braskey and Elwood Groves officially signed a proclamation last week designating this as National Business Women's Week.

To highlight its observance of the event, the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club is planning to honor, as its "Woman of the Year," all of its club members, for their achievements in the workplace. The members will be honored by committee chairman Mildred Wucik and other club participants this Thursday following the club's dinner meeting at 6:30 at Will O' the Wisp.



Any woman desiring information on club membership, or to obtain applications for the 1983-84 scholarship to be awarded, should contact any of the members.

1983 SCHOLARSHIP WINNER — Lenora Powell, left, received the Garrett County BPW Scholarship from Mildred Wucik, center, chairman, as Lucy Shorb, committee member, looks on appreciatively. Lenora used the money to aid in completing a program in elementary education at Frostburg State College. The 1983-84 scholarship is available at this time, and applications are available from club members.

TAKING A LOOK at some of the information compiled by the National Foundation are Eleanor Deal, left, member of the Garrett BPW foundation committee, and Barbara Flinn, past state foundation chairman. The foundation provides both scholarships for working women and research data concerning women in the workplace.

THIS YEAR'S YOUNG CAREERIST winner Ann Wellham, left, discusses plans for the coming Young Career Woman program scheduled for the November 10 meeting of the Garrett County Business and Profesional Women's Club. Jeri Swartzentruber, center, is program chairman and Leona Beckman is president of the club.

RUNNING WILD Friday evening for the Northern High Huskies was Greg Diehl, who rushed for 197 yards against visiting Father Geibel of Pennsylvania. The Huskies whitewashed the visitors, 27-0, and will host Valley this Friday evening. Also identifiable in the photo is split end Randy Kamp, No. 83, providing some key blocking for Diehl.

Diehl Gains 197 Yards

Huskies Rebound With Convincing Win Over Father Geibel, 27-0

After suffering four straight setbacks, the Northern Huskies finally got back on the winning track Friday evening by blasting visiting Father Geibel, 27-0, behind an outstanding rushing performance by senior running back, Greg Diehl.

Northern		Father Geibel
8	First Downs Rush	1
2	First Downs Pass	8
0	First Downs Penalty	1
10	Total First Downs	10
6	Passes Attempted	26
3	Passes Completed	9
4	Passes Intercepted By	1
26	Yards Passing	131
317	Net Yards Rushing	4
4-28	Punts Average	6-33
5-45	Penalties Yards	3-25
0	Fumbles Lost	0
343	Total Offense	135

Diehl carred the ball 23 times, picking up 197 yards and scoring a pair of touchdowns, while the Husky defensive unit, refreshed and strengthened with the return of previously injured personnel, limited the Pennsylvania team to just four yards rushing.

The visitors gained 131 yards through the air by completing nine of 26 attempts, however the Northern secondary picked off four of them, returning one for a touchdown.

A first quarter scoring threat by the Huskies was halted when Steve Zumpano's pass from Father Geibel's seven-yard line was picked off in the endzone.

Diehl broke open the scoring in the second quarter on a run from the eight-yard line. Dave George added the conversion kick, giving the Huskies a 7-0 advantage at the half.

Northern quarterback, Steve Zumpano, playing from his secondary position, picked off his first of two interceptions in the third quarter and raced 27 yards for the Huskies' second six-pointer. George once again booted the conversion.

In the fourth period, Diehl broke loose on a 75-yard gallop for his second touchdown and, on the Huskies' next drive, Bill Murray carried the ball to paydirt from the 11-yard line. Zumpano kicked the final point of the evening.

Also grabbing interceptions for Northern were Randy Kamp and Roy Miller, who just returned to action this week after sitting out for three weeks with injuries.

The Huskies rolled up 343 yards on the evening, 317 of them on the ground. Zumpano completed three of six passes for 26 yards.

Father Geibel had come into the contest with a 3-3 record, while the Huskies were 1-4.

"Although we had a few problems with our pass defense on some occasions, we were really pleased with our performance," Husky Coach Jack Settle stated. "Our defensive front did a good job applying pressure on their quarterback. He is a strong, mobile quarterback with good receivers, but our kids didn't allow him quite enough time to get rid of the ball the way he wanted to."

Settle stated that the general health of his team is much improved and that the offensive line is "solidifying" once again. "Some of the defensive adjustments that we were forced to make because of injuries have really helped, too," Settle said.

The Huskies must produce another strong performance this Friday evening at home when an inconsistent, but talented, Valley squad attempts to avenge two straight losses to the Huskies. Northern whipped the Black Knights soundly the past two years, 37-6 last season, and 34-0 in 1981.

Valley is coming off a sound defeat at the hands of Southern, 43-14, last week, but has upset Beall and Moorefield, two teams which have already stopped the Huskies this season.

Valley is led offensively by sophomore quarterback Dan Hawkins, 5-10, 160 pounds, who is rated one of the area's top passers. Also anchoring the offense are senior flanker Hank Halbritter, 6-1, 165 pounds; tailback Ed Miller, a 5-8, 190-pound junior; and Ed Shockey, a 6-2, 224-pound tackle.

Defensive standouts include Lee Cutter, senior linebacker, 5-11, 170 pounds; senior linebacker Larry Muir, 5-10, 165; and nose guard Bob Cook, 5-11, 165.

"Hawkins has excellent touch and a lot of poise for a sophomore," Settle said, "and Halbritter is an outstanding receiver. I'm glad we have played several games against teams that go to the air a lot, because there is no question that this is where Valley's greatest strength lies."

Hoping to return to the Northern lineup this week is Phil Carr, guard and outside linebacker, who led the team in tackles until he was injured three weeks ago. His action Friday is expected to be limited. Also questionable for Friday is Randy Kamp, who suffered a broken nose in the Father Geibel contest and was to undergo surgery Tuesday.

"The win Friday really helped our spirits," Settle said. "We're anxious to meet Valley in what should be a good, tough game, because I know they are anxious to get at us too."

Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

Southern Girls Lose Two Matches

The Southern High School Girls' Volleyball Team suffered two defeats Wednesday evening during a tri-match at Mount Savage.

Southern lost the first two games of its match against Bishop Walsh, 16-14 and 15-11. Against Mount Savage, Southern went under 15-3 and 15-2.

The team will host its final home game of the season tonight at 7 p.m. in a match against Beall.

LEAF PICK-UP

The fall leaf pick-up in the town of Mountain Lake Park will be November 1, 2, 3 & 4. Leaves are to be bagged and set at street or in alley for collection.

Mike Friend To Coach Basketball At Bishop Walsh

Mike Friend, women's volleyball coach at Garrett Community College, has assumed duties as men's varsity basketball coach at Bishop Walsh High School, Cumberland, effective October 10. Friend will continue serving as the GCC volleyball coach, according to Carole Ann Lovett, coordinator of public information at GCC.

This appointment follows Friend's resignation as assistant coach of women's basketball at Garrett, a position he held for three years.

Friend is in his fifth season as Laker Volleyball coach and is presently enjoying a 12-5 record with his 1983 squad.

Friend played basketball at Garrett in 1971-72 and has coached on a volunteer basis for the Mt. Top Christian Academy, Mt. Lake Park, teams in Preston County, W. Va., and the Salvation Army, Cumberland. Currently he is director of the Mt. Top Youth For Christ.

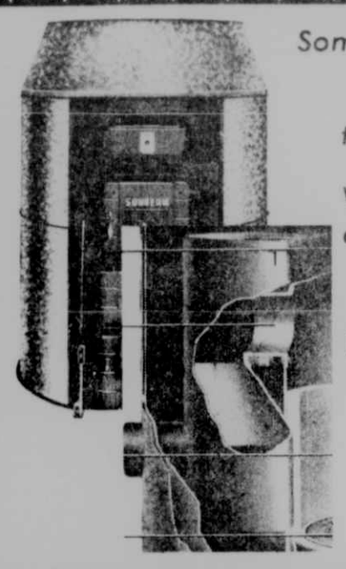
Friend holds an A.A. degree in social science from Garrett Community College, a B.S. in psychology and a M.S. degree in counseling psychology from Frostburg State College.

Friend resides in Mt. Lake Park with his wife, Ruth, and two daughters, Renee and Leslie.

Laker Team Wins Second Annual Festival Tourney

The Garrett Lakers hosted and won the second annual Autumn Glory Volleyball Invitational by defeating Penn State-Beaver Campus, McKeesport Community College and last year's tournament winner, Westmoreland County Community College.

Sue Harper hit for 15 spike points and Sue Snyder spiked for an additional nine to lead the two-game sweep of a strong Beaver Campus squad, 15-5 and 15-12. Garrett setters Kathy Baker and Mary Dougherty had 13 and 12 assists, respectively, as the Lakers controlled the net play in the match.



Garrett opened the McKeesport match with a 15-6 win and then had to hang on to squeeze out a 16-14 squeaker in the match game. Harper again led the Laker hitters with nine spike points, followed closely by Christy Fratz with seven spike points. Dougherty added five servepoints and two blocks.

In the rematch of last year's championship match, Garrett took defending champion Westmoreland with a vastly different result this year as the Lakers completely dominated the Westmoreland squad, 15-2 and 15-1. Fratz served for seven points to carry the Laker offense and Gwen McBee set for seven assists as the Garrett hitters displayed a balanced attack from all four positions.

Fratz and Harper were named to the all-tournament team.

The Laker record now stands at 12-5. Garrett travels to Potomac State and Galludet College this week before returning home on Saturday to host a re-match with Hagerstown Junior College and Frostburg State College at 2 p.m.

Laker Coach Mike Friend indicated that he felt fortunate to be 12-5 at this point in the season. "Injuries are starting to be a major factor for us," he said. "Sue Snyder was out for our Baltimore trip with a knee injury. Today we got her back, only to lose Kathy Baker for a week with a hand sprain. On top of that two additional hitters are playing hurt—Lani Dailey with an ankle sprain and Sue Harper with a rotator cuff injury. In spite of all that, these women have been all heart and have turned in a super performance this week. We have 10 matches left" he continued "six of them against four-year colleges so we don't really have any schedule breaks. Hopefully, our injuries heal quickly and we can win consistently over the last half of our season."

JENSEN—Built to Heat Your Whole House Comfortably and Efficiently.

The Jensen Add-On or Independent Wood/Coal Furnace, is designed to heat your entire home independently or as an add on to your present forced air furnace, (doesn't alter your present furnace). The Jensen Furnace connects easily into your existing hot air plenum. As the automatic wall mounted thermostat calls for heat, clean wood or coal heated air is forced by the 1300 CFM distribution fan into the present duct system, heating every room. When burning wood or coal, your existing furnace is on standby. However, if you cannot tend to the wood or coal fire, your existing furnace automatically takes over your heating requirements. Burning harvested wood can save you up to 100% on your present heating bills.

1) Standard 12" diameter heat outlet. Ductwork fits into existing up flow gas or oil furnace plenum.
2) Furnace Control Center automatically monitors the draft fan (controlling fire intensity), and the 2 speed distribution fan (forcing warm air into home). Electric rheostat operates manually, set to the condition of the solid fuel, wet/dry wood, hard/soft coal. Also houses the transformer and relay switch.
3) Manually Operated Secondary Combustion Chamber with Bypass. Helps reburn secondary gases, provides more efficient heat. Does not allow heat to escape up chimney.
4) 10 gauge steel weldment with laser cut and polished edges, for trouble free long life usage. Double rear wall of weldment enlarges heat exchange area providing more efficiency.
5) Pressure relief flap is a safety feature keeping flames from door area just prior and during opening. Extra heavy rope lined cast iron feed door assures safer operation. Smoke shield reduces smoke back-puffing during loading.

6) Manual air draft spinner helps lazy chimney draw. Reduces smoke puffing during feed door opening. Heavy air tight cast iron double width ash door, with open end ash dump pan.
7) Firebrick lined sides and heavy cast iron front and rear heat baffles provide extra long life firebox durability.
8) Extra heavy cast iron dual width shaker grates provide easy trouble free operation and work with both wood and hard/soft coal.
9) 72 CFM draft air fan stimulates fire automatically when more heat is required. Eliminates fire maintenance, helps reduce chimney creosote buildup by producing hotter fire.
10) 1300 CFM two speed hot air distribution fan. At 115° provides 650 CFM, for normal operation. At 135° automatically increases to 1300 CFM. Acts as additional safety overheating device, cooling furnace for normal operation. Filter box standard equipment on models 24-AC, 36-A only.

MODEL 24-AC
•Water Tube optional

Note: All Jensen furnaces are pre-wired. Attach furnace control box (pre-drilled holes). Snap on junction box. Fasten 5 wires with wire nuts (all color coded). Fasten two wires for thermostat and electric installation is completed.

Tharp Scores Four

Rams Solidify Hold On First Place By Crushing Valley, 43-14

The Southern High Rams solidified their hold on their number one position in Region I Class C by crushing Highland Football Conference foe Valley of Lonaconing Friday night, 43-14, in the black Knights' homecoming contest. The win boosted the Rams' overall record to 5-1, while Valley fell to 2-4.

Valley		Southern
3	First Downs Rush	13
11	First Downs Pass	0
0	First Downs Penalty	1
14	Total First Downs	14
33	Passes Attempted	8
17	Passes Completed	4
0	Passes Intercepted By	3
232	Yards Passing	27
63	Net Yards Rushing	326
2-38	Punts Average	3-34
5-53	Penalties Yards	5-45
4-2	Fumbles Lost	2-2
285	Total Offense	353

The Rams' offensive performance was highlighted by the running of Tim Tharp, who picked up 115 yards on 15 carries and scored four touchdowns, and Dave Terrant, who finished with 133 yards on 22 carries and one touchdown.

Dave Hawkins, the area's leading passer, accounted for most of Valley's yardage, hitting 17 of 33 attempts for 232 yards, however his performance was marred by three interceptions and four fumbles which set up a number of the Rams' scores.

The Black Knights took the opening kickoff and engineered a drive to the Rams' 23 before turning the ball over on a fumble to Southern's J.R. Gibson. The Rams' drive was also stopped, however, at Valley's 37 on downs and the first quarter ended in a scoreless tie.

Valley came right back down the field early in the second quarter and scored when Bob Beeman jumped on the ball in the endzone which had been fumbled by teammate Ed Winebrenner. Hawkins tossed to Hank Halbritter for the two-point conversion.

After another series of turnovers on fumbles by both teams and a pair of 15-yard penalties against the Valley bench, the Rams gained possession of the ball on the Knights' 14. On the next play, Terrant rolled in for Southern's first six points. Terrant added the two-point conversion to knot the score.

Late in the second quarter, a Southern drive was capped by a one-yard scoring plunge by Tharp. The conversion attempt failed, leaving Southern with a 14-8 advantage at the half.

The third quarter was all Southern's, as the Rams took the opening kickoff and drove 59 yards in 13 plays with Tharp crashing over the goal line from the one. Gibson rushed for the two-point conversion.

Valley came back with a drive of their own, only to have it stopped on downs at the Ram five on a tackle by Jim Freeman. This was followed by a 40-yard run by Gibson, and, on the next play, a 55-yard gallop to paydirt by Tharp. Gibson connected with Freeman for the two-point conversion.

Steve Bennett set up Southern's next score by picking off a Hawkins aerial and returning it to the Valley four. Two plays later Gibson carried it into the endzone.

The Rams scoring machine was still not finished, as Freeman grabbed his second interception of the evening early in the fourth period and returned it to Valley's 40. Several plays later Tharp earned his final touchdown of the evening by once again plowing over from the one-yard line. Gibson's kick for the extra point completed Southern's scoring.

Coach Tom Woods and staff substituted heavily throughout the final period which gave the Valley offensive unit a better opportunity to move the ball. Hawkins hit Ed Miller with a 33-yard scoring strike late in the game to narrow the final score.

"We played as well offensively as we have all year," Woods stated, "especially in the second and third quarters. Our pass defense, both in coverage and on the rush, broke down a few times, but Valley has an excellent quarterback and three good receivers."

He credited his offensive linemen for dominating the line of scrimmage and said he was pleased with the running and blocking of all four offensive backs, Tharp, Terrant, Gibson, and Mike McLaughlin. "Fortunately no one panicked after being down 8-0," he said. "After a few key breaks in our favor, we were able to take control of the game."

Recording their sixth victory of the season this Friday evening will not be an easy task for the Rams who travel to West Virginia to take on Tucker County in a 7:30 p.m. contest.

According to Woods, Tucker County's 1-5 record is extremely misleading because of the calibre of teams they have faced this season. "It's really difficult to convince someone how good Tucker County is," Woods said. "The five teams that have beaten them have a cumulative record of 25-5. We have beaten them only two times in the past six years."

What concerns Woods even more is that a 1-5 team does not have to play conservatively. "There is nothing worse than playing a team that doesn't have anything to lose," he said. "When you are 1-5, you can do anything you want in terms of gamble plays. This gives them an element of surprise that really has us worried," he said.

Tucker County is led offensively by quarterback Bill Croston, 6-4, 190 pounds; senior tailback Mike Mullenax, 6-0, 175; senior fullback Steve Simmons, 6-1, 195; junior tight end Robin Bowley, 6-0, 180; and senior offensive guards, Don Pifer, 6-0, 212; and Bill Ingram, 5-11, 198. All six also fill starting defensive positions.

Tucker County uses a multiple-I offense and throws the ball 15-25 times per game. They utilize multiple defenses—4-4, 5-2, 6-1 and 6-2—which poses the potential for problems for the Southern offensive line.

"This game is very important to us," Woods said, "because if we lose and Bruce wins, we will be tied with Bruce for first place. Then next week, Bruce will come up here and have an opportunity to knock us out of first place. That's a position we don't want to be in."

The game, which will be played on the Parsons field, is Tucker County's homecoming contest.

Mt. Top Youth League Results

RAIDERS UPSET JETS FOR MARYLAND TITLE

The Oakland Raiders avenged a 7-2 regular season loss to the Oakland Jets Sunday with a 2-0 upset win at Southern High School to take the Maryland Division Championship of the Mt. Top Youth League.

In an outstanding defensive struggle, the Jets stopped the Raiders on two occasions inside the five-yard line. The stingy Raider defense did not allow the Jets inside their 35.

The Raiders' lone score came with 6:56 to go in the game when Bobby Winters and Zack Gibson tackled the Jets for a safety on fourth down.

For the Jets on defense, J.R. Bosley led the team with 10 tackles, followed by Marty Sharpless and Shawn Eyler with seven and Billy Martin with six.

The Raiders were led by Steve Wotring, Winters, Gibson and Gordon Savage.

The Raiders will meet the Thomas-Davis Rams at 7 p.m. Saturday night for the League Championship.

RAMS WHIP DOLPHINS FOR DIVISION TITLE

A 12-6 victory over the Terra Alta Dolphins this past weekend gave the Thomas-Davis Rams the West Virginia Division Championship and a Saturday night contest with the Oakland Raiders for the 1983 Mt. Top YFL Championship.

Rob Bush got the Rams on the board first with a six-yard run on the third play of the second quarter. The PAT attempt failed.

With 44 seconds to go in the half, Ram quarterback Jim Drenning hit Carmen DelSignore with a screen pass which he took 52 yards to paydirt.

Dolphin running back Jim Freeland faked a punt and rolled 53 yards to the Ram 15 at the 2:50 mark of the third quarter. Brad Friend's 12 yard run put the ball on the three. Jim Freeland barreled in on the next play to end the scoring.

Jerry McFarland, Friend, Andy Haskiell, and Freeland led the Dolphin defense, while Ross James, Mike Plaugher, Drenning, Bush and DelSignore led the winners.

The Rams will host the Raiders Saturday night at 7 p.m. at Southern for the League Championship.

Girls Basketball Clinic Scheduled

Garrett Community College will host a Cathy Rush Sports Camp Player Clinic for girls on Sunday, November 6, from 3-6 p.m. in the College gymnasium.

Corky O'Rourke, clinic director and co-director of Cathy Rush Camps, Wayne, Pa., will emphasize individual fundamentals through station work in the following areas: agility, ball-handling, defense, rebounding, and shooting. She will be assisted by players from area colleges.

Registration is open to girls in grades 7-12 and should be completed by October 28. For additional information, contact Ann Wellham, Clinic Coordinator, Garrett Community College, McHenry, at (301) 387-6666, Ext. 153.

There is no registration fee. Because of limited space, advance registration is encouraged. Late registration will be accepted as space permits. Parents are welcome to attend.

An Australian football team has 18 players.

Hershman Wins Late Model Race In Elkins Oct. 8

Bob Hershman, Deer Park, won the late model race at Elkins Raceway October 8 in the last race of the 1983 season.

Hershman took over the lead on lap three and maintained the winning pace for the duration. Red Frederick, Elk Garden, was eighth.

Bob Liston won the semi-lates and John Tallman, point champion, took his tenth street stock victory.

Ernie Foglepole of Mt. Lake Park was fifth in semi-lates.

The top drivers at the raceway will be honored at the annual banquet Saturday, October 29, at the National Guard Armory in Elkins, W.Va.

Next year's first race is scheduled for the first Saturday in May, according to track promoters Ron and Sharon Kimble.

SHS Team Slates Day Of Volleyball

The Southern High School Girls' Volleyball Team will host a Volleyball Saturday in the small gymnasium at the high school Saturday, October 22, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The event is one of several fund-raising activities the team has planned to raise money for jackets.

There will be a $5 registration fee for the day which will include team play as well as instruction on skills and strategy.

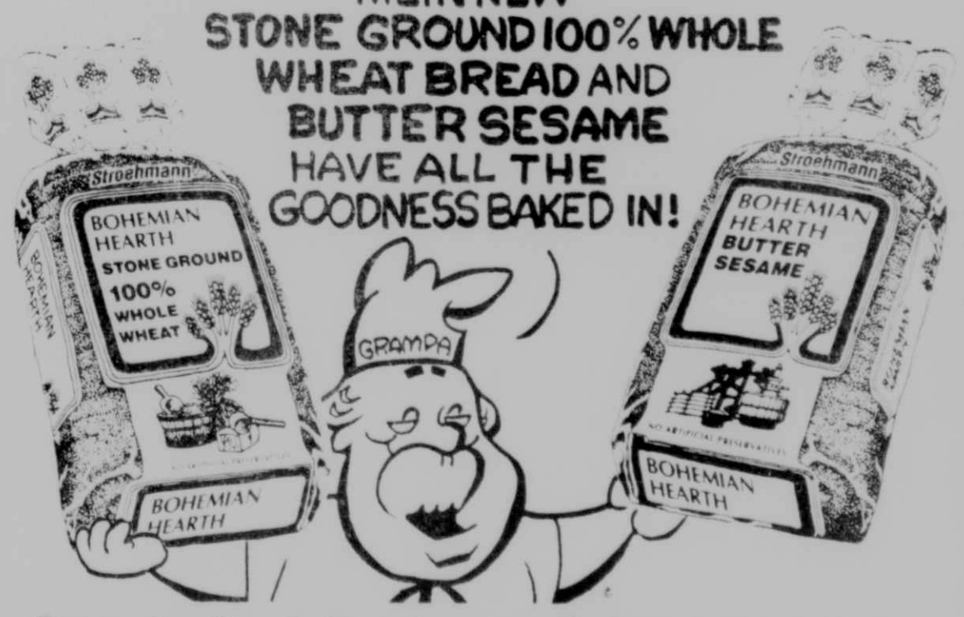
Deep Creek Realty

APPRAISAL INPUT

People often ask about the methods used in appraising real estate. There are three methods used in appraising properties.

The comparison method determines the value according to recent sales of comparable properties - using location, size and improvements among other criteria. The cost approach concerns the improvements and the cost of replacing and/or reproducing them. Depreciation and land value are also taken into account. The capitalization approach is used mainly for income producing property, and includes the value of future benefits.



It's important to remember that the reason for an appraisal has a bearing on the way it is made. Appraisals are made for purposes of loans, insurance, taxation, sales, estates, etc. The purpose determines the various factors to be taken into account. Finally, it must be remembered that every property is different in some way from every other!

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices.

A VIDEO RECORDING SYSTEM for use by school athletic teams in southern Garrett County has been purchased by the Southern Garrett Athletic Association, replacing a 16 mm camera which has been used to film games at an expense of nearly $1,000 per year for film. The new Sony system includes a camera, portable recorder, a large stationary recorder and power packs, and utilizes reusable cassette tapes which sell for about $10 each. The camera is equipped with wide angle and zoom lenses. Dennis "Xie" Colaw, president of the Association, pictured above, said that the Association will maintain ownership of the equipment and that it will be available for all coaches and teams, provided they schedule its use through the Association. The principal operators of the system are John Hill and Jack King.

MT. TOP CHAMPS — Recording the best record ever in the Women's Mt. Top Volleyball League this season were the members of the Mt. Top Paving team, who won an amazing 44 out of 45 contests and the league title for the 1983 season. Sport About placed second, followed by Pizza Pub. Members of the Pavers, pictured above, are, front row, left to right, Lorraine Stephens, Becky Harvey, and Carolyn Beckman; in the second row, same order, are Lori Stephens, Erma Stephens, Helen Stephens, Diane DeWitt, and Patti Harsh. Eisentrout's Used Cars was awarded a team trophy for being the only team to defeat the Pavers. Team trophies were awarded to the top three teams, while members of the Pavers each received individual trophies.

Lakers Dethrone Defending Champs In Region Action

The Garrett Community College Volleyball team rebounded from a pair of losses to Washington-Jefferson College and Alderson-Broaddus College to win a tri-match in Baltimore against Howard CC and the defending Region XX champion, Dundalk CC.

Against Washington-Jefferson, Susan Harper hit for nine points, Mary Dougherty and Christy Fratz each served for four points and Lani Dailey dug up five opponent spikes, but the Lakers lost decisively to their more-experienced opposition, 6-15 and 10-15.

Alderson-Broaddus, led by former Laker captain Susan Mason, also defeated Garrett, 15-9 and 15-11. Dailey served four points for Garrett, but the rest of the Laker offense never quite got untracked. The defensive effort was exceptional as Harper recorded four blocks and Dougherty and Kathy Baker tallied four and three digs respectively.

In Baltimore the GCC serving attack overwhelmed Howard Community College in spite of the fact that the Laker hitting offense continued to sputter. Harper recorded six points on her serve as did Dougherty. Fratz added four serve points as Garrett defeated Howard, 15-9 and 15-4.

In the nightcap match against Dundalk, Garrett finally came to life at the net as Harper returned to form with 10 spike points. Fratz spiked for six points and added four serve points. She also paced the defense with eight digs, a season high individual performance for the Laker defense. Garrett won 15-10 and 15-8.

Southern Rams Advance To State Golf Tournament

Southern High and Linganore qualified to represent District One in the Maryland state High School Golf Tournament later this month by virtue of their performances in Wednesday's District Meet at the Holly Hills Country Club near Frederick.

Linganore turned in the low team score with a 361, followed by Coach Don Stemple's Southern with a 363. They were followed by Frederick with 367, South Hagerstown 372, North Hagerstown 381 and Smithsburg 382. Also participating were Northern High, Thomas Johnson and Walkersville.

Carding the day's low score was Ed Bishop of Linganore with a 79. Jim Flanagan led Southern with an 89.

The state meet is scheduled for October 27 and 28.

Youths Raise $458 On Oct. 8 In Bike-A-Thon

Seventeen youths ranging from two to 15 years of age raised $458.97 on Oct. 8 during a bike-a-thon in Friendsville to benefit St. Judes Children's Hospital, Memphis, Tennessee.

The bike-a-thon route began at the Friendsville United Methodist Church and extended down Main Street and back to equal one-half mile. At the completion of each loop, the participants punched a card.

Raising the most money for the hospital was Billy Sines whose total pledges totalled $108.

Jon Garner, who rode the longest distance by traveling 30 miles, won an award for the best decorated bike in the parade down Main Street in Friendsville before the bike-a-thon.

Winning the people-powered contraption award were Leif Myers, and Julie and Margie Parsons who entered with a tricycle pulling a wagon.

Billy Sines, Jon Garner, Leif Myers and Julie and Margie Parsons each received a tote bag and T-shirt. Also receiving T-shirts were Billy Dixon, Shawn Sessa, Jay Ross and Orville Fike.

Others participating were Jody Ross, Chad Anderson, Brian and Dwain Faulkner, Scott Bittner, Eric House and Dale House.

Assisting with the bike-a-thon were Brian Coddington, Winnie Parsons, Edd Myers and Pat Schmidt.

Refreshments were provided by the First Christian Church youth group and S & S Market which also provided awards as did Fratz Red & White, Oakland, and W.H. Keyser, Gibsonton, Pa.

Karen Fauber, organizer for the event, stated she is planning a skating party for the participants.

New Enlistees Noted By Guard

Sp.4 Warren F. Weeks, unit information NCO for Company C, 121st Engineering Battalion, Maryland Army National Guard, announced this week that four West Virginia men recently enlisted with the Oakland unit. They are Rodney A. Jenkins, Theodore Weasenforth and David N. Allen, all of Gormania, and Kevin D. Stahl, Bayard.

The enlistees will receive three weekends of recruit training in Baltimore. Upon their high school graduations in June of next year, they will report to Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., for 12 weeks of combat engineer training, which will include training in basic weaponry, first aid, map reading, demolitions, use of engineer tools, landmine warfare, camouflage, bridge building and communications.

Weeks also announced that Robert E. Ludwig, Jr., Oakland, has completed initial active duty training at Fort Leonard Wood, where he learned to repair and operate compressors, backhoes and attachments.

Ludwig is a 1982 graduate of Southern High School and is employed by Sisler Lumber Company, Mt. Lake Park.

Oakland, Bank Officials Meet

Oakland's mayor and council met with bank officials Tuesday afternoon in their continuing quest for information necessary before purchase of Sterling Processing's water treatment plant for use with the town's proposed sewer rehabilitation project.

An answer concerning title to the property will not be forthcoming until officials at the lending institution have an opportunity to confer at a board meeting next Wednesday, according to Robert Boal, chairman of sewerage matters for Oakland's council.

The town has also been informed that it must seek two appraisals of equipment and land if the town should decide to go ahead with negotiations with Sterling, but Boal has not ruled out the possibility of alternate sites if a suitable agreement with Sterling cannot be agreed upon.

Boal also pointed out Tuesday the need for clarification concerning a paragraph in a news story concerning the town which appeared in last week's edition of The Republican.

The councilman said that although a proposal was presented to Gilman Sylvester, Sterling manager, this was for his comments only and was in no way intended as a tentative proposal.

DONATE TO SALEM HOME — Grantsville Lions Club president, Gerry Beachy, presents a check for $250 to Louise Sulermeister, executive director of the Salem Home for abused, neglected and homeless children, Meadow Mountain. The money will be used to help complete the construction of a new house, pictured, part of a master plan which the organization has developed to provide a farm environment for the children. The youth at the home attend local public schools and participate in school, church and community activities.

CONTEST WINNERS — The art contest sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council was judged with the winners being Barry Domenick, first place, and Diana Feld, second and third places. The artwork will be used in advertising and other promotions and will be on display at the Ruth Enlow Library during the remainder of October.

GCTA Teacher Talk

by Lowell Leitzel

Local Items

The G.C.T.A. Governing Board will meet on Thursday, October 20, at G.C.C. in McHenry. Agenda items include information on the P.T.A. and M.S.T.A. legislative programs, direction for the G.C.T.A. delegation on the proposed amendments to the M.S.T.A. By-laws, and action on a proposed amendment to the G.C.T.A. By-laws. All faculty representatives are urged to attend.

Betty White and Lowell Leitzel represented G.C.T.A. at the October 13 meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education. All teachers and parents are welcome to attend the public sessions of the board meetings. G.C.T.A. members who would like to attend on behalf of the Association should notify Betty White.

Betty White and Cheryl Henderson represented G.C.T.A. at a reception held in honor of U.S. Senator Paul Sarbanes on Saturday, October 15, after the Autumn Glory parade.

Resource For Parents

In the October 1983 issue of NEA Today, Nancy Needham reported that the National Education Association provides a resource to help parents prepare their children for school. This resource is a series of inexpensive paperbacks called How To Prepare Your Child For School, released in July by Avon Books. This series is designed for parents of preschool and primary students. The books have four main features: they are designed for the general public rather than for educators; parents can buy the books at the supermaket or drugstore, not just in bookstores; the books require parents to interact with their children; and they were prepared by professional educators and reviewed by classroom teachers.

The How To Prepare You Child series comes in eight 64-page, 8½x11-inch paperback volumes at $1.95 each. Part of the proceeds will go to N.E.A.'s National Foundation for the Improvement of Education, to fund local Association quality education projects. How To Prepare Your Child For School begins the series. Three sequential books on reading follow: Learning the Alphabet, How Letters Make Words, and Helping Your Child Read. There is also a parallel series on math: Numbers and Counting, Learning to Add, Learning to Subtract, and Shapes and Patterns. Parent involvement can made a difference in student achievement in school.

Local Student Serves As Intern

Carol A. Edgar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Edgar, Grantsville, is serving as an intern at the National Bureau of Standards in Washington, D.C., as part of her academic studies at Hood College. She is a senior at the liberal arts college for women.

Ms. Edgar is assigned to the Institute for Computer Sciences and Technologies and is serving as a student trainee (computer scientist) involved in a number of computer applications, including data processing, programming, creating plots and graphs, and developing microprocessor applications.

A dean's list student, Ms. Edgar is a 1980 graduate of Northern High School. Hood College is a private four-year college located in Frederick.

Oakland CDA Court Meets

The monthly meeting of Catholic Daughters, Oakland Court 2209, was held Tuesday, September 20, in St. Peter's Social Center. Twenty-seven members were present, with Regent Paula Redinger presiding.

A CDA cookbook is being prepared at the state level. Members having a favorite recipe they wish to have included are asked to give it to Mildred Maroney before November 30.

Several nonprofit organizations have requested the loan of the bingo equipment. A committee has been formed to determine the policy on the loan of the equipment.

Cathy Lipscomb, social chairman, recommended postponing the November communion breakfast. The group agreed with this due to preparation for the CDA state fall conference. The conference will be held October 21 and 22 at the Village Inn in McHenry. Oakland Court 2209 will host the event.

Financial donations for Sister Catherine and the Appalachian Adult Activity Center were awarded.

The Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council has announced the winners of the Photo Contest, which began in May.

They are as follows: Mike Kozier, best winter slide; Polly Rawsey, best summer slide; Richard Bucy, best fall slide; Michael Gregory, best spring slide; and Richard Beitzel, best winter black and white print.

The slides and photos are presently on display at the Ruth Enlow Library.

Makes Missions Visit To Haiti

Sheri Folk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Folk, Grantsville, recently made a mission orientation visit to Haiti.

Working out of Port Au Prince, she attended nightly church services where she had the opportunity of testifying through an interpreter. The tour group also visited orphanages and schools, making the group aware of the adverse conditions and inadequate facilities with which instructors are working and still providing a good education. As Miss Folk said in regard to the trip, "It opened my eyes to the need which the natives have to know Christ and increased my desire to help them."

Miss Folk was part of a group which went to Haiti under the direction of Rev. Wesley Georg, pastor of Calvary Temple, Mt. Storm, W. Va. Rev. Georg has made several annual missionary trips of this nature. Miss Folk's expenses were covered by Zion Tabernacle, Grantsville, and by friends in the local area.

Sunfish, Gasoline Reported Stolen

Thefts of a Sunfish sailboat and some gasoline and a destruction of property incident are under investigation this week by members of the Garrett County sheriff's department.

Deputy Larry Gnegy filed reports on all three incidents.

Sometime during the night of October 7, unknown persons removed 10 to 15 gallons of gasoline from a Dodge truck at the Mt. Nebo Forest, Park, and Wildlife complex off Route 219 on King's Run Road. Employee Ernie Metz told Deputy Gnegy that apparently the culprit had scaled the fence surrounding the complex, and had also pilfered through equipment but that nothing appeared to be missing except the gas.

Iris and Martin Nahemow, Pittsburgh, reported that on October 8, someone removed their 13-foot Sunfish sailboat from the Deep Creek Yacht Club. The $1,200 boat is white with red and blue stripes.

Mary Strauss, employee of the Ruth Enlow Library in Accident, had to report a destruction of property incident October 8, after she discovered that someone had apparently attached a chain to the fill pipe of the underground heating fuel tank. The pipe was wrenched loose from the tank, but no damage estimate was given.

The investigation into these and all unsolved crimes reported to the sheriff's department are continuing. Anyone with any information which may be helpful to enforcement authorities is asked to call 334-2141 or 334-3111.

Book Fair Set At Red House

An EEEP-sponsored book fair will be held at Red House School, October 26-27 and November 1. The book fair will be coordinated by Sandra Nesline, Teacher Coordinator for the Extended Elementary Education Program. Children will be given the opportunity to choose and purchase books they would like to own.

Parents are encouraged to visit the fair and choose items for Christmas presents. The school will receive a percentage of their sales, in cash, which will be used for school needs.

CRAYON CATHEDRAL

This is just one of the masterpieces completed during "project time" in Mrs. Emrich's class last Sunday. On the back was the artist's own signature: "Glenn J."

You may never again see a work of art by Glenn. But you know something about this young artist that is tremendously important.

He isn't sent to Sunday School, or dropped off at the church with his sister. Glenn is one of those fortunate youngsters who belongs to a church-going family.

It shows now in crayon.

It should be increasingly evident in life.

THE AUTUMN BREEZE TURNS THE LEAVES TO GOLD

This beautiful time of year, when plants and trees are starting to change their color, reminds us that from nature have come so many of the wonderful medicines that help us to live longer and healthier lives. We always like to recall our study of Advanced Botany in Pharmacy School where we learned how these life-giving drugs were extracted from their natural environment.

When a new drug comes on the market for safe use we of course read all the available literature, and this always details the source of the product. You would be surprised how many drugs in this age of synthetics and technology still are coming from Mother Earth. We stock them.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

IMITATING GOD
October 23, 1983

Background Scripture: Ephesians 4:17 through 5:2; 2 Corinthians 5:17.
Devotional Reading: Titus 3:3-8.

Isn't it interesting that, when it comes to thoughts and ideas, we human beings do not hesitate for one moment to assume that we can think God's thoughts. Yet, when we pass from the realm of thought to action, we quickly recognize the impassable gap that lies between the human and the divine. We are all much more likely to speak great ideas about God than to do great things for God.

LIKENESS OF GOD

Writing to the church at Corinth, Paul instructed them: "Therefore, if any one is in Christ, he is a new creation; the old has passed away; behold the new has come" (2 Cor. 5:17). And the writer of Ephesians tells us: "put on your new nature" (4:24). The "new" that must displace the "old" is not just on the ideal level. The "new" is represented, not so much by the things we say or the ideas we express, but by the way we live. The world, in our time as much as in Christ's, is not so much in need of new ideas, creeds, doctrines, and theologies, as it is in need of new actions on the part of those who hold those ideas.

I'm not saying that there is no need for any further revelation from God, but that our problem seems to be that we haven't yet begun to put into action the revelation we already have. The new life that Paul called for is still very much needed today. Even the words in which he described that new life are still relevant for us: speaking the "truth" with one another, not letting "the sun go down" on our anger, avoiding "evil talk," bitterness and wrath and clamor and slander..." or to put it even more affirmatively: "be kind to one another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, as God in Christ forgave you." So, if there is to be any likeness at all between the Creator and his creatures, it is to be a likeness of infinite love, not infinite wisdom. As Ephesians states it: "put on the new nature, created after the likeness of God in true righteousness and holiness" (4:24).

WALK IN LOVE

There are numerous times in the Bible—and the history of the human race as well—when God has had to remind us that we are the creatures and he is the Creator. But, whenever his children have been accused of pretentiousness, it has been only when we have aimed too high with our human, finite ideas, when we have posed as understanding what only the Creator can understand.

God, it seems, has never chastised us because we have aimed too high with our deeds. If we are going to imitate God, that is where it must be: "be imitators of God, as beloved children. And walk in love, as Christ loved us and gave himself up for us..." (Ephesians 5:1,2).

Thus, the "new creation" that we are called to be in Christ is summed up in one term that can never be presumptuous for us to attempt: "walk in love, as Christ loved us." If you're going to imitate God, let it be in love.

FRIDAY

Ann Jillian (top l.) stars as a ghost who befriends young Joey (John P. Navin Jr.) when he and his father and mother (Brandon Maggart and Georgia Engel) move into the home she lived in as a Hollywood movie star in NBC's "Jenniter Slept Here," Friday, Oct. 21.

Producer Joan Brown takes us back in time

By Elaina Thompson

If you hear a 22-year-old say, "1927 was a great year," it's a good bet you're listening to somebody who's turned the telly to PBS Sunday nights for the miniseries "Pictures."

The seven-part import from Britain is already almost half over but its producer, Joan Brown, says not to worry if you've missed the earlier segments, because Alistair Cooke's program-opener synopses fill you in on what's been happening to a host of characters, including the saucer-eyed Ruby Sears (played by Wendy Morgan), a waitress who's still on the sunny side of 20, aiming for movie-goddess status in the final glory moments of silent movies; the screen writer (Peter McEnery) who triggers her initial good luck; and the moguls and fading stars who complicate the plot.

Though the plot is fun, it's the fidelity to era and the mood that's hooked me.

The same was true of Miss Brown's earlier production on silent movies, "Flickers," which ended in 1912. She has whizzed us through the time warps without any jarring anachronisms.

"Casting the right people," she says is most important in successfully creating these time warps. "Most important of all, you look into their eyes to see if what you want for your character is there," says the producer, a pretty woman with greying hair and incredible eyes that seem to see right through you, but kindly.

"Peter has the right charm himself," Miss Brown relates, and "a laid-back James Stewart quality, but he is not as aggressive as the character. That's acting."

Wendy Morgan

And when it comes to Miss Morgan, who came to work in jeans but was able to instantly get into character, the producer says that "physically she's right, small and a fairly good dancer."

As Ruby, Miss Morgan is funny, strong yet vulnerable and definitely a 1927 movie star, being innocently tempting and having the right walk.

Miss Brown had little problem selecting materials for the sets since "London has wonderful shops where we can rent the furnishings and props to dress our sets."

Getting the makeup artist to think a certain period is always a little harder she says. "I have to go in there and talk them out of doing contemporary faces."

Sinatra gets in line; Mary Martin's honored

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — Frank Sinatra slapped a lawsuit against his would-be biographer Kitty Kelley, author of the best-selling vivisection of Elizabeth Taylor. He's going to have to get in line, however. Miss Kelley, who's about as timid as a Dallas Cowboys linebacker, has other lawsuits ahead of his... Expectant mother Lorna Luft is going into the infants wear business. She'll be involved in the manufacture of a novel, medium-priced line, for which she will be spokesmom. Lorna's first collection, like her first baby, comes into the world next spring.

Nick Nolte to be sued

Nick Nolte, an unknown in 1973, who grabbed a day's TV work at $250, now reportedly earns $1.5 million per picture plus 10 percent of the gross. In 1984 Nolte will get socked with a lawsuit from Mimi Weber, once his personal manager of seven years, who is "suing for damage to my health."

At Morey Amsterdam's party, Jack Carter said to Sid Ceasar: "Look up, willya? You just ate the Lazy Susan." The biggest laugher at the bash, Norman Cousins, who wrote "The Healing Heart" said: "Medicine's not a science. It's an art. It goes hand-in-hand with a dose of joy."

Rowan (top) & Martin
syndicated

Those old "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" shows are going into syndication. Dan Rowan and Dick Martin are going halfies on the deal with Lorimar... Roy Rogers will host "The Roy Rogers Theatre," a Disney cable show, featuring his old oaters... The Thalians, Hollywood's theatrical charity, honored Mary Martin last Saturday, Oct. 22. At the party Carol Channing delighted Miss Martin and the guests, singing "Hello Mary."

Hack doesn't look back as career goes forward

By Peter Meade

Even though saying yes to a weekly series is the most unhealthy thing you can do to yourself, Shelley Hack couldn't say no.

"We put in a minimum 12-hour day," says Miss Hack, of her schedule as one of the trio of young doctors on CBS' new series "Cutter to Houston." "You end up feeling like a clam at your own clambake."

There certainly isn't much time left to take care of herself because her daily routine requires an hour each way to get to work, at least 12 hours on the job and the necessary eight hours sleep.

"That leaves two hours a day to talk to the dog and my boyfriend," says Miss Hack.

But don't think she is complaining. Her career has taken a giant step forward and it may all be because of her solid performance as the receptionist in "The King of Comedy." She has two more movies, "Max and Sam" and "Trackdown," that will be appearing later this season. She has put her profitable career as a model behind her. But why did she decide to return to series television after her first attempt, as one of "Charlie's Angels," can only be kindly termed a "memorable" experience?

"I wasn't really interested in doing TV," she says. "A series may not be the most fun — but it pays the rent. My character is a modern woman with plenty of room for character development. It's also nice to have a show where I can wear sneakers and hospital greens all day."

This is a clue that the real Shelley Hack is a lot less sophisticated than the image of "Charlie's Angels" or her previous modeling work would suggest.

Shelley Hack

"On 'Charlie's Angels' I was in the wrong box and it was hard to get other work," she explains. "The network owns you — you signed on the dotted line — and if you don't understand that, you resent it. So (after the series ended) I had to hold out. There were times when I wasn't working and I thought I was a fool because I could've been."

But better, less "Angel"-ic roles did emerge. Miss Hack is again working as part of a trio, but she says the rapport between herself, Jim Metzler and Alec Baldwin has helped the long hours of work seem much less tedious. However, it may lengthen the time it takes the series to hit its stride.

"With three main characters," explains Miss Hack, "it takes longer to find the right direction for each of us. We just have to keep an eye on the fact that it is a community effort."

TV TATTLE

Christopher Hewett

Hewett's fantasy

Christopher Hewett has a new role these days as Lawrence, the erudite personal aide to Mr. Roarke (Ricardo Montalban) on ABC's "Fantasy Island," now in its sixth season.

Hewitt, whose most recent credits include the ABC production of "The Elephant Man" and the New York and Los Angeles productions of "Peter Pan," in which he played Capt. Hook, made his professional debut at the age of 7, playing the Indian prince in Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Since the age of 17, when the English-born actor began his stage career in earnest, spending two years with the Oxford Repertory Company, he has gained leading roles in the United States and Great Britain, performing on stage, television and in film in a variety of productions, including "The Merry Widow," "The Millionairess," "Kiss Me Kate," "My Fair Lady," "The Lavender Hill Mob," "Pool of London" and "The Producers."

Russell's politics

Mark Russell begins his ninth season on PBS Wednesday, Oct. 26, delivering his funniest lines as the nation's premiere political stand-up comedian on the live, half-hour "Mark Russell Comedy Specials." The new season will also feature five specials and a humorous year-end review.

Russell, who appears on NBC's "Real People" and has his own newspaper column, has been expressing himself candidly and professionally since Eisenhower was in office. Born Joseph Marcus Ruslander in 1932, it was at an early age that he showed a talent for singing, dancing and clowning, entertaining friends, neighbors and relatives in the Buffalo, N.Y., suburb of Kenmore.

In February 1959 Russell's career as a political satirist took off when he wrote and sang "Lucky Young Son (with nothin' to do but roll around Congress all day)," a big hit on Capitol Hill.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

Three weeks ago I sent a letter to Pierce Brosnan in care of NBC in New York and I haven't had an answer. Is there somewhere else I can write him? Is he married? — B.P., Festerville, Pa.

If you write a star you have to be patient. Most likely your mail will eventually be forwarded to Pierce, who is married. But fan mail is allowed to collect a bit before being forwarded. Here's a trick for you: If a show originates in Hollywood, it's best to send it to the network there.

Pierce Brosnan

Please settle a family dispute. How many sons did Victoria Barkley have on the show "Big Valley." I say four and my sister-in-law says only three. — R.L., Rushford, Mont.

You are going to have to figure this out, since there is a technicality involved. Strictly speaking your sister-in-law is correct. Victoria (played by Barbara Stanwyck) had three sons: Jarrod (the late Richard Long), Nick (Peter Breck) and Eugene (Charles Briles). The 19-year-old Eugene was only seen in a few early episodes. This brings us to Lee Majors, who played Heath. Heath was not Victoria's son, but rather the illegitimate son of Victoria's late husband, Tom. She took him into the family, but he was not hers by birth. So there were four young men. You figure out who the winner of this family feud might be.

Jackie Gleason

When Jackie Gleason was doing "The Honeymooners" sketches on his series, he also did some sketches in which he played a bartender. What was the name of the man who came in the bar and sang so beautifully? — W.R.S., Cassadaga, N.Y.

That was the late Frank Fontaine, who played Crazy Guggenheim in the Joe the Bartender skits.

'Don't Look Now' looks for laughs not lessons

By Peter Meade

"Don't Look Now," the new childrens' program on PBS, offers a promise rarely made by other shows aimed at a 7- to 14-year old audience. It promises not to be educational.

It does, however, promise to be clever, witty, irrelevent and upbeat, you can bet your Pac-Man cartridge on that.

"Children have the right to be entertained," says Roger Price, the show's writer producer. "And they can't watch television today for two minutes without being taught how to brush their teeth or say their ABC's."

The fourth of the five programs in the series airs Sunday, Oct. 23 on PBS. (Air dates may vary; please check local listings.)

This adolescent "Laugh-In" is refreshing in its approach because it does not rely on the cutesy Hollywood child actor-types that seem to fill so many of today's youthful roles on television. Instead the "Don't Look Now" cast are all TV newcomers chosen from a racially mixed batch of 20 Boston-area public school students between the ages of 9 and 16. Most had no prior acting experience, so they spent last summer taking drama classes. This practice has continued into the school year as the show went into production.

"There are no agents or stage mothers to deal with," says Dighton Spooner, the series' executive producer. "They're the most easygoing kids to work with and they're all self-motivated."

The series is written by Price and Geoffrey Darby and although neither would classify as kids, there is no doubt whose side they're on. At least 60 different comedy sketches are used each hour as the show pokes fun at everyone and everything from teachers to junk food. The key word here is fun.

The shows are broadcast live to allow for audience participation. Questions and comments are requested during each show and the cast members talk to the callers while the show is on the air.

"It's easy for the kids to relate to kids," says Price. "It's like a phone call to a friend. I believe television for children is a one-to-one experience. Normally it's between the television and the child, but by going live, we're making it between children and children."

The worst thing that can happen to a member of the 'Don't Look Now' troupe is being doused with a bucketful of the dreaded Yellow Yuk.

Elvira (center), the syndicated TV horror movie hostess, joins the cast of NBC's "Real People," including (clockwise from bottom r.) Sarah Purcell, Byron Allen, Bill Rafferty, Mark Russell and Skip Stephenson,for a special salute to Halloween, Wednesday, Oct. 26.

SOAP OPERA WEEK

'RH' fans in Chester, Conn., do double take

By Kimberly Redmond

Nancy Addison

"Ryan's Hope" fans did a double take recently when they spotted Johnny, Maeve, Jillian and Patrick Ryan at a local resort hotel in Chester, Conn.

Actually the group, portrayed by Bernard Barrow, Helen Gallagher, Nancy Addison Altman and Malcolm Groome respectively, were in town for the weekend to see Miss Gallagher, who starred in the Ivoryton Playhouse production of the Neil Simon hit play "Same Time, Next Year." When they weren't attending Miss Gallagher's performances or lounging around "The Inn," the group joined in frantic games of billiards and tennis.

"Bernie and I really tied at billiards," said Groome, "and I would have done better at tennis but it's been almost four years since I've held a racquet in my hands!"

Miss Addison Altman and her real-life husband, Daniel, dominated the tennis courts then took time out for some white water rafting on the Yucahanee River. "I had been told it was exhilarating," she said. "But I didn't know I could get killed!"

After the river trip the couple spent the rest of their evening at "The Inn." "I may be a good sport," added Miss Addison Altman, "but I do like a warm bath and a hot meal at the end of the day."

The news from the "All My Children" set is that actor Robert Milli has left the role of Lars Bogard just weeks before his story line was slated to end on the soap. Apparently Milli was upset about the projected plot, which will reveal Lars' very secret past. Jack Betts has stepped in to replace Milli.

Betts has previously played Ivan Kipling on "One Life to Live," and last winter he was Louis St. George on "Another World."

Irving Allen Lee (Calvin Stoner on "Edge of Night") recently served as chairperson for the third annual Gospel and Symphony Benefit Concert presented by the 150-voice Gospel Mass Choir of New York City. The group raises funds for such community groups as Family Dynamic, Inc., which provides services for battered children, the Salem Community Center and the lighting of the Christmas Tree in Harlem.

Capital Gain.

Time and again, you've heard it said, "To make money, you have to have money."

The truth is, you have to know how to save money before you can think about making more.

That's why more and more people are joining the Payroll Savings Plan to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. That way, a little is taken out of each paycheck automatically.

In no time, you'll have enough Bonds for a new car, your child's education, even a dream vacation.

Whatever you save for, Bonds are the safest, surest way to gain capital.

Take stock in America.

U.S. Savings Bonds

When you put part of your savings into U.S. Savings Bonds you're helping to build a brighter future for your country and for yours.

An acre of trees can remove 13 tons of dust and significant amounts of other potentially harmful gases every year from the surrounding environment, according to National Wildlife magazine.

Firm Files $2,400,000 Lawsuit Against Oakland Insurance Agent

A three-count lawsuit seeking $2,400,000 in damages was filed in Garrett County Circuit Court on October 5 by Sanders Enterprises, Inc., of Mt. Lake Park, against C. Harold Holsopple, doing business as Holsopple Insurance Agency, 131 N. Third Street, Oakland.

Count 1 indicates that Sanders Enterprises contracted with Holsopple prior to October, 1976, for a package of insurance coverage which included workman's compensation coverage for a period from October. According to the plaintiff, the fees asked for by Holsopple for the coverage were paid, but the complete coverage was not placed. On December 13, 1976, an employee of Sanders Enterprises, Frederick L. Paugh, Jr., claimed an injury while working on October 28, and applied for workman's compensation.

In September, 1977, a hearing was held in Oakland which resulted in an order of the Workman's Compensation Board finding that the employee did have an injury, and was entitled to compensation. At this time, Sanders Enterprises became aware that it had no workman's comp insurance.

Holsopple appeared as a self-appointed representative of the employer, and acknowledged responsibility for current and future benefits due Paugh, according to the charge, and that Sanders relied on that and saw no reason to appear.

No further claim for permanent disability was made until later in 1982 when a claim was made for further medical care and treatment and permanent disability benefits. The claim charges that Holsopple failed and refused to provide the protection he contracted to provide.

The first count asks for damages against Holsopple in the amount of $800,000.

Count II states that at the September, 1977, hearing, Holsopple acknowledged and agreed that he would be responsible for all future medical expenses and for all future benefits should the claimant reopen the case for worsening of his condition at a later date, and that Holsopple has refused and continues to refuse to provide that protection.

The plaintiff claims that solely as a result of the negligence of the defendant, Sanders Enterprises has sustained or is about to sustain substantial damages, and this count asks for damages in the amount of $800,000.

In count III, it is claimed that at the September, 1977, hearing, that Holsopple would be responsible for any claim after three years, and that he now refuses to take any further action on the case. This count also asks for damages in the amount of $800,000.

Sanders Enterprises is being represented in this case by Carscaden, Gilcrest, and Getty, a Cumberland law firm.

Holsopple was informed of the action on October 7, and has until November 22 to answer the charges in writing to the court.

Legal Aid Bureau Notes November Outreach Schedule

Staff members of the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., will be available to discuss legal problems with persons during November in Oakland on November 1 and 22 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College and in Grantsville on November 15 from 10 a.m. to noon at the Health Center.

The Bureau provides legal assistance in civil matters to eligible persons. Services are available at no cost to those whose income and property holdings are below certain federally-mandated levels.

The Western Maryland office of the Bureau is located at 110 Greene Street in Cumberland. The office can be reached by calling 334-8832.

Whenever possible, persons needing assistance should call in advance to schedule an appointment for one of the outreach locations or for an appointment at the Cumberland office, according to Bureau officials.

Byron Announces Application Deadline

Applications for a Sixth District Congressional nomination to one of the nation's service academies will be due in Representative Beverly Bryon's office on December 1. Any student who resides in the Sixth Congressional District, is between 17 and 21 years old, and is a United States citizen is eligible for a nomination to the Air Force, Military, Navy, or Merchant Marine academy.

Representative Byron has a non-partisan Academy Selection Board comprised of Sixth District residents that will interview applicants. A competitive method of nomination is used in which the Board nominates ten candidates to compete equally for each academy vacancy. Interested applicants should contact one of Congresswoman Byron's offices by November 15 for information and application forms. All materials must be received by December 1 in order for an applicant to be eligible for an interview.

Senior Citizens Urged To Plan For Retirement

People in the area who are thinking about retiring at the end of the year should start making some serious plans now, Elaine Watson, Social Security district manager in Cumberland, said recently.

"And," Mrs. Watson said, "those plans should include Social Security. There are several factors to consider."

First, a person who plans to start receiving benefits between 62 and 65 should remember that these benefits will be permanently reduced. The amount of the reduction depends on the number of months benefits are received before 65. Benefits can be paid only for months the worker is eligible throughout the entire month. This means that unless a person is born the first or second day of a month, he or she cannot receive a benefit for the month of his or her 62nd birthday.

A person who applies for reduced benefits cannot generally receive any benefit for months before the month of application. A person who applies after he or she becomes 65 can receive benefits for up to six months before the month of application, but not before the month he or she became 65.

Other factors can influence a person's decision about retirement, Mrs. Watson said. Availabilty of a company pension can influence a person's decision. So can the person's ability to continue working.

Once the person decides to retire, he or she should apply for Social Security benefits two or three months before the month benefits are to start. And, even though a person has no retirement plans, he or she should apply for Medicare health insurance two or three months before his or her 65th birthday to arrange for this protection.

A person needs certain information when applying. This includes:

- His or her Social Security card, or a record of the number.
- Proof of date of birth, preferably an official record of birth or baptism recorded before age five.
- Form W-2 or self-employment tax returns, including proof the taxes were paid (a cancelled check for example) for the past two years.

A person should not delay applying if all this information is not available. They should call the Cumberland Social Security office which can suggest other evidence that may be acceptable. A free leaflet "Thinking about retiring?" is available at the office, located at the Country Club Mall in LaVale. The telephone number is 729-3232.

Harman Retires As Wildlife Manager

A SMILE SAYS RETIREMENT IS GREAT — Harold Harman will find time to enjoy his hobbies as well as devote time to his ministry since he retired August 1 after 32 years with the Department of Natural Resources.

A 32-year career with the Wildlife Administration of the Department of Natural Resources came to a close August 1, as Harold Roy Harman retired from that job to begin a second career as a minister and as an assistant at the Durst Funeral Home, Oakland.

Harman was hired by Dale Arner, Frostburg, on April 1, 1951 to work with the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission. Regional head was Ernest Vaughn, whose offices were in Baltimore. Arner later became a professor wildlife management for the University of Mississippi.

Thus began Harman's career of numerous names - caretaker, conservation aide, wildlife chief - as he dedicated his time to helping control predators, set up wildlife food plots, and browse cuts, trap animals, stock fish, control predators, and assisting landowners to write and carry out proper wildlife management plans. During deer season for many years, he served as a special deputy with local game wardens. His job also included making wildlife surveys and relocating animals when necessary.

Under Arner's supervision, stocking of wild turkeys was started here, and the first beaver were moved to Garrett from neighboring West Virginia. Harman recalls that many landowners requested these toothy mammals for their waterways.

Many, many changes have been noted by Harman through the years, including name changes for the department. At the time he began work the department was called the Game and Inland Fish division of the Department of Natural Resources. Then, there was one truck per county, only one tractor to be rotated between the three westernmost counties. He was permitted to hire one man as an assistant. The house offered as living quarters by the state, on the Mt. Nebo tract but without running water or electricity, was replaced in 1958 by a new home along Route 219, where the Harman family lived for 26 years.

Now the state has constructed a modern, well equipped complex of offices and shops at Mt. Nebo, including offices for forestry, wildlife management, and the inland fisheries division. There are now five men employed in the wildlife division alone.

Harman entered a live wildlife and fish display in the first Garrett County fair 27 years ago, and produced similar displays for several years.

Reared on a farm in the Cove, Harman found that his early farming experiences and knowledge of its people benefited him through the years, as he worked closely with area landowners to help minimize crop damage from deer and other pesky wildlife. He still counts among his close friends many of the people he worked with through the years.

A son of Roy and Cora Harman, who live along Bear Creek Road, he married the former Emma Jean Uphold, daughter of Bessie Uphold, Tunnelton, and the late Gilbert Uphold, in 1950. They are the parents of three children, Mrs. Janet White and Eugene Harman, both of Oakland, and Brian, at home. They have two granddaughters.

At the end of July, the couple moved to the living quarters above the Durst Funeral Home so they would be available to assume duties there and both say they already feel "at home" in the large, airy rooms.

The end of his work with the state will mean that Harold can devote nearly all his time to working with people, especially through his ministry as pastor of the New Life Christian Church. He conducts Sunday School at 10 a.m. at the town hall in Mt. Lake Park, followed by the 11 a.m. worship service. He also conducts Sunday evening services at 7:30 and Wednesday prayer meeting, again at 7:30. In the year since the church was established, membership has grown to 38.

He is also looking forward to making more hsopital visits and using his training as a minister to assist those who have lost loved ones. To obtain his minister's license, Harman took a home study course recognized by the Fellowship of the Bible Church over a period of several years.

The change in daily routine will also permit him to spend a little more time with his hobby of repairing TVs and stereos and other electronic equipment in the workshop he and his wife have set up on the third floor of the Durst building. Mrs. Harman operates the H & E Electronic Service from the couple's mobile home along Spring Glade Road, but the major part of the repair work will be done at the couple's new residence.

When not busy with his new routine, Harman plans to get out into the forests as much as possible - the facet of his life which always provided peace of mind as he looked over the hills and watched the forests change during each season.

DISPLAYING A NEW LOOK — Dee Ann's women's clothing store on Third Street in Oakland is displaying a new look after remodeling inside and out. Although no more floor space was added, the interior is much brighter with the addition of two large windows in front. Inside, the paneling has been painted, dressing rooms remodeled, racks changed, new carpeting laid, and different decor added. Interior changes were designed and carried out by owner-manager Dee Raynovich and her husband, Ted Raynovich, Jr. The exterior design work was done by an architect with the Department of Economic and Community Development. Each phase took approximately one month to complete. This was the first major remodeling since the Raynovichs purchased the business 13 years ago from his father, Ted, Sr., who with his late wife, Anna, began the Dee Ann shop in 1964 in a building where the Garrett National Bank is located now. In later years the business moved to the Third Street address, upstairs, and in 1969 moved into its present quarters. Assisting Mrs. Raynovich in the shop are Mrs. Phyllis Ashby and Mrs. Edith Riley.

Sen. Bambacus To Serve On Panel With Rep. Byron

Senator John N. Bambacus (R-Allegany, Garrett) will participate in a panel discussion with U.S. Representative Beverly B. Byron on Friday, October 21, at the Maryland Municipal League Annual Legislative Conference in Hagerstown.

The workshop will focus on any federal legislative issues which have had or will have an impact of state and local governments. Topics expected to be addressed include such issues as General Revenue Sharing, Community Development Block Grants, The Jobs Training Partnership Act, Federal highways funds, and the direction of intergovernmental relations in general. Bambacus is expected to point out how federal decisions impact on the state and how, in turn, the state must react in ways impacting on municipal governments.

Bambacus, a former Frostburg City Councilman, has a continuing interest in and commitment to municipal affairs. Having served three years on the staff of U.S. Senator Charles McC Mathias, Jr. Bambacus acted as liaison with the Maryland Municipal League and municipal officials throughout the state of Maryland. A member of the Senate Constitutional and Public Law Committee, Bambacus reviews and votes on bills of interest to local governments. The Western Maryland Senator also serves as a member of the Joint Committee on Federal Relations and as Chairman of Senate Select Committee 1 for Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties.

Sen. Impressed With Work Of Job Service Dept.

Following visits to the offices of the Employment Security Administration in Cumberland and Oakland, Senator John Bambacus says he is impressed overall with "the sensitivity of the staff and the fine job they are doing under the difficult circumstances we are facing at the present time."

However, several problem areas were brought to the attention of the District 1 Senator during the course of his meetings. Expressing the concerns of Job Service staff and clients in a letter to Secretary of Employment and Training Brent Johnson, Bambacus cited as a "special source of frustration" the requirement that four job searches be made each week.

"(The requirement) seems unreasonable at a time when more businesses are laying off employees than are doing any hiring. It also puts a strain on individual's transportation budget when his financial resources are already strained," Bambacus wrote.

Another problem area is the need to keep job files current. Bambacus noted that "sometimes by the time local offices receive notice that state jobs are available, many are already filled. Expectations are raised at the prospect of a state job being available, only to be frustrated again because of delays in notification."

Bambacus urged that Secretary Johnson look into ways of addressing these concerns of the unemployed of Western Maryland.

SUPERIOR PERFORMANCE — Four students at Southern High School have been notified and commended for superior performance in the National Merit Scholarship Program. Verne Leininger, left, scored in the top one-half percent in a field of more than one million participants in the Preliminary Scholastic Achievement Tests, making him one of the semi-finalists with the opportunity to compete for one of more than 5000 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in the spring of 1984. Pictured with Leininger are, left to right, Kristi Bowling, Luther Parrack, principal at Southern, and Gregory Flinn. Not present for the picture was Cheryl Crogan. Bowling, Crogan, and Flinn scored in the top five percent of all participants, and were designated as commended students. Although they are not eligible to compete further for Merit Scholarships, each will receive a letter of commend[illegible] or outstanding performance. (Photo by Phil Cosner).

DRAWING RESULTS SPLIT — A 50-50 drawing to benefit Brandon Frantz, who was injured in a freak shooting mishap August 2, was held September 30 at the Towne Restaurant in Oakland, sponsored by the Garrett County Republican Central Committee, the drawing gave $1,000 to Brandon to aid with medical expenses, and $1,000 to the drawing winner, Jenny Hillen, a student at Southern High School, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shockey, Broad Ford Road. The presentation to Brandon was made at the dinner, when William E. Crawford, Central committee member, gave the check to Brandon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frantz, Deer Park. Among those attending were Sen. and Mrs. John N. Bambacus, Del. and Mrs. George Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. James Frantz, Brandon's grandparents; and other relatives and friends, and Central committee members. The dinner was arranged by Wayne Wilt, vice chairman of the committee. Pictured above are, left to right, Wilt, Clifford DeWitt, committee member; Nathan and Paul Frantz, Paul George, committee member; Debbie Frantz and four-year-old Brandon, County Commissioner Elwood Groves, Sen. Bambacus, William Crawford, Central committee secretary; Frances Riley, committee member; and Del. George Edwards. Below receiving her check for $1,000 is Jenny Hillen with Wayne Wilt, left, and Commissioner Groves.

Rabies Clinic Set October 25, 26

The Garrett County Health Department has slated a final rabies vaccination clinic for cats and dogs.

Vaccinations will be administered at the Bittinger fire hall Tuesday, October 25, from 5 to 6 p.m. and at the Oakland Armory Wednesday, October 26, from 5 to 6 p.m.

Dogs and cats inoculated with the vaccine need to be re-vaccinated at three-year intervals, while puppies and kittens should be vaccinated at three months of age, and again when they reach one year old.

Health department officials ask that pets be kept under control at all times, and cats be contained in a box with air holes. Cost is $3 per animal.

At the conclusion of the September clinic, over 2,000 area pets had been vaccinated against rabies, which has been found in 15 raccoons and one cat in this county so far this year. Maryland has had 644 cases as of October 4, while Virginia had 520, Pennsylvania 118, West Virginia 103, and the District of Columbia 137.

Householder To Vie For World Chili Title

Oakland resident, Bob Householder, will put "Householder's award winning chili recipe" on the line in the Old Milwaukee Beer-International Chili Society World Championship Chili Cookoff this Sunday, October 23, at Tropico Gold Mine, Calif., just outside of Los Angeles.

Householder earned the right to compete in California by winning the Maryland Chili Cookoff earlier this year.

This year's championship marks the 17th annual quest for the best bowl of chili in the world and $25,000 in prize money.

Each contestant will cook a minimum of one gallon of their favorite chili, which will then be sampled and tested by a panel of judges. Among the celebrities serving as judges are entertainers Ernest Borgnine, Robert Mitchum, William Conrad and George Goebel.

The World Championship Chili Cookoff marks the conclusion of 12 months of regional competition around the country. "Cookoffs" raised an estimated $500,000 for a variety of charities.

The sponsor of this year's World Championship Cookoff is Old Milwaukee Beer.

Bittinger Parish Sets Joint Service For October 30

The Bittinger Lutheran parish will hold a joint parish service on Reformation Sunday, October 30, at 10 a.m. at Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Bittinger.

The three churches of the parish: Emmanuel, Bittinger; St. John's Meadow Mountain, and Zion, Jennings, have decided to do this as a way to show that while they may normally worship as three separate congregations they are still one in Christ. Two other similar services are planned for March 4 and June 10.

Pastor David Rockwood will preside over the service. Lectors will be Floyd Baker, Zion, and Gary O'Brien, St. John's. The Communion assistant will be Robert Brenneman, Emmanuel.

The celebration will be further enhanced by a joint choir led by Phyllis Buckel and Leora Yaste. Martha Glotfelty will be organist.

Pastor Rockwood invites all members of the congregations to the joint celebration "as a time of uniting hearts and voices in worship to our God and affirmation to our neighbor."

Kim Habel was crowned Homecoming Queen Friday, October 14, at the football game. She was presented with a bouquet of yellow roses, a corsage and a crown. Her escort was Brent Beachy. The other candidates were Carrissa Selby with her escort Scott Rodeheaver, Vivian Richter with Mark Diehl, Becky Thomas with Steve Margroff and Sandy Friend with Eric George.

All-State Chorus

Becky Tacket and Debbie Jones will be traveling to All-State Chorus Thursday, October 27, to Sunday, October 30. This is held at the Convention Center in Baltimore. Delegates from every school in the state practice throughout their stay, and perform a concert for teachers on the last day of their convention.

Student Page

The Student Page interviews were held October 14 at the Board o[illegible]ation. The interview committee consists of J.S. Thomas, guidance counselor; Mildred Wucik, vice principal, and Lisa Maust, who is a student. Two candidates have been selected from Northern. They are Amy Wellborn and Regina Canan. This winner will go to either the House of Delegates or the State Senate. There, he or she will be assigned duties for two one-week sessions. This program is designed to interest youth participation in government, encourage leadership and provide students with a worthwhile experience in state government.

Halloween Party

The FHA is planning a Halloween party for October 27 at Northern. The party is mainly for small children and each FFA member is allowed to invite one guest. Refreshments will be prepared by the FHA members. The cost is one dollar, but the admission fee for people who wear costumes is 50 cents. The first period Home Economic class is planning this event.

Brass Quintet

The Annapolis Brass Quintet performed for the band, chorus and general music classes during fifth period October 12. This group plays in schools and concert halls all over the world.

Girls' Basketball Coach

Sandy Sisler, a 1979 graduate of Northern, is returning to coach the girls' basketball team this season. She graduated from Shenandoah Conservatory of Music in Winchester, Va., where she was active in basketball for the four years of her stay there.

Initiation

The Lettermen's Club is having initiation this week. They are having dress-up day; dog day, when they dress as dogs; slave day, when they are slaves to the older Lettermen members; and she-man day, when they dress half like women and half like men.

Activities Committee

The Student Activities Committee met Thursday, October 13. They planned the place and date of the prom and discussed fundraisers.

Representative

A representative from the University of Maryland in College Park will speak with interested juniors and seniors on October 24.

Meeting

There will be a meeting October 21 for the seniors. Jostens will speak about caps, gowns and announcements.

Fundraisers

The God Squad Club is selling candy bars for 50 cents.

The Health Club will be selling Sarah Coventry and Avon jewelry starting October 26.

Band Places

The band received second place at the Autumn Glory Firemen's parade in Oakland Thursday, October 13.

MUSIC, MUSIC, MUSIC, in numerous forms, was again a highlight of the annual Autumn Glory Festival held Thursday through Sunday in Garrett County. Dozens of bands marched in the Grand Feature Parade on Saturday to the delight of thousands of onlookers in downtown Oakland. Above, Sonny Winters, of Oakland, one of 20 members of the Oakland Fire Department Oktoberfest Band, provides the "oom" of the "oom pah pah", characteristic of the polkas and German marches presented at the annual Oktoberfest Thursday evening. At left, although most of the adults were too shy to let the music take control of them at the Oktoberfest, the children responded spontaneously. Below, participants in the Maryland State Fiddle and Banjo contests, held Friday and Saturday evenings, produced music of the foot-stompin' variety. Another musical event which drew standing-room-only crowds was the annual Western Maryland Tournament of Bands at the Southern Athletic field Saturday evening. Photos by Craig Phillips.

HOYES

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, Mt. Lake Park, (formerly of here) will be showing their slides of seven countries that they traveled in while abroad this summer, Thursday evening at 7:30, at the Hoyes United Methodist Church. Everyone is welcome.

The United Methodist Women met on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Isabel Klotz with nine members present. The nominating committee reported to retain the same officers for another year. Mrs. Martha Glotfelty was the leader in the absence of Bertha Tower. Her topic was "Faith, Hope and Love" with all taking part. The business meeting was conducted by Catherine McCrobie, president. Next month's meeting will be at the home of Martha Glotfelty with Bertha Tower as leader. Those present were Eva and Nellie Bishoff, Mary June Harvey, Virginia Rainey, Martha Glotfelty, Lori Schmuck, Mae Wilburn, Catherine McCrobie, and the hostess, Isabel Klotz.

Mrs. Joe McCrobie entertained around 80 people Saturday evening at the fire hall at McHenry, with a dinner in honor of her husband on his 75th birthday.

Mrs. Iola Schmidt and Ralph George were Sunday afternoon visitors of their sister, Catherine McCrobie.

Mrs. John Doerr, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Green, and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Sanner, Sr., were last week visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Wilburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Wilburn and son were Saturday evening dinner guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Wilburn.

Miss Josephine Fike was a Tuesday forenoon visitor, Mrs. Betty Frazee a Tuesday dinner guest, Mrs. Walter Mummert a Thursday dinner guest, and Rev. Ellis Harvey a Thursday afternoon visitor of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Sanner, Sr.

Visitors through the week of Mrs. Evelyn Georg were Mr. and Mrs. Parley Savage, Mrs. William Driscoll and son, Billy, Connellsville; and Rev. and Mrs. H. B. Rittenhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Haenftling, Bonnie Wesbrook and George Haneftling attended the Forest Festival at Elkins, W. Va., on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Haenftling and George visited their aunt, Cecelia Spear, in Oakland, on Thursday evening. Leonard and George watched the Firemen's Parade.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Haenftling visited Mr. and Mrs. Paul Deniker Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Friend visited Mr. and Mrs. Darius Fike one afternoon this week. They also visited Winifred, Paul and Randall Fike recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carnell and two children, of North Canton, Ohio, were Friday overnight guests of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bishoff.

Visitors through the week of Mr. and Mrs. Darius Fike were Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Friend, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Fike, Pauline Faucett, Mr. and Mrs. James Fike and family, Earl Meyers, and Dick Bond.

On Tuesday and Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. John Rainey and Mrs. Chuck Thomas and Mike visited relatives in Pt. Marion. Robbie Thomas returned to duty on Wednesday from the Pittsburgh airport to McClelland, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wilburn, Greg and Darron, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilburn and Kim were Sunday dinner guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Wilburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fraas and grandson, David, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith and grandson, Billy, Barbara and Rick Winters, Debbie and John McCrobie, Dana and Luke, and Debbie and Jene Mohn and Jessica were visitors of relatives here over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Klotz attended the wedding of Lisa Glotfelty and Dewayne Platter Saturday evening at Grantsville.

S/Sgt. and Mrs. Rick Bond are spending a week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bond and Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Wilburn.

Mr. Stevens and Mrs. Laurna Umbel were Monday visitors of Mrs. Eva Bishoff.

Alex Gow, of Harrisburg, N.C., is visiting his mother, Mrs. Roselle Bart, and other relatives here for several weeks.

DEER PARK

The Deer Park Homemakers' meeting was held at the Deer Park Community Building October 11, with 16 members present. Topic for the evening was energy-saving hints for the home.

President Janet Browning gave a report on Achievement Day. Mary Rollman received a certificate for being named Homemaker of the Year for Deer Park. Anna Clatterbuck received a state and national certificate for 50 years of service.

New officers are Leona DeWitt, vice president; Laura Belle Harvey, secretary; and Maxine Perry, treasurer.

The gift of the month was won by Anna Clatterbuck.

Recording perfect attendance for the year were Ruth Bergstrom, Janet Browning, Nina Callis, Leona DeWitt, Jane Miller, Betty Thrasher, and Mae Weimer.

Hostesses for the evening were Leona DeWitt and Betty Thrasher.

The United Methodist Women had their October meeting at Mrs. Mary Rollman's home, Shady Acres, with eight members present.

Mrs. Lambert Thrasher visited her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Thrasher, LaVale, recently.

Mrs. Laura Flanigan and Miss Lola King visited Mrs. Monroe Gorner, Lancaster, Pa., last week.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship met Tuesday after school to rake leaves for a senior citizen.

Mrs. Ralph Baggett and daughter, Laurie, Fairfax, Va., visited relatives in the area the past weekend.

Diabetes Group To Form Exercise Group

An exercise group sponsored by the Garrett County Diabetes Association will meet this evening, October 19, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the therapy room of the Garrett County Health Department, Oakland. This will be a weekly activity for all interested persons and there will be no charge.

For further information, persons may contact Association president, Terry Knotts, at 334-4049.

Energy Awareness Week - October 23-29

BE AWARE of your energy appetite

By knowing the amount of electricity each of your appliances requires, you may be able to cut back usage on those which cost the most to operate.

Information presented below is based on averages. It may not reflect your family's electrical consumption because different families have different living habits--even if they have the same electrical equipment. (The size of a home and how well it is insulated, for instance, has a direct bearing on heating and cooling costs.)

Turney-Messenger Vows Exchanged In Double-Ring Ceremony July 30

St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland, was the setting for the July 30 wedding of Michele Odette Turney to Reginald Allen Messenger. Pastor Ray Ursin performed the evening candlelight, double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of the Hon. Jack R. Turney and Nancy Learey, both of Oakland. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max A. Messenger, Oakland.

The bride wore a gown of white silk organza. Her off-shoulder neckline was enhanced with full double ruffles that softly surrounded her arms. A white silk rose accented the center of the ruffle. The natural waistline was fashioned to a point, from which fell a full billowy skirt. This was encircled with double rows of ruffles and adorned with silk roses at intervals throughout. Multiple layers of organza created a cathedral train accented by white silk roses. She carried a silk hankerchief that belonged to her mother.

The bride's hat was designed in a Southern-belle style with Italian braid lace and accented with a white silk rose. She carried a bridal cascade of white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

The bride's sister, Miss Marta Turney, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Sharon Wright, Oakland; Cathy Hesen, Oakland; Robin Kager of Mechanicsburg, Pa.; Diane Parsons, Oakland, all friends of the bride. Caron Bayuk, the bride's cousin, served as flower girl.

The bride's attendants wore pink taffeta floor-length gowns and carried white and pink carnations with pink streamers. The flower girl wore a white goen trimmed with white eyelet. She adorned the aisle with pink rose petals carried in a white Franch basket.

Mike McHenry, Oakland, friend of the groom, and Jeff Messenger, Oakland, brother of the groom, served as bestmen. The groom's attendants were Jim Gatan, Morgantown, W.Va., Ken Marks, Oakland and Fred Gregg, Oakland, all friends of the groom, and Kurk Turney, Oakland, brother of the bride. Matthew Clement, cousin of the bride, served as ring bearer and Craig Fraley, cousin of the groom, served as train bearer.

The groom wore a black tuxedo with tails while the male attendants wore dinner length tuxedos. The ring and train bearers wore black tuxedos and tails.

Brant Turney, Boulder, Colo., brother of the bride, coordinated the bridal procession and lighting.

Mrs. Beth Turney, sister-in-law of the bride, played a Haydn Sonata for flute preceeding the processional. Miss Ruth Coffman, Keyser, provided several vocal selections. Dr. David Sheets accompanied Miss Coffman and played several classical selections on the organ. Tim DeWitt, Oakland, a graduate in music from West Virginia University, played Trumpet Voluntaire and Recessional by Purcell.

Mrs. Carole Clement, aunt of the bride, greeted guests and assisted with the guest registry. Mrs. Valerie Bayuk, cousin of the bride, distributed the mesh packets of bird seed to the guests as they recessed from the church.

A formal reception, complete with orchestra, followed the ceremony at Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake, where the decor maintained the stated pink and white theme of the bride. The three-tier cake was predominately white with pastel pink flowers. Enclosed in the center tier was a water fountain cascading rivulets of lighted pink water.

Mr. and Mrs. James Simms, former owners of Green Acres, Oakland, decorated St. Mark's Church, provided the bridal party with flowers and assisted with the floral arrangements at the reception as a memorial gift to the bride and groom.

The groom's parents honored the bridal party and out-of-town guests with a pre-nuptial dinner in the Tiffany Green Room at Silver Tree Restaurant, Deep Creek Lake.

The groom is a graduate of Southern High School and West Virginia University. He is a mining engineer and is currently employed by Daugherty Coal Company. The bride is also a graduate of Southern High School and is a junior at West Virginia University.

Following their honeymoon in the Bahamas, Mr. and Mrs. Messenger have established residence in Morgantown.

Rush-Berkebile Couple To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Rush, Accident, announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Layne, to Gary Allen Berkebile, Grantsville, son of Mrs. Nettie Berkebile, Hooversville, Pa., and the late Harold Berkebile.

Miss Rush is a graduate of Northern High School, attended Garrett Community College, and is presently employed as a bookkeeper at Grantsville Foodland. Mr. Berkebile is a graduate of Forbes High School, Kantner, Pa., and is a criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police.

A spring wedding is planned.

Miss Schirtzinger Weds Mr. Maust During July 9 Ceremony In Ohio

Karen Ann Schirtzinger and Urbane Dwane Maust were united in marriage July 9 at Word of Life Church in Canal Winchester, Ohio. Rev. Rodney L. Parsley officiated at the afternoon ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schirtzinger, Westerville, Ohio. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Markel Maust, Accident.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white gown featuring a Victorian neckline, highlighted by a ruffle trimmed in satin. The full sleeves, gathered at the wrist, were decorated by delicate lace. The chiffon skirt was accented by three layers of ruffles falling into a chapel-length train. The tulle veil was edged with ruffled lace which matched the dress. The bride carried a bouquet of white and dusty rose silk flowers trimmed with lace ribbon.

Heather MacFadden, Truro, Nova Scotia, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Lisa Phillips, Ronda Budd and Candy Stephens. The attendants wore dusty rose gowns and carried silk flower bouquets. Combs of silk flowers and ribbons decorated their hair.

Marie Marshall, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a white and dusty rose gown of dotted Swiss and lace and carried a basket of rose petals.

Luke Maust, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Joe Ruggiero, Mark Illick and Gerald Maust, cousin of the groom. Adam Marshall, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

Robert Davis was pianist and Tracy Alexander was the solo vocalist.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at Tall Timbers Party House.

The bride is a graduate of Westerville North High School and Work of Life Bible Training Center. She attended Ohio State University and plans to attend Logos Bible College this fall. She is employed by the Kroger Company.

The groom is a graduate of Northern High School and Work of Life Bible Training Center. He will be graduated from DeVry Institute of Technology this month. He is employed by Purolator Courier.

The couple is residing in Columbus.
